'Modern Society' Is Theme For First A&S Open House

"Arts and Sciences in a Modern Society" is the theme for the first Arts and Sciences Open House in the Union at 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The Arts and Sciences council has proclaimed today "Bermuda Short Day" in honor of the event, and is encouraging all college students to wear shorts to classes all day.

Sponsored by the Arts and Sciences council, it will include French and Spanish plays, departmental exhibits, a style show, several films, a music program, and tours of various buildings. Five hundred high school students, either applicants for Putnam scholarships or student body presidents, have been invited to attend.

The opening assembly at 9 a.m. will be in the little theater. Dean John Weaver, School of Arts and Sciences, and Chuck Wingert, His Soph, president of the Council, will preside.

A style show will be presented by the Business department in the Union main lounge at 10:15 a.m. This will be followed at 10:45 by French and Spanish skits in the little theater with special German folk songs between acts.

At 2:15 an hour-long music program by the Resident String Quartet and the K-State Singers will be given in the College auditorium. The final event on the program is the play "Everyman" at 3:30 p.m. in the little theater.

Four 30-minute films have been scheduled throughout the day, beginning with an economics film in the little theater and a speech correction film in the west ballroom, followed by the K-State band film at 11:20.

The departmental exhibits and their location are Air Science, SU 203; Arts and Architecture, art gallery; Bacteriology, SU 208; Botany, walnut dining room; Business administration, main lobby; Chemistry, SU 206; Economics, SU 201 and 202; Education, main lobby; English, main lobby; Geography-Geology, SU second floor;

Radio and Television, Nichols; Men's Physical Education, Field House; Political Science club, Eisenhower;

General Studies, main lobby; Government, SU 201 and 202; History, SU 201 and 202; Journalism, Kedzie hall; Mathematics, SU 206; Military Science and Tactics, SU 204; Music, lounge B; Women's Physical Education, main lobby; Physics, SU 205; Psychology, SU second floor hall; Sociology, SU 201 and 202; Speech, SU 207; and Zoology, Fairchild.

Tribunal Puts Damper On New-Election Hopes

Tribunal ruled yesterday that the 1957 Student Governing association elections were fair and valid. The Tribunal ruled that the elections were run according to the rules and regulations of the SGA Constitution.

The charge in the petition that the ballot box had been stuffed was dropped. The petitioners key witness, a faculty member, refused to testify.

In the testimony placed before the Tribunal by the plaintiff evidence was given stating that political posters were hanging within ten feet of the election booths. The elections committee reported that they had taken signs down, but couldn't handle those placed near the booths.

Evidence was given that there was electioneering near booths by pointing out names of candidates to vote for. Tribunal mentioned that the electioneering rules might be enforced more closely next year.

One witness testified that he was left at the polls alone for about ten minutes while the member of the Election committee was on an errand. The Election committee brought out that they trusted the integrity of the person. He did not have any party affiliation.

In answer to the charge that the Election committee disqualified a candidate on the basis of his not being eligible, the committee reported that the Scholastic Eligibility committee had ruled the candidate ineligible because of an incomplete. He had taken one final late last semester and the grade had not been reported on his dean's card.

In answer to the charge that the elections were not by secret ballot the committee answered that as far as K-State was concerned voting other than by hand or voice was secret.

The charge that not every effort was made to insure an orderly and fair election was answered by testimony that an amendment to the By-Laws or complete removal from Student Council was necessary in order that the chairman could resign his position.

The Elections committee chairman was a candidate for student body president. Testimony also brought out that he did not have any effect on the committee's decisions, did not count ballots, tabulate ballots, or touch ballots before they were tabulated.

Positions, Petitions! Want in on the Act?

Applications for the positions of recording-secretary of Student Council and attorney-general of the Tribunal are available in the Dean of Students office. Students must return their applications in the Dean of Students office before 5 p.m. today.

Petitions for openings on the Arts and Sciences council may be picked up in the office of the Dean of Students until next Friday, according to Carolyn Eby, BA Soph, Election committee chairman. Sixteen positions are open. Election will be May 14.

Any student planning to attend summer school and who would like to work on the summer Collegian can apply for a position to Jim Bell, summer editor at the Collegian news room or by calling 6-9269.

Mortar Board Taps Eighteen K-State Coeds

Seventeen junior women and Marcia Boyd, TJ Soph, were tapped last night for Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

The coeds include Rachel Pickett, Soc; Marcia Hesler, BMT; Joyce Graham, BA; Janice Graham, TJ; Becky Culpepper, EEd; Rosalyn Rowell, Soc; Sylvia Gaddie, TxC; Mary Lu Compton, Sp; Mary J. Williamson, MEI; Barbara Ericson, BA; Darlene Larkin, TxC; Linnea Brown, Ar 03; Donna Knoche, ChW; Pat McDermott, BA; Royanne Graham, TJ; and Mary Louise Ficke, ChW.

A tea at 4 p.m. today will be at the home of Mortar Board sponsor, Mrs. John Helm, for alumnae, and the newly selected and outgoing Mortar Board members.

Initiation banquet and ceremony will be held Sunday in the Student Union. Mortar Board will meet Monday night.

Gerritz Says

Pre-Enrollment Total Of 2,500 Is Expected

Approximately 2,500 students will have been assigned to classes for the fall semester of 1957 by the end of assignment Monday, E. M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar, has estimated.

Closing time will be moved

Prints of RP Pictures To Be Sold Next Week

Prints of pictures used in the 1957 Royal Purple will be on sale in K 103 on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week.

The pictures will be sold at 10 cents a print, according to C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications.

from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m. Monday in order to permit those to enroll who may have had conflicts and were unable to enroll as scheduled.

"While 2,500 appears to be a low figure compared with the second semester enrollment of 6,100 students, it must be remembered that over 800 students are graduating and will not return next fall," explained Gerritz.

"Also over 1,500 were ineligible to be assigned early because of failing grades at the nine weeks. In addition a number of students are completing their objectives here for transfer to other institutions for work in nursing, law, or medicine."

CU Acacia Pledges Eat Crow After Labeling DU a Sorority

By Shari Shellenberger

A LOT OF FUN resulted from an invitation issued by Acacia fraternity pledges at the University of Colorado, inviting Delta Upsilon SORORITY to an Acacia pledge class party.

Delta Upsilon pledges responded to the invitation by charging the Acacia's of being mentally retarded, and challenging them to a softball game. It was agreed the loser of the softball game would write a "gracious letter of apology" which would appear in the University of Colorado Daily.

THE LOSING ACACIA'S, in their letter to the Daily, said: "We, the pledge class of Acacia fraternity, admit defeat in the softball game, and apologize for calling Delta Upsilon fraternity a sorority."

They further apologized for starting the rumor that Delta Upsilon was a sorority. This rumor had reached the CU Days Songfest committee, and had caused the DU's (accidentally, of course) to be placed in a sorority bracket for song tryouts.

WHAT THE PROFESSOR SAYS and what the student writes in his notes are sometimes an entirely different thing, as is evidenced by 'Lecture vs Lecture Notes' in the Oregon State Daily Barometer:

Professor says, "Current historians have come to doubt some of the advantages of President Roosevelt's policies which he put into action."

STUDENT WRITES, "Roosevelt was an idiot." Professor says, "During World War II the Marines were foremost in bravery and courage. They led the way into many battles in which victory was ours."

Student writes, "Write that cute Marine I met at the beach."

Professor says, "In the Egyptian days, camels' hair was used to make rugs, clothing, and to furnish other household needs."

STUDENT WRITES, "Remember to wash hair tonight."

A STUDENT at the University of Wisconsin, applying for a scholarship, wrote on his application blank:

"I will try to be a good egg and become an integral part of the Wisconsin omelette."

The scholarship committee, needless to say, promptly discarded the application.

STUDENTS AREN'T the only ones who goof!

Beakless Baby Buzzard Brow Beats Housewife

Charlotte, N.C.—Who wants a beady-eyed baby buzzard?

Mrs. David Lowrance of Charlotte certainly doesn't want any more. As she put it, "It's horrible" to find a baby buzzard staring at you when you step out of the house for the morning paper. It happened to her three mornings this week.

When Mrs. Lowrance walked out the door Monday morning, she found a large paper bag on the porch. She looked inside the bag and there was Buzzard No. 1.

"Frankly, if you've ever seen a baby buzzard you never want to see one again... especially that early in the morning."

"It was a dirty white and the beak was flat against what you would call a head. Their eyes are beady and real close together. When they stand up they look just like vultures," she said.

Mrs. Lowrance first thought her 14-year-old son was playing a prank but he denied it. Finally the family laughed it off and left the bird on the porch. The next morning he had company.

Young Lowrance took the two buzzards to a local biologist and Tuesday night the family locked the screen door on the porch. Wednesday morning the third smelly bundle was on the front steps.

Knockalisheen, Ireland—Some 200 Hungarian refugees last night ended a four-day hunger strike supporting their demand to be sent to the United States or Canada.

The Irish Government told them it has notified the American and Canadian governments of their desire but "the problem is not one that can be determined by the will of the Irish Government."

Menton, France—Police said today that despite her threat to "do it again," they had sent home a 14-year-old girl who put a picture of the late Hollywood actor James Dean in her pocket and jumped into the Mediterranean, leaving a letter which said, "Now that he is dead, I cannot live on."

Bonn, Germany—Autograph hunters offered as much as $5 today for note-pad doodles made by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at yesterday's opening meeting of the NATO council. The sketches, picked up by cleaning porters, included the Republican party elephant and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's profile.

Montevideo, Uruguay—Jacobo Arbenz, former pro-Communist president of Guatemala, has been granted permission to come to Uruguay as a political refugee, it was announced today.

Arbenz, believed to be in Switzerland, was overthrown in June, 1954, by an anti-Communist revolution led by Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, present chief executive of Guatemala.

Readers' Forum

To the Editor:

Some of the signs should be removed and sidewalks built instead. Don't you agree?

It is natural as well as logically reasonable and emotionally satisfying for people to walk along the shortest possible paths. Why fight human nature?

Raimo Bakis, Phy Gr.

Dear Editor,

I have been slow in congratulating you for the recent picture in the Collegian, of the "Cow-paths" on the campus and your appeal that something should be done. I had begun to think there were no students that took any pride in the appearance of the campus. You are wrong, though, in saying that a better campus might result in better treatment.

Some of these same students, daily (or nightly) toss liquor bottles, beer cans, cartons, etc., on even the most beautiful, private lawns and yards in town. It would be a waste of time, and money to improve the campus until a sense of pride, a love for the beautiful, and respect for property, can be developed in the students. Do they heed the new signs? Not at all, as far as I can see. As you say, it will take a stroke of lightning to deter them.

However, it is encouraging to know, that, at least, a few students are concerned.

Inez Alsop,

Department of History.

Des Moines, Iowa—State police today sought clarification of Iowa's new 60 m.p.h. night speed limit.

Cincinnati, Ohio—Zoo keepers pinned their hopes on flypaper today after doped bananas failed to lure two escaped monkeys from a tree.

Wisconsin Governor, GOP Head To Discuss McCarthy Successor

Madison, Wis., (U.P.)—Gov. Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin and State Republican Chairman Philip Kuehn were scheduled to confer today about calling a special election to fill the Senate vacancy created by the death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Kuehn said there was "little doubt" Thomson will call a special election rather than leave the late Republican senator's seat vacant until the 1958 general election.

Thomson, however, gave no indication of his plans.

The law provides that a special election shall be held not less than 55 nor more than 70 days after called by the governor. A primary would be held four weeks before the election and nomination papers would be filed 18 days before the primary.

Three Republicans and three Democrats were regarded as likely candidates for McCarthy's seat.

Regarded as the leading candidate was three-time Gov. Walter Kohler, a proven vote-getter and an "Eisenhower Republican." Other GOP possibilities were former U.S. Rep. Glenn Davis, who tried to unseat Sen. Alexander Wiley in last year's primary, and Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles.

Trick-Riding Coed Says Photos Make Sport Look Easy; Concussion, Misplaced Bones, Bruises Prove Differently

'He Loves Me, Loves Me Not,' Folklore Doesn't Die Out

By JANICE GRAHAM

"He loves me, he loves me not, he loves me, he loves me not. . . ." Remember a day in your life when the final twist of an apple stem seemed important enough to determine whether or not "he loved you"? Kids are no different today, and so American folklore provides a path to Kansas customs of 1957.

Folklore doesn't just "die out." If you don't believe it, ask Prof. William Koch of the English department. Collectors are always surprised to find all the lore they want by going to the right persons and college students are "right persons."

Professor Koch collects beliefs through students enrolled in his American folklore classes and records the statewide spread.

One thing you may not know is this: there's a story behind many beliefs and expressions that have become "campusology" in these parts.

Certain features about Kansas are spoken of by habit—the very strong wind that blows "like 60." Far more intriguing than the saying itself is the fact that its origin is related to a severe Kansas drought in 1860. Recalling dry springs and streams in later years, folks quite naturally compared drought to the summer of 1860 or simply '60—so "like '60" became the maximum of any weather condition.

"College students believe in a lot of folklore—such as how to study for tests and what items to wear to particular events," said Koch. "A prevalent custom among students is the belief that when a boy and girl are driving after dark and they meet a car with only one light—if the boy sees it first he may kiss the girl; if the girl sees it first, she may slap him."

Koch's study jumped to Estonia one semester when a student from there, Marju Bakis, compared beliefs of the old country to those in Kansas. Estonians say that students who have difficulty learning their lessons should put the textbook under the pillow at night. In the morning they will know everything. (Someone could make a million dollars if they could work this one.)

Friday is considered "unlucky" in the U.S. and Estonia. In Manhattan, if it's unlucky, it's at least not unhappy—unless you have a Saturday class.

From Wellsville comes the belief that when food passes in the opposite direction at the table, news of a wedding is coming.

By JANE FRANZ
Trick-riding and Roman-riding are as much a part of Marilyn Clark, PEW Fr, as are her blue eyes and black hair.

Marilyn, better known as Micki, has been riding in all sorts of rodeos and horse shows ever since her first appearance at the Little American Royal in 1952.

"I started riding horses when I was about two and a half years old, and I got my first pony when I was five," said Micki. "I rode in my first horse show when I was six, and to my surprise I got a blue ribbon—I guess that sort of inspired me."

In 1949 she bought Dusty, her palomino. At first she trained her as a trick horse and later began using her for trick riding. One of Dusty's favorite tricks is to pull a blanket off Marilyn and then cover herself with it.

In the fall of 1950 Micki began trick riding on a stock saddle. (Her parents knew nothing about it.) A year later she was doing Roman riding and trick roping. "I learned how to do most of my tricks by looking at pictures and then trying to do them, learning by way of hard falls and many bruises," she said.

"I learned to do most of my tricks on a regular stock saddle, and it wasn't until Jimmie Adams, a professional trick-rider, saw me performing at Sand Springs that I decided to get a trick saddle."

"He told me that I really should get one, but I knew that it would be hard to convince my parents that I needed one. However, they finally gave in and got me one," said Micki. The saddle she now has once belonged to a girl from Clay Center whom Micki admired as a trick rider.

"When I first rode by Roman team backwards at a full gallop, I was really scared. It was one of Jimmie's featured tricks and I was proud to attempt it."

Micki has had many "close calls." Once she was practicing a tail-drag and a strap broke. "For some reason I was perfectly calm. I knew there was nothing I could do, so I just stayed down there. I was dragged across a good sized field and rolled over several times, before I finally fell," she recalled.

Marilyn has never been seriously injured. "I was hurt about the worst when I was trying to break Flash and Flame, the Roman team I now have. I fell off and knocked several bones in my back out of place and also suffered a brain concussion," Micki said.

During the past five summers Micki has appeared in about 30 shows each summer.

"Last year I didn't go to school, instead I appeared in shows all over the country. I was in Madison Square Garden for 30 appearances, and was featured in the show along with Roy Rogers. After that I went on to the Boston Garden rodeo and others in different sections of the country. While I was there I did nothing but trick riding," said Micki.

To boost the New York show, she and three other girl riders from the rodeo appeared on television programs in New York City. "I usually averaged about four TV shows a day, including the Jack Paar show. I also talked on several radio programs, including Galen Drake's show," she added.

"When I am on the road, it means many sleepless nights, and a lot of steady driving—driving 36 hours without stopping to sleep isn't unusual. We would stop occasionally only to water the horses and to eat. Watering the horses usually caused a lot of commotion—especially when we had to water them at Dairy Queens or filling stations," Micki said.

Sun-and-Water Worshippers Sit Up and Note' Swimming, Sunshine, Though Healthy—Isn't!

By SHARON TOTTEN

This is the time of year when the advent of warm weather and the call of the open spaces creates in many red-blooded young people the yen to either swim, sunbathe or both, according to Dr. B. W. Lafene, director of Student Health. He's not shaking his stethoscope either. On recent sunny days, fraternity, sorority, and dormitory lawns have become filled with round young coeds and skinny lads exposing their winter-pale skins to those ultra violet rays. Overloaded cars have been heading for Stag hill, Sandy beach, or Pillsbury crossing.

Such forms of recreation, though normally healthful pursuits, can lead to serious consequences, the doctor says.

For instance, last Wednesday morning Delmar was awakened by an irritating sensation on his face. Grabbing the fly swatter which he always keeps close at hand, he struck hard, only to find that it was his nose twitching at the scent of spring. He leaped out of bed, shedding his woolies, grabbed his swimming suit from the bookcase, and was driving toward Sandy beach, whistling, in a matter of seconds.

Although he cut through lawns, pushed up the hills for speed, and dodged around stop signs, friend Delmar wasn't destined to reach Sandy beach. His brakes failed and he ran into Dr. Chew Foo, who was walking toward the campus. There was no escape. He was forced to stop because the good doctor insisted upon helping him straighten the fender of his bicycle.

"And where are you headed this fine day, Delmar, my boy?" sneered the doctor, opening his black bag and taking out a large hammer which he promptly dropped on Delmar's tiny, pink toe.

"Shriek!" said Delmar.

"If you are planning to grab a swim, remember that it can be a very dangerous form of recreation," chuckled the doctor, as he swung the hammer in a wide arc, grazing Delmar's scrawny arm before connecting with the fender of the bicycle.

"Shriek!" said Delmar.

"And remember, Delmar boy, if you should get hurt, don't panic. The sight of blood does sicken some people you know," scoffed the doctor reaching in his small black bag and handing him a bright red nausea pill.

"Shriek!" said Delmar as he picked up his bicycle and headed for home.

A&S Departments To Show Exhibits

"Arts and Sciences in a Modern Society," will be the theme for the festivities during the first Arts and Sciences Day tomorrow. The Economics and Sociology departments will display literature and brochures outlining vocational fields.

The Department of Architecture and Allied Arts will display work by staff members and students.

Bacteria that produce pigments of many colors, the testing of water, and micro-organisms used for alcohol production will be shown by the Bacteriology department. Medical technology students will type blood for visitors who desire it. Business Administration department will sponsor five vocational talks and a style show.

The English department will display publications and work done by staff members, with a chart of major courses offered in the fields of literature.

The History, Government, and Philosophy department exhibits will depict the pageantry of Western America. Printed vocational brochures entitled "An Invitation to Teaching" will be distributed in the Department of Education.

The General Studies exhibits which show the integration of physical, biological, and social sciences with humanities.

The Military Science department will display textbooks and historical pictures of battles throughout American history. Two movies, "Army ROTC" and "Role of the Army," will be shown.

Smith Leads K-State To 9-3 Win on Links

Jerry Smith shot 35-37—72 to take medalist honors and lead K-State's golf team to a 9-3 win over Omaha university at Omaha yesterday afternoon.

Smith defeated Ron Guania, who shot a 79, 3-0.

Ron Young, K-State's No. 1 man, fired a 75, second best score of the afternoon, to defeat Harry Curtice, who shot 79, 3-0.

The Wildcat golfers won three of four matches in taking the dual victory.

The win gives K-State a 6-3-1 record for the season.

The Cats will try to take a seventh win when they meet Drake at Des Moines, Iowa, today.

The results:

Ron Young (KS) 75, defeated Harry Curtice, 79, 3-0.
Dave Pfuete (KS) 77, defeated Bob Matthews, 81, 3-0.
Jerry Smith (KS) 72, defeated Ron Guania, 79, 3-0.
Ron Sprandel (O) 77, defeated Jerry Hendricks, 81, 3-0.

Five Top Individual Battles Will Spice Cat-Husker Dual

At least five topflight individual contests will be wrapped up in K-State's track dual with Nebraska here tomorrow. And the first of these highlights opens the running events at 2 p.m. when the schools' two top milers compete.

In that event it will be Wildcat sophomore Tom Rodda, who holds a 4:19 time for the all-time best performance of a K-State runner, squaring off against Bob Elwood, Nebraska junior.

Elwood has a recorded win of 4:28.9 and ran a tight second to Rodda in an indoor dual when the Wildcat sophomore finished in 4:24.4.

In the high hurdles, K-State's Gene O'Connor faces Nebraska's Keith Gardner—the Big Seven's best in that event. Gardner beat O'Connor in the highs in two indoor meetings this season, but split with the K-State star in two indoor low hurdle scraps.

In the 880-yard run, two more top performers will vie as Jesse Unruh, K-State junior, faces Knolly Barnes, third-place finisher in the Big Seven indoor meet.

In the polevault, it will be Karl Lindenmuth, K-State's all-time best vaulter, against Ken Pollard, Nebraska's sophomore standout.

The two have almost identical records this season, and tied for first at 13-½ in indoor dual competition. Pollard reached 13-6 indoors; and Lindenmuth reached that same height last week at the Colorado Relays.

A fifth meet highlight should fall in the javelin, where Ralph Willard, Wildcat junior, zoomed up to 201-5 and 202-3 respectively at the Texas and Drake Relays. Challenging Willard here Saturday will be Nebraska's Dean Brittenham, who has reached 198-11 this season.

"I feel we should give Nebraska a tight contest in most running events," forecast Ward Haylett, Cat track coach. "In at least half of the six field events, I'm afraid we can't make too much of a battle—the broad jump, high jump, and discus.

"And in those events where we are strong, we have little depth," the Wildcat track boss added. "When we take first and they get second and third, that's only five points to their four—not much of an advantage."

Traditionally one of K-State's strongest track rivalries, the annual meet with the Cornhuskers has been won by K-State the last six years. A year ago K-State scored a 71½-59½ win. Earlier this season, however, Nebraska won a 62-42 decision in an indoor track dual with K-State.

K-State entries:

Javelin—Ralph Willard, Gary Potter
Polevault—Karl Lindenmuth
High Jump—Wes Wilkison
Shotput—Ben Grosse, Willard
Broad Jump—Ray Belkman
Discus—Willard, Grosse, Darrel Rosenow
Mile—Tom Rodda, Jesse Unruh, Rolland Elliott
440—DeLoss Dodds, Dave Burton, Henry Renollet
100—Dolan McDaniel, Bobby Jones
120—High Hurdles—Gene O'Connor, Gary Douppnik
880—Hubert Guest, Unruh, Lawrence Brady
220—McDaniel, Dodds, Renollet
Two-mile—Rodda, Terry Turner, Arlen Stackley
220 Low Hurdles—O'Connor, Douppnik
Mile Relay—McDaniel, Renollet, Burton, Dodds

Cats Win, 6-1 In Net Match At Nebraska

K-State defeated Nebraska, 6-1, in a tennis match yesterday that saw the only Cat loss come in the No. 1 singles at Lincoln.

The win gives K-State a 2-1 record against Big Seven teams and a 7-3 mark for all games played this season. Tomorrow, K-State plays Omaha university at Omaha.

The results:

Bill North (N) defeated Dick Circle, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.
Alan Chaplin (KS) beat Art Weaver, 6-2, 9-11, 6-4.
Keith Andler (KS) whipped George Fisk, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1.
Jim Holwerda (KS) defeated Charles Kress, 6-0, 6-3.
Don Wainwright (KS) defeated Tom Stitt, 6-1, 6-3.
Circle-Chaplin (KS) whipped Fisk-Kress, 8-6, 2-6, 6-4.
Andler-Holwerda (KS) beat North-Weaver, 7-5, 6-1.

Other officers are Pat Cary, BMT Soph, vice-president; Jo Ann Krizan, HEJ Fr, recording secretary; Velma Finkenbinder, HT Jr, corresponding secretary; and Eldora McReynolds, HE Soph, treasurer.

David Mugler, AEd Jr, was elected president of the Kansas State Christian Fellowship. Other officers are Calvin Weeks, DM Jr, vice-president; Esther Dahl, BMT Soph, secretary; Ron Tarnstrom, GA Jr, treasurer; Homer Bullard, ME Jr, Christian Witness chairman; and Gordon Harper, BA Soph, HIS secretary.

Ten Students' Idea in '54 Was Beginning of MOYF

The Methodist Older Youth Fellowship, which has a membership of approximately 40 college-age youth, has grown to its present size through efforts of 10 college-age young people who attended Sunday school at the First Methodist church at 612 Poyntz avenue in 1954.

This Sunday school group felt more people their age needed to be reached and brought into the fellowship of the church. They started an evening group and invited young people from Fort Riley and Manhattan, as well as college students. Present members of Methodist Older Youth Fellowship are from all parts of the United States as well as from Korea and Germany.

Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. every Sunday, and evening fellowship is on Sunday evening in the Methodist Temple. As a service project, the group sends deputy teams to community churches in small towns to conduct worship services.

An appealing feature to Fellowship members is the numerous parties which almost equal their programs. The group often tries to have fun before work begins. For instance, just before final week, members enjoyed themselves at a taffy pull. Elections are coming up and a dinner-dance in honor of the outgoing president is planned. Officers will be elected for the summer and will again be elected in the fall.

Other parties have included a scavenger hunt, a box social, and skating party, a Halloween party, and a New Year's party at which a Watch Night service brought in the New Year.

Activities and money making projects of the group have ranged from an Easter Sunrise service to a pie social at which the group made $125. The proceeds were sent to the Schowengert Missionary fund in Korea.

Panel discussions are often presented. A series of discussions on marriage and how to prepare for it were given during February and March by Dr. S. Walton Cole, minister of the First Methodist church. Other topics discussed have been "The Life I Lead" and "Success—What Is It?"

Present sponsor of Methodist Older Youth Fellowship is Waldon H. Hastings, associate professor of milling.

McCarthy Funeral In Senate Monday

Washington—Funeral services for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, unexpectedly dead at 47, will be held Monday—probably in the Senate Chamber where he rose to fame and, later, was formally condemned by his colleagues.

The Wisconsin Republican died at Bethesda Naval hospital late yesterday of a little-understood liver malady called "acute hepatitis." The specific cause of death was "acute hepatic failure"—failure of the liver to go on functioning.

Senate leaders conferred with Mrs. McCarthy who indicated a desire that funeral services be held in the Senate itself, at 10 a.m. EDT Monday. Burial will be in the McCarthy family plot at Appleton, Wis., probably Tuesday.

Underworld Leader Shot

New York—Frank Costello, "retired" underworld king, was shot

Nab Beck on Tax Charge

Washington—Teamster President Dave Beck surrendered voluntarily to the U.S. Marshal today and posted $5,000 bond on federal income tax evasion charges.

Beck was indicted yesterday in Tacoma, Wash., on charges of evading payment of $56,420 due in federal taxes for 1950.

Beck and his attorney, Gerard Treanor of Washington, appeared briefly before Federal District Judge Edward M. Curran here this morning. Then they went to the clerk's office, where Treanor posted a cashier's check from the American Security and Trust Co.

Dean Helen Moore Resigns Post

Kansas State Collegian

Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas, Monday, May 6, 1957
VOLUME LXIII NUMBER 138

Dean Helen Moore

Helen Moore, dean of women at Kansas State college since 1940 has announced her resignation effective July 1. Dean Moore expects to teach in the Department of Mathematics at K-State the fall semester. She taught mathematics in junior college at Hutchinson before coming to Kansas State.

Dean Moore says that, while she realizes she will miss many of the things connected with her present job, the position of dean of women at present leaves very little time for leisure or personal interests. Dean Moore says she is looking forward to the additional vacations afforded by a nine months' teaching position and to having some freedom from the responsibilities and demands of a job that involves not only week days but evenings and Sundays.

In regard to Dean Moore's resignation, Dean Wunderlich, dean of students says, "Dean Moore has my sincere admiration and best wishes in her chosen field of teaching. Her gracious and friendly personality, her experience and judgment have made great contributions to the student personnel program at Kansas State."

Wilson Wins Cowboy Title At Chaparajos' First Rodeo

Dale Wilson, AEd Soph, took top honors in the Chaparajos' all-College rodeo, held Saturday night and Sunday afternoon before an estimated crowd of 2,400.

Wilson, one of the littlest cowboys in the rodeo, took the all-around cowboy title by placing first in calf roping in 20.0 second, tying for second and third in bareback bronc riding, and taking second in Brahma bull riding for a total of 9 1/4 points.

Points were figured on a basis of four points for first place, three for second, two for third, and one for fourth.

Following the first event of the evening Saturday night, Judy Horn, EEd Soph, representing Kappa Kappa Gamma, was named as queen of the rodeo. Her attendants were Gwendolyn Bourquin, EEd Fr, Southeast hall; Nancy Irvine, MEI Soph, Pi Beta Phi; Patricia Smith, Pth Soph, Delta Delta Delta; and Barbara Lewis, EEd Sr, Chi Omega.

Miss Horn and her attendants rode their horses around the arena several times before the queen was named.

Roger Shaw of Haskell Indian institute won the bareback bronc riding event. Jim Carlson, VM Soph, and Wilson tied for second and third. Dale Hodgson, VM Soph, was fourth.

In calf roping, Wilson was followed by Gayle Thomas, Haskell, who placed second in 21.8 seconds; Gerald Marten, Ag Soph, third in 24.7 seconds; and Dave Boucher, Ag Sr, fourth in 31.8 seconds.

Severt Anderson, PrV Soph, with a time of 19.2 seconds, was first in bulldogging. Mark Small, Haskell, was second in 26.9 seconds. Jim Rusher, VM Soph, was third in 31.1 seconds, and Loyde Boone, AH Jr, came in fourth in 57.4 seconds.

In saddle bronc riding, Wilferd Long, Haskell, took top honors. Carlson, Willard Spotted Horse, Haskell, and Cecil Nichols, Haskell, followed in that order.

Only three riders managed to stay on in Brahma bull riding. The man who did the best job of riding, according to the judges was Dave Boucher, Ag Sr. Wilson was second and Bill Patton, VM Soph, third.

Alice Whitney, EEd Fr, and Jean Swengel, VM Fr, proved themselves to be the top cowgirls in the rodeo. Miss Whitney won the barrel race in 17.6 seconds, and Miss Swengel was first in goat typing in 20.1 seconds. Miss Whitney was also second in goat tying in 21.5 seconds.

Charleen Selby, BA Fr, was second in barrel racing in 20.8 seconds; Miss Swengel, third, in 21.3 seconds; and Aura McConnell, VM Fr, fourth in 27.0 seconds.

Karen Alstrom, BMT Soph, took third in goat tying in 28.2 seconds, and Gelane Moritz was fourth in 56.9 seconds.

Joe Coyle, VM Sr, president of Chaparajos, made the presentation prizes to the winners after the last event.

Group Starts To Consider Scholarships

The General Scholarship committee will begin this week to consider possible recipients for the Putnam, general and departmental scholarships which the Scholarship committee supervises.

The scholarships will be awarded for the year beginning in September. The total amount of money involved is approximately $60,000. Putnam award winners will receive $15,000; General Scholarship winners will get $5,000 and the remaining $4,000 will go to those receiving scholarships not included in the first two groups.

The Putnam scholarships were established by Dr. L. Irene Putnam in 1955 to honor outstanding scholastic achievement. Of the Putnam scholarship winners who entered K-State last fall, all 22 ranked above 2.0 in grade average, 19 above 2.5 and two 3.0.

The Cities Service Oil company has announced that this year it will give $600 to be used to help defray the cost of administering the K-State scholarship program. Previously the administrative costs have been handled through regular department budgets.

The members of the General Scholarship committee are Charles Jacot, assistant Dean of Students, secretary; Prof. Richard Potter, associate Dean of Engineering; C. Peairs Wilson, director, School of Agriculture; Kenny Ford, Alumni Association secretary; Prof. Louis Ellsworth, Physics department; Associate professor Dean Folse, Pathology; Associate Professor Gwendolyn Tinklin, Foods and Nutrition; Professor J. Harold Johnson, 4-H Club extension; Mr. Alvin Hostetter, Endowment association; and Max Milbourn, assistant to the President.

New A&S Charter To Go Before SC

A new charter for the School of Arts and Sciences will be up for adoption at Student Council meeting, 7:30 tonight in the Student Union.

Arts and Sciences has adopted the charter "to promote an increasing unity within the School, to practice and further the ideas of democratic action, and to conduct any business that comes before the School."

The Student Council must approve the charter before it can go into effect.

A proposal to relocate the Student Governing association office in the Student Union will also be discussed. Tentative plans call for the office to be partitioned off in the southwest corner of the activities center. About $50 would be required to make the change.

Recommendations asking that the International Relations and Continuous Leadership Program committees be made permanent SGA committees will be considered.

Members to fill vacant positions on these committees will probably be appointed tonight.

The Campus Business Relations committee will report on current effort to complete a survey to determine how much money students spend in Manhattan. The survey is about two-thirds completed, according to Jerry Holliday, ArE Sr.

Nuclear Bomb Authority To Give Assembly Talk

Morse Salisbury, director of information services for the United States Atomic Energy commission, will speak on the "Atom in the World of the '57 Alumnus," at the annual all-College honors assembly in the auditorium at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow morning.

Mr. Salisbury; Mamie Alexander Boyd, Mankato; Gordon Lill, Arlington, Va.; and Ernest H. Reed, Chicago, Ill., will receive Distinguished Service Awards, the first given to graduates of the School of Arts and Sciences.

The 35 senior students who have been selected for recognition on the basis of scholastic standing and participation in student activities will be presented by the Student Senior Honors committee as the "Senior Leaders of 1956-57."

College Concert Band To Present Program

The K-State college concert band will give its seventh annual "pops" concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in the College auditorium. Twelve service keys will be awarded to six-semester band members at intermission time.

The band will play "Aguero" by Jose Franco; "Fanfare and Fugue" by Robert Wilson Hays; "American Folk Rhapsody" by Clare Grundman; "Komm Susser Tod" by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Rhumba" by Karl McDonald; "Marcho Poco" by Donald Moore; "A Solemn Music" by Virgil Thompson; "Lady of Spain" by Tolchard Evans; "Oh, Lady Be Good" by George Gershwin; "La Sorella" by Luigi Galini; and "Headlines" by Careton Colby.

The proceeds from the concert will pay for the service keys which will be awarded to Sonia Brown, His Jr; Stanley Cowan, Chm Jr; Mary Drantman, JL Jr; Ronald Erhart, ME Jr; John Furrer, MEI Jr; Nancy Howard, SED Jr; Keith Landis, Gvt Jr; William Lieber, Ag Sr; Dale Lamb, EE Jr; Neal Porter, MEI Sr; Joyce Rust, FN Jr; and Joan Skonberg, HT Jr.

State Spending Exceeds Income By $468 Million in Fiscal 1956

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington—The 48 states spent 468 million dollars more than they took in during fiscal 1956 and increased their total debt to a record high of $12,890,000,000, the Census bureau reported today.

In a survey of the 12 months ending last June 30, the bureau said the states took in $18,389,000,000 and spent $18,857,000,000, both record sums.

Amman, Jordan—King Hussein, on leftist attempts to seize control of Jordan:

"We have faced the dangers and beaten the conspiracies against our country."

San Francisco—The Rev. Fulgence Gross, a Roman Catholic priest who recently was released after six years in Communist Chinese prisons:

"I never appreciated my religion so much as those years I spent in prison. It truly was faith that kept me going."

Atlanta—W. E. Tyndale, a polio-crippled engineer who with his wife and two children was swept through a culvert in a flash flood:

"There was absolutely nothing we could do to fight it. We were swept into the culvert, tumbling end over end under water, banging against the side, and then were spewed out the other side. We didn't know if we were alive or dead, or where we were."

Dudley, England—Ted Westwood, in appealing to Queen Elizabeth and the courts for help in getting rid of nine ghosts—a blonde spook and eight admirers—which he says are roaming about his home:

"I never used to believe in ghosts but when you have nine of them you have no alternative."

Washington—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, in a telegram to the Senate Labor Rackets committee which is investigating his re-election:

"We have nothing to hide. There is no corruption in our union. No outside person exercises any influence over our affairs."

Washington—Former President Truman, on Republican power policies: "Their idea of partnership is where everything is divided even-steven—the electric company gets the powerhouse, and government gets the fish ladder. And if I know them, they charge the fish tolls to get up the ladder."

Revenues were up 13.6 per cent from the previous 12 months and expenditures were up 9.8 per cent.

The bureau found the states spent more on education last year than for any other function. This spending totaled $5,679,000,000, an increase of 12.1 per cent over fiscal 1955.

Brewster, Beck Before Group

Washington—The AFL-CIO today charged teamster President Dave Beck and Vice President Frank Brewster with using union funds for "personal purposes" and using their union positions for "personal profit or advantage."

Teamsters Vice President Sydney Brennan of Minneapolis, who has been convicted of accepting money from an employer, was charged with "corrupt activities" by the AFL-CIO.

The entire teamsters union leadership was charged with failing to take action against the three.

The bill of particulars was contained in a 22-page statement presented before the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee as it started its hearing on the question of whether the big teamsters union is dominated or substantially influenced by "corrupt influence."

Dulles To Explain Egypt Deal

Paris, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will attempt to defend himself today against French charges of "inconsistency" in American dealings with Egypt, informed sources reported.

Dulles was meeting Premier Guy Mollet and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and the sources said Mollet would press French arguments for a Suez Canal Boycott and a "harder" policy toward Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

They almost certainly will ask Dulles to explain how U.S. policy could be "pro-Nasser" during the invasion of Suez and "anti-Nasser" during the crisis in Jordan.

Three Drown Near Marysville

Marysville, Kan.—A young father and three of his seven sons drowned in the Blue river near here while setting out a trotline yesterday.

Clarence Koch, 36, a son, Allan, 8, and a friend, Jack Ryan, 65, of Marysville were setting out a trotline from a boat when Koch noticed that two other sons, 6-year-old Bryan and 7-year-old Daryl, had fallen from the river bank into the water.

Ryan said Koch rowed to where the two boys were struggling in the river and jumped in, upsetting the boat. The boat apparently struck Koch and the boys on the head knocking them unconscious.

Des Moines, Iowa—Harry Fidler was back in jail today, living proof that (1) thieves always return to the scene of their crimes and (2) life is just a vicious circle.

Fidler, free just two days from serving three years for shoplifting in Hill's department store, went back to the same store Saturday and was arrested—for shoplifting.

Washington—Smithsonian institution scientists, tired of wondering how Florida's Seminole Indians have predicted hurricanes as much as a month in advance, asked a Seminole weather prophet for his secret, according to a report issued today.

"Moon tell me," the Seminole said, and the scientists went back to wondering.

Staters Not Only Ones To Crush New Grass

WE SAW AMPLE PROOF Saturday that Kansas State students aren't the only ones who disregard the lawn and the "Keep Off" signs which are posed around the campus.

Visitors here for the Feeder's Day conference had lunch on a newly grown batch of lawn south of Waters hall Saturday noon, seemingly unaware that they were tramping a lot of work and money into the ground.

From all we've been able to find out, the group didn't have permission from the College to have their picnic in that spot. The area they picked had had blue grass planted in it about a year ago.

STUDENTS ARE harped on by the administration, Mortar Board, the Collegian and others about grass situation at K-State, but this is one time we know the students aren't to blame.

THE SOLUTION to the "cow paths" caused by students may be to add some sidewalks, and there are places around the campus where they might not only be convenient but not detract from the attractiveness of the College landscape.

However, a spot such as the quadrangle in front of Anderson hall would be completely ruined as far as the aesthetic aspect is concerned, if sidewalks were added.

New sidewalks are the answer in some spots, but all totaled everyone is going to have to stay off the grass in order to reach the point of pride in our campus.—Jane Moore

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Kansas State college should change its name to Kansas State university, because of three principal reasons. The name university has a fuller meaning than college. It would attract more students and a better grade of teachers. It would bring more prestige to our college.

Prestige is the word that sums up the complete argument. Prestige defined in Webster's Collegiate dictionary is: to command recognition or renown. We are a university in actuality so why can't we have the prestige that goes along with the name.

Kansas State university would attract more students because of it being a university. Webster states: a university is an institution organized for study in higher branches of learning, and empowered to confer degrees in special departments. People think of a university as being a better plan than a college. The word college has the inferred meaning of a smaller school, while a university means an institution of professional schools.

Kansas State university would make a degree mean more to the receiver and to a prospective employer. We have the qualifications. Last year Kansas State began offering a Bachelor of Arts degree. Why can't we recognize these qualifications?

President McCain once told this story. When he was traveling in a foreign country, he was introduced to a group of government officials. He was introduced as the President of Kansas State college. The officials did not know the meaning of the word college. They wanted to know if it was anything like a university.

In a poll taken by the Kansas State Collegian, 10 out of 15 students interviewed were in favor of the change. What happened to majority rule?

Let's change the name of Kansas State college to Kansas State university and acquire prestige and recognition we deserve.

Duane Engle, junior in architecture, and Thomas G. Sanders, fourth year student in architecture, were winners in architectural competitions sponsored by the Kansas Concrete Masonry association.

Both Engle, who had the best small animal hospital design, and Sanders, who had the best community club design, received $75 cash awards.

Jack Lockett Resigns Food Service Station

Jack E. Lockett, food service director at the Student Union for the past two years, has resigned to accept a position with Wayne State university in Detroit. He will be the director of food services for the University including the Union food service and all other University feeding units. He will leave Kansas State on June 5, and will begin his duties at Wayne State on June 10.

Lockett came to Kansas State in September, 1955, from the Union at Oklahoma A&M where he had been assistant food director for two years. He is a graduate of Oklahoma A&M.

Regarding Mr. Lockett's resignation, Loren Kottner, Union director, says "We are indeed sorry to lose the services of Mr. Lockett. He was instrumental in setting up our food service operation. He has been a most valuable member of our staff and he will be difficult to replace. We wish him every success in his new and broader responsibilities at Wayne State." No successor has been named to fill Lockett's position.

Endowment Association Receives Gift

A gift of $100 has been given to the Endowment association by a campus religious group wishing to remain anonymous. The gift is to establish a fund "for furthering the religious program at K-State College," according to K. M. Heywood, director of the Endowment and Development association.

The contribution was made in appreciation of the group's use of Danforth chapel which was built by the Endowment association from funds raised by alumni and friends of the College.

W. C. Tremmel, director of student religious activities, has been selected by the group to make the expenditures.

IT'S FOR REAL!

OUR LAWLESS LANGUAGE*

The laws that govern plural words I think are strictly for the birds. If goose in plural comes out geese Why are not two of moose then meese? If two of mouse comes out as mice Should not the plural house be hice? If we say he, and his, and him Then why not she, and shis, and shim? No wonder kids flunk out of schools ... English doesn't follow rules!

MORAL: The singularly plural pleasures of Chesterfield King make a man feel tall as a hice. So don't be a geese! Take your pleasure BIG. Take Chesterfield King. Big length ... big flavor ... the smoothest natural tobacco filter. Try 'em.

Chesterfield King gives you more of what you're smoking for!

Mortar Board Officers

NEW MORTAR BOARD officers are Janice Graham, Barbara Ericson, Darlene Larkin, Marcia Hessler, Rachel Pickett, Linnea Brown, and Joyce Graham. Ericson was chosen president, with Larkin and Joyce Graham acting as vice-president and secretary.

Keith Swenson Elected Union Board Chairman

No final decision on the flagpole was made at the Union Governing board meeting last night. The board suggested that the senior class meet and decide on a solution to the problem.

Keith Swenson, Ar 04, was elected chairman of the Union Governing board during UGB meeting last night. Swenson replaces Ray Sis, VM Sr, who will graduate this spring.

Roger Tointon, LDs Jr, presented a revised set of working rules for the UGB. There were no major changes in the rules.

Union Governing Board Secretary Loren Kottner said he had contacted the president of the class of 1937 and that he was agreeable to a plan of using the $600 left by the 1937 seniors for a general purpose bulletin board to be erected somewhere on the campus.

Three faculty members, John Helm Jr., Chuck Goetzinger, and Linwood Hodgdon, attended the meeting and were informed of the purpose and duties of the UGB. The Board will select from among these three men along with another faculty member to fill the position which will be vacated by Dr. Stuart Whitcomb.

The Board listened to a proposal from the Student Council suggesting the SGA office be moved into a corner of the Union activities center.

In other action, the Board turned down a request from the class of 1957 to erect a flagpole somewhere on the Union grounds; got permission from the president of the class of 1937 to construct a general bulletin board elsewhere on the campus rather than in front of the Union; forwarded two names to the Student Council to fill a vacancy created when UGB and Council member Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Soph, was named as Student Council representative to the Union Governing board.

In turning down the class of 1957's request that its gift of a flagpole be erected on the Union grounds, the UGB said it felt a flagpole wouldn't be appropriate and that perhaps the K-State flag could be flown beneath the American flag atop Anderson hall. Action will be taken next week.

Wills, Larkin, Williamson Head AWS Judicial Board

The new members of the Judicial board of Associated Women Students were named last night at the meeting of the Women's council, by Peggy Daniels, Eng Soph, vice-president.

They are Monne Wills, EEd Fr; Darlene Larkin, TrC Jr; Jeannie Williamson, MEI Jr; and Janet Kugler, HT Jr.

"This board will handle matters concerning any infractions of college regulations or policies which pertain particularly to women," said Miss Daniels.

The six standing committee chairmen were selected from 60 applicants, and were announced by Darlene Nelson, EEd Sr, chairman of the Nominations committee.

Joanne Taylor, BMT Fr, will head the Orientation committee; Virginia Taylor, SED Fr, Publications committee; Mary Beth McCoy, HT Soph, Conference committee; Ruth O'Hara, HEJ Soph, Publicity committee; Joyce Rust, FN Jr, Ways and Means committee; and Dixie Brown, HDA Jr, Service committee.

"Members for the Orientation, Conference, and Publication committees will be selected shortly," said Miss Nelson.

October 12 was selected as a tentative date for the AWS state conference which will be held at K-State next year.

KS Coeds May Get Commission

College coeds and other women interested in earning a commission in the Air Force through the Air Force ROTC program should contact the Air Science department at Kansas State college which is conducting a survey to see if offering Air Force ROTC commissions to women would be feasible.

As regulations are now set up, a woman in college would first have to enlist in the Air Force reserve, accomplish reserve training, and attend summer encampment. However, she would be required to complete only the last two years of the advanced cadet program.

Dr. McLeod Dies From Heart Attack

Prof. William M. McLeod, 65, head of the Anatomy department, died of a heart attack in a Veterinary hall laboratory about 5 p.m. yesterday, according to Dean E. E. Leasure, School of Veterinary Medicine, who found the body yesterday evening.

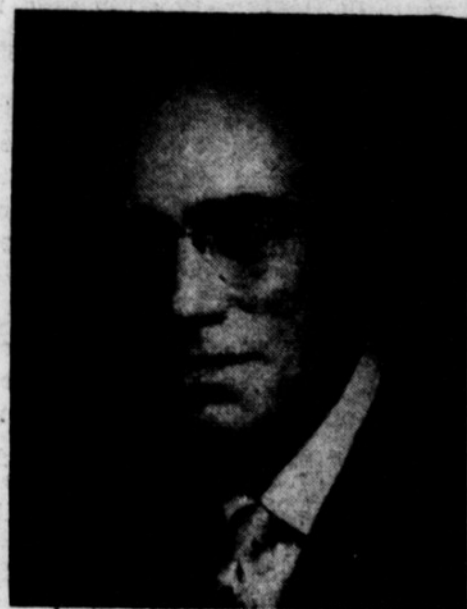

"We found him on the floor in one of the laboratories," Dean Leasure said. "Apparently he fell ill, lied down, and passed away. His wife, Gertrude Symmonds McLeod, was out of town at the time of his death and didn't get back until late last night."

Recently Dr. McLeod was honored as an outstanding faculty member by Gamma Sigma Delta, agricultural scholastic honorary, of which he was a member.

He is survived by his wife and three married daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Beth Gruber, Council Grove; Mrs. Iris Buell, Atchison; and Mrs. Laurel Percival, Los Angeles.

No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

Dr. William M. McLeod

Council Appoints Three To Apportionment Board

Three students were appointed to the Apportionment board in a meeting of the Student Council in the Union last night. Six students were appointed to the Homecoming committee; the International Relations committee was made permanent; and the moving of the SGA office to the Union was discussed.

Those appointed to the Apportionment board were Janice Graham, TJ Jr; Jim Shane, His Jr; and Jim Smith, VM Jr.

Those appointed to the Homecoming committee included Mary Ficke, ChW Jr; Jolene Prather, EEd Soph; Emily Douthitt, Psy Soph; Kathy Schmid, BMT Fr; Janet Madsen, HEJ Soph; and Joanne Taylor, BMT Fr.

The committee will consist of two council members, two non-council members, and two foreign students, and Dean Charles Jacot, assistant dean of students.

George Hooper, BA Jr, a member of the council, said the main problem facing the Book Exchange committee was finding the appropriate place in the Union for the exchange.

Dixie Brown, HDA Jr, was appointed to the Union Governing Board. She filled the position vacated by Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Soph, a member of the council.

The council passed the motion concerning the moving of the SGA office to the activities center in the Union. A formal request for this space will be sent to the Union Governing board to be acted upon at their next meeting. The Student Council members would not have meetings in the new office. The office is needed for files, telephones, and ditto equipment. A proposed drawing was presented to the council members by Lynn Mechesney, chairman of the proposal.

The Continuous Leadership Program committee and the Leadership Workshop committee combined to form the Leadership Program committee. Anne Pederson, BMT Soph, was named chairman.

Some discussion concerning the removal of the 1200 student mail boxes in the post office was considered. Dwight Bennett, Ar 02, said it would put an extra load on the Manhattan post office, and it would definitely be an inconvenience for those students who now use the boxes.

A plan is being considered for the possibility of securing a group health insurance plan for K-State students. No action was taken.

A special meeting of the Student Council will be held Friday, May 10, in the Union, at 5 p.m.

Ron Bryant To Command 800 Cadets

A review of the cadet regiment on the drill field at 3:30 p.m. Thursday will highlight the annual formal inspection of the Kansas State college Army ROTC which will be both Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Troop commander Ronald Bryant, ME Sr, will give instructions to the 800 cadets which will be on parade. A band of 35 cadets has been organized to play. Awards will be presented to 11 cadets during the review by the deans of their respective schools.

Dr. A. D. Weber, acting president of Kansas State college, will be the reviewing officer.

Here to inspect the corps of cadets are two representatives of the Commanding General, 5th United States Army. They are Col. Chester J. Diestel, PMST of the University of Nebraska; Leut. Col. Warren E. Nossaman, PMST of Kansas State Teachers college. Following the review these officers will conduct an inspection of the cadet regiment in ranks.

Oregon U Student Body Prexy Goes Out on Limb for Moolah

By Shari Shellenberger

A NEW TYPE of campaign technique was introduced recently at the University of Oregon.

To raise money for a campus fund, student body president Darrel Brittsan put on a tree-sitting campaign.

Climbing a campus fir tree the morning of the campaign, Brittsan ascended limb by limb until the $3,000 quota was reached. He took his books and bedding up into the tree with him in case the campaign developed into an all-night affair, and from the tree reported over a microphone to students below the progress of the campaign.

Telegraphic Tabloids

By UNITED PRESS

Camden, Maine—Makers of the movie based on the novel "Peyton Place" said today they're having some difficulty persuading local residents to appear as residents of the sin-ridden mythical town. Twentieth Century-Fox issued a new call for 500 extras.

Kennebunkport, Maine—Novelist Kenneth Roberts said today he'll make a respectful pause here after on the sixth green of the Arundel golf course. That's where he was yesterday when he heard he had been awarded a special citation by the Pulitzer Prize jury.

Wisconsin Dells, Wis.—The swallows pulled into town yesterday, a day behind schedule, and old-timers immediately forecast a short and chilly summer.

Failure of the birds to arrive on schedule invariably means a cool summer will follow, veteran weather observers say.

Nottingham, England—"Take your hands out of your pockets," said the magistrate to the prisoner in a Nottingham court yesterday.

"I can't," said the prisoner. "The police have taken away by belt and suspenders."

New York—A Greenwich Village couple who received an eviction notice because the weight of their library of 1,000 books constituted a safety hazard plan to move today.

Their new quarters will be located behind a book mart.

Bay City, Mich.—Larry Poissin made the mistake of smoking a cigarette while pouring gasoline into the tank of his stalled automobile yesterday.

"It was an expensive smoke," Poissin said after flames left the car a total loss.

New York—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) explained to the overseas press club last night how he lost the 1956 Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Taking his cue from last Saturday's Kentucky Derby Kennedy said:

"I stood up in the saddle, and (Sen. Estes) Kefauver put a big nose between me and the 688 votes."

Tampa, Fla.—Police were issued open-collar summer uniforms today but they didn't have short sleeves.

Officials said short sleeves were banned because some citizens objected to some of the tattoos on some of the policemen's arms.

FROM THE OREGON STATE Daily Barometer comes this reminder of the approaching final week, entitled "The 23rd Qualm":

"The prof is my quizmaster;
I shall not flunk.
He leadeth me to an alternate seat,
He restoreth my fears.
Yea, though I know not the answers to the questions,
I will not fear failure.
For others are with me;
Class average will comfort me;
I prepareth my answers before me
In the presence of my proctors,
I annointeth my bluebook with figures.
My time runneth out.
Surely grades and bluebooks will follow me
All the days of my life;
And I will dwell in this class forever."

A MOVIE ADVERTISEMENT in the University of Oklahoma Daily reads, quite simply:

"237 DAYS TIL CHRISTMAS,
8 DAYS TIL 'FUNNY FACE'."

THE UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT student newspaper offers this warning to freshman women:

"Why isn't she his steady date?
This is her goal, she cannot wait.
To ask her or ask her not,
This is the problem he has got.
They date that night, the moon shines bright,
The time is ripe, his head grows light.
He'll ask her!
'Will you type my term paper?'"

Kansas Auto Death Toll Climbs to 9 After 3 Die

Topeka (U.P.)—The Kansas motor car death toll today climbed to nine for May as three persons died from injuries suffered earlier.

That brought the state's 1957 traffic fatality list to 176 persons compared with 205 for the same period last year and 185 by May 7 in 1955, the Kansas highway patrol said.

J. R. Jolly, 38, Newton, Kan., died in a Wichita hospital yesterday from injuries received April 30 in a motorcycle-car accident near the Wichita north city limits.

James Ward, 69, Wichita, died as a result of injuries from a three-car crash at Wichita Sunday.

Loren Dee Northcutt, 19, Copeland, Kan., died from injuries last Friday in a two-car collision on U.S. 56 at Ensign, Kan.

Quotes from the News

By UNITED PRESS

Dallas, Tex.—Suspended jockey Willie Shoemaker, on what he thought when he realized he misjudged the Kentucky Derby finish line Saturday to possibly cost Gallant Man a victory over winner Iron Liege:

"I called myself a batch of names the newspapers couldn't print. I thought, 'Oh hell, how stupid can I be.'"

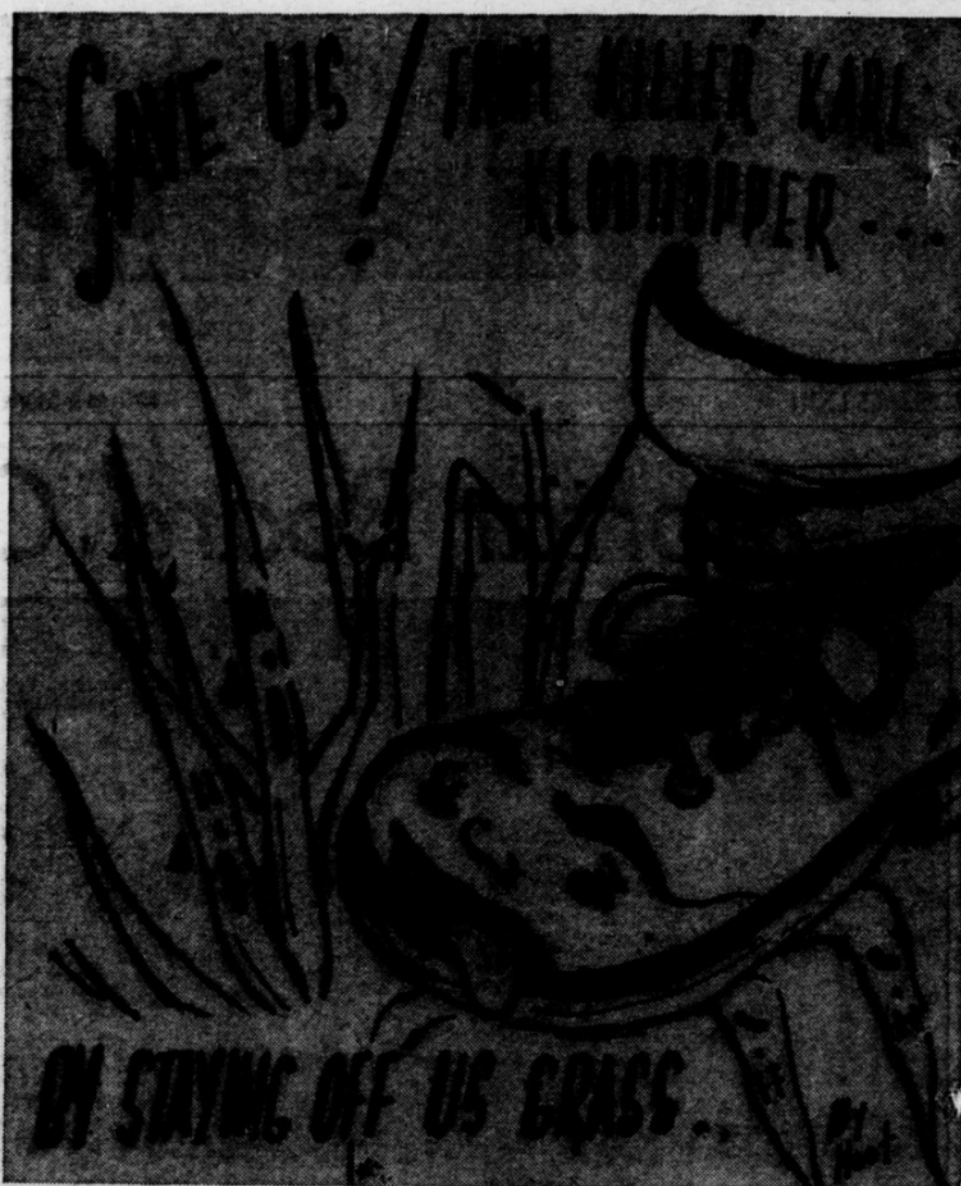

Boston—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), on President Eisenhower's record $71,800,000,000 budget: "I say with all sincerity that from a fiscal standpoint, it is the most irresponsible budget submitted in my day."

New York—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), calling for a new American policy toward Russian satellites which would include loans to Communist Poland:

"Other satellites, we may be sure, are watching, and if we fail to help the Poles, who else will dare stand up to the Russians and look westward?"

Chicago—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, on government control of some farm commodities:

"After 25 years of controlling agriculture, we have failed."

Tear Down the Signs And Plant Some Grass

SCHOOL FOR THIS SEMESTER will soon be over and many, if not most, of the students will be at home for three and a half months or so. With the amount of foot traffic on the campus substantially reduced, maybe the college landscaper can do something about the several miles of foot paths on the campus.

Despite the many clever little signs placed in the middle of the "cowpaths," most K-Staters continue to follow the trail blazers down the hardened dirt walks.

Maybe because most K-Staters have never seen grass growing in these bare spots they conclude that it's impossible to grow anything but signs on them. We haven't seen any grass on these bare spots for at least three years.

PERHAPS IF SOMEONE, namely the college, was to plant some grass in the paths, students would be a bit more apprehensive about plodding across campus instead of using the sidewalks.

BY PLOWING UP THE PATHS and planting some grass, students could return in the fall to find that most of K-State's campus is capable of growing green stubble.

With the crop factory at the north end of the campus producing better and more resistant strains of sod, it seems foolish that the campus should look like the loading pens at a stockyard. Here is a real testing ground for experiments with grass.—Roger Myers

Seniors Reminded to Get Free Chest X-Ray Soon

All graduating seniors and graduate students may receive a free chest X-ray at Student Health from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, according to Dr. B. W. Lafene, director of Student Health.

"These X-rays will only take a few minutes and will not require undressing. The X-rays will be developed and given to the students to keep, before they graduate," he said.

U.S. Marine Recruiter Will Interview Staters

The United States Marine Corps officer procurement team from Oklahoma City will visit Kansas State today and tomorrow to accept applications from interested undergraduates and seniors for enrollment in the Marine Corps' officer training programs.

Captain William C. Drumright will make his headquarters in the Student Union and will be available to answer all inquiries concerning the Leatherneck's platoon leader's class, officer candidate course and the women officer training course.

'Little Europe' Is Colonized By Three Foreign Students

Earth was created in seven days and nights, but "Little Europe" was created in four days and four nights.

"Little Europe" is the name given a particular house two miles east of Manhattan on Route 3 which was remodeled by a German, Frenchman, and Scotsman, all K-State students.

This house, once a boxcar, was the answer to these three students' quest for privacy, landladies, and independence.

Georg Plange, FT Soph, from Germany; Pierre Caminade, ME Jr, from Paris; and Colin Ovens-ton (Scoty), Eng Fr, from Scotland; are the proud owners of this one-story wood structure.

Scoty discovered this place last semester, but it was January, 1957, before the other two "founders" were convinced that with continuous work and experimentation, they could have a liveable place.

After being granted a two-year lease from the owner, a former Manhattan trashman and now the city's dog catcher, the fellows went to work for four straight days and nights, installing the heating, plumbing, kitchen stove, refrigerator, sink, and lavatory, applying wallpaper, and repairing windows.

Celebrations were in order the night they welcomed their first shower in the house. For four weeks they were without water. At that time "we carried our tooth brushes to school and drove to our friends' houses twice a week for baths," Georg said.

Although none of the three has ever before tackled such an undertaking, they now might be considered professionals after working every weekend since the initial remodeling.

Starting with what might have been called a barren, double-sized box car, they have built furniture, have taken advantage of actions, and have patronized second-hand stores to get the equipment needed for three bedrooms, a living room, bath, and kitchen.

For added pleasure, they have made use of their entrance room, basement, and will in the future convert the furnace room into a bar room. All this cost approximately $350.

How do three males manage the cooking and cleaning? That's easy according to George. A work schedule helps in this case. Lunch is simplified by the carrying of sandwiches to school; dinner preparation is handled on a rotation basis; and house cleaning is done by the three once a week.

Paying $30 a month, they not only have use of the house, but can keep a cat and three kittens and nine egg-producing chickens in a chicken house, and have use of enough land for building a volleyball court and a small garden.

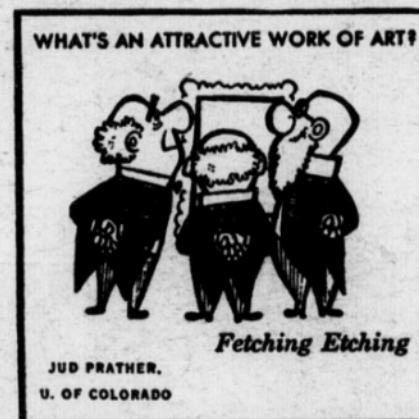

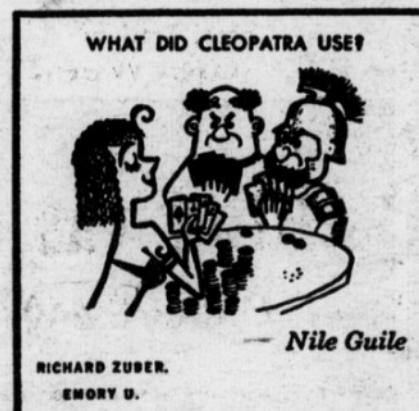

Though it might be said they are living in a world of their own, they have plenty to contact with their colleagues both on campus and at their home. George finds his presidency of the Cosmopolitan club a worthwhile activity, and all three students find home entertaining is an integral part of their lives.

"Little Europe" will be available to renters this summer and they should enjoy the basement kitchen (which Georg agrees is convenient for hiding cooking odors), bedroom doors of heavy drapery material, and the thrill of experiencing how other people in this world live, as Georg puts it.

Sticklers!

WHEN THE FISHING'S FINE, the gent in our Stickler spends all day in a dory. He'll take along tons of tackle and buckets of bait—but if he forgets his Luckies, watch out! By the time he gets to port, he'll be a mighty Cranky Yankee! You see, you just can't beat a Lucky for taste. A Lucky is all cigarette... nothing but fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. So why fish around? Try Luckies right now. You'll say they're the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

TIME'S RUNNING OUT! We're still shelling out $25 for every Stickler we accept—and we're still accepting plenty! But time is getting short—so start Stickling now! Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. Send your Sticklers, with your name, address, college, and class, to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y. And send 'em soon!

Luckies Taste Better

"IT'S TOASTED" TO TASTE BETTER . . . CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!

Jim Moore Is Victor by Three Votes In Engineering Council Prexy Race

Jim Moore, EE Jr, was elected president of the Engineering Council with a three-vote advantage over his close competitor, Larry Olson, ME Jr, in the annual Engineering association election Thursday and Friday. Moore received 127 votes, Olson 124 and Clyde Sprague, ME Jr, 81.

Archie Cornelius, ME Jr, received the largest number of votes with 230 ballots being marked in his favor, and was elected vice-president of the Council over Bill Bloxom, EE Soph, who received 81 votes.

Melvin Schwartz, the new Council secretary, received 201 votes to EE Jr Dan Baty's 113, and Treasurer George Strobel, ME Jr, defeated Robert Stevens 183 to 127.

Clyde McKenzie, ME Soph, was elected junior representative to the Council. Sophomore representative will be Robert Martin, ME Fr.

Next year's Engineer's Open House manager will be LeRoy Stayton, ME Jr.

In addition to the officers elected Thursday and Friday, the presidents of departmental clubs in the School of Engineering and Architecture and the presidents of engineering honoraries will represent their groups on the Council.

Journalism Workshop

The K-State Journalism department will offer a yearbook workshop and a newspaper workshop, during the 1957 summer school session, Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of the Journalism department, has announced.

The yearbook workshop, "Plan Your Annual," is scheduled for June 3 to 12. Classes will be conducted by C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications and adviser to the Royal Purple. As a project each student will have an opportunity to lay out his yearbook for the next year.

The newspaper workshop will be conducted by the journalism staff from June 24 to July 12. It will include lectures, demonstrations, and laboratory exercises in news writing, feature writing, editing, makeup and management of a high school newspaper.

Fees for each workshop are $15 for residents of Kansas and $30 for non-residents. Both courses are designed especially for high school teachers and advisers who have not had journalism training and experience. Three hours credit will be given for each. High school students are not eligible.

Red Cross Classes

Enrollment for six Red Cross classes in mother and baby care will begin tonight at 7:30 at Riley county hospital, Mrs. Jean Frank, RN, has announced.

Mrs. Frank will teach a two-hour class beginning at 7:30 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday at Riley county hospital. Classes will begin Tuesday and continue through May 23. There will be no enrollment fee.

Mrs. Frank said the program is designed to educate and reassure the new parent and informality will be the keynote in the classroom.

Psychology Club

The Psychology club will meet in SU 205 at 2:30 p.m. today. A representative of the Kansas State Board of Health, Leila Myers, will speak on mental health.

There will be a film on this subject.

Phi Chi Theta

Seven coeds became charter members of the 36th collegiate chapter of Phi Chi Theta, professional business women's fraternity, Saturday. The chapter was colonized here at K-State this year.

Miss Alma Zackery, second national vice-president, was assisted by Miss Betty Ozenberger, and Miss Barbara Shumaker, alumni of the KU chapter; Pat McDermott, BA Jr, transfer member from the University of Washington; and three girls from the Lambda chapter at KU, in granting the coeds the charter, making this the Alpha Phi chapter.

The charter members are Midge Mulkey, BA Soph; Gailynn Krey, BA Jr; Cyrena Starr, BA Fr; Shelia Cornwell, BA Jr; Barbara Ericson, BA Jr; Joyce Graham, BA Jr; and Waldean Kretzmeier, BA Sr.

Following initiation, the coeds pledged 12: Carole Backman, BA Soph; Valeta Purcell, BA Soph; Nancy Bhaer, BA Jr; Joyce Johnston, BA Soph; Bobby Ann Schantz, BA Jr; Kay Eplee, BA Soph; Judy Pringle, BA Soph;

Rash Honored In ME Contest; Gets $50, Trip

A senior in mechanical engineering, Larry Rash, gave the best paper at a student meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, at Stillwater, Okla., last week. His paper was entitled "Thermoelectric Power." Rash won a $50 cash award and an all-expense trip to San Francisco this summer to present his paper in competition with winners from 10 other regions. Kay Cornelius, MES, finished fifth in the paper competition.

Hitless Game Tops IM's

A double no-hitter topped intramural softball action yesterday.

Phi Kappa's Bob Schmidt and Sigma Phi Epsilon's John McComb locked up in the 0-0 duel that went the full five innings, regulation time for intramural softball contests.

YMCA's softball team walked away with a 9-0 victory over the House of Williams to win the Group II intramural championship.

Darrell Rosenow pitched a two-hitter for YMCA and Gary Rosenow hit a home run in the fourth inning with two men on base.

Phi Delta Theta tromped Lambda Chi Alpha, 10-0. The Phi Delta's Clancy Norris pitched his second no-hitter of the season, and he topped off his mound performance by hitting a home run. The Phi Delt's are undefeated with one more game to play.

Wesley Foundation defeated the House of Brown, 1-0. Carl Posten singled in the last inning to bring in the winning run for Wesley.

In other action, Kappa Sigma topped Theta Xi, 12-2; Acacia tied Delta Sigma Phi, 1-1; Beta Sigma Psi edged Delta Tau Delta, 5-4; and Tau Kappa Epsilon's Edwin Tajchman pitched a no-hitter to beat Phi Kappa Tau, 10-0.

Today's schedule: 4:15 p.m.—Pi Kappa Alpha-Lambda Chi Alpha, southwest city park; Delta Sigma Phi-Phi Kappa, northwest city park.
5:15 p.m.—Phi Delta Theta-Beta Theta Pi, southwest city park; Alpha Kappa Lambda-Sigma Chi, northwest city park; Kappa Sigma Sigma-Acacia, west military field; Beta Sigma Psi-Sigma Alpha Epsilon, east military field.

Six Records May Tumble When Trackmen Meet I.S.

By JIM CAIN

No less than six meet records will be threatened this Saturday at Ames, Iowa, when K-State meets the Iowa State Cyclones in a dual track meet.

Almost a cinch to fall is the record in the mile run. K-State's Tom Rodda who ran a 4:19.8 clocking last Saturday against Nebraska will compete in that event. The meet record is 4:24.8.

In the 100-yard dash K-State's Dolan McDaniel could threaten the record of 9.8 set by the Wildcat's Jerry Mershon in 1954. McDaniel ran a 9.7 century last Saturday against Nebraska.

Gene O'Connor is almost a certainty to break the record in the 120-yard high hurdles of 14.7 set last year by his Wildcat teammate Gary Doupnik.

If the Wildcat's mile relay team is at full strength it definitely will pose a threat to the record of 3:20.2 by Iowa State in 1955. Against Nebraska the Wildcats were not running at full team strength and ran a 3:20.6.

In the shot put and the discus, the Cyclones are unchallenged. They have a 54-foot shot-putter in junior Phil Delavan and a 159-foot discus thrower in senior Ralph Yoder.

The records in the shot put and the discus are held by former K-State great Rollin Prather who established them at 51-5 1/4 in the shot put and 152-8 in the discus in 1948 and 1950 respectively.

Kappas Tie Alpha Chis In Gals' IM's

Ann Morrissey's three-run homer helped Kappa Kappa Gamma to a 5-5 tie with Alpha Chi Omega in women's intramural softball yesterday.

In the only other game of the day, Northwest hall whipped Kappa Delta, 10-6.

Meredith Brink of the Alpha Chis and Pat Craven of the Kappas were opposing pitchers in the tie contest.

Northwest jumped to an 8-2 first inning lead, then coasted to the 10-6 win over Kappa Delta.

Didn't Say Wilt Will Turn Pro, Phog Says

Retired University of Kansas basketball coach Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen denied today that he ever said Kansas' seven-foot center Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain would "definitely" turn professional.

Allen said he didn't refer to Chamberlain "in any shape or form" during a speech at Buffalo, N.Y., yesterday. He accused reporters of "twisting the facts."

"I'm not an auditor and have no way of telling how much Chamberlain has made for the University of Kansas."

"During the bull session my only reference to money was telling of the survey made by the Kansas turnpike on the amount of money Wilt made for the road," Allen said.

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways:

Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world.

We lean to the latter interpretation.

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

K-State Meets KU On Links, Courts

Wildcat tennis and golf teams travel to Lawrence for matches with University of Kansas teams this afternoon.

The tennis squad carries a 9-3 record and seven wins in a row to the Jayhawk courts.

"It should be closer than it was last time, when we beat KU 6-1," Coach Karl Finney said. "We should keep our undefeated string going, though."

The golfers will be out to avenge an 8-4 defeat handed them by the Jayhawks earlier this year at Manhattan.

"We hope to do better than we did before," Coach T. M. Evans said, "but KU has probably the best team in the Big Seven."

Tennis starters are Dick Circle, Alan Chaplin, Jim Holwerda, Keith Andler, and Eddie Wallace.

Golf starters are Jerry Smith, Ron Young, Dave Pfuetze, Jerry Hendricks, and Joe Downey.

LANGUAGE MADE SIMPLE: No. 2

Exams loom closer and closer. The sands run out; the chips are down. This, you will agree, is no time for levity.

Accordingly, I have asked the makers of Philip Morris whether I might not dispense with jesting in today's column and instead devote it to a cram course in languages.

Their consent was cheerfully given, for they are fine, great-hearted men, the makers of Philip Morris, just as full of natural goodness as the cigarettes they turn out, just as friendly, just as jolly, just as regular, just as unfiltered, just as agreeable. "Why, bless you, child!" cried the makers. "Of course!" Then they rumbled my chestnut curls and somebody cried "Not it!" and before you could say flip-top box, a game of Squat Tag was on, and we played 'til the moon was over the yardarm, and then, pink and tousled, we all went inside and had flagons of temperance punch and Philip Morris cigarettes and fell into our trundle beds and slept the clock around!

But I digress. Today let us turn our attention to the study of languages.

Do you realize how important languages are? I must confess that, until recently, I did not. "What good will Spanish ever do me?" I kept asking.

Well sir, I found out. Recently I took a trip to Latin America, and every day I thanked my lucky stars for having learned Spanish in college. While my fellow tourists stumbled and bumbled, I was perfectly at home.

Hasta la Vista, Señorita!

I recall our first stop in Mexico City. I stepped from the airplane, walked over to the nearest colorful native, and said, "Hasta la vista, señorita. (Good morning, sir.) ¿Pero las lastimas y calamidades se agravaban mas y mas cada dia?" (Has thy footman finished sweeping out thy chamber?)

"No, sir," he replied in Spanish. "He is an idle rogue."

"How is thy footman called?" I asked.

"He is called Diego," replied my friend, "and the little daughter of his fat sister is called Juanita. She has two small books, one gray cat, three black dogs, 24 red chickens, one fat pig, eight pewter mugs, and a partridge in a pear tree."

"Wilt thou have a Philip Morris cigarette?" I asked.

"Gracious," he said thankfully.

We lit Philip Morris and smoked contentedly the better part of the day.

"Perhaps by now my footman shall have finished sweeping my chamber," he said. "Wilt thou not come to my house?"

"Gracious," I said.

Arm in arm we walked to his house, but, alas, his footman had not yet swept out his chamber. So we each took a barrel stave and beat the impudent scamp until it was time for my airplane to take off.

Aloha, Mexico, brooding land of enchantment!

Farewell, Mexico... Hello, U.S.A., land of the long size and regular, the flip-top box, the fresh, natural, zestful smoke—Philip Morris, of course!—whose makers bring you this column throughout the school year.

Ike Preparing Campaign To Approve His Budget

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington—President Eisenhower today was reported preparing a major campaign to swing public support behind his embattled budget.

Informed sources said the campaign will include use of presidential news conferences and a nationwide television address in the near future—possibly outside of Washington.

At the same time, the President prepared to ask Congress for a reduced foreign aid program.

Administration sources said the President would ask Congress in about 10 days to approve a $3,900,000,000 program—a half billion less than his original request.

3 Union Leaders 'Retire'

Washington—Teamsters Union leaders may ask Teamster President Dave Beck and two vice presidents to resign or "retire" as a result of AFL-CIO charges of corruption, informed sources said today.

The charges, presented the Union yesterday by the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee, indicated the AFL-CIO ultimately will demand that the Union either oust the three national officers and a number of local union officials or get out of the AFL-CIO.

Need German Settlement

Bonn, Germany—British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan warned today there can be no settlement of European problems as long as Germany remains divided.

"We admire the attitude of the German people and sympathize with you," MacMillan said in an airport statement shortly after his arrival from London. "With you we believe that there will be no solution of European problems without European reunification."

Seaton Asks Project Delay

Washington—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton has asked the House Interior committee to delay action on a bill calling for joint federal-private development of the Trinity river project in California, it was reported today.

Seaton said in a letter to Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), committee chairman, that he was requesting the delay because "certain data" supplied by the Bureau of Reclamation's regional director at Sacramento, Calif., "appears to be in error."

"Business and pleasure do mix..."

ROBERT H. WENTORF, JR., Ph.D., University of Wisconsin, 1951

"Until I joined General Electric's Research Laboratory in 1951, I never realized science could be such a challenge — or so much fun. My job involves research in physical chemistry — the investigation of new ideas which can lead to new and better products people can use. In a company of this size, I have the unique advantage of having the tools and facilities I need and the experience of others close at hand. And in return, of course, I'm expected to apply myself to the best of my ability in each new job. As I see it, if a big company like General Electric invests time, money and faith in my creative ability, and if I respond by creating, then we both benefit. To me, at General Electric business and pleasure do mix."

created borazon — a completely new, diamond-hard substance which promises far-reaching effect on industrial processes and everyday living.

There are more than 27,000 college graduates at General Electric. Each is provided the opportunity for self-development in the hope that his creative ability will bring forth new ideas. As General Electric sees it, these new ideas, stemming from man's native curiosity, will lead to the development of countless products as yet undreamed of for our nation's defense, industries, and homes.

A physical chemist at General Electric conducts studies of the atomic structure of matter, and of the way atoms and molecules interact under a wide variety of conditions.

Gerritz Says

About 2,380 Pre-Assigned

Approximately 2,380 students have been assigned to classes for the fall semester of 1957, E. M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar, has announced.

According to Gerritz, approximately 850 were freshmen, 830 were sophomores, and 700 were juniors, seniors, and graduate students.

The figure of 2,380 is about 68 per cent of the students who can and will re-enroll here in the fall. All that will be left for these students to do in the fall will be to fill out personal data IBM-cards and pay their fees.

Union Wins Food Award From Institutional Group

The Student Union has been awarded Institutional Magazine's 1957 honor award for food service operation, according to Loren Kottner, director of the Union.

This is the second major award the Union has won from the magazine this year. Last fall, the Union was judged a winner in the interiors award program. Winners were selected on the basis of photographs.

Judging for the food service operations award was based upon equipment layout, information about financial operation, menus, volume of business, and special features.

"We were in competition with new institutional feeding units for hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and motels," Kottner said. He added that the Kansas State Union is the only union to receive both the interiors award and the food service award this year.

Panhel Tea Set For Saturday

The spring rush tea sponsored by Panhellenic council for the 76 upper class women who registered for it will be held from 1:15 p.m. to 4:35 p.m. Saturday.

The women will meet on the third floor of the Student Union. They will be divided into three groups for the purpose of touring all the sorority houses, beginning with the Chi Omega house, Alpha Xi Delta house, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. A rotation plan will be followed, with each group visiting each house for 20 minutes.

The girls attending the teas should wear cottons and flats.

At 5 p.m. Friday, the Panhellenic advisor, Miss Mary Frances White, assistant professor of English, will speak to the women planning to attend the tea for approximately 20 minutes on the purpose of and arrangements for the tea. The meeting will be on the third floor of the Union.

Snakes Are Frosh's Hobby

THESE CUTE LITTLE FELLOWS make a dandy hobby, according to Bruce Toevs, AH Fr. "Hard to keep track of, though," he said. Bruce studies and collects snakes all over the state and has sold many as samples and pets.

"People would lose their fear of snakes if they knew more about them," according to Bruce Toevs, AH Fr. Bruce keeps 20 ring neck and worm snakes in his room at the Lambda Chi house.

"I use my hands to catch everything but rattlesnakes because snakes are not injured this way," he explained.

Bruce said snakes scared him before he became interested in them. "After I learned how to handle them, I lost my fear," he said.

Bruce raises snakes for observation purposes. "Some snakes have interesting feeding habits," he said. A 6 foot bull snake used to follow him around when it knew he had food in his hand.

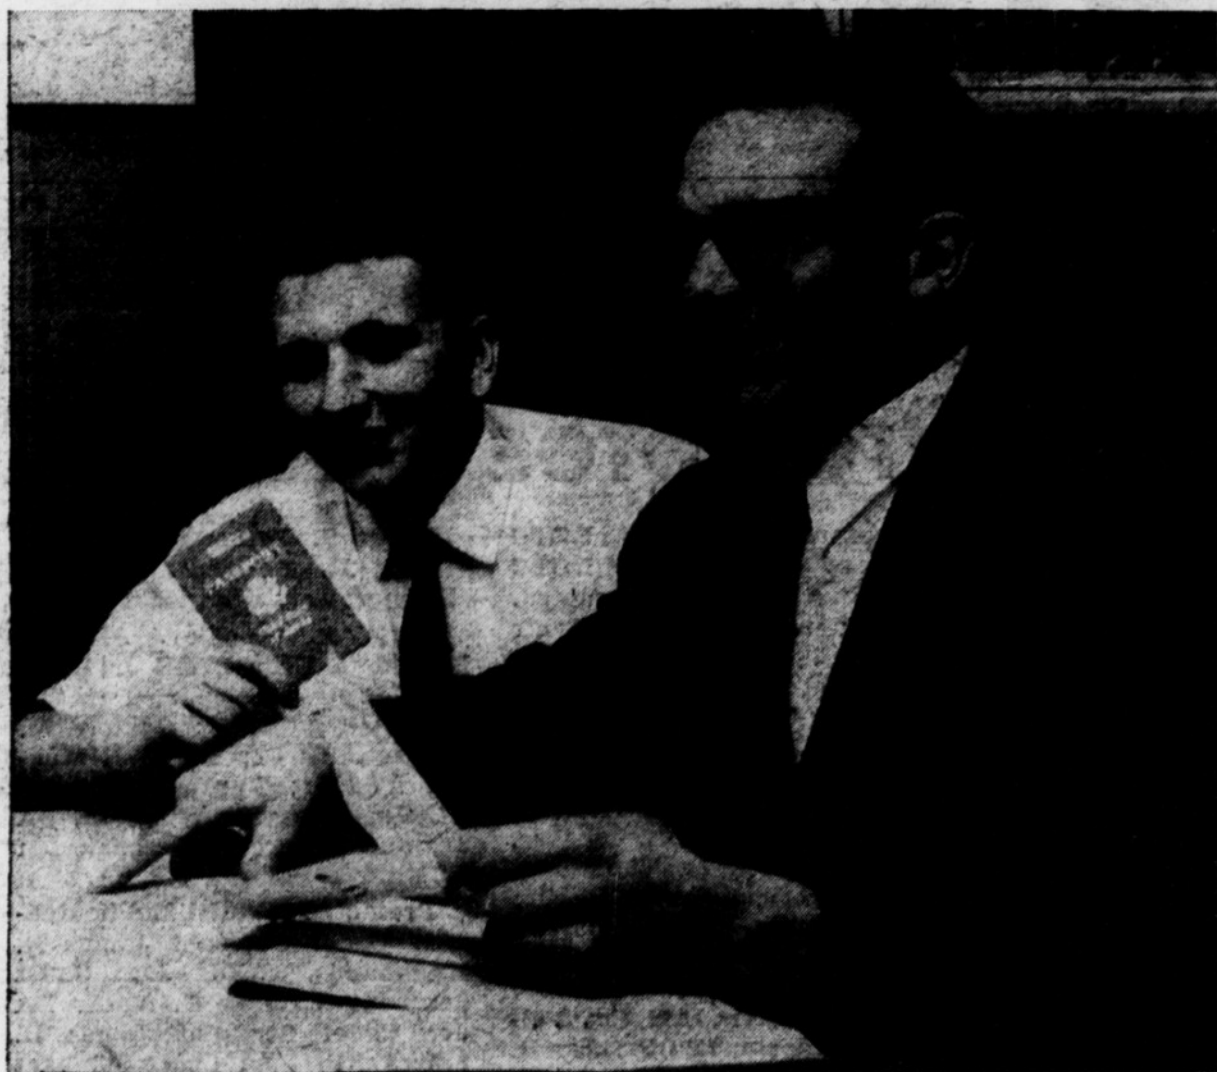

Bruce raises hamsters to feed to his larger snakes. His small snakes seem to be content with worms, beetles, and other insects.

"I have been bitten several times," he said. "But the bites of harmless snakes are no worse than insect bites."

Snakes shed their skin about three times a year, he said. He saves the skins of the large snakes and wires their skeletons.

Bruce is majoring in animal husbandry, but wants to change to wildlife conservation. He would like to work in a reptile institute after graduation.

Lure of Big Game Hunting Calls Two Staters to Africa

SET FOR SAFARI—Holding their passports, Gerald Faust, IT Soph, (left) and Dennis Blossom, BAA Soph, look over maps and pamphlets on Africa. Right after final week they will drive to New York, where they will board a plane for Europe and then to Africa.

By JANICE GRAHAM

AFTER TWO YEARS of planning and hoping for a chance to get to Europe, Dennis Blossom, BAA Soph, and Gerald Faust, IT Soph, are finally going to make it. That is, after a seven-week stay in Bambar, Africa.

"Anyway will spend four whole weeks in Europe, Blossom joked. "We'll go by plane, or hitchhike, or bicycle, to famous European cities like Rome, Munich, and London."

The story behind the trip is that Faust's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Faust, have been missionaries in Africa for 30 years. Dr. Faust who is Executive Secretary of the Sedan United Mission, approved their plans at Christmastime this year, and since then the "adventurers" have been trying to convince disbelieving fraternity brothers that they really are going to the dark continent.

"WE RECEIVED OUR passports a few weeks ago, and now, with legitimate proof, everyone's begging us to take them along," Blossom said. "The trip will cost about $890—that price isn't exactly a drawing card."

After completing their finals on May 24, the two will leave for New York where they will catch a plane to Amsterdam, Holland. From there they will go to Jos, Africa, to begin a 300 mile jeep ride to Bambar.

"The natives there don't speak English, and I don't speak 'Hausa,' the trade language," Blossom said. "Don't quite know what I'm going to do if I get in a jam and need to talk."

BUT THERE PROBABLY won't be any "jams" if Blossom doesn't wander too far without Faust, who is familiar with the language. The nearest movie theater is 1,000 miles away, and the mail comes once a week when a native tromps 30 miles to bring it.

"No one knows, but our main object is to go hunting in Africa, "something I haven't done much of," said Blossom. "Our game will be wild buffaloes, baboons, and geese. For a really big target we can go 100 miles north and shoot elephants. I might need a big target."

Blossom said the natives don't have any guns and like to carry tourists' guns for them. They serve as guides too.

HAVING LIVED IN Africa before, Faust is anxious to get back. "It's fascinating country, it's my home, and I don't get to see it but once every three or four years."

To this Blossom added, "My folks are taking a pretty dim view of the trip, but I like to travel, and we plan to make an educational venture out of it."

Both Blossom and Faust are from Holton. Faust lives with his grandmother there. They are members of Pi Kappa Alpha. They plan to return to school in the fall.

Personality of the Week

Shoe Salesman—Cowpuncher 'All-Around' Despite Size

By SANDRA WILSON

THE PATENT-LEATHER personality of a part-time shoe salesman and the rough and tumble ruggedness of an all-around cowboy is the combination found in Dale "Pee Wee" Wilson, AE Soph, the Collegian's personality of the week.

Only 5-6, Wilson made a name for himself last weekend when he was named all-around cowboy at the Chaparajos' rodeo. He works 30 hours a week as a downtown shoemaker to keep Bouncer, one of his two roping horses, in hay and oats. He and three "Chaps" rent their own private practice arena south of town.

Placing first in calf roping, tying for second and third in bareback bronc riding, and taking second in Brahma bull riding, Dale copped a $100 prize and a new pair of boots from his clumsier cohorts and stepped right into his brother Clark's boots at the Saturday-Sunday event.

CLARK WILSON, AE Sr., was all-around cowboy last year and since then has gone professional by joining the Rodeo Cowboy association. Dale will join the RCA July 1 and the two will hit shows in Nebraska and South Dakota until school starts next fall.

Fascinated by the life of a professional cowboy, Dale notes that Jim Shoulders, the world's champion all-around cowboy, made $50,000 last year. He himself will be happy if he makes expenses this summer.

He has never been injured in the arena, but modestly credits this fact to lady luck. Dale started roping when he was 12 and has been riding in rodeos in Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska for five years. He was a three-year state champion calf-roper while in high school.

DALE IS AN active member of Chaparajos and was on the stock committee for the rodeo, taking care of the necessary contracts for livestock used in the show. He was president of his high school senior class at Wheaton and a 4-H member for eight years.

The youngest of eight children, 1957 all-around Chaparajos cowboy has a tradition to uphold—all but one in his family have attended K-State.

A LITTLE PRACTICE on rope-handling is done by Dave Wilson, AEd Soph, following the Chaparajos' Rodeo last week-end in which he placed first. "Not much like a good Brahma, though," he commented.

Federal School Construction Bill Nears Committee Passage Today

Compiled from United Press
by Keith Kemper

Washington—The compromise federal school construction bill headed toward expected approval today in the House Education and Labor committee.

Chairman Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) of the subcommittee that worked out the compromise bill, predicted at least 22 members of the full 30-member committee would vote for it.

But, the two-billion dollar program still faced a long and uncertain road in the economy-minded House and Senate.

The bill would provide 400 million dollars a year for the next five years to help states build schools.

Other developments:

Postal—The House Post Office committee waved a fight over how much to increase postal rates for newspapers, magazines and advertising matter. The committee already has approved boosting the rate one penny on first class and air mail letters and post cards.

USIA—Senate critics of the U.S. Information Agency sought a close look at the agency's overseas press service operations. A Senate appropriations subcommittee summoned USIA director Arthur Larson for intensive questioning.

Doctrine Gaining Favor

Washington—President Eisenhower told a news conference today that he may make two television appearances soon in support of his budget, which is encountering trouble in Congress.

The President told reporters he had worked for a long time on an address to the people, but found there were so many subjects to be covered that he doubted one speech would accomplish his purpose.

He used his news conference to make another vigorous stand in behalf of his budget, asserting that truly big cuts could not be made until this country was certain that the foreign situation had eased very greatly.

Beck Before Group Today

Washington—Teamster Union President Dave Beck was hauled back before the Senate Rackets committee today to tell of his business deals with his own union—and the absence of four witnesses who might explain them.

The committee booked a return engagement of the head of the nation's largest union to learn whether he profited by transactions between the teamsters and firms in which he had interests directly or through "fronts."

Dag in Israel Soon

Jerusalem, Israel—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld will arrive here tomorrow morning from Geneva on his first visit to Israel since the invasion of Egypt, it was announced today.

The announcement said he would spend 48 hours here in talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Meir and would leave Israel Saturday morning for Cairo and talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

McCarthy Spot Open

Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin politicians today began opening their big guns in the heated battle to choose a successor to the late Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

GOP State Senators were to meet shortly before the Badger State Senate opened its regular session today to draft legislation permitting Gov. Vernon Thomson to appoint a successor to McCarthy.

Ike to Make TV Talks

Washington—Twelve Middle Eastern countries generally favor American efforts to bolster the Middle East against Communism under the Eisenhower Doctrine, a survey disclosed today.

Five nations in the troubled region either are withholding a decision on the American aid program or are against it.

The "Doctrine" states U.S. readiness to use armed force to help any Mideast nation attacked by a Communist-dominated country and requesting American help. It also authorizes U.S. economic and arms aid to bolster Mideast nations against Red encroachment.

Orrell Elected Jardine Mayor

Donald Orrell, ME Soph, was elected mayor of sections G, J, K, and L of Jardine terrace at a recent meeting. Residents of the sections also adopted a constitution and decided to call the area Central Jardine terrace because of the central position it will occupy when the area is completed.

Councilmen are Marvin Wehrman, CE Jr.; Dean Bowyer, PrL Fr.; Harold G. Boone, EE Soph; W. F. Hutchinson, PrV Soph; Richard Ross, Mth Fr.; Eldon S. Ratcliffe, Ag Grad; and James Robinson, AEd Jr.

A representative of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company discussed the problem of telephones for the apartments at the meeting. He set the date for completion of telephone installation at September 1, but stated that the job may possibly be completed earlier.

Thornton A. Edwards, director of housing, discussed some minor cases of vandalism and housing problems with the residents. He said that residents may buy air conditioners and install them with the help of the housing office.

The residents voted to allow the temporary mayor and council to hold office until the group's first general election in the fall. The officers will retain the temporary title so that they may run for reelection in the fall.

Greeks Win 3 Titles In IM Softball Action

Three teams won group championships to top yesterday's intramural softball action.

Pi Kappa Alpha defeated Lambda Chi Alpha, 9-1, to win the Group I championship; Phi Kappa won over Delta Sigma Phi, 3-1, to capture the Group II position; and Beta Sigma Psi edged out Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 5-4, to secure the Group III championship.

West Stadium meets YMCA tonight to begin the semifinal play-offs to decide the independent division champion. The winner of that contest will meet the Jr. AVMA's Monday to determine the top team.

In other games Sigma Chi defeated Alpha Kappa Lambda, 15-3. Dick Kaaz pitched a winning game for Kappa Sigma over Acacia, 4-0.

Beta Theta Pi won over Phi Delta Theta, 7-2. Harry Haas hit a home run for the Betas with two men on base.

Bob Roelofz pitched a one-hitter for Pi Kappa Alpha to win the Group I championship. Julius Lincoln and John Stone helped the PIKA cause with a home run apiece.

Bob Schmidt pitched the 3-1 Phi Kap win over the Kappa Sigs in the Group II title tilt.

Beta Sigma Psi's Richard Froberg pitched against SAE's Darwin Hester in the Group III contest to edge the SAE's out for that championship.

Today's schedule: 4:15 p.m.—Rho Alphas-D.S.F., southwest city park. At 5:15 p.m.—Sigma Phi Epsilon-Theta Xi, southwest city park; West Stadium-YMCA, west military field.

K-State Meets Cyclones In Baseball Series Here

K-State meets Iowa State in a three-game baseball series at Griffith Stadium this weekend, with one game Friday and two Saturday.

After losing three games to Missouri last Friday and Saturday, the Cats will try to bounce back against the Cyclones who carry a 5-4 record, good for fourth place in the conference and two games behind league leading Missouri.

K-State is in last place with a 2-8 conference mark and has only six games left in which to improve that mark.

Baseball coach Ray Wauthier reports his squad will go against Iowa State with three of its top men injured. Outfielder Bob Boyd has a sprained ankle and will probably be replaced in center field by Gene Keady, who will move over from his regular position in right field to take Boyd's place.

Pitcher Bill Sinderson has a sore arm and may not pitch against the Cyclones. Starting catcher Ravon Thaevert was hit on the arm by a pitched ball at Missouri and may not play. First baseman Wally Carlson will catch if Thaevert is out of action.

If Sinderson can't start, Bill Blume, Mike Lair, and Warren Polak will probably pitch with Polak taking Sinderson's place.

Gene Keady is leading the Cats with a .333 batting average and two homers. Carlson is batting .321 and Roy DeWitz carries a .308 mark.

Iowa State took two of three games from Oklahoma last weekend to knock the Sooners out of first place. The Cyclones also defeated present league leader, Missouri, in two of three games the weekend before they wrecked Oklahoma's first first place tenure.

K-State will finish its season with a three game series against Colorado here May 17 and 18.

Netmen Lose To KU, 6-1

K-State's tennis team dropped its first match in its last eight starts as Kansas university notched a 6-1 win over the Cats at Lawrence yesterday.

The loss gives the Wildcats a 9-4 record in all matches played this season.

The Cats lone victory came in the No. 4 singles when Keith Andler defeated KU's Ron Bevers, 6-2, 6-2.

The results:

KU Golfers Defeat Cats

Wildcat golfers were defeated by a Kansas university squad, 9-3, yesterday in Lawrence with only the Missouri match next week remaining before the conference tournament in Lincoln, May 17-18.

Gene Elstun, KU's No. 1 man, shot a 72 for medalist honors as he beat Jerry Smith's 79.

Gene Elstun, 72, defeated Jerry Smith (KS), 79, 3-0.
Dave Pfuetze (KS) 74, defeated Bill Tolston, 78, 3-0.
Bill Saylor, 79, defeated Jerry Hendricks (KS), 88, 3-0.
Jim Davies, 78, defeated Joe Downey (KS), 86, 3-0.

Bob Riley defeated Dick Circle (KS), 6-0, 6-1.

Bob Peterson defeated Allen Chaplin (KS), 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.

Lynn Sieverling defeated Jim Holwerda (KS), 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Keith Andler (KS) defeated Ron Bevers, 6-2, 6-2.

Bob Mettlen defeated Eddie Wallace (KS), 6-3, 6-3.

Riley-Bevers defeated Circle-Chaplin, 6-3, 6-3.

Peterson-Sieverling defeated Andler-Holwerda, 6-3, 6-4.

Frosh Tracksters Pack Punch

By JAY WORKMAN

K-State's future track hopes got a substantial boost this season when Wildcat freshman showed well-distributed strength in freshman postal meets.

The Cats defeated Oklahoma A&M, tied Missouri and lost to Nebraska.

In a postal meet, competing teams run against time on their home tracks, then mail their results to a central office which determines places in each event.

Sweeping the high jump and javelin over Oklahoma A&M and taking seven firsts, K-State edged out the young Cowpokes, 67-63. The Wildcat frosh tied Missouri, 65½-65½, and dropped a 49-82 decision to Nebraska.

A trio of Cat freshmen, who double in basketball and track, scored one-two-three in the high jump against both Oklahoma A&M and Missouri. They are Glen Long, Steve French, and Sonny Ballard. Long and French cleared 6-2 and Ballard jumped 6-0. All three had considerably better marks indoors, Long going 6-4¾ in a March exhibition.

"Long, French, and Ballard are the best jumpers but Jerry Johnson, who has been out most of the season with a pulled leg muscle, is a fine high jumper and hurdler," Coach Herman Wilson said.

Ballard led K-State javelin efforts with a heave of 192-6 for first in all three postal meets, as the Wildcat frosh scored sweeps in that event against all opponents.

Behind Ballard were Ivan Holt at 187-9, and Al Hamilton at 185-8. This is the first year Ballard has ever thrown the javelin and, though he tosses close to 190 feet consistently, he bettered 200 in practice Monday.

Other Cat strong points show in the two-mile, mile, and half-mile as Duane Holman ran a 4:21.6 mile, clocked 1:59.7 in the 880, and took first against all three opponents with a two-mile time of 9:42.4. He was crowded by Julius Lincoln, who ran the 880 in 1:59.9 and the mile in 4:34.1.

"Holman was really good this year in the two-mile and Lincoln did well in the mile," Wilson commented.

Other K-Staters scoring firsts in all three meets were Jim Cain, who had a shotput mark of 48-2, and Richard Johnson, who won the broad jump with a 21-10 mark.

"Cain has shown improvement and should top 50 feet next year," Wilson said, "and Johnson is doing well."

Best marks by the freshmen in other events: 100-yard dash, 10.2 by George Whitney; 220-yard dash, 23.0 by Earl Hayter; 440-yard dash, 57.7 by Charles Carl; 120-yard high hurdles, 15.7 by Jerry Johnson; 220-yard low hurdles, 26.7 by Paul Henry; pole vault, 12-8 by Jerry Hess; discus, 145-4 by Cain.

"Charles Carl is the best prospect in the 880," Wilson said, "and Bill Campbell is the best 440 prospect."

"The whole team has not developed fully yet but we feel that it will in the near future," Wilson said. "Several of the freshman marks would have won or placed in the varsity meet with Nebraska here last weekend."

Standout Vaulters Lindemuth Shoots for Track Records

By JIM CAIN

Karl Lindenmuth, K-State's junior pole vaulter, overcame a still ailing, sprained ankle to vault 13-6 at the Colorado Relays April 27 for second place, a vault that Karl calls "the best of my life."

"It wasn't the best vault of my life for actual height, but had the bar been placed higher it would have been because I cleared it by at least six to eight inches," Lindenmuth said.

Of his three attempts at 14 feet, he barely missed each one.

Against Nebraska last weekend, Lindenmuth turned in a 13-2 performance, good for first in the pole vault. At Iowa State this Saturday, Karl will face a team that lost its record setting vaulter Hal Mullison who holds the Iowa State school record of 14 2 3/4. Mullison set that standard last season.

Just before the end of the indoor season, Karl seriously sprained his ankle and did not return to action until the KU Relays where he failed to clear 12-6.

"My ankle was bothering me a lot then. In fact so much that it hurt to run on it, but it's starting to heal up enough that I can at least get by," said the muscular junior.

Last year as a sophomore, Karl set a new school record in the pole vault with 13-7 1/2. His top vault of all-time is 13-9, good for a third-place finish in the Big Seven indoor this year.

As a high school vaulter at Scott City in 1954, Karl's best vault was 12-3. He also played fullback on the football team prep school.

As for the future, Karl's aims are to make 14 feet this year and to make 14-6 before he is graduated from college.

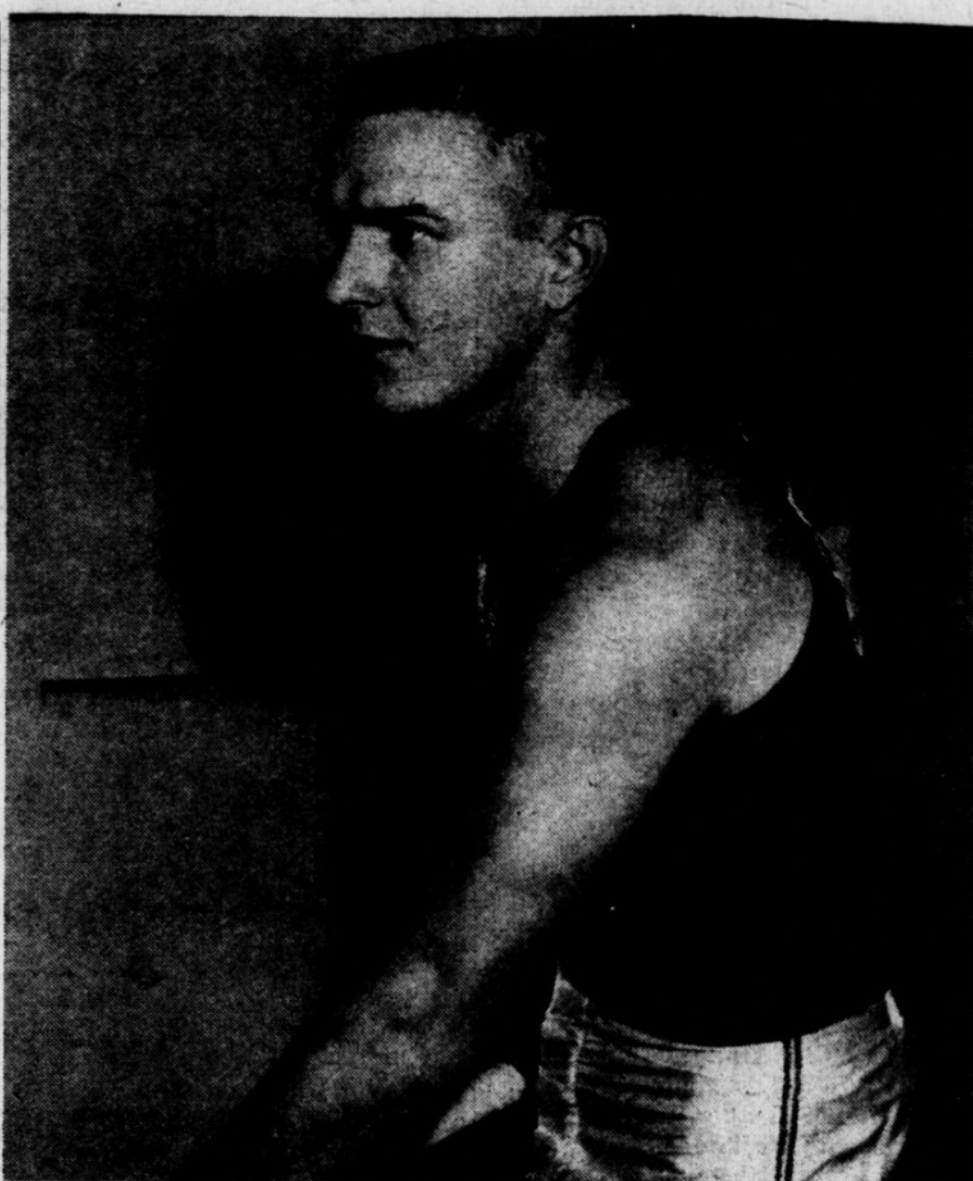

"I think I will make 14 this year. I came awfully close to doing it at Boulder, but I don't think I'm in shape yet," he said.

"I've got to lose some weight and improve my speed."

Coach Ward Haylett says that Lindenmuth is capable of making 14-6.

"Karl has all the physical requirements except height but he makes up for that deficiency with better than average coordination," Haylett said.

"He is going to have to hurry and get into shape, but I think he can make 14 feet yet this year and I definitely think he should go 14 1/2 feet next year."

KARL LINDENMUTH, K-State's junior pole vaulter, is shooting for a vault of 14 feet this year. Lindenmuth, a geology major, hails from Scott City. He holds the school record at 13-7 1/2.

Cincy Wins Again; Williams Hot, Too

By UNITED PRESS

That familiar fire engine color marked the "hottest" players in the majors today as the Cincinnati Redlegs ran their win streak to eight games and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox sent his batting average soaring to .453.

The Redlegs looked like the bust of the season when they lost six straight games to the Milwaukee Braves. They whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night, 9-2.

Williams drove in three runs with a single and homer to give the Red Sox a 4-3 triumph over the White Sox at Chicago.

Herb Score, who led the majors in strikeouts the last two seasons, suffered what may prove to be a serious injury when he was struck on the right eye by a line drive in the first inning at Cleveland. But the Indians, with Bob Lemon replacing Score, battled back to edge the New York Yankees on two unearned runs, 2-1.

Vic Power hit his second homer of the night in the 10th inning to give the Kansas City Athletics their fourth straight victory, 3-2, over the Baltimore Orioles. In Tuesday's only day game, two-run homers by Frank Bolling gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-3 victory over Washington.

In the other National league night action, the Philadelphia Phillies routed Warren Spahn while giving Robin Roberts an 8-4 victory over the Braves; two-run singles by pinch-hitter Bob Speake and Dale Long in the 14th gave the Chicago Cubs a 10-8 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates; and New York downed St. Louis, 8-5.

Don Whan Began Young With Interest in Radio

By EUGENE ASKEN

Don Whan, Sp Soph, chief engineer of the student radio training station, KSDB-FM, has been interested in radio ever since he can remember. His father, Prof. Forest L. Whan, head of the radio section frequently talked shop around the house when Don was young.

Don actually started working at a radio station when he was ten years old. Don explains "My sister's boy friend worked at a radio station in Wichita, and he probably thought he could score points with my sister if he let me work there. My sister married him, so I guess it worked.

"At the age of thirteen," Don said, "I started building and assembling my own radio test equipment. Presently I have equipment valued at about $1,000." Don uses his equipment for keeping KSDB-FM operating properly and for giving demonstrations to radio students on the elements of sound.

As chief engineer of KSDB-FM, Don has the job of repairing and maintaining all equipment, and seeing that the station continues to meet all the rules and regulations of the Federal Communication commission.

Upon graduation, Don hopes to enter the field of educational television as an equipment technician. He believes that there is a great future in this phase of television, and that a lot of opportunity exists for people interested in this work.

German Arts To Highlight Weekend Festival Program

The Fine Arts Festival will continue through Sunday as Gerald Deibler, instructor in the Architecture and Allied Arts department, inaugurate today's program at 2:30 with a gallery lecture on paintings on exhibition in the Union art lounge.

A lecture, "Germany in the Twentieth Century," at 3:15 p.m., in the little theater, will be given by Dr. Werner Barth of the History department. A recital of 20th century German organ music will be presented by Robert Wilson Hays, assistant professor in the Department of Music, at 4:15 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Friday's program will begin with a recital of chamber music at 2:30 p.m. by students in ensemble classes, under the direction of Clyde Jussila, music instructor. The recital will be in the little theater.

The final lecture will be given by Mrs. Betty Sieler, instructor in the Architecture and Allied Arts department, in the little theater at 4:15 p.m. She will talk about Ernst Barlach and his relationship to German art of this century.

Saturday's schedule includes a gallery lecture at 2:30 p.m. on drawings and graphic arts being exhibited in the art lounge by E. J. Tomasch, assistant professor in the Architecture and Allied Arts department.

Movies in the little theater at 3:15 p.m. will finish the day's events. Part I is entitled "Ernst Barlach—The Fighter" and part II is "Ernst Barlach—The Victor." Each of these will be 15 minute films, followed by a 10 minute film, "The Expressionist Revolt."

On Sunday, climaxing the eight days of festivities, Prof. John Helm Jr., of the Department of Architecture and Allied Arts, will give a lecture on exhibition paintings at 3 p.m. in the art lounge.

The final event will be a concert by the Kansas State college Symphonic band under the direction of Jean Hedlund, assistant professor in the Music department, in the Auditorium.

Kansas State Band To Present Concert

An original composition by Robert Hays will be featured in the spring "pops" concert of the Kansas State college band Sunday afternoon, according to Jean Hedlund, director.

The composition is entitled "Fanfare and Fugue," and was scored for band by Hedlund.

Hays, the College organist, has had several compositions for organ and chorus published, and last fall prepared several of the fanfares used by the K-State herald trumpeters. Before his appointment to the music staff at K-State in 1946, Hays was organist at the Grace Cathedral in Topeka.

The concert will be at 4 p.m. Sunday in the College auditorium.

'All Shook Up' Just Won't Quit As Elvis Cops Top Spot Again

By Sharon Totten

ELVIS PRESLEY IS TOP MAN on the Manhattan Top 10 lists again this week. His record, "All Shook Up," is No. 1 on the list of record sales in Manhattan for the sixth consecutive week and No. 1 on the jukebox list for the second consecutive week.

On the jukeboxes this week "Little Darlin'" by the Diamonds stuck in second place, but in the record stores, it dropped one notch to become No. 3. "Come, Go With Me," by the Del Vikings changed places with "Little Darlin'," and moved into the No. 2 position on the Top 10 record sales list.

"Round and Round," by Perry Como, and "Party Doll," by Buddy Knox, are still No. 3 and No. 4 on the jukeboxes, although both have dropped from the record sales list completely.

"GONE," by Ferlin Husky moved up one position to become No. 6 on the record sales list, while it maintained position No. 4 for the second week on the jukebox list.

"School Day," by Chuck Berry, a disc which came to the Top 10 for the first time last week, is No. 7 on both Top 10 lists this week. The only newcomer to the record sales list is "I'm Stickin' With You," by Jimmy Bowen. It is No. 5 this week.

The Platters' disc, "I'm Sorry," moved up a notch to position No. 6 on the record sales list, but it is off the jukebox list for the second week.

TOP 10 RECORDS sold in Manhattan this week:

1. "All Shook Up," Elvis Presley
2. "Come, Go With Me," Del Vikings

SONGS THAT EVERYONE has heard, presented with a brighter beat, seems to be Frank Sinatra's purpose in his latest Capitol album called "A Singin' Affair!" He sings 15 familiar songs in an unfamiliar but snappy fashion with the assistance of the Nelson Riddle orchestra.

Included in Sinatra's album are such tunes as "Night and Day," "From This Moment On," "I Won't Dance," "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'," and "Stars Fell on Alabama."

Airlines Still Looking For Crash Preventer

Los Angeles, Calif. (U.P.)—An aviation industry official ruefully admitted today that two years of research have failed to solve one of its biggest problems—development of anti-collision warning devices.

But he said one type may be developed in another year.

Frank C. White, technical expert of the Air Transport association, made the disclosures in a report delivered before a joint meeting of the Radio Technical Commission for Aeronautics and the Institute of Radio Engineers here.

White said two years ago the scheduled airlines asked the electronics industry to help solve the menace of mid-air collisions by perfecting practical warning devices.

"Many top-notch electronics manufacturers have been attacking the problem we laid before them," White said. "There is no solution to the problem at this moment."

White emphasized the lack of success has not been due to lack of effort. He said nearly 70 companies have been trying to develop a collision warning device that would be both foolproof and economically feasible.

The airlines actually have been looking for two separate types of warnings.

One is a proximity warning indicator, which merely alerts a pilot to the presence of another aircraft. Electronics experts have been seeking a detecting range of two miles. A longer range presumably would set off too many "alarms" when planes approached airports.

The second device sought is a "collision avoidance system" which not only detects nearby planes but tells whether they are on collision courses, "discriminates" against aircraft not on collision courses and even advises the pilot of the correct avoiding maneuver.

This complicated mechanism, White conceded, is "many years" away. He said the airlines would settle temporarily for a good proximity warning indicator.

Wise and Otherwise

Fightin' Female Editor Falls in Love Abroad

By Darrel Miller

HENRY P. BRONKWELL first caught her attention on a Wednesday afternoon.

He had been sneaking across the grass near Fairchild, when a photographer in green putter pants leaped from behind a maple tree and snapped his picture.

Then three journalists, one of them a girl, crawled out of the bushes, bulldogged Henry P., and tied him to the maple tree—head down.

SHE WAS IMPRESSED by his composure, and decided to comfort him. Sidling near, she said: "Cheer up; Wilt the Stilt is leaving KU."

Before he could express his gratitude, she also had been lashed to the tree.

As the flames licked closer and closer, they chatted. He admitted that wheat price supports should be higher, and that he thought Ron Loneski would decide not to go to Duke.

SHE CONFIDED THAT she thought the school name should be changed. She was tired of everyone calling K-State an agricultural college, and thought it would be much more dignified to call it an agricultural university.

From this humble beginning, a lasting friendship was cemented—a friendship that lasted a great deal longer than they had expected because one of those periodic Kansas showers drowned the fire.

Thus it was that, 27 years later, he was extremely pleased to meet her outside the Bahnhof hotel in Darmstadt, Germany.

"GUTEN TAG, FELLOW K-STATTER," he said, brandishing a copy of the Frankfurter Nachtausgabe.

"Howdy," she answered, genuinely glad to see him since she was in a foreign country without a cent to her name, with only the clothes on her back, and had run out of cigarettes.

At the nearest gasthaus he plied her with cigarettes as she devoured a wienerschnitzel and a liter of beer. He sat for a while in silence, then could contain himself no longer. "What in the world are you doing in Darmstadt, Clarina?" he asked.

AS THE WINERSCHNITZEL brought a glow back to her cheeks, once so lovely, and as the cigarettes steadied her shaking hand, her story spilled out.

"I was working as a stevedore on the New York docks," she said. "And I was happy until the union took away my card. Heartbroken, I stowed away on a cattle boat to Buenos Aires. I was discovered of course, and was put to work as a scullery maid. Unfortunately, during a heavy storm we were blown off course and wound up in Denmark. Sadly enough, I couldn't get through customs.

"Then my luck changed. A Communist in a passing submarine took me to Budapest.

THIS WAS ABOUT THE TIME of the October revolution and, by walking for seven days and two nights, I made my way into Germany. My wanderings took me through Stuttgart and Wiesbaden, and just this day I arrived in Darmstadt."

Henry P. was touched mightily. He clutched Clarina to his bosom and told her of his deep love. They were married and settled down in Niederammergau (which is just down the hill from Oberammergau).

Which just proves that blood is thicker than water, that love will out, that it's a small world, and that you never can tell.

Becks Skip Off to Canada To Avoid Investigating Group

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington—A Senate Rackets committee investigator charged today three members of the Dave Beck family slipped into Canada "strictly" to duck questioning by the committee.

But the investigator, committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy, said "there is nothing we can do to bring them back." Moreover, he said, he does not believe they will return to the United States.

The U.S. Marshal's office in Seattle, Wash., said last night the three elusive witnesses including Dave Beck Jr., jumped across the border to Vancouver, B.C.

Sen. Curtis on Group

Washington — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has appointed Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) to succeed the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) on the Senate Labor Rackets committee.

The 52-year-old Curtis — a prominent critic of labor — has been in the Senate since 1955. He previously served eight terms in the House.

Mrs. McCarthy Successor?

Madison, Wis.—A boom was developing today for the appointment of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's widow to his U.S. Senate seat.

Republican legislators were working to give Gov. Vernon Thomson, a Republican, power to appoint a successor. State law prescribes a special election.

Democrats, led by State Party Chairman Phil Leo Nash, charged that appointment of an interim Senator would be "not in the way of a Democracy but the way of a dictatorship."

Support for the appointment of Mrs. Jean McCarthy to succeed her husband was led by GOP Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski.

Dag in East for Talks

Jerusalem—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld arrived today in Jerusalem for secret talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion in hope of preventing another Israeli-Egyptian war.

Israeli military sources said Egypt already was preparing "fresh adventures" against Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Security precautions for Hammarskjöld were unprecedented when he arrived at Lydda airport. The field had been blocked off for hours by police and only government leaders were allowed to get near him.

Prince Has Surgery

London—Prince Charles underwent his first surgery—for removal of his tonsils and adenoids—in a specially built operating room at Buckingham Palace today.

Two renowned surgeons, an anesthetist and four nurses took part in the operation on the eight-year-old Prince, while Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh waited nearby.

Three Coeds Receive $200 Pitman Awards

Three Kansas State college sophomore girls enrolled in the School of Home Economics have received $200 Martha S. Pittman awards for outstanding scholarship and potential for success in the fields of foods and nutrition or dietetics and institutional management.

The winners of these awards are Phyllis Viergever, FN Soph; Patricia McSchane, DIM Soph; and Gearolyn Diehl, DIM Soph.

This is the eighth year these awards have been given in honor of Dr. Martha S. Pittman, former head of the department of foods and nutrition. They are financed by the royalties the department receives from "Practical Cookery," a cookbook written by the staff of the department of foods and nutrition.

Spring Sports End Near

Three K-State sports teams take on Big Seven outfits in Manhattan this weekend, and a fourth is on the road against another conference opponent as the spring sports schedule nears its close.

Missouri will provide the opposition for K-State's golf and tennis teams in Saturday afternoon home action that will close out dual competition for the Cats in those sports. Only the Big Seven spring meet at Lincoln, May 17-18, remains.

Coach Ray Wauthier's baseball club will engage Iowa

State in a three-game series beginning with a 3 p.m. Friday contest at Griffith field, and ending with a Saturday double-header starting at 1 p.m.

Coach Ward Haylett's track squad will travel to Ames for a dual meet with the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday afternoon.

That action, too, will end the track team's spring schedule, with the exception of the spring meet at Lincoln.

Wauthier's ball club will meet Colorado in another weekend series at Griffith field in its final action on May 17-18.

The Cat tennis team owns the best mark of Cat spring sports teams at 9-4. That mark includes an eight-match win streak.

Coach Mickey Evans' golfers have a 7-5 mark with a tie added, and the baseball team stands at 4-8 for the season. The Cat trackmen dropped a close, 67-63 decision to Nebraska in its only dual action to date.

Would-Be Stars Get Chance For Glory in Cinder Event

By DICK BOYD

Would-be track stars will get a chance to show their stuff in the annual intramural track and field meet in Memorial stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Delta Tau Delta and the Hillbillies were last year's fraternity and independent winners. A new winner in the independent division is assured this year since the Hillbillies are not entered in the meet.

The Delts have one returning champion in the person of Karl Stutterheim who won the broad jump last year with a leap of 20-5. The other four point-getters in last year's broad jump are competing this year. Bob Harris of Sigma Phi Epsilon, John (Hoot) Gibson of Delta Tau Delta, Bob Kind of Acacia, and Dick Corbin of Beta Theta Pi finished behind Stutterheim in that order last year.

Beta Theta Pi's returning champion is Bob Elgaard, three-time winner of the 440-yard dash, who won it last year in 51.7. Stan Peterson of Pi Kappa Alpha, who finished second, returns to battle Elgaard.

Mike Kinsella of Phi Delta Theta is returning champion in the 100-yard dash. His winning time last year was 10.3 seconds.

Chuch Zickefoose of Sigma Alpha Epsilon rounds out returning champs in the fraternity division. He won the shot put last year with a 42-foot heave.

In the independent division last year, Don Martin and Tony Addeo were key men on the Hillbillies' winning team. Martin won the 110-yard low hurdles in 14.5 seconds and Addeo won the 880-yard run in 2:18.4.

They will both run for Newman Club this year. Winston Tilzey, of Wesley Foundation finished second last year in the 880 and will return to challenge Addeo.

Ralph Pfiefer of West Stadium, who won the Independent 100-yard dash last year in 10.7, is entered in that event this year.

Versatile Carlson Will Play 'Anywhere' on K-State Nine

By DICK BOYD
"I'll play anywhere as long as I get to play," Wally Carlson, regular catcher for K-State's baseball team, said.

He made the statement in answer to a query concerning the switch from catcher to first baseman he made last season. Carlson stayed on first until recently when both catchers on the K-State squad were injured. Wally is now behind the plate again.

Baseball coach Ray Wauthier made it clear that he had not moved Carlson from catcher to first because he wasn't good enough to play behind the plate.

"We didn't have a first baseman so we switched Wally. He did it willingly although he never played the spot before.

"Wally went through a lot of hard work to get acquainted with footwork, different situations, and so forth, that are involved with playing the first base position," Wauthier said.

"Carlson's speed is not too great, but he makes up for that with great determination. He is easy to work with and always listens to suggestions to try and improve himself."

According to Wauthier, one of Wally's biggest assets is his power at the plate. "He is one of the heaviest hitting left-handed batters in the league.

"He has a good set of wrists, a good eye at the plate, and he knows where that strike zone is," Wauthier said.

Carlson was the leading hitter on the quad last year as a sophomore. At Iowa State last year, he hit a high line drive against the wind that easily cleared the fence for a home run. He calls it the hardest hit ball of his career.

"It has always been my ambition to play ball at K-State. I used to come down and watch games and hope that someday I could play," Carlson said.

Wally, who doubles as a first string guard on the K-State football squad, has played baseball since he was "knee-high to a grasshopper."

He played town team ball in his home town of Vermillion when he was in the eighth grade. While in high school, he caught for Vermillion high and Marysville junior legion teams.

During the summers after his graduation from high school and his first year of college, he played for the Frankfort town team.

Last season he played four games for McPherson's Ban Johnson team before breaking his foot in a freak accident on the diamond.

Wally is a physical education major and hopes to coach after a stretch in the army.

WALLY CARLSON, K-State baseball team's catcher, was shifted to that position recently when both K-State receivers were injured. Carlson, a junior, is a physical education major. He doubles in sports at K-State as a guard on the football team.

Redlegs Take Ninth in Row

By UNITED PRESS
Don Hoak and Warren Hacker provide iron-clad evidence today that General Manager Gabe Paul has scored another trade coup in his efforts to bring the Cincinnati Redlegs their first pennant since 1940.

Acquired from the Chicago Cub November 13 for pitcher Elmer Singleton and infielder Ray Jablonski, Hoak and Hacker were key figures as the Redlegs ran their winning streak to nine games last night with a 7-6 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hoak blasted a grand slam homer in the eighth inning to give the Redlegs their winning margin while Hacker gained his third win of the year—the same number he scored all last year for the Cubs.

The victory completed a Cincinnati sweep of nine straight games in the East—believed to be the first time the feat has been accomplished since the pennant-winning Redlegs of 1940 turned the trick. In addition, the triumph moved the Redlegs to within a half game of the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who suffered a 2-1 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Chicago Cubs walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-1, and the St. Louis Cardinals routed the New York Giants, 13-4, in other N.L. game. In the American league, the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees, 10-4; the Boston Red Sox downed the Chicago White Sox, 4-1; the Detroit Tigers mauled the Washington Senators, 11-3; and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City Athletics, 11-2.

West Stadium Wins Despite No-Hit Effort

West Stadium edged YMCA, 2-1, yesterday for a berth in Monday's finals against Jr. AVMA in independent division intramural softball.

A no-hit pitching effort by YMCA's Darrel Rosenow failed to stop the Stadium team, as two YMCA lapses let two runners cross home plate, enough for the 2-1 West Stadium win.

Rosenow walked two men and they scored while stealing second on an overthrow and a short throw. Ace Allen, West Stadium's pitcher, hurled a four-hitter.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta

Xi tied, 6-6. The duel ended after five innings, regulation time for intramural softball contests.

Disciples Student Fellowship took a tight, 7-6 decision from the Rho Alphas in the only other action yesterday. The games closed out regular season play with only playoffs left in both independent and fraternity divisions.

Today's fraternity semi-final schedule: 5:15 p.m.—Beta Sigma Psi-Phi Kappa, north west city park; Pi Kappa Alpha-Alfa Gamma Rho, southwest city park.

Graduate Students Lazy? Dean Harold Howe Says 'No'

The student sometimes thinks a good student is one who sits in every class and keeps the average down. By this criterion, K-State graduate students would be considered poor students.

"Graduate students do work, and they work hard," says Dean Harold Howe of the Graduate school.

For instance, let's take a look at Leonard Dewhirst, a zoology instructor and candidate for a doctorate in parasitology. He says that, since beginning work on his PhD four years ago, he has conferred with the dean, the department head, and his supervisors more times than Mickey Mantle has hit home runs.

"Along with conferences and teaching responsibilities, Leonard also found time to complete his course of study," Dr. M. F. Hansen, his major instructor, says.

One of the many steps in Dewhirst's program was a preliminary examination. Ideally, the preliminary exam should be taken seven months before the degree is conferred.

At the time of the exam, he had fulfilled his language requirement, and the subject for a written examination was selected. Dewhirst's program called for a reading knowledge of French and German; some students study Spanish and German instead.

Admission to candidacy for a doctor's degree is granted if the preliminary exam is satisfactory to an examining board.

A tentative copy of the doctor's dissertation must be submitted to the graduate office before the final oral exam and six weeks before commencement. The student then must submit three copies of the dissertation one month before commencement.

Dewhirst's dissertation deals with "Some Aspects of the Econology of Endoparasites of Beef Cattle in Kansas."

Through all of this activity, Dewhirst maintained about a 2.5 grade average.

The oral exam, usually the last step toward the degree, comes two or three weeks before commencement.

During the oral exam, the candidate presents his dissertation in a 30-45 minute talk. In the following discussion period, he defends the thesis.

The oral exam board consists of a students supervisory committee. The members have read the dissertation and the summary of the candidate's paper. They then listen to the defense. They may ask questions after the dissertation has been presented. These questions may be general or from a specific field.

The oral exam is open to the public, to fellow students. The student may not use notes or an outline, but can use graphs.

At least a week before commencement, the candidate places a $50 guarantee in the comptrollers office that the dissertation will be published wholly or in part.

These dissertations are micro-filmed, and abstracts of less than 600 words are published in a monthly "Dissertations Abstract." This publication is found in most university libraries and micro-films can be ordered by anyone anywhere.

Dough-Raising Pizza To Be at Northwest

A pizza supper to earn money for a $100 scholarship will be served in Northwest hall Sunday at 6 p.m., Barbara David, HDA Fr, president of Northwest, has announced. Residents of Southeast, Waltheim, Van Zile, and Northwest will entertain their dates at the supper.

The scholarship will be awarded to a freshman resident of Northwest hall at the beginning of her sophomore year. It will be given on the basis of scholarship, activities, and need. This scholarship will be given for the first time next year.

Committee members planning the supper are Janet Elliott, EED

Fr; Corrine Wright, HT Soph; Judy Peterson, EED Fr; Sherry Reed, Art Fr; and Miss David.

Tale of a Coat

UTICA, Mich. — (U.P.) — Two years ago Mrs. George Albrecht, wife of the mayor, sent a fur coat in a package to be distributed to the needy in Hungary. A few weeks ago Mrs. Albrecht's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jerome Black of Detroit, spotted the coat on a refugee arriving in Windsor. Mrs. Black was working with a Hungarian refugee relief group. Mrs. Black told the Hungarian owner the history of the coat. The Hungarian bundled the coat up and sent it back to Hungary.

Sigma Pi Has Meeting For Possible Members

The Steering committee of Sigma Pi, national social fraternity, held an organizational meeting last night in the Union for men interested in colonizing a Sigma Pi chapter at Kansas State.

The group is now awaiting approval of the Interfraternity council and the Faculty Council on Student Affairs, and if approved will take the colony name Pi Sigma.

Hoping to gain approval by the end of the semester, the colony would still be unable to participate in Rush Week because of a College ruling which denies this privilege to a colony.

About 20 people attended the meeting, including the chapter president and another member from the University of Kansas.

Refreshments were served, following a film "Basketball Highlights of 1957." Ed McCoy, PrL Jr, and Ron Wesner, PrV Soph, were in charge of the meeting.

Men interested in affiliating with Sigma Pi may contact McCoy, Wesner, or Bob Alexander, Union program director, in the activities center.

Placement Bureau Moves Downstairs

The basement of Anderson hall will be remodeled this summer to make room for moving the placement center which is presently situated on the first floor of Anderson.

Necessary facilities for efficient operation of the bureau will be provided, thus enabling the centralization of all placement activities, including interviews which were conducted this year in various buildings on campus. These moves were brought about by an increase in the number of interviewing companies on campus and the corresponding additional work load involved.

The number of interviewing firms has more than doubled since the Placement center opened five years ago. In 1953, 201 firms conducted interviews on campus. A total of 480 firms conducted interviews this year.

The Placement center is composed of five different divisions, being part-time employment, summer employment, business and industrial employment, teacher-placement employment, and alum placement.

Since half of the students at Kansas State work their way through school, the part-time employment branch of the bureau is helpful in placing many of these students. The summer employment branch is also quite active, because a larger number of firms than ever before are seeking undergraduates for their summer training program.

Both the business-industrial employment and the teacher-placement branches are occupied with work throughout the year.

SHIMMERING TROPHIES stand in front of the Alpha Delta Pis as they sing their way into ownership of the first-place sorority trophy at the 1956 Interfraternity sing. There will be the same number of trophies awarded tonight at the Auditorium when, at 7:30, fraternity and sorority groups will again compete.

Five Greek Organizations To Get Trophies Tonight

Two of the eight social sororities and three of the six social fraternities participating in the Interfraternity Sing tonight at 7:30 in the Auditorium will be awarded trophies on the basis of the number of points they win.

Janell Farrel, TxC Jr, Panhellenic council president, and Jack Harmon, BA Jr, Interfraternity council president, will make the awards.

Master of Ceremonies John McComb, PrV Soph, will welcome the audience and introduce the intermission entertainment which will be given by "The Nitecaps," K-State students.

First on the program will be Alpha Delta Pi under the direction of Sue Kenison, TxC Jr. They will sing "We Sing Tonight" and "I Dream of You."

Delta Sigma Phi will follow with "Dream Girl of Delta Sigma Phi" and "March of the Delta Sigs" with Mark Bence, Zoo Sr, leading the group.

Pi Beta Phi is third on the program with "Follow the Arrow" and "Pi Phi Welcome." Karen Milner, EEd Jr, is song-leader.

Beta Theta Pi, under the direction of Rhea Serpan, EE Soph, will sing "The Loving Cup" and "Beta Marching Song." Alpha Chi Omega, with Janice Casey, MAV Soph, leading, will sing "Firelight Serenade" and "Let Us Sing."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will sing "Marching" and "SAE Medley," under the direction of Chad Sims, BA Sr.

Alpha Xi Delta will sing "Evening Hymn" and "Singin' Low," under the direction of Carol Wilmore, EEd Jr.

Kappa Delta will sing "Kappa Delta Dreams" and "KD Blues."

They will be directed by Donna Turner, MEI Soph. Delta Tau Delta will sing "Sing to Delta Tau" and "Sweetheart of Delta Tau," under the direction of Larry Foulke, NE Soph.

Chi Omega will sing "My One Chi O Girl" and "The War Chant," under the direction of Georgiana Rundle, EEd Jr.

Phi Delta Theta will sing "Drums of Phi Delta Theta" and "Smoke Rings," under the direction of Duncan Erickson, Ar 03.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will sing "Give Your Heart to a Kappa Girl" and "KKG Blues" under the direction of Judy Horn, EEd Soph.

Sigma Chi will sing "Here's to the Sigs" and "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." They will be directed by John Thies, BA Jr.

Last on the program is Delta Delta Delta singing "Tri Delta Blues" and "Into the Gold." Rachel Pickett, Soc Jr, will direct.

Alumni Choosing Prexy, Directors

Alumni of Kansas State have been asked to cast their ballots in the 1957-58 election for a president and five directors of the KSC Alumni association.

So Wilt's Buggin' Out, So What, Kansan Says

By Shari Shellenberger

MANY WORDS HAVE BEEN PRINTED about Wilt Chamberlain's "to leave or not to leave KU" problem. Most interesting is the following editorial, written by Jerry Dawson, which appeared Tuesday on the editorial page of the University Daily Kansan. Its title: "Wilt's Leaving? So What . . ."

"At the risk of incurring the wrath of Dick Harp, A. C. (Dutch) Lomborg, and everybody generally, we say let Wilt go."

"Things are in a sorry state of affairs when a man faced with the proposition of cold cash or an NCAA title won't be allowed to choose for himself."

"KU HAS DONE WILT A LOT OF GOOD. And, Wilt has done KU a lot of good. So, if both parties are simply placed in status quo, who's going to suffer? Nobody."

"The choice is Wilt's alone. If somebody goofed up by not getting his signature on a little piece of paper that would guarantee his stay at KU for four years, then at least we've learned a lesson."

"Wilt has gained nationwide fame for his single season performance. He was instrumental in bringing KU second-in-the-nation honors."

"CONVERSELY, KU contributed to Wilt's aggrandizement by giving him the opportunity of working with an expert coaching staff and other top-notch players."

"Somebody volunteered that if Wilt leaves, integration in Lawrence will suffer a 25-year set-back. We say nonsense. Wilt's leaving may be used as an excuse for such a set-back, but it's not a reason."

"Wilt isn't dumb. If he thinks $20,000 a year for eight or ten years is more important than a business degree, then he just might be right."

"IN TWO YEARS, nobody will know the difference."
The Chamberlain situation-at-hand has been summed up thusly (by Daily Kansan assistant sports editor George Antham):

"A lot of people interested in basketball, others interested in the building and the paying off of field houses, and even others who are merely considering the possibility that insanity reigns at our institution of higher learning, are waiting for a seven-foot sophomore from Philadelphia, Pa., to decide whether or not a college education is worth thirty or forty thousand dollars."

AND TO ADD A LITTLE SPICE to the already well-seasoned situation, Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, after being quoted as saying Chamberlain would leave school to play with the Harlem Globetrotters this fall, drew a sharp attack from both Chamberlain and KU sports publicity director Don Pierce.

Phog later denied he told reporters that Chamberlain would "definitely" turn professional this fall, and was quoted in the University Daily Kansan as saying:

"I don't have any connection with Chamberlain and don't want to get involved in the controversy. . . . I like the boy and would gladly help him if he asked me, but I'm not going to give him any advice unless he asks me."

Further Cutbacks Seem Likely In Postal Department Budget

Compiled from the United Press

Washington—Further cutbacks in postal service appeared almost a certainty today unless Congress restores reductions made in the Post Office department budget.

Prospects of Congress restoring the reductions seemed remote.

The Senate Appropriations committee yesterday overruled one of its subcommittees in approving House cuts of 58 million dollars in the Post Office budget. The Senate was expected to go along with the committee's action next week.

Other congressional developments:

Atoms—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles opened an administration drive to sell the Senate on the proposed international atomic energy agency. Dulles went before the Senate Foreign Relations committee to present the administration case.

Beck—The Senate Rackets committee sought to discover if kickbacks from millions of dollars in mortgages bought by the teamsters union went to Teamster President Dave Beck.

Budget Cuts Unstoppable?

Washington—The Congressional economy wave boiled onward today with increasing power that made it appear more and more unstoppable.

President Eisenhower planned to try to stop it, in two national TV-radio speeches within the next two weeks. The White House said he would defend his record peacetime budget in general and foreign aid in particular.

But Eisenhower may be too late. Within less than 24 hours:

—The Senate Appropriations committee ignored administration warnings of new mail service cutbacks and approved a House cut of 58 million dollars in the postoffice department's new budget.

—The House Appropriations committee called a closed meeting that was expected to result in a cut in the usually untouchable farm program.

—Democratic Congressional leaders called for cuts in the foreign aid program still deeper than the 500 million dollars proposed by the President.

Canal To Normal Again

Cairo—Thirty ships lined up today in two convoys for passage through the Suez Canal.

It was a record number since the canal was reopened on April 10, and the figure was the same as the daily average before Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal company on July 26 last year.

Senior Year Brings Nostalgia; —Here's a Sketchy Backtrack

Seniors are a sorry lot.

That's the way it seems. They feel they've outlived their usefulness about the time senior finals come around, and the only way they can get anybody to listen to them, they think, is to contract a psychiatrist.

BUT—looking back over the past four years, they find that they have a lot in common . . . wonderful things to recall of their undergraduate years at K-State.

They've taken trips to out-of-town ball games, trips to conferences, trips home. Their luggage is plastered with stickers and their checkbook is full of stubs.

In the closet, which has to be completely cleaned out for the first time in four years, there are formal favors, rush week name badges, sorority and fraternity decals from the time they went with that guy or gal and broke up before they got around to putting them on the car.

Well, when a swan song's concerned, I'm no different, and since I'm a graduating senior too, I'd like to change the above references from "they" to "we." I cleaned out my closet, too.

And cleaning that closet, after four years of photography for student publications, I found some interesting things. I've decided that if I haven't attended every event at K-State for the past four years, it was because there were two in one night . . . and sometimes I still made both.

Just about everything, at one time or another, has been in front of the Collegian camera . . . and I've been fortunate enough to be behind it.

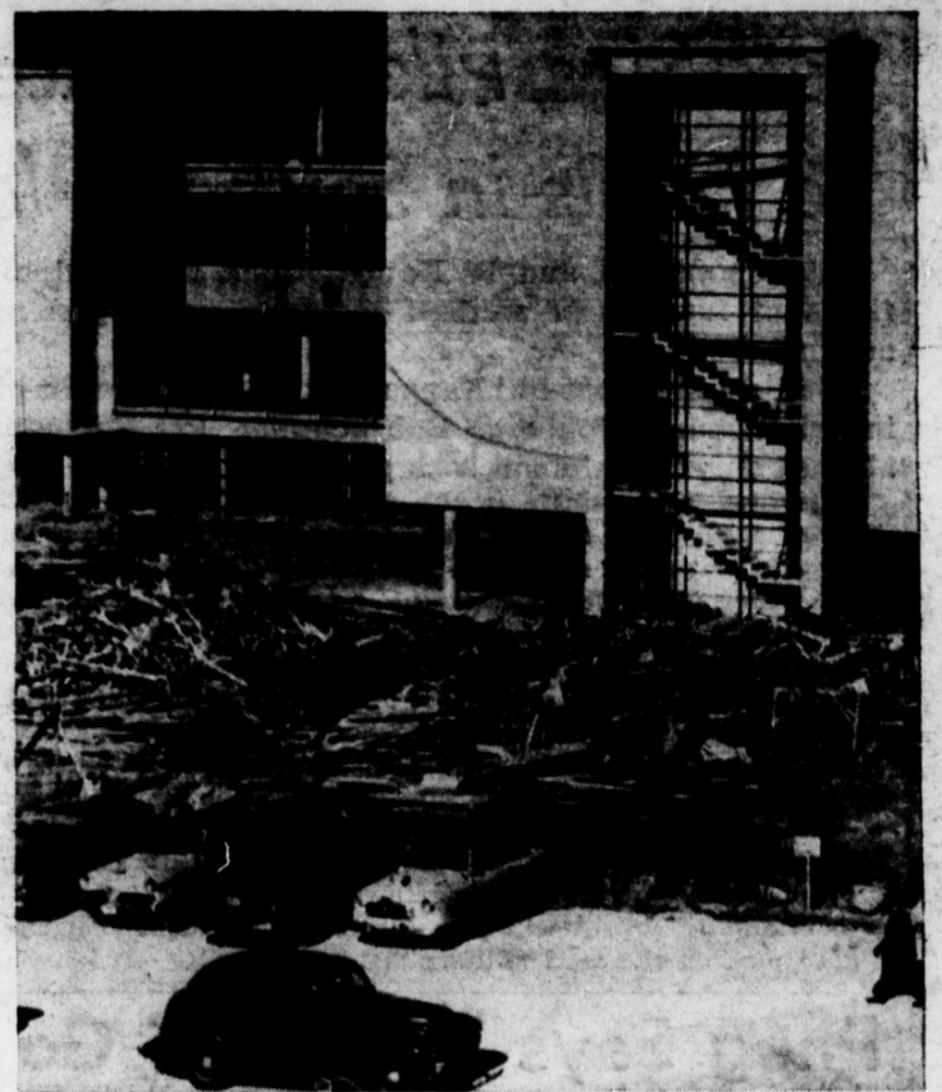

So, in my nostalgia, I've bribed the editor into allowing a page just for "us seniors," where we can see photos of some of the things over the past four years . . . in retrospect.

There are many photos on this page that bring back warm memories, I'm sorry I can't include the whole file of more than 5,000 negatives I have in that closet I mentioned.

These aren't necessarily the best posed, best lighted, most technically excellent of all the photos I've taken, but they're my favorites, and bring back some of those four years that have passed so quickly.

I hope they do the same for you.

Y'know, I'm going to miss this place!—Gary Haynes, "Boy Photographer" 53-57

ANYBODY RECOGNIZE this building? It's the Union, completed last year, which has changed the morale of the campus. Here, the building looks as if it had just been struck by a tornado, as scaffolding used to finish the outside has been piled around the building.

WHEN ROGER CRAFT played basketball for K-State in 1955, nothing could "shake" him. Rough treatment, "poor" decisions by the referee, nothing . . . could change the smile on his face. But one night at KU, when K-State was down and almost out, Craft dropped his smile temporarily and for the first—and last—time anybody remembers, let his temper flare.

KNOW WHAT THIS IS? The familiar scene that is a K-State exclusive: queen candidates on the Anderson front lawn performing farm tasks. Here, a trough, nailed together by a prospective Barnwarmer queen gets the test . . . holding milk that has been saved from milking chores . . . with this result.

EVERY TIME there was something big going on in the social line, it seemed that the five, nine, or 14-weeks exams were coming up, and you spent that social time in the library over a book . . . didn't you?

MORE SPIRIT than had been shown in recent years was literally unleashed after K-State won the Big 7 championship by defeating the Jayhawks at KU 79-68. Aggieville met an untimely demise at the hands of jubilant students to the tune of an impromptu and off-key pep band. The snow didn't dampen the spirits, even, since this triumph was atop a 46-0 football defeat handed to KU earlier in the season. While the band played on, Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, KU coach, tried to explain to fans at home. It was a good year at K-State.

UNLESS SOMETHING HAPPENS, K-State will soon have another Mock Political convention. And almost everybody agreed that, aside from stomping KU in sports events, the MPC was the "greatest." K-State gained national publicity from the spirit and enthusiasm shown by the students in their participation as factions representing major candidates battled to the wire. Here, confetti streams from the catwalk inside Ahearn Field House as a demonstration begins.

Beta Sigs, Pikes Advance To Finals in Softball Play

Beta Sigma Psi and Pi Kappa Alpha advanced to the finals of intramural softball by winning in yesterday's action.

The Beta Sigs beat Phi Kappa, 5-0, on the three-hit pitching of Richard Froberg. Bob Schmidt, Phi Kap pitcher, allowed only two hits but both proved costly.

The first was a single in the first inning by Beta Sig Virgil Walter which drove in two runs. Walter stole home later in the inning to make the score 3-0. The second costly hit came in the third inning when Beta Sig Gerald Manchester singled to drive in two more runs.

A two-hitter pitched by Bob Roelosz of Pi Kappa Alpha proved enough to beat Alpha Gamma Rho, 5-1, although the game was close until the fourth inning.

Bill Guthridge of PIKA put on the clincher in the fourth when he hit a single to drive in two runs. Later in the inning, he scored on a sacrifice fly by Roger Biddison.

The PIKAs and Beta Sigs will play for the fraternity championship at 5:15 p.m. Monday on the northwest city park diamond. West Stadium and Jr. AVMA will play for the independent championship at 5:15 p.m. on the west military field.

Phog Says Wilt Will Go On KC Television Show

By UNITED PRESS

Retired Kansas university coach Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen told a Kansas City television audience last night that he still believed Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain would not play college basketball at the University of Kansas next fall.

Allen said he made "only one" statement on the Chamberlain case, and that was "I don't think he will be playing for Kansas next fall."

Last night Allen hinted the 7-0 all-American from Philadelphia would join the Harlem Globetrotters after working this summer for the Philadelphia Recreation department.

Allen told viewers of his weekly television program, the Phog Allen show, that Abe Saperstein, owner of the Globetrotters, had some connection with the Philadelphia Warriors. The Warriors drafted Wilt while he was in high school.

Cyclones Need Series Here To Stay in Baseball Chase

By MIKE SCANLAND

When K-State and Iowa State hook up in a three-game baseball series in Griffith Stadium this weekend, the Cyclones will be trying to sweep all three games.

The first will start at 3 a.m. today with the double-header scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow. The Saturday games will both be seven-inning affairs.

"We've got to take three at Kansas State," Cap Timm, Iowa State coach declared. The Cyclones are contenders for the Big Seven title but are hardly in a position where they can afford to lose any games to K-State, the league's last place team with a 2-8 record.

Iowa State is in fourth place in the conference with a 5-4 record, two games behind league leading Missouri, but only one game behind the Tigers in the loss column. Missouri has an 8-3 record.

K-State coach, Ray Wauthier, doesn't think the Cyclones will have an easy time moving up in the standings at K-State's expense.

"I didn't think we would lose that series at Missouri. We're not that bad. We threw those games away.

"We're not in a position to win the conference but we are in a position to say something about who does win it, and I think we can," Wauthier said.

Of the three first stringers who had looked like doubtful starters earlier in the week, Wauthier now says one, Bob Boyd, probably will start against the Cyclones Friday. "He was running all right last night in practice and will probably start in right field or center field," Wauthier said.

Catcher, Ravon Thaumert, is scheduled for the sidelines and pitcher Bill Sinderson is still on the doubtful list.

If Sinderson is not able to pitch, Wauthier plans to substitute Warren Polak with Bill Blume and Mike Lair pitching in the other two games.

The games will be broadcast by radio station KSDB-FM.

Field events to be run off today are the shot put and broad jump in the fraternity division and the pole vault and high jump in the independent division. The preliminaries and semi-finals of the 110-yard low hurdles and the 100-yard dash in both divisions are scheduled for today. Action will begin at 4 p.m. this afternoon.

Tomorrow's field events will be the fraternity division pole vault and high jump and the independent shot put and broad jump.

Running events in both divisions to be run off are the 110-yard low hurdles, the 880-yard run, the 440-yard relay, 440-yard dash, the finals of the 100-yard dash, and the 880-yard relay. The first event will begin at 1 p.m.

MU at K-State In 2-Sport Play

University of Missouri golf and tennis teams will invade the Manhattan Country Club and Wildcat tennis courts Saturday afternoon in the last K-State action before the Big Seven spring sports meet.

Wildcat golf starters are Jerry Smith, Ron Young, Dave Pfuete, Jerry Hendricks, and Joe Downey.

Cat entries in the tennis singles are Dick Circle, Allen Chaplin, Jim Holwerda, Keith Andler, and Eddie Wallace. Doubles starters are Circle-Chaplin and Andler-Holwerda.

ADPi's, Alpha Xi's Girls IM Winners

Lavonne Tawney's home run with two teammates on base helped push Alpha Xi Delta past Kappa Kappa Gamma as the Alpha Xi's won a 16-6 decision yesterday in women's intramural softball. In another game, Alpha Delta Pi beat Northwest, 9-7.

Dee French was the winning pitcher for the Alpha Xi's despite an 18-hit Kappa attack.

Sue Kenison, ADPi hurler, picked up her first win of the season against Northwest. Claudia Applebaugh of Northwest hall got credit for the loss.

Haylett Looks for Close Meet Against Iowa State Tomorrow

K-State's track team will journey to Ames, Iowa, tomorrow, for a meet with Iowa State that will be the Wildcat's last dual of the season.

In the Cats only other dual they were defeated 67-64 by Nebraska at Manhattan last week.

According to Coach Ward Haylett, the meet should be just as close as the Nebraska dual. Iowa State's greatest scoring punch against the Wildcats will probably be in the weight event where they have Phil Delavan, a 54-foot shot putter; Ralph Yoder, a 159-foot discus thrower; and Frank Binder a 198-foot javelin thrower.

The only challenge the Wildcats will be able to make in the weights will be in the javelin where they have Ralph Willard who has thrown the spear 202 feet.

Haylett said that he was going to take sophomore quarter-miler Jim Vader, who has been sidelined for several weeks with a pulled leg muscle, to the meet. Vader will be used in the mile relay only if the meet is won or lost because Haylett does not want to rely on Vader's weak leg.

"We'll fare a little better this week in the broad jump and high jump and we should score more points in the 880-yard run and the mile run," Haylett said.

Leading the Cats hopes in the track events will be senior sprinter Dolan McDaniel, junior hurdler Gene O'Connor, and sophomore quarter-miler DeLoss Dodds.

McDaniel will be favored in the 100-yard and 200-yard dashes and O'Connor should win the 120-yard yard high hurdles and 220-yard low hurdles. Dodds will be favored in the 440-yard dash and will run on the mile relay team.

Six Journalists Honored For Outstanding Work

Six K-State journalists were named yesterday as winners of special awards for professional and scholastic achievement in journalism by Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Technical Journalism.

George Vohs, TJ Sr, Gaye Fryer, HEJ Sr, and Howard Kessinger, TJ Sr, received journalism Memorial awards. They are given annually in memory of eight graduates and former students of the Journalism department who lost their lives in World War II. The awards include a cash grant of $50.

Vohs received his award for work on the editorial staff of the Collegian, Miss Fryer for her work on the editorial staff of the Royal Purple yearbook, Kessinger, for outstanding work on the business staff of Student Publications.

The 1957 Arthur Capper award, given each year for superior attainment in technical journalism, went to Gary Haynes, TJ Sr. His name will be engraved on the Capper plaque in the journalism building.

Darrel Miller, TJ Sr, was named outstanding male graduate of 1957. Miller edited the "all American" Collegian the spring of 1956. He received the Sigma Delta Chi scholarship certificate as the male student with the best scholarship record. His average was a 2.395.

The Sigma Delta Chi certificate award for women was won by Charlotte Henry Neilan, '56, with a grade point average of 2.611.

"There will be a picnic Sunday at Council Grove, to water ski, swim, and get better acquainted," said Miss Herzog. "We will meet north of the tennis courts at 9:45 a.m. to leave, and we should be back by 5 p.m.," she added.

Phi Epsilon Kappa

Ray E. Maddux, PEM Sr, Bush-ton, has been awarded the Phi Epsilon Kappa scholarship key, an award for the senior with the highest scholastic average in each chapter of Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education honorary.

Maddux has been secretary of the local chapter during the past year.

Block and Bridle Club

The eighteenth annual Block and Bridle club banquet, which ended the year's activities, was held last Saturday, at the Presbyterian church.

K-State Dairy Club

Kansas State Dairy club held its last meeting of the semester Tuesday. Reports were made of the dairy cattle judging contest, and the dairy products judging contest. Gene Allen, DM Soph, was elected to represent the Dairy club on the Ag Council. Ray Schooley, DH Jr, was chosen as the representative to the American Dairy Science meeting at Stillwater, Okla. Fernando Oliver, a graduate student from Puerto Rico, spoke on farming and dairy operations in his native country.

Manhattan Friends

The Manhattan Friends organization has announced that it will provide scholarship money for a K-State student who would like to attend the 22nd annual Kansas Institute of International Relations to be held in Wichita from June 9 through June 17. Any student interested in attending the institute should be one interested in foreign affairs and world peace, the organization feels. For further information a student may contact Bruce Cutler of the English department or call 6-9187.

Rev. Williams New Minister Of College Baptist Church

The quaint, little white church at 1225 Bertrand street, has a new minister. The Rev. Robert Williams of Eldora, Iowa, College Baptist church minister, has taken the place of the late Rev. John S. Ironsides.

The Reverend Mr. Williams and his wife, Margie, have two children—Judy, two years old, and Rosa, eight months old. The Rev. Mr. Williams is a graduate of Penn College, Iowa, and was the minister of the Tioga church in Oskaloosa, Iowa, before coming to Manhattan.

The College Baptist church was organized in 1946 and held its first meetings in a 12 x 20-foot room in what is now part of Patrick's cafe in Aggieville. The place was known as the Young People's Christian center.

When it became necessary to find a "permanent home," the group submitted a bid for a building from Ft. Riley—which was surprisingly accepted. The building was moved onto its present site where it was converted into a church.

The Rev. Jack Wilson was the first pastor of the church. He was replaced by the Rev. John S. Ironside when called to be an instructor at the Kansas City Bible college.

"The church has always been particularly interested in Fort Riley personnel and college students," commented the Reverend Williams.

The College Youth Baptist fellowship meets each Sunday evening for discussions, panels, and films presented by student members. Choir practice is each Friday evening, followed by choir fellowship. The choir sings for Sunday morning services, which are broadcast over KMAN. One of the highlights of their year was a special Easter cantata presentation.

"Among the activities of the College Baptist fellowship is the support of a family in Italy. We send them $20 a month from the offerings," said Bruce Sanderson, Phy Soph, president of the organization.

VOLUME LXIII NUMBER 143

A ROUND OF APPLAUSE greets the Beta Theta Pis as they give their winning demonstration of singing at the annual Interfraternity Sing Friday night. Delta Tau Delta won second in the men's division, and Sigma Chi won third. Women's division winners were Kappa Kappa Gamma, first; Alpha Xi Delta, second.

Kappas, Betas Sing Way To Top Spots in I.F. Sing

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Beta Theta Pi fraternity sang their way to first place at Interfraternity Sing Friday night in the Auditorium.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority and Delta Tau Delta fraternity placed second. A third place trophy was awarded to Sigma Chi fraternity who took first last year.

Kappa Kappa Gamma sang "Give Your Heart to a Kappa Girl" and "KKG Blues," under the direction of Judy Horn, EEd Soph.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority defied the usual tradition of standing during an appearance by sitting on the risers as it sang "Evening Hymn" and "Singin' Low," under the direction of Carol Wilmore, EEd Jr.

That a song leader is not always essential for singing in unison was proven by Beta Theta Pi songleader Rhea Serpan, EE Soph, who started the second number with his back to the fraternity and then walked off the stage near the end of the song. The fraternity sang "The Loving Cup" and "Beta Marching Song." The Betas won second place last year.

Delta Tau Delta fraternity sang "Sing to Delta Tau" and "Sweetheart of Delta Tau," under the direction of Larry Foulke, NE Soph.

Sigma Chi fraternity sang "Here's to the Sigs" and "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," under the direction of John Thies, BA Jr.

Points were awarded on the basis of pitch, interpretation, diction, selection of song, and appearance of the group.

Janell Farrell, TxC Jr, Panhellenic council president, and Jim Gates, BA Jr, steering committee member, made the awards.

The other steering committee members were Sue Downer, HT Jr, and Daryl Becker, AA Jr.

The Nite Caps, a student quartet, sang five selections at intermission time.

John McComb, PrV Soph, was master of ceremonies.

Eight of the 10 campus sororities and 6 of the 23 campus fraternities participated in the sing.

Six K-State Players Honored with Oscars

Six persons received oscar for outstanding work in drama at the annual K State Players Oscar banquet in the Student Union last night. Earl G. Hoover, professor in the Speech department, announced the 1957-58 officers of K-State Players.

For the leading role in "Solid Gold Cadillac," LouAnn Oberhelman, Sp Jr, was honored. Gordon Jump, Sp Sr, received an oscar for his performance as Sir John Falstaff in "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Awards for best supporting actor and best supporting actress were presented to Ken Nakari, Phy Soph, for his part as Mitch in "A Streetcar Named Desire," and Ann Soelter, Sp Gr, for her part as Stella in the same play.

Landon Friesen, Soc Soph, and Sharon Townsend, Sp Sr, received oscar for helping with productions as assistant director and helping with props and scenery.

For the second consecutive time, Miss Oberhelman was elected president of K-State Players. Other officers are Friesen, vice president; and Carolyn Cochran, DIM Jr, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Virnelle Jones, dramatics teacher at Shawnee Mission high school, was the speaker. Her subject was the "Problems of a Dramatics Teacher," and she told about some of the experiences she has had.

In charge of the awards were Donald F. Hermes, assistant professor in the Speech department, and Professor Hoover. Jump was master of ceremonies, and Miss Oberhelman gave a short welcome speech.

Senior Announcements Available in Rec Center

Distribution of senior invitations will begin at 1 p.m. today in recreation center of Anderson hall, according to George Eaton, College Press director.

Physical Plant Worker Killed from 3-Story Fall

A College physical plant maintenance painter, Alvin A. Regier, 48, plunged to his death shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday when the third story window he was repairing on the west side of Willard hall gave way.

Regier, a K-State employee since 1949, had started to scrape old putty from a window frame before installing a new pane. He apparently leaned against the frame, and pins holding the frame in the channel, broke loose.

Regier died instantly from a fractured skull, when he fell into the basement window well, according to Coroner Philip H. Hostetter.

The funeral service will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the United Presbyterian church. The Rev. Darrell Yeaney will perform the service. The burial will follow at Sunset cemetery.

SU Council Names Novy As Chairman

Lawell Novy, VM Fr, has been named chairman of the Union Program Council for the 1957-58 school year. Joyce Graham, BA Jr, will be secretary.

Committee chairmen for the Union are:

Art, Sally Ingle, SED Soph; Campus Entertainment, Larry Foulke, NE Soph; Coffee Hours, Jan Kraft, HEJ Fr; Dance, Mike Dole, ChE Soph; Flash Cards, Charles Wingert, His Soph; Games, Gerry Mase, ChE Jr;

Harmonizers, George Roggen-dorff, VM Jr; Hospitality, Barbara Erickson, BA Jr; Movies, Rosalyn Rowell, Soc Jr; Music-Library, Virginia Taylor, SED Fr; Personnel and Research, Jack Hamilton, BA Soph; Publicity, Sue Goss, TJ Soph; and Jazz, Jim West, MTe Soph.

Democrats Charged For Lag in Congress

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington—President Assistant Sherman Adams has scolded the Democratic-controlled Congress for "lagging" on President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, who unveiled a speed up plan for legislation over the weekend, took a shot at the administration on the budget front. Adams said "it is high time" Congress got busy and passed Eisenhower's program. Accusing the Democrats of "lagging," he said "it doesn't work well" when the White House is controlled by one party and Congress by another.

Other Congressional developments:

Water—The House Interior committee accused the Interior department of not moving fast enough in trying to find cheap methods of converting salt water into fresh water. The committee said that despite "optimistic" reports by the department there still is a "long way to go before general use of converted sea water becomes a reality." It accused the agency of not giving the matter "the degree of urgency it deserves."

Foreign—A Special Senate committee recommends continuing the foreign aid program but said "an immediate and discriminating" cut could be made. The committee, headed by Sen. Theodore Francis Green (R-R.I.), said in a report on a 10-month study of the program that a "much higher degree of effectiveness" could be achieved at a lower cost. It urged a cut be made in aid given on a grant basis.

Thirteen Killed in Italian Auto Race

Brescia, Italy—The Bloody finish of Italy's Mille Miglia (thousand mile) auto race appeared today to have doomed the sport that has taken 62 lives in Italy over a period of years.

Thirteen persons died in yesterday's race including Spanish Marquise de Portago, who had hoped to marry actress Linda Christian; co-driver Eddie Nelson of Beloit, Wis., and nine spectators who were mowed down when de Portago's Ferrari roadster blew a tire at 125 miles an hour.

Youth Charged with Poisoning Two

Platte City, Mo.—An 18-year-old Park College freshman charged with poisoning a nurse and two students at the school's health center, was held without bond in the Platte County jail today.

The student, Hubert McKinley Fulkerson Jr., Muskogee, Okla., also was under questioning in connection with a series of fires that appeared to have been set on the campus of the Parkville college last week.

Britain to Accept Egypt Plan

London—Prime Minister Harold MacMillan was expected to announce today that Britain is willing to accept, "under protest," Egypt's terms for the use of the canal.

Informed sources said MacMillan will sweeten the "bitter pill" by announcing the release of some or all of the Egyptian funds frozen in this country, enabling Britain to pay canal tolls in pounds.

Financial experts from Egypt and Britain met recently in Switzerland to discuss "technical" aspects of the plan.

'Billy' Mitchell Trial to Reopen

Washington—The Air Force has agreed to reopen this week the sensational 31-year-old court martial case of the late Gen. William L. (Billy) Mitchell, called by many of his admirers the "Father of the U.S. Air Force."

A spokesman said the Air Force corrections and review board will begin reviewing the case Tuesday.

Mitchell was court-martialed in 1926 by a board of nine army generals following his vigorous fight in support of his view that air power should be the first line of America's defense.

Opposition High in Dulles' News Plan

Washington—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' mail is running more than 3 to 1 against his position that American newsmen should be barred from gathering news in Communist China.

Dulles has received "around 90 letters" since March 1 on the issue, according to the State department. Nearly 70 opposed Dulles' stand against allowing newsmen to enter Red China.

Dulles can't be surprised by the reaction he is getting from letter writers, editors, publishers, some members of Congress, veterans and other organizations. Hardly a word has been spoken or a voice raised publicly in support of his position.

Reader's Corner

Dear Editor:

High morals, academic achievement, and leadership ability; these are the qualifications deemed necessary for acquiring membership in practically any honorary fraternity on the hill. Yet every year about this time one such fraternity chooses to show that its membership is not composed of individuals possessing at least the first qualification stated.

We are referring to Steel Ring's annual project known as "The Intake and Exhaust." This is a magazine that contains various articles and pictures all of which pertain to those things normally thought of as immoral and indecent.

The College, of course, does not endorse this publication, although it eludes us why the sale and distribution of the magazine on the campus is sanctioned while the publication is not.

Our gripe isn't that this magazine will corrupt the minds of its subscribers, since a person's mind would already, of necessity, have to be in this shape to buy one—besides there is plenty of other trash on the public market for those seeking such.

We are wondering if Steel Ring is aware of the kind of publicity their "Scum Sheet" brings to college students in general and engineering students and honorary fraternities in particular. Many non-students whom I have talked with refer to the magazine as being edited by "the college kids," "the engineers," or "the engineer's honorary fraternity."

Perhaps we could take the other outlook and have all the honoraries follow Steel Ring's leadership. For instance maybe we could talk Sigma Tau out of backing the St. Pat ball, white-washing K-Hill, cleaning up dandelions around the Engineering building, etc., and get them to operate a burlesque show in the Union every Saturday night.

We feel most students will agree this not the kind of leadership that is respected by anyone.

Effingham, Ill.—Dr. S. F. Henry was recovering today from a slight wound received when his lawn mower struck a .22-caliber bullet which then lodged in his leg.

London—George Ian Murray, a $56-a-week assistant plant manager, took the day off today to celebrate his inheritance of noble titles.

Murray, a distant cousin and closest living relative of the late Duke of Atholl, inherited the Duke's title plus four earldoms, three viscounties, two marquises, and eight baronies.

Rosiclare, Ill.—Eugene Cubley was at the right place when he yawned and dislocated his jaw.

Cubley, a male attendant at Rosiclare General hospital, simply stepped into another room and had the jaw wired back in place.

K-Stater Finds Alaska Friendly, Unprofitable

John Trachsel—Lost to Alaska

By JANICE GRAHAM

TO THE TUNE of "I've been workin' on the railroad," John Trachsel, BA Jr, spent last summer in Alaska, and though the pay wasn't much, (net profit for the summer—$2) he's "readying" himself now to go back for more on May 29.

It wasn't a last-minute decision that lured Trachsel to the Yukon. "I've always wanted to go to Alaska," he said, "and last summer was the first time I felt free enough to go."

"Railroad work isn't so bad—I was an 'idiot stick pusher,'" he explained. (An idiot stick is a shovel three feet too small for the average man). "College boys from all over the U.S. work there too. Several of us lived in cars on the track. The conditions were very good, especially the food."

TRACHSEL SAID HE HADN'T been there two weeks when a 22-car train jumped the tracks. And the cargo—Phillip Morris cigarettes and vegetables—were everywhere. As breaks would have it, no one liked Phillip Morris cigarettes, but the young man made a fine profit on the sales.

"Although no one was injured in the wreck, we worked about 25 hours straight cleaning up that track. Made a lot of good overtime money too."

Prospectors still go back in the hills and search for gold," Trachsel said. "They strung us along on the good possibilities for finding it, but it was all in fun. Most people around Talkeetna (where we were) are very old; they came up during the depression to make some money and never went back to the states."

"IT'S NOT AGRICULTURAL COUNTRY yet. Mostly governmental projects are being carried out. If people fail at everything else, they farm, and naturally there are those who never give up their search for gold."

John saw movies during the summer that didn't get to Manhattan until October. While in Anchorage, Alaska, men were wearing ivy league clothes, but they had to pay quite a sum for them. In fact, all the prices were higher there—a hamburger and a glass of milk cost $1.25.

"I'm going to travel as much as I can now while I can afford to do it," he said. "People like the ones I met in Alaska make traveling enjoyable. They do more for a town than climate or anything else."

"There's an unwritten law there that if anyone has car trouble on the highway, stop to see what you can do to help out. Alaska highways are paved and quite a contrast to some of Canada's terrible unpaved roads."

IT'S AS FAR AWAY FROM civilization as I've ever been, and it's really sportsmen's country. Fishing facilities are excellent and many Americans fly up for special fishing trips on weekends."

From Alaska to Los Angeles to Albuquerque, N.M., Trachsel and three of his friends drove a 1949 Chevrolet truck home in August.

Cellar Dwelling Cats Drop Double Header

Iowa State stayed in the running for the Big Seven baseball title and shoved K-State deeper into the cellar by taking both games of a double-header at Griffith stadium, 13-2 and 12-6, Saturday afternoon.

The single game scheduled for Friday afternoon was canceled because the field was unplayable due to recent wet weather.

K-State's record is 2-8 with a three-game series with Colorado here next weekend left on the schedule. Iowa State has a 7-4 record.

About the only bright spot for K-State was the hitting of center fielder Bob Boyd, who came out of a batting slump to drive in two runs with a homer, a double, and a single in seven times at bat during both games.

The Wildcats took a 1-0 lead in the initial inning of the first games and added another run in the third frame but they were out of the game after the fifth inning when the 13 hit Cyclone attack started to roll.

The first three Cyclone runs were driven in by Jim Chapman's home run in the third inning.

Iowa State scored five runs in the fifth inning on three singles, two walks, and three errors.

The Cyclones got five more runs in the seventh inning on three singles, two doubles and right fielder Chapman's second homer.

Right-hander Gene Lafferty limited the Wildcats to three hits as he went all the way to pick up the win for Iowa State.

Mike Lair started on the mound for K-State. He was replaced after five frames by Bill Sinderson, who gave up seven runs in two innings.

The second game went an extra inning before Iowa State scored six runs in the eighth to win.

The Cyclones scored all their runs after they had made two outs in the extra inning. They sent 11 men to the plate to collect a double, four singles, and a pair of walks. The Cats contributed one error.

The Wildcats started fast with four runs in the first frame. Third baseman Jerry Hayes, who led off with a single, and second baseman Jim Rafferty, who walked, both scored on catcher Wally Carlson's double to left field. Carlson came home on Boyd's homer.

The Cyclones tied it up in the second inning when left fielder Dan Peters hit a bases loaded homer and went ahead in the third as Peter's double scored shortstop Gary Thompson.

K-State grabbed the lead again in the fourth inning as left fielder Gene Keady walked and then moved to second on first baseman Hugh Nethercot's sacrifice. Blume singled Keady to third and Keady scored on Hayes' double with Blume advancing to third base. Blume scored on Rafferty's fly to right field.

Iowa State tied the game up in the fifth inning. Thompson walked and attempted to steal second. Carlson overthrew second and Thompson continued on to third. He scored on first baseman Jerry McNertney's single.

K-State Edges Cyclones In Final Track Dual, 66-65

UGB Approves Moving SGA Offices to Union

The Student Governing association may possibly have new offices in the Southwest corner of the Union activities center by next fall after the Union Governing board last night approved a request from the SGA to move its headquarters from the present location in Anderson hall.

Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Soph, moved the proposal be passed so work could be started immediately in hopes of completing the job in time for the start of school next fall.

In other action, the Board discussed the feasibility of continuing co-sponsorship of the Y-Orpheum with the YMCA. Kent Pridey, Agr Jr; Dick Brantingham, BA Soph; and Harold Stauffer, AEd Sr, represented the YMCA in the discussion. The Board also listened to a book exchange plan presented by George Hooper, BA Jr, of the Student Council.

The UGB felt an exception should be allowed in the case of the SGA request for office space in the Union because of the scope of the Student Governing association and because all K-Staters theoretically are members of the SGA.

Applications are now being accepted for the position of general chairman of the 1958 Y-Orpheum, according to Bruce Wilson, past general chairman of the event.

Applications blanks are available in the Student Union activities center. The blanks must be returned to the activities center by 5 p.m., Friday, May 17.

In discussing the possibility of further Union co-sponsorship of the Y-Orpheum, Bruce Wilson, 1957 general chairman of the Y-Orpheum, said if sole sponsorship of the event was to revert back to the YMCA, responsibility would only be passed along and the quality of the show would suffer.

Final decision on the recommendation was tabled after two UGB members had to leave because of Tribunal meeting which left the session without a quorum.

Eleven Students To Perform at Student Recital

Eleven students will perform in solo and group numbers this evening at 8 p.m. in the Chapel auditorium in the final student music recital of the season.

The program will include 17 numbers all of which will be of a classical vein. First on the program will be Mendelssohn's "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" which Yvonne Hodges, MEI Soph, will perform on the piano.

Next will be a trumpet solo played by Robert George, MEI Jr, accompanied by Jacqueline Swanson, MEI Sr, pianist. Miss Swanson will play Chopin's "Etude in A Flat Major." She will accompany Darrell Rundus, MGS Sr, baritone, who will sing three numbers: Mendelssohn's "Elijah," "Zueingnung," by Strauss, and "The Marriage of Figaro," by Mozart.

Patricia Noll, MGS Sr, soprano, will sing three numbers and be accompanied by Nancy Irvine, MEI Soph, pianist. Concluding the program with a piano solo, Marilyn Moore, MAI Soph, will play "Passacaglia" by Piston.

Neil Scott Makes SC Appointments

Neil Scott, student body president, announced two appointments to members of the Student Council last night.

Barbara Ericson, BA Jr, was appointed recording secretary on the Council.

Beverly Cloyes, SED Jr, was appointed recording secretary of the Apportionments Board.

Bill Patton, VM Soph, was named chairman of the Big Seven Planning committee. Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Soph, will represent the Student Council on this committee. Other members are Dixie Brown, HDA Jr, and Philip Warnken, Ag Soph.

Members of the Parents' Day committee are Ronald Whitechurch, BAA Fr; Dale Garver, BAA Fr; Carol Bliss, EEd Soph; Carolyn Eby, BA Soph; and Barbara Huff, Gvt Fr.

A proposed constitution for the Arts and Sciences Council was submitted by Chuck Wingert, BA Soph. Because of technical points, faulty wording, and sections which were not clear, the constitution was tabled.

The council passed a recommendation by Warren Keegan, chairman of the Kansas State University Name Change committee, to select three student members. There was disagreement on whether or not the student members selected should be for or against the name change. Scott said the "against as well as for" should be represented on the committee.

Jim Runberg, chairman of the Activity Ticket committee, presented the ideas his committee has been working on. Included were seating arrangements, complimentary tickets, student guest tickets, and more positive identification on activity tickets.

Scott was given council approval to attend the National Student association conference August 17 to 20, Michigan university, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Pat McDermott, BA Jr, and Dwight Bennett, Ar 02, were given approval to attend a later conference, August 20 to 30, as council representatives.

Council Plans 'Miss K-State' Queen Contest

Final plans for the Miss K-State contest, which will take place in the Union little theater tonight at 7:15 p.m. were discussed in a meeting of the Women's Council of the Associated Women's Students last night.

The 16 contestants, representing each women's organized house, will compete in a three minute talent contest and model swimming suits and evening gowns. They will be selected on the basis of beauty, poise, personality, intelligence, and talent.

Virginia Taylor, SED Fr, chairman of the Publications committee, announced that her committee planned to revise the Miss K-Stater, a handbook for future freshmen women, to include a section on AWS.

Pat Roberts Elected I.F. Council President

Pat Roberts, TJ Jr, was elected president of the Interfraternity council last night at the last council meeting of the school year at the Kappa Sigma fraternity house.

Roberts is at present the IFC publicity chairman and a member at large of IFC executive council.

Other officers elected were vice-president, Jim Whitford, BA Jr; secretary, Joe Kashner, PrV Soph; treasurer, Dick Rolph, TA Soph; corresponding secretary, Larry French, BAA Jr; members at large, James Lindsay, BAA Soph, and Gary Lafferty, PrV Fr.

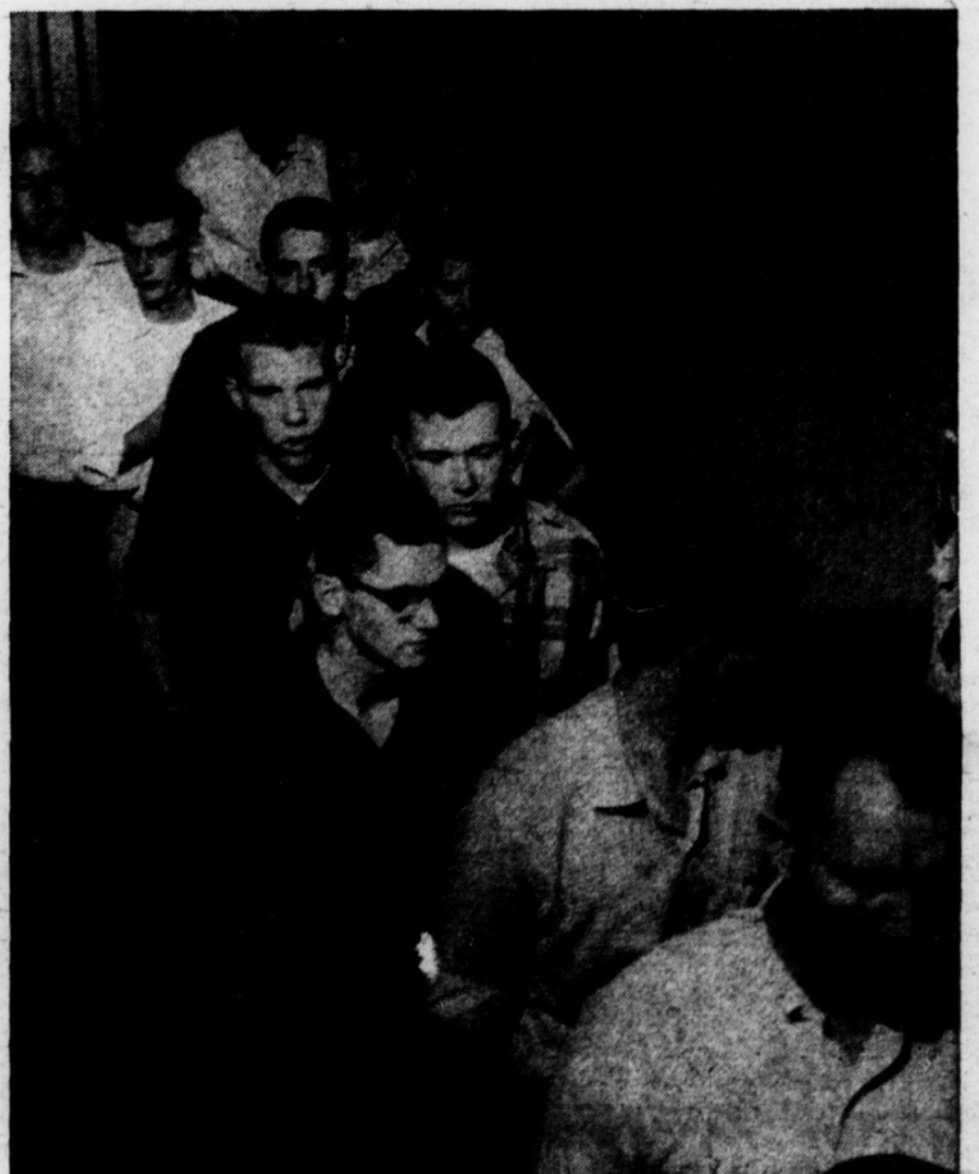

The newly elected officers will succeed president, Jack Har- non, BA Sr; vice-president, Richard Disney, NE Jr; secretary, Jim Gates, BA Jr; treasurer, Whitford, corresponding secretary, Jim Murrar, VM Jr; members at large, Roberts, and Daryl Becker, AA Jr.

Roberts said that colonization of the Sigma Pi fraternity was discussed but that no action was taken. This being the last IFC meeting, further discussion will be delayed until next year.

The council also voted to add a member of the Interfraternity Pledge council to the executive council of IFC for next year. The pledge council representative would be a non-voting member.

Roberts also said that it is a probability that the rush books will be available to the fraternities before the end of school.

STUDENTS SWARM Kedzie hall yesterday waiting in line for their Royal Purples. About 3200 books were distributed yesterday. Each of the six divisions of the book is introduced with pictures of important campus buildings which were recently named for former K-State administrators. The 495 page book is 31 pages larger than last year's annual.

We Deserve a Reprieve From Pre-Final Exams

DURING the recent campus political campaigns, one of the most appealing platforms of the United Staters party was its plan to establish a dead week on the campus.

If the party's plans had gone through, this week might be "dead week."

The United Staters plan was to ask the faculty not to give tests during the week before finals, thus giving students a chance to bone-up for finals without having other tests to divert their attention.

OF COURSE this plan would exclude graduating seniors who would be taking finals during this week. But it would be more than heartily accepted by the undergraduate students.

Stephens college in Columbia, Missouri, has an excellent set-up along this same line, which could be effectively used at K-State.

At Stephens, not only are there no tests planned in the week before finals, but none of the campus organizations meet during that period. Therefore, the students have all their time outside class periods to catch up on the semester's assignments and study for finals. This week also gives students time to get the proper rest before going into finals.

STEPHENS STUDENTS look forward to dead week with anticipation and we're sure that K-State students would, too, if given a chance.

Although the Integrity party holds a majority of the seats in the new Student Council, the United Staters party had a good platform and this is one part of the platform which we would like to see the new Student Council consider.

We suggest that they recommend to the administration that a dead week be put into effect.—Jane Moore

Oregon U Pledges Squelched After Bout with Rhododendrons

By Shari Shellenberger

A FRATERNITY at the University of Oregon has been placed on indefinite social probation because of the "decorations" the fraternity's pledges obtained for a Saturday night house party.

The action was taken, according to the Oregon Daily Emerald, after an incident which began upon receipt by police officers of complaints from Eugene, Oregon, residents saying that rhododendrons had been taken from their lawns, and plants had been damaged. Damages were estimated by the residents to amount to approximately $200.

Upon making the rounds of fraternities who had scheduled house dances for that particular evening, police officers found the fraternity's living room filled with rhododendron blooms and bushes. The fraternity's decoration chairman blamed the incident on three house pledges.

The pledges' action was flagrant enough to bar their fraternity from all campus activities, as well as from all house activities.

A FEW HARD BOILED EGGS caused a lot of confusion in a Kansas university dormitory last week, according to the University Daily Kansan.

Coeds in a scholarship hall were having a house-meeting in their basement council room late one evening. The girl who was then on phone shift left the council group repeatedly to answer the phone.

FINALLY SHE ASKED the coed next to her to answer it, without explaining that she had been hearing strange noises and was afraid of a prowler.

When the meeting was over, a pungent odor filled the basement. "My eggs," cried one of the coeds as she ran down the hall to the kitchen.

The phone shift girl soon found that the strange noises had been caused by the hard boiled eggs exploding in a burnt pan, and not by the prowler as she had suspected.

Weather Bureau Says Drouth May Be Over

Washington, (U.P.)—There may be grounds for "cautious optimism" that the five-year drouth in the central and southern plains is over, the U.S. Weather bureau reports.

The Bureau said last night some parts of the Western drouth area got more rain and snow during the first four months of 1957 than in all of 1956. Over thousands of square miles, the Bureau said, soils are wetter now than they have been for five years.

"All this moisture has produced some cautious, but perhaps justified, optimism among millions of people in the central and southern plains that the five-year drouth may have ended," the Bureau said.

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor,

We would like to publicly congratulate H. A. Bullard, Ronnie Erhart, and Calvin G. Weeks for their splendid dissertation on the state of mind necessary to purchase a copy of Steel Ring's annual publication Intake and Exhaust.

They point out in their letter, and we quote: "Our gripe isn't that this magazine will corrupt the minds of its subscribers, since a person would already, of necessity, have to be in this shape to buy one."

It seems evident, from their own words, their minds must be as "corrupt" as those individuals whom they criticize, for they certainly must have bought or at least read a copy of Intake and Exhaust in order to be of such authority on the text of the above mentioned magazine.

Therefore, they are certainly in no position to criticize the morals of persons who buy or read Intake and Exhaust.

Ike Seeks Public Support In Budget Appeal Tonight

Compiled from United Press
by KEITH KEMPER

Washington—President Eisenhower told Republican legislative leaders today he "would not want to assume responsibility for the security of the country" if Congress cuts funds for missiles and aircraft.

The President made this observation at his regular weekly White House meeting with GOP Congressional leaders.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. told newsmen after the 90-minute meeting that the President expressed alarm at reports that a House military appropriations subcommittee has made cuts in the defense department's missiles and aircraft program.

Eisenhower will try to enlist public support for his whole $71,-800,000,000 budget in a nationwide TV-radio speech tonight. It will be carried live over four radio and one TV network at 9 p.m., EDT., and by film over two other TV networks at 11:15 p.m. EDT.

Boy Admits 'Brutal Crime'

Chicago—The nude body of a 2-year-old girl was found in a shallow grave under the rear porch of her home last night and police said a teen-aged boy admitted the "brutal crime."

The girl, Lise Jorgesen, who would have been 3 in June, disappeared during the afternoon. Her body was found after a house-by-house search of the North Side neighborhood by boy scouts and 150 policemen.

Police said Lawrence Madsen, 14, a seventh grade student, admitted luring the girl to the basement of their three story apartment after school and strangling her with a dirty white necktie.

Motorized Mailmen

Washington—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield will put all 27 mailmen in nearby Bethesda, Md., tomorrow aboard motorized three-wheel "mailsters" costing almost $1,000 apiece.

Postal officials, plagued by Congressional budget-cutting and demands for economy, declined to say whether the gadgets will cost or save the taxpayers money in the long run.

Dwight D. Locke, superintendent of the Bethesda postal station where the mailsters will go into action, said the mailmen will save about $5 a week in commercial transportation costs of getting to and from their routes.

Chessman in Court Again

Washington — The Supreme Court has taken under advisement another in a long series of legal maneuvers by convict-author Caryl W. Chessman to escape the gas chamber at California's San Quentin Prison.

Chessman was convicted in 1948 on 17 counts, two of them carrying the death penalty, involving robbery and attempted rape in Los Angeles lovers' lanes. He has evaded the gas chamber for nine years by various legal actions, much of the time acting as his own attorney.

'K-Stater Without Country' Becomes American Citizen

"I'm no longer a person without a country," says Edith Melzer, EEd Soph, at K-State. Edith, a German immigrant to the United States five years ago, passed her citizenship test April 25, 1957.

When asked how it felt to be an American citizen, Edith replied, "Good deal, now everytime I fill out a piece of paper, I won't have to write 'alien'. Now I can proudly write citizen of the United States. It's a wonderful feeling."

Edith was born in Cologne,

Germany, in 1936. She and her parents started making plans to enter the U.S. in 1947. They landed at the dock in New York in 1951. Edith says, "It was great to be here, but none of us know a word of English. It certainly developed into a problem after landing."

From New York, they went to Wichita to be with relatives. In order to come to the United States, it was necessary for them to have an American relative who would agree to assist them for five years in case of trouble.

When Edith left Germany, she was a freshman in high school. She had to drop back to the sixth grade in Wichita in order to learn the English language. "My aunt used to make me go to the grocery store and ask for things and it wasn't long before I was learning English," says Edith.

After a year in the sixth grade, she jumped to a sophomore in high school. "It certainly took me a long time to get used to the ways of American dress in high school. It's so casual. The girls always wore hose and high heels in Germany," commented Edith. "I love American jazz and all types of fast dancing. It's a regular hobby with me. People dance differently in Germany."

During the war the Melzer home was bombed seven times. "We rushed for the air raid shelter at least four times a day. One day I was bending over tying a shoe lace and three bombs were dropped right in front of our house. The air blast caused nerve shock and I've had a lot of trouble with my eyes."

At one time my mother and I hid my father in the basement for two days in order to keep the Nazis from forcing him to join the Nazi party. The war got to where it was a routine experience, but I hope I'll never have to see another one," said Miss Melzer.

Five Complete AF Program; Get Licenses

Five of the 22 Air Force ROTC cadets participating in the flight training program offered for the first time at Kansas State this semester have completed their training and received pilot's licenses, according to Capt. Edward Cavanaugh, assistant professor of air science.

Eldon E. Stout, BA Jr, was the first of the cadets to complete training and receive his license. Ralph Johnson, Phy Sr; John Rickles, LDs Sr; Leonard Rovrea, Agr Sr; and E. J. Shultis, AH Jr, are the other four cadets who have received licenses.

AFROTC Review Will Be Thursday

The annual Air Force ROTC review will be at 4 p.m. Thursday and will include a parade in which all AFROTC students are required to participate.

All AFROTC students will be excused from classes from 4-5 p.m. Thursday to be in the parade.

Boyd Makes 'Greatest Catch'

By MIKE SCANLAND

"It was one of the greatest catches I've seen since I've been in baseball," baseball Coach Ray Wauthier said of a play Bob Boyd, TJ Sr, and K-State's center fielder made in a game with Nebraska last year.

That catch was the highlight of a day Bob considers his biggest in sports. He hit a homerun, double, and single in six times at bat to drive in three runs and score four himself as K-State won 19-9.

"He made a fine run for the ball on that play," Wauthier said. "About five feet from the fence at approximately the 370-foot mark in left center field, he jumped and got the ball and came down on his belly on the fence.

"He was doubled over the top of the fence and had to be helped back by a teammate. I was sure glad to see the ball still in his glove. Usually when they hit that hard the ball gets jarred loose," he said, describing how Bob robbed the Nebraska batter of a home run.

Bob hit .297 last season.

There is no doubt about what Bob likes to do best. Although he lettered three years in basketball as a forward, and four in football playing halfback in high school at Manhattan where he grew up. Bob favored baseball even then.

"Baseball was always my favorite sport. It's the only sport that's even been important to me. Although I did well, I never thought of myself as a football or basketball player. I play intramural football and basketball just to keep in shape for baseball," he said.

Bob started playing Legion ball the summer following his freshman year in high school and has never since failed to play baseball during the summer.

In the summer of '53, he changed to Ban Johnson ball, playing for Hays.

The next two summers Bob played semi-pro ball at Superior and North Platte, Neb., which he calls, "the toughest league I ever played in."

Last summer Bob returned to Ban Johnson ball to play for Great Bend of the Western Kansas Ban Johnson league. He hit .382 and was named to the league all-star team.

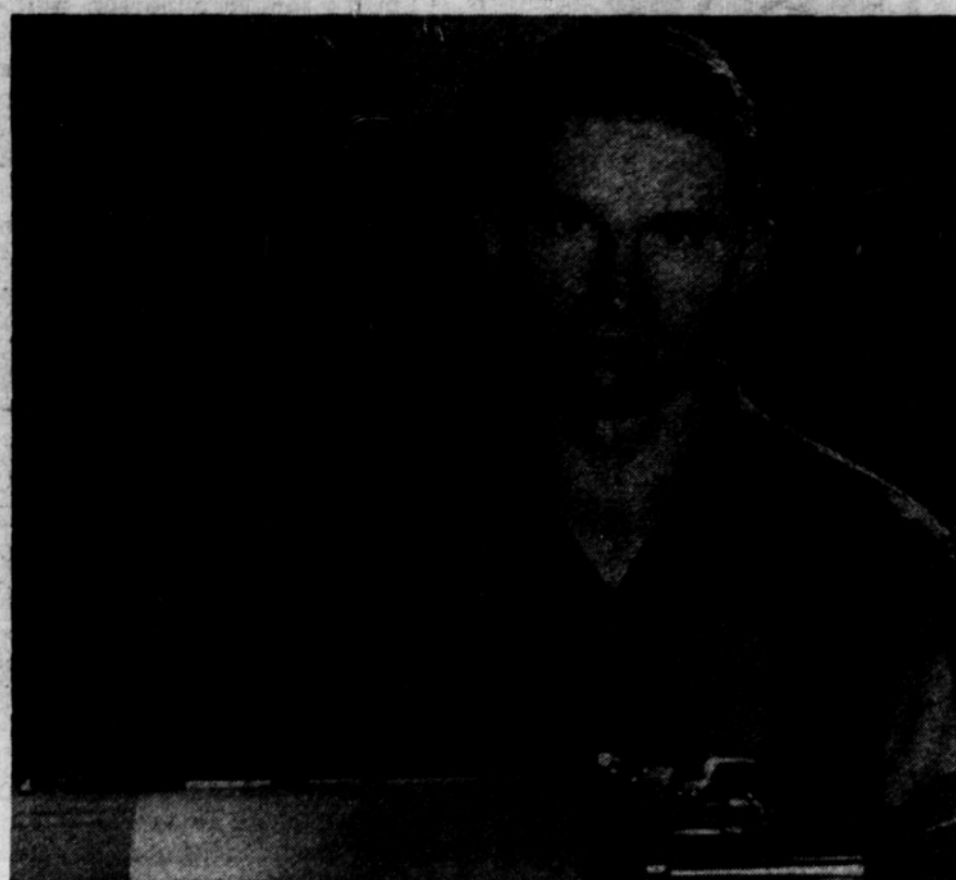

Bob played first base until the summer of '53 when he played left field for the Hays team. He has played center field since he came here and feels that he has found his place on the diamond.

According to Wauthier, "Bob is a good glove man. He has a nice arm, good speed, and gets a good jump on the ball.

"He is a good student of the game. The kid has a wonderful attitude toward playing. He has all the hustle and desire in the world essential to be a good ball-player," Wauthier said.

Bob has a 2.2 grade average and will graduate this spring with a degree in technical journalism. He hopes to play professional baseball this summer and after that will spend the next three years in the Air Force, probably as a navigator. He would like to play ball in the service.

After he gets out of service Bob intends to go into journalism work.

Top Sports Award Presented Tonight

The awarding of K-State's Mike Ahearn outstanding athlete award by Bebe Lee will highlight the spring sports banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

The award goes to a Wildcat athlete each year as "the man making the greatest contribution to K-State athletics." The winner receives a plaque bearing an engraved likeness of Ahearn, longtime K-State athletic director. The plaque is provided by the K-Fraternity. The winner's name also is engraved on a large plaque installed in the "K" room of Ahearn gymnasium.

First awarded last year, the plaque went to Kenny Nesmith, football and track letterman. Candidates for the award this season, nominated by K-State coaches, are Wally Carlson, who doubles in football and baseball; Gene O'Connor, hurdler who holds three Big Seven track championships; Jack Parr, basketball center who was named unanimous All-Big Seven the past two seasons and made the Helms All-America squad last season; Ellis Rainsberger, who was first-string center and captain for the Wildcat grid team last fall and will captain the 'Cats again in 1957; and Jerry Smith, outstanding golfer from Manhattan.

Prospective letter and numeral winners in seven spring sports also will be presented at the banquet.

Former K-State lettermen who attend the event will be introduced by Frank Myers.

Wildcat coaches will introduce the members of their respective teams.

Football Fields Re-Grassed For '57 Wildcat Gridders

This year, instead of seeding and filling the pits in the football field as in past years, the Athletic department has commissioned Tom Shackleford, head of campus maintenance, to plow up the field and to plant grass.

The field was seeded April 22 with blue grass, and the first blades poked through the surface a week later.

The practice fields have also been seeded.

Porky Morgan, K-State trainer, is probably as happy as anyone over the prospect of improved fields. "That football field is half of Porky Morgan's battle," Shackleford said. "The football fields are full of pits and every year these pits are filled with patches of sod."

"Sometimes the roots of a patch of sod won't take hold in the soil below. If this happens a football player is liable to tear the patch out if he makes a sharp turn.

"The next man who comes along and steps in the hole is likely to get a sprained ankle," he explained.

Morgan agrees with this although he says he doesn't know exactly how many injuries are due to the condition of the fields.

"Those holes cause us quite a bit of trouble. Sprains can be due to unevenness and holes in the field. A hard field causes sore legs and is a factor in fatigue.

"Good grass and turf cut down dust and save bruises and a lot of abrasions. Dust causes respiratory trouble, too," Morgan said.

Morgan lists Charley Hoag, KU's great halfback of '50, '51, and '52, as one of the victims of the rough field.

"Tony Addeo's ankle soreness over the last few years is attributable to hard ground. It cut down his effectiveness. He would have been a first-stringer if he hadn't been bothered so much by that," Morgan said.

K-State Trackmen Travel To Big Seven Meet Friday

K-State's track team will travel to Lincoln this weekend for the Big Seven meet to be held Friday and Saturday.

"We will probably place between 4th and 6th in the team scoring," said Coach Ward Haylett.

In the 1957 conference indoor meet the Wildcats placed fourth and they tied for-fourth with Missouri in last year's conference outdoor meet.

Back to defend his 120-yard high hurdles and 220-yard low hurdles crowns for the Wildcats is junior Gene O'Connor who won the respective events last year in times of 14.5 and 23.5. O'Connor also won the 60-yard low hurdles in the conference indoor meet this year.

His toughest competition will come from Missouri's Charlie Batch and Nebraska's Keith Gardner.

Also returning for the Wildcats is senior Dolan McDaniel who placed second in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and Gary Doupnik, a fourth place finisher in the high hurdles.

One of the Wildcats' top contenders will be junior pole vaulter Karl Lindenmuth who tied for third in the conference indoor at 13 feet, 9 inches. Lindenmuth, who was sidelined for several weeks with a sprained ankle, has an outdoor high of 13 feet, 6 inches.

Another Wildcat seeking victory will be javelin thrower Ralph Willard who has a season high of 202 feet, 3 inches. Although he is considerably behind Colorado's 225 foot thrower Ken Yob, Willard's chances are good as Yob tends to be erratic.

VALEDICTORY

With this column I complete my third year of writing for Philip Morris.

It has been my custom in the final column of each year to forego any attempts at humor, because you, dear readers, have had your funnybones so frozen by the cold wind of impending final exams that it is futile to try to get a laugh out of you; and because in this last column of the year we are saying goodbye, and goodbyes are occasions for sweet solemnity, not slapdash foolery.

Today my heart is full. I am grateful, first of all, to the Philip Morris Company who make this column possible. They have given me a completely free hand in the choice of subject matter; they have not tampered in any way with my copy; they have been unfailingly courteous and helpful. I wish to take this occasion to extend heartfelt thanks to the makers of Philip Morris for their most touching kindness, and to notify them that if we renew our association for another year, I shall require a substantial increase in salary.

Second, I should like to tender my thanks to you, dear readers. A writer's life is not an easy one. There are an appalling number of hazards—a drought of ideas, for one; catching your necktie in the roller of your typewriter, for another—and when a writer is blessed, as I have been, with an audience as alert, as bright, as intelligent as you, dear readers, then he must take his hat in his hand and his necktie out of the typewriter and humbly give thanks.

This, dear readers, I now do. Thanks for being dear. Thanks for being readers.

Finally, I wish to thank the tobaccoists of America who make it possible for us to buy our Philip Morris Cigarettes by the pack. If there were no tobaccoists, we should have to buy our Philip Morris direct from the factory in boxcar lots. This would present grave storage problems to those of us who live in dormitories and other substandard dwellings.

I hope, by the way, that you have been to your tobaccoist's lately and bought some Philip Morris Cigarettes. I have been trying to beguile you into smoking Philip Morris Cigarettes by means of what advertising men call the "soft sell." Indeed, I have occasionally gone beyond the soft sell into the "limp" or "flabby" sell. I hope my pulpy merchandising has had its effect, for here is an enchanting cigarette, pure, natural pleasure, a joy, a jewel, a haven to the storm-tossed, a bower to the weary. And in addition to being a haven, a bower, and all like that, Philip Morris is a boon to the absent minded. No matter which end you light, you're right!

And so goodbye. Go in peace, go in content. May good fortune attend your ventures, may love and laughter brighten the corners where you are. See you, hey.

©Max Shulman, 1957

It's been a great pleasure for us, the makers of Philip Morris, to bring you this monument to the soft sell each week. Till next year, goodbye, good luck, and good smoking—with natural Philip Morris, of course!

KS Geology Students Begin Annual Field Trip

Fifty K-State geology students started a 1,500 mile field trip through Missouri, Illinois, and Kentucky yesterday. The occasion is the annual spring geology field trip, sponsored by Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national geology honorary.

The first stop is to be at Rolla, Mo., where students will collect minerals, and observe local structure and stratigraphic features.

They will then travel through the mining region of the St. Francis mountains, with stops at mines for mineral collecting and information on the occurrence of minerals.

The next stop will be spent observing stratigraphy and structures in Illinois. The group will return to Manhattan Sunday.

Purpose of the field trips, made each spring into a different area, is to give students an opportunity to observe what they have been studying.

with the world on a string

This June, the graduates of our engineering and scientific schools, pockets stuffed with job offers, have "the world on a string."

But there's another "string" attached to this fabulous situation: A man can only accept one job offer.

How can the graduate make up his mind wisely about his vital decision?

We're not going to try to tell you. And we're going to resist the temptation to point out the many advantages of working for IBM—much as our company, like every other, needs top-notch engineering and scientific talent.

We're merely going to leave you with one thought that may help you make your decision:

IBM's President has stated this policy: "... I want this company to be known as the one which has the greatest respect for the individual."

McCoy Elected YD Secretary At Convention

Ed McCoy, a Kansas State college delegate to the Kansas Convention of Young Democrats, was elected secretary of the Collegiate Young Democrats, a branch of the former group, at Topeka, Sunday. The Collegiate group, with the largest single voting faction at the convention, tremendously increased its power.

McCoy also was appointed chairman of the Young Democrat Resolutions committee for the convention. K-State's Gary Maddox served as a member of the Credentials committee; and John Toms, another K-Stater, served as a member of the Constitutional Revision committee.

Faculty Senate Approves B.A. Degree, A&S Plan

Plans for changes in the School of Arts and Sciences to permit offering a Bachelor of Arts degree and unifying the various fields of study were approved by the faculty Senate yesterday and will go into effect September 1, 1957, according to acting president Arthur D. Weber, and Arts and Science Dean John C. Weaver.

These two plans were recommended in a report by the Arts and Sciences all-school committee after 14 months of research.

At present, 22 different curriculums are offered in the School of Arts and Sciences. Under the new plan, there will be only eight basic "core" curriculums. Four of these will be designated degrees and four undesignated, the report said.

Bachelor of Arts degrees will be offered in the core fields of humanities, social science, and general curriculum. Bachelor of Science degrees will be offered in the fields of biological science, physical science, business administration, and education. A Bachelor of Music degree will be offered in applied music.

The report states that any student now enrolled or who enrolls before September 1958, has the option of completing the program under which he originally enrolled, or of changing to any of the new curriculums provided he is able to meet the requirements.

Except where otherwise noted, the core curriculums will make it possible for students who have not decided on a definite major to acquire background in a whole field, plus a major in a departmental area of that field, according to the report.

Majors offered in the biological science core field are bacteriology, biogeography, botany, entomology, psychology, zoology, and speech.

Majors offered in the Physical Science core field are chemistry, geography, geology, geophysics, mathematics, physics, statistics, and technical journalism.

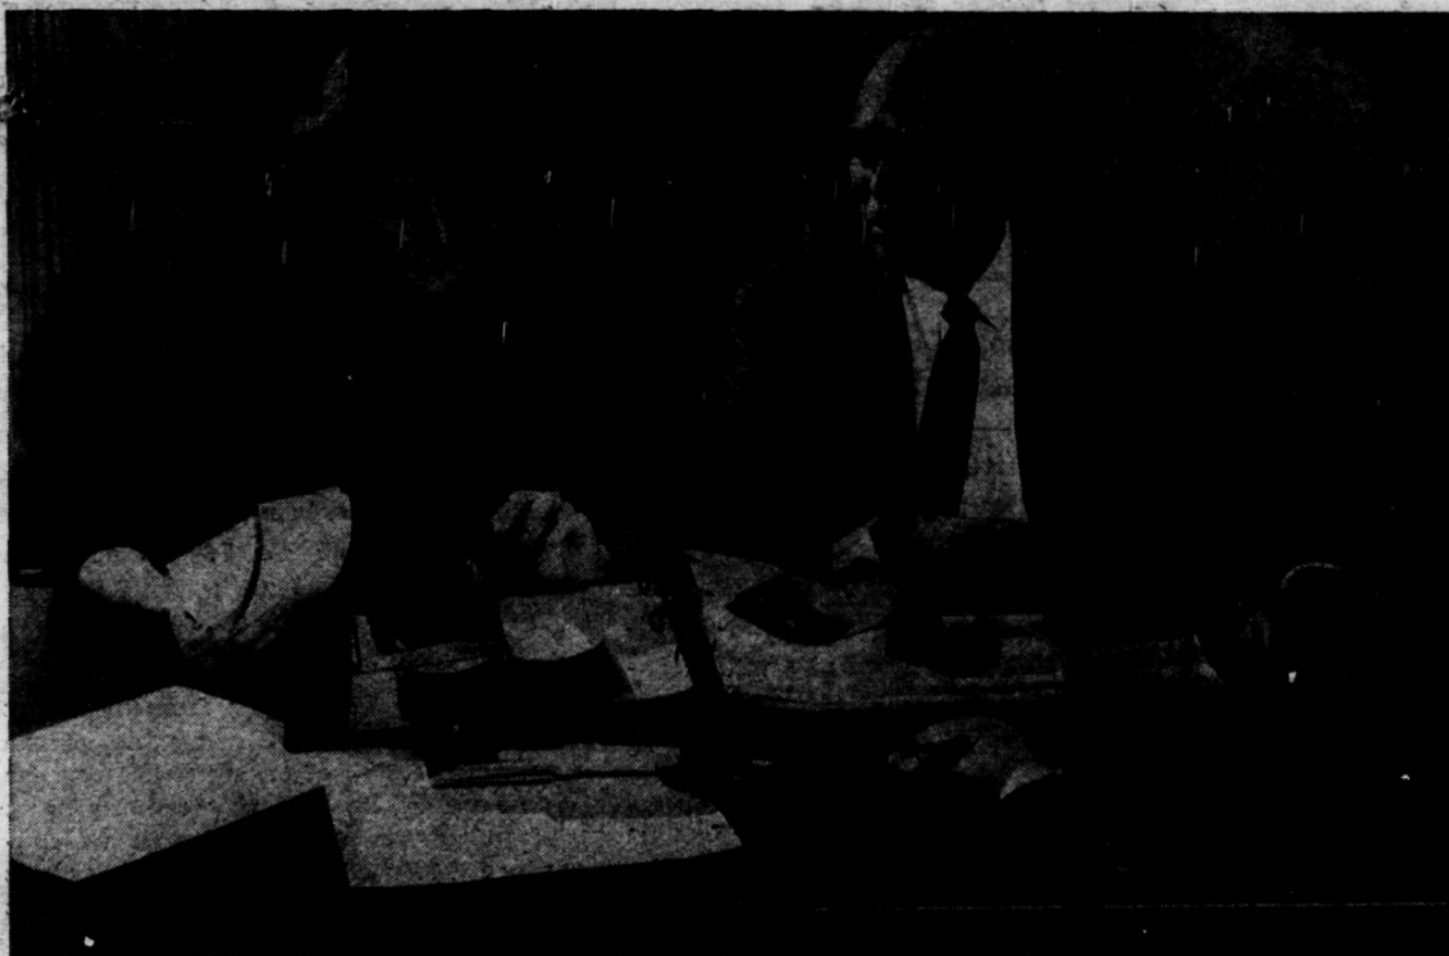

Majors offered in the Humanities core field are art, English, history, mathematics, modern languages, music, philosophy, speech, and statistics.

Majors offered in the Social Science core are economics, geography, government, history, psychology, sociology, speech, and technical journalism.

The General Curriculum leads to a completely undesignated Bachelor of Arts degree, the report stated. It provides a general, rather than a specialized education. It offers broad requirements in the four above-named undesignated areas and a major in one area rather than in one department.

Majors offered in the Business Administration core are business administration and accounting. This is a designated degree, and the requirements are determined by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Majors offered in the Education core are art education, music education, physical education, elementary education, and secondary education. This core provides all of the requirements. (Continued on page 8)

C. J. Medlin Gets Award As Top Annual Adviser

C. J. (Chief) Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications at K-State, has been named "the most outstanding yearbook adviser in the United States," it was announced today by Frank P. Gill, chairman of the National Council of College Publication Advisers. Chief was named as the first recipient of the annual Albert Love award of $500.

Student yearbook editors and staff members throughout the country made recommendations.

Gaye Fryer, HEJ Sr, editor of the 1957 Royal Purple, and her staff recommended Chief for the award. Thirty-four nominations were screened and reviewed. President McCain was asked to make a recommendation.

The award is given by Albert Love, president of Foote & Davies, Inc., an Atlanta, Georgia, printing firm. It was sponsored by NCCPA.

Chief has been the Royal Purple adviser for 22 years. The yearbook has received 21 consecutive All-American awards from the Associated Collegiate Press during these 22 years.

In recommending Chief, President McCain stated, "In serving as adviser to the editors, business managers, and other staff members of the Royal Purple, Mr. Medlin has demonstrated an almost phenomenal capacity to win the affection and respect of these students and to inspire them to perform to their fullest possible capacity.

"Despite his extensive experience, Chief does not do the work for them. Through the leadership he has exercised, however, he has been able to make each succeeding Royal Purple outstanding. There is no member of our faculty held in higher esteem by his students, both as undergraduates and as alumni after they have left the College."

Twenty Students Are A&S Election Victors

K-Staters in the School of Arts and Sciences elected 20 students to positions on the Arts and Sciences council yesterday.

Representing the Department of Biological Science are Annette Galyon, Soph; Ron Paul, Jr; and Kathryn Schmid, Fr, who were unopposed in the election. Other uncontested elections were Bill Schickantz, Jr, Geology, and Marcia Boyd, Soph, Technical Journalism.

Winners of council seats from the Business Administration department are Bob Carlson, Soph; Larry French, Jr; Charles Hostetler, Fr; Pete Lindsay, Soph; and Peggy Shannon, Fr.

The Department of Education council members are Betty Britton, Soph; Emily Douthitt, Soph; and Susan Mechesney, Fr. Wendy Helstrom, Fr, and Winky Killian, Soph, will represent the Humanities department.

Other departments and winning candidates are Social Science, Steve Douglas, Fr, and Ron Molinari, Soph; Physical Sciences, R. Nathan Greene, Jr; Physical Education, Annette Tighe, Soph; and Music, Karen Peterson, Jr.

The first meeting of both old and new members of the council will be at 5 p.m. today in the Union.

Summer School Information Told By Paul Young

K-State will offer 482 courses in 47 departments during the regular nine-week summer school session, Paul M. Young, director of summer school, announced yesterday.

In addition, there will be 24 special workshops and short courses lasting from one to three weeks. These are being offered by six departments.

Classes for summer school will begin Tuesday, June 4, and conclude with commencement exercises Friday, August 2, Young said.

Students will register and enroll Monday, June 3, for either the whole nine-week session or the first three-week session. No pre-assignment of classes has taken place, only advisement, which was carried out at the same time as for the fall semester.

Student Health Has Polio Vaccine

Student Health has received enough polio vaccine for 900 shots, according to B. W. Lafene, Student Health director.

"Persons wanting first or second shots will receive preference over those wanting their third one."

"Since there is such a limited supply, shots will be given on a first come, first served basis," Lafene said.

Miss K-State Is Announced

GEORGIANA RUNDLE, EEd Jr, was chosen Miss K-State at the Union last night from 16 candidates. Georgiana represents Chi Omega sorority. Her attendants were Celia Dixon, EEd Jr, Alpha Xi Delta; Sandra Mueller, TxC Sr, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Linda Stout, EEd Fr, Southeast; and Connie Taylor, Eng Jr, Pi Beta Phi.

Georgiana Rundle, EEd Jr, was crowned Miss K-State last night in a contest held in the Union little theater. Her attendants were Celia Dixon, EEd Jr; Sandra Mueller, TxC Sr; Linda Stout, EEd Fr; and Connie Taylor, Eng Jr.

Miss Rundle will represent K-State in the Miss Kansas contest, which will be held in Pratt June 6 and 7. The winner of this contest will then represent Kansas in the Miss America contest, which will be held later in the summer.

Each contestant modeled an evening gown and a swimming suit and competed in a three minute talent contest. The five finalists were selected by the judges, and were asked two questions, "Why did you choose K-State?" and "Who, other than your immediate family, do you look up to most?"

In the talent contest Miss Rundle, Chi Omega, sang a selection from "Carmen" and "Getting To Know You" from the "King and I." Celia Dixon, Alpha Xi Delta, sang "If I Loved You;" Sandra Mueller, Kappa Kappa Gamma, did a dance routine, "Narcissus;" Linda Stout, representing Southeast hall, did a modern dance routine to "Blue Violins;" and Connie Taylor, representing Pi Beta Phi, gave a reading, "The Highwayman."

'Controlled Cram' Endorsed As Best for Finals Studying

SURROUNDED BY BRITANNICAS and other physical signs of chaos, this unhappy K-Stater (buried behind said Britannicas) is using an unscientific way of cramming for semester exams. He should have started studying and organizing for finals a week ago. However, he had a test every day this week so he couldn't. Also, he spilled booze all over his notes while trying to study on a beer bust. Unfortunately, he took all his notes in ink. "I think I'll go back to MIT," he wailed, "at least they have a dead week."

By SANDY WILSON

"CONTROLLED CRAMMING" rather than chaotic cramming for final examinations is the plan of attack recommended to students by the Counseling Center's Sumner B. Morris.

As final week draws near, Morris suggests students sit down now and map out a time schedule for budgeting study time, recreation, and other obligations. "Be able to account for every hour of the next two weeks," he urges.

Looking at the pros and cons of cramming, Morris says: "Those who have not kept up with course work have nothing to lose by cramming. Also, the better student may build up a good case of anxiety by burning the midnight oil."

THE TYPE OF EXAM will necessarily determine how you should go about preparing for it. Studying for an essay type exam will mean you must spend more time on tying general ideas together and focusing on cause and effect.

For the more objective type test requiring considerable memorization, he suggests the flash-card method. Morris says this will work well in getting facts, formulas, and definitions down pat. However, he warns against using the method for more than 15 minutes at a time. Ideally, you might take 15 minutes before lunch or after, and another 15 before bedtime.

"Outlining at this late date will help, but it is a very inefficient way of doing things. Self-recitation or looking away from the book and asking yourself what is significant and how it ties in with what you have learned before is more advisable," he says.

Here are some ideas from K-State professors and instructors which could improve your cramming and help a slumping grade.

JACK ROBINSON, asst. prof., general studies, urges you to start studying early and to summarize the important topics in your own words. Pick out things in your notes which have been indicated as particularly important and "Try to tell yourself or a friend the significant things about these topics without reference to the book," he advises.

M. J. HARBAUGH, prof., zoology and general studies, says he tells students from the beginning of the semester to get the material as they go along and not to worry about a final. "I teach the fundamentals of the course and if people are old enough to come to college, they're old enough to know the rest is up to them."

L. E. FAIRBANKS, assoc. prof., agricultural engineering, has, upon occasion, been known to send his students off to see a movie the night before an examination—after they have reviewed notes, old quizzes, and lab exercises, of course. "I always tell my students to come in and see me if they are having difficulty," he says.

"First of all, I think the college ought to co-operate," says A. D. Miller, assoc. prof. of history, government, and philosophy. "This ought to be a dead week as far as activities in the organized houses are concerned," he adds. He suggests that some time be spent reviewing notes if they have been kept and the rest on reviewing things in the text which have been talked about in lecture. "Students do themselves no good by 2, 3, and 4 o'clock reviews; they ought to be in bed at a decent hour."

Union Leaders Meet Today To Consider Beck's Ouster

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington—Union leaders meet today to consider the possibility of toppling Dave Beck from his rule of the giant teamsters union.

Informed sources said they expected the question of ousting teamster President Beck to be discussed at a mid-morning conference between AFL-CIO President George Meany and a committee of teamster vice presidents.

Union sources conceded that the teamster's "biggest problem" is Beck because of charges by the Senate Rackets committee and the AFL-CIO that he used union funds and his office for personal advantage.

'Price of Peace' High—Ike

Washington—President Eisenhower called on the American people last night to sacrifice their dollars rather than their sons and cities as the "price of peace" in a world threatened by atomic-armed Communism.

The President, in a broadcast and televised defense of his 72 billion dollar budget, told the nation it risks "terrible consequences" if his defense program is "materially" cut.

Warning of danger from a Soviet "despotism . . . fully capable of the supreme folly" of trying to destroy the free world, he said this country must keep up its armed strength to convince Moscow's rulers "they cannot escape . . . destruction" if they start a general war.

Even as the President spoke, a House Appropriations subcommittee was reported to have tentatively approved a of some $2,500,000,000 in Eisenhower's defense budget for next year. Subcommittee members insisted the cuts would not imperil the President's defense program.

Memphis, Tenn.—Wayne E. Baker, from his hospital bed after being stung on the head 20 times by a swarm of honey bees:

"I don't blame them for being mad. I was breaking up their home, and I guess I'd have done the same thing."

Washington—Army Assistant Secretary Hugh M. Milton on the temporary suspension of six-month enlistments for active reserve training:

"The program has really snowballed . . . we have achieved in four months what was expected in 15 months."

Los Angeles—Traffic was tied up at a San Fernando Valley intersection yesterday when four geese stood honking at automobile drivers who could do nothing but toot back.

A policeman who rounded up the flock and got a nipped hand doing it swore that if someone doesn't show up soon to claim them, the geese's collective goose will be cooked.

Chicago—An old flame leaves Chicago for Toronto tomorrow.

The flame from one of the flaming swords at the Ambassador hotel's east pump room will help inaugurate a similar room at the Lord Simcoe hotel in Toronto.

Tokyo—Men will not be able to escape women's voices even atop 5,160-foot Mt. Omine, forbidden to women for over 1,300 years, it was disclosed today.

A new telephone has been installed linking the foot of the mountain with the peak. Postal officials ruled that women will be able to talk to Buddhist monks at the top even though females may not defile the summit in person.

Missing Witness Nabbed

Washington—The Senate Rackets committee today got its man—a missing witness—for the second time.

U.S. Marshal W. Budd Parsons of Seattle, Wash., announced a rackets committee subpoena has been served for the second time in 48 hours on Norman Gessert, an elusive cousin of teamster president Dave Beck's wife.

Parsons assured newsmen that this time the subpoena was valid. He said it was served on Gessert in the area of Ellensburg, Wash., where the first subpoena was served on him Monday night.

The first subpoena was no good. It ordered Gessert, whom the committee has been looking for along with three other witnesses for weeks, to appear before the committee May 8.

The rackets committee today sought to learn whether the teamster boss milked extraordinary benefits from his union's multi-million dollar insurance fund.

At the same time, AFL-CIO president George Meany and a group of teamster vice presidents met to discuss the possibility of dumping Beck.

Seven Seek McCarthy's Seat

Milwaukee, Wis.—A three and possibly a four-way race among Republicans seeking to fill the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate seat in a special election appeared certain today.

Former Gov. Walter Kohler and Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles formally announced their candidacies yesterday, and former Rep. Glenn Davis was expected to throw his hat in the ring today.

A fourth possible GOP contender was Rep. Alvin O'Konski (R-Wis.) who has said he is seriously considering entering the race.

At least three Democrats were standing by ready to declare their candidacies in the primary. They were William Proxmire, three-time candidate for governor; Rep. Henry Reuss of Milwaukee and State Sen. Henry Maier.

Mortar Board Appoints Seven Committee Heads

Mortar Board members appointed the heads of standing committees and decided on three sponsors for next year at yesterday's meeting.

The standing committee heads are Marcia Hesler, BMT Jr, mums; Darlene Larkin, TxC Jr, scholarship dinner; Rosalyn Rowell, Soc Jr, cultural programs; Mary L. Compton, Sp Jr, Kansas university-K-State joint Mortar Board meeting; Joyce Graham, BA Jr, campus beautification; Jeannie Williams, MEI Jr, study programs; and Becky Culpepper, EEd Jr, Mortar Board tapping and initiation.

The three sponsors are Marylyn

McCready, Eng Sr; Mrs. John Helm, wife of Prof. John F. Helm of the Department of Architecture and Allied Arts; and Miss Gertrude Lienkaemper, instructor, Clothing and Textiles department in the School of Home Economics.

Mortar Board set its permanent semi-monthly meeting for Saturdays after lunch. The next meeting will be 10 a.m. September 7.

It was also decided that Mortar Board will assist the Associated Women Students with the orientation mixer September 9.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian classified.

Honors

Outstanding K-Staters Given Scholarships

Three Kansas State students majoring in chemistry have been honored for outstanding scholarship, according to W. S. Ruliffson, chairman of the awards committee.

Joseph S. Jones, Jr, Chm Sr, Manhattan, has received the award of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Chemists. The award goes to the outstanding graduating chemist.

Two juniors received Merck Index awards for scholarship. They are Janis C. Broman, Chm, Salina, and James C. Zahnley, Chm, Manhattan.

Keith G. Mines, BAA Jr, has won the Wall Street Journal student achievement award in business administration at Kansas State this year. Mines, being recognized as an outstanding student both scholastically and in extracurricular activities, receives a specially designed silver medal. He is from Cedar Bluffs.

Donna Knoche, ChW Jr, has been awarded the $150 Home Economics club scholarship.

The club annually gives a scholarship to a junior girl for use in her senior year. Scholarship, activities, and need for financial assistance are considered when making the award.

Miss Knoche of Stafford has been active in the Home Economics club, Collegiate 4-H, Purple Pepsters, Disciple Student Fellowship, and Kappa Beta of the Christian church. She is a member of Chimes and recently was elected to Mortar Board.

This year Miss Knoche held a Kansas Parent Teachers association scholarship.

The $375 Kappa Kappa Gamma International fellowship has been awarded to Chiara Bini, Bac Jr, of Bologna, Italy. This is Miss Bini's second year at K-State.

Miss Bini lived in the Pi Beta Phi house with a scholarship her first year here. She will attend the University of Montana this summer but will return to K-State for the fall semester.

Harry Shank To Lead Air Force ROTC Show

The annual Air Force ROTC review will be on the drill field tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. Harry Shank, Sp Jr, will be in command of the 750 cadets who will be displaying the marching abilities which they have learned this past year.

Also participating in the review will be members of Pershing Rifles, ROTC men's drill group, and members of Angel Flight, honorary AFROTC women's drill group. Rosemary Derks, Eng Jr, commander of Angel Flight, will be in charge of the group.

Music for the event will be furnished by the new AFROTC band under the direction of James Snyder, AH Soph, cadet technical sergeant.

This year's review parade will be an honorary farewell to Dean of Arts and Sciences John C. Weaver, as well as the five departing personnel of the K-State AFROTC detachment. They are Major Bayred O. Vermillion; Cap. Howard L. Malchow; Maj. Walter E. Poindexter; Master Sgt. Milton V. Butler; and Master Sgt. Robert K. Boynton.

On the reviewing stand will be Dean Weaver; Dr. A. D. Weber, acting college president; A. L. Pugsley, dean of academic administration; Herbert J. Wunderlich, dean of students; Lt. Col. William H. Hastings of the military science department; and the department detachment personnel.

Gene Westhusing, EE Soph, outstanding ROTC cadet for May, will be presented with a 20 dollar gift certificate by John Ryan on behalf of the Manhattan merchants. Other awards will be presented to 28 outstanding cadets by Maj. Poindexter.

Weber to Present Degrees At May 26 Commencement

Commencement exercises for the spring semester of 1957 will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 26, in the Field House.

Dean Arthur D. Weber, acting president, will confer the degrees.

Mr. Lawrence Morgan, Goodland, will speak for the Board of Regents.

The Rev. Paul D. Olson, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will give the invocation and benediction.

Jean H. Hedlund and the band will play "Headlines," a special musical number by Carleton College.

Alumni from the classes of 1877, 1892, 1897, 1902, 1907, 1912, and 1917 will be special guests and will sit in reserved sections.

The alumni banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in the Student Union Saturday, May 25, for all seniors 1877, '92, '97, 1902, '07, '12, '17, '22, '27, '32, '37, '42, '47, and '52, according to Kenny Ford, secretary of the Alumni association.

Tickets for the banquet must and alumni from the classes of be bought in the Alumni office by noon Friday, May 24, he said.

Sticklers!

LAST CALL FOR STICKLERS!

We're still shelling out $25 for every Stickler we accept—and we're still accepting plenty! But if you want to cut yourself in, you've got to start Stickling NOW! Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. Send your Sticklers (as many as you want—the more you send, the better your chance of winning!) to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. NOW! TODAY! PRONTO!

YOU'VE PROBABLY HEARD of torch songs (music to cry by), Air Force songs (music to fly by), and Aloha songs (music to bye-bye). The Lucky Strike song is music to buy by: it's a pretty ditty that's devoted strictly to Luckies. Naturally, that makes it a Cheerful Earful! It reminds you that Luckies are tops and that better taste is the pleasin' reason. Luckies' taste comes from fine tobacco—mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. So, as the jingle says, "Light up a Lucky, it's light-up time!" You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

KS Grad Students Plan Picnic for Saturday

"All members of the Graduate Students association are invited to attend a picnic at 5 p.m. this Saturday, May 18, in the shelter house at the city park," said Scott Chandler, AH Gr, president of the club. K-STATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR Bebe Lee presents the Mike Ahearn outstanding athlete plaque to hurdler Gene O'Connor at last night's spring sports banquet.

O'Connor Gets Top Award At Cat Athletic Banquet

By JAY WORKMAN

Gene O'Connor was presented the Mike Ahearn outstanding athlete award for 1957 by Bebe Lee last night at the annual spring sports banquet in the Student Union.

O'Connor, who has been picked by his teammates as captain of next year's track squad, was one of the top Cat point-makers this year, was a candidate for the Olympic team last summer, and holds three Big Seven track championships.

Pat Doyle was named as winner of the outstanding wrestler award.

Gymnasts given awards were Merle Schneck, most improved; Richard Rood, high point man; Robert Gramzow, second high point man.

Sprinter Dolan McDaniel was named as honorary captain of this year's track team.

Master of ceremonies Lud Fiser introduced Wildcat coaches with humorous anecdotes about each one. These coaches then introduced the prospective letter and numeral winners—Ray Wauthier, baseball; Merle Nay, freshman baseball; T. M. Evans, golf; Frank Thompson, gymnastics; Bill Thrall, swimming; Karl Finney, tennis and freshman tennis; Ward Haylett, track; Herman Wilson, freshman track; Fritz Knorr, wrestling.

Frank L. Myers introduced alumni letter-winners. Each former Cat athlete gave a brief sketch of his career at K-State.

Dean R. I. Throckmorton was the featured speaker. He stressed the qualities prospective employers look for that athletes are more liable to have than non-athletes. He said that loyalty, co-operation, tolerance, language, friends and associates, pride, punctuality, sense of humor, and not taking yourself too seriously, are at least as important as scholarship.

Baseballers To Host Buffs In Scrap for Seventh Place

Both teams struggling to stay out of the Big Seven cellar, K-State will close its season with a three-game series against Colorado at Griffith stadium Friday and Saturday.

Friday's nine-inning game will start at 3 p.m. and the double-header Saturday will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday's games will both be seven inning affairs.

K-State, a team with an eight game losing streak, is now faced with the necessity of sweeping the series from Colorado in order to have a reasonable chance to climb out of last place in Big Seven conference standings.

Coach Ray Wauthier realizes K-State's back is to the wall.

"This is the battle for the other end. If we play ball like we did early in the season we could sweep the series. We've been making too many physical and mental errors lately though. We're going to have to play a lot different than we have been to get out of the cellar," he stated.

K-State has a 2-10 conference record and Colorado is in seventh place with a 3-7 mark.

Even if the Wildcats take the series 2-1, both teams would then have four wins and Colorado still could go ahead when it plays Iowa State the following weekend. Colorado finishes its season with three games against the Cyclones at Boulder, May 24 and 25.

A series sweep for K-State would virtually reverse the present situation by forcing the Buffs to win all three games with Iowa State. K-State plays one less game than Colorado due to cancelled games and because of this the Buffs would need to take all three games from Iowa State to stay out of eighth, and last place. A series sweep by K-State over the Buffs and two Colorado wins and a loss in the Iowa State series would give K-State a 5-10 record and Colorado a 5-11 reading.

The problem of sweeping the Colorado series is further complicated by the fact that the team has not been able to practice this week.

"The field house is being fixed up for graduation and if the stadium field doesn't dry up we won't have any place to practice," Wauthier said.

Wauthier reports that the team is in good physical shape for the series.

He is undecided as to whether Paul Bader, who has been starting, or Joe Haggard will play left field in the series.

"Bader hasn't been hitting. It all depends on how he hits in the first game. If he isn't going to hit I might as well let Haggard play instead," Wauthier pointed out.

Alpha Xi's Nip A Chi O's In Gals Intramurals, 12-6

Alpha Xi Delta defeated Alpha Chi Omega, 12-6, yesterday in women's intramural play. This was the only game scheduled.

Dee French, Alpha Xi, was the winning pitcher. She has now won 2 and lost 0. Meredith Brink was the losing pitcher.

Miss French also struck out three Alpha Chi's as she allowed 15 hits in the three inning game that ran the 40 minute time limit.

In tomorrow's intramural play, Van Zile Hall meets Waltham Hall and Alpha Chi Omega will meet Southeast Hall.

K-State Table Tennis Team Slaughters Washburn 7-0

The K-State table tennis team won its second match last night, defeating the Washburn university team 7-0. The K-State team beat the University of Kansas 7-0 in its other match.

In the singles, Richard Wang won over Vrej of Washburn 21-9 and 21-16. Don Veraska beat Washburn's Sharifi 21-18 and 21-17. Daniel Lee scored 21-15 wins in two games over Troy of Washburn. Paul Petrossian, K-State, lost his first game 13-21 to Frank but won the next two games 21-16 and 21-15. Richard Russell outscored Speaker of Washburn 21-11 in the first game, lost 18-21, and returned to win the last game 21-12 and the series.

In doubles Veraska and Wang won their first game 21-17, lost the second 15-21, and came back 21-9 to defeat Troy and Sharifi of Washburn. Petrossian and Lee outscored Vrej and Frank 21-15 and 21-13.

As Player, Coach

Knorr's Sports Career Long

By MIKE SCANLAND

When Fritz Knorr, K-State assistant Athletic director and wrestling coach, was playing football at K-State in the early thirties under Bo McMillan, a man needed more stamina than today's football heroes must exhibit.

"In those days about 18 men would be all that would get in a game and some of them would play all the way. It wasn't anything for a man to play every minute. A lot of guys did that often.

But if anyone was ever prepared for such hard going it was probably Knorr. He worked his way through school from the seventh grade until he graduated from K-State.

"I came from a large family and we didn't have a big enough fram to keep everybody busy at home," he explained.

Knorr moved to a neighbors fram and worked weekends and after school for his room and board. Beginning with his junior year he worked for a construction company during the summer and on weekends during the school year. He also found time to collect four letters in track and three each in football and basketball before he graduated from high school in Savannah,

Mo. He was voted the schools best all-around athlete his senior year and was the football teams leading scorer his last two years in high school.

When he came to K-State in 1928, Knorr continued working his way through school while lettering three years in both wrestling and football. There were no athletic scholarships in those days.

Although he had been a half-back in high school, Knorr was switched to end at K-State and started a few games during his career but was never a bona fide first stringer.

"I was built to play in the backfield but I wasn't quite as fast as the starters and they had plenty of backs then," Knorr said.

Knorr had never wrestled before he came to school here. "I met the wrestling coach in front of Nichols gym one day and he asked me to come out for the team, so I did," he said. Knorr went on to become a starter on the wrestling team.

He believes Bill Doyle, father of K-State's sophomore Big Seven 157 pound wrestling champion, John Doyle, is the best wrestler he ever knew, and says the younger Doyle is prospectively the best wrestler he ever coached.

Knorr graduated from K-State in 1932 with a degree in Physical Education and a B grade average.

From 1932 to 1937 he was coach of all sports at Waterville, Kans.

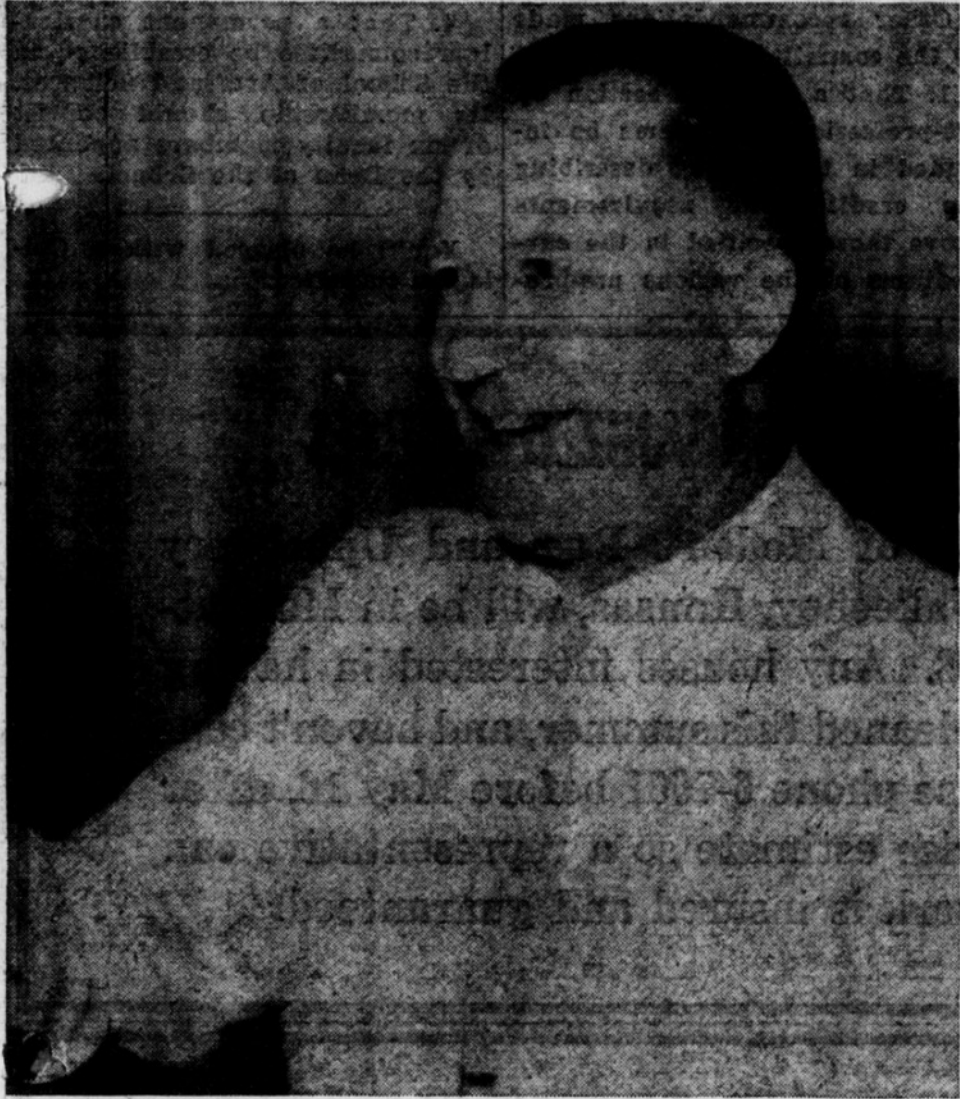

In 1936 his football team at Waterville, a town of 700, beat Manhattan high school, 7-6.

From 1937 to 1942 he was coach of all sports at North West Jr. high school in Kansas City, Kans.

In 1942 Knorr came to K-State as a physical education instructor and has been here ever since in a variety of capacities.

He was head basketball coach and football line coach in 1944.

In 1948 he assumed his present job and in 1949 and 50 also coached the baseball team.

FRITZ KNORR, K-State assistant athletics director and wrestling coach, has been on the Wildcat staff since 1942. He was a two-sport letterman in his K-State undergraduate days.

Men's Housing to Be Short

An unusually large number of men students have applied for reservations in dormitories at East and West stadiums, indicating that housing for men will be scarce in the fall of 1957, according to A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing.

Edwards said the housing office now has 131 reservations for rooms at East and West stadiums. On May 4 last year, the housing office had only 96 reservations, he said.

The dormitory at East stadium will house 26 men students and the dormitory at West stadium will house 150.

At the present time, the housing office has numerous listings of rooms and apartments in private homes in Manhattan, Edwards reported. "I would advise men students to make arrangements for housing for the fall semester before leaving school this spring," he said.

The eighth area is applied music and provides the Bachelor of Music degree. It remains a professional training program as it has been.

Students in the pre-professional training programs of medical technology, physical therapy, pre-dentistry, pre-law, pre-medicine, and pre-veterinary medicine will follow a program attached to one of three major areas—biological science, social science, or general, the report said.

Other recommendations made by the committee are:

1. That a separate section on pre-professional programs be included in the catalog describing the credit hour requirements above those specified in the curriculums of the various pre-professional programs offered in Arts and Sciences.

2. That diplomas and transcripts for the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts should carry the name of the major field of study.

3. That a student, when enrolling in a curriculum, be advised by an area adviser until he is prepared to designate a major field of study. Then he should be assigned a departmental adviser who will be responsible for planning the specific sequence of courses for that student in his particular curriculum.

4. That a permanent curriculum committee be established in the School of Arts and Sciences. Its membership should consist of six faculty members appointed by the Dean of the School.

Intake Exhausted

Loss of College Recognition May Be Steel Ring's Fate

By ED KOCHER

Steel Ring, honorary engineering fraternity, may lose College recognition as a student activity because of the organization's recent publication of "Intake and Exhaust."

Tribunal recommended to the Activities Board in a recent meeting that K-State college recognition of Steel Ring be withdrawn. The case came before Tribunal with a recommendation from the Engineering school that recognition of the organization at K-State be withdrawn.

"The members of Tribunal feel that on the basis of testimony of the co-editors of the magazine that the organization, Steel Ring, serves questionable purpose since tradition has guided the compiling of the magazine. Unless the organization gives assurance of a change in its policy, Tribunal also recommends that the Activities Board make a study of the organization."

Tribunal suggested that the Activities Board check the usefulness of the organization regardless of whether the "Intake and Exhaust" is banned from publication or cleaned up.

Tribunal also recommended that the Activities

Board check to see if the magazine, "Intake and Exhaust," is suitable as a fund raising project.

In other cases handled by Tribunal, four persons were placed on disciplinary probation during the rest of their college careers.

One case involved two students charged with stealing textbooks.

In another case a male student was charged with violation of the K-State honor code. He kept a girl out all night which was considered to be an irresponsible act on his part. The sorority has imposed penalties on the coed and Tribunal placed the male student, a senior, on probation until graduation.

A student arrested the second time this year for being drunk will be denied re-admission to K-State until the spring semester of 1958 if the recommendation to the Dean of Students is approved. Upon re-admission he will be placed on disciplinary probation.

A charge of DWI against a student resulted in a recommendation of disciplinary probation. He paid a fine of $100 in county court and had his driver's license revoked for six months.

Changes Made, Traditions Set as Semester Ends

Enrollment reached 6017, the first Collegian of the semester came out, and the Wildcat basketball squad had a record of 8-6 in all games and 2-2 in the Big Seven conference. February

The Wildcats upped their record to 4-2 with successive wins over Colorado and Nebraska by scores of 73-60 and 89-53 to go into undisputed possession of second place.

Plans for a new men's dorm were set with the building site to be on the ground of Elliot courts.

Twirler Karen Blume, Sp Soph; pianist Jim Parker, Sta Soph; and two vocal quartets, the Four Belts and the Nightcaps, were chosen to represent K-State in the Big Three talent show.

The Wildcats defeated the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-45 to boost their record to 5-2 in Big Seven play February 11.

The Union Governing board announced the Dive would be off limits to non-College students.

The announcement that students who received an A grade in Written Communications I and II would be exempt from taking English proficiency exams was made by the Faculty Senate.

A new campus political party, The United Staters, was started with Roger Day, PrV Soph, elected as president.

The K-State Wildcat basketball team got off the bench and scored a 100-82 win over Oklahoma City Chiefs for its seventh straight win.

The Wildcats made it eight straight by belting Nebraska 81-56 and brought the record to 6-2 in Big Seven basketball play.

Peggy Daniels, Eng Soph, was honored by Mortar Board as the freshman girl having the highest grade average.

Dean M. A. Durland of the School of Engineering and Architecture was appointed as chairman of the Athletic council, effective July 1.

The K-State Wildcat basketball team blasted Iowa State 86-77 in overtime to take its ninth straight game and boost its record to 7-2 in conference play February 23.

Flu broke out and as a result K-State students filled Student Health and the old College hospital.

The Wildcats made it ten in a row by defeating Missouri 78-71 on February 25.

Extra ticket-takers were added to the Ahearn field house force for the KU game of March 6.

The seniors chose a flag pole as their gift to the College. March

Iowa State knocked for a loop K-State's chances for a 1st place tie in Big Seven basketball by defeating the Wildcats 69-67 in overtime March 2.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" was presented by the K-State Players March 1 and 2. Len LeGault, PEM Sr, played the lead part.

The influenza epidemic that has affected over 1200 K-State students, was apparently on the way out, Dr. Lafene reported on March 1.

It was decided by Dean of Students Herbert J. Wunderlich that non-students would be denied the use of other students' activity tickets for the KU-K-State game March 6.

A line was set up by the Sig Alphas at 9 a.m. March 6 outside of the Field House for the KU-K-State game that night.

KU beat K-State 64-57 to clinch the Big Seven title and a playoff berth in the NCAA regional basketball tourney.

Mary Ann Chamberlain, EEd Fr, and the Crewcuts highlighted the Union's first birthday celebration March 9.

Van Zile hall was awarded the first Women's Interdorm Scholarship cup for having the highest grade average in the last semester.

Jack Parr and Bob Booser were named to the United Press all-Big Seven basketball team.

St. Pat Jim Moore, EE Jr, and St. Patricia Mel Eaton, Sp Soph, reigned over the K-State Engineer's Open House held March 15 and 16.

The mechanical engineers were given permanent possession of the Steel Ring trophy at the 33rd annual Engineer's Open House for winning the award for three consecutive years.

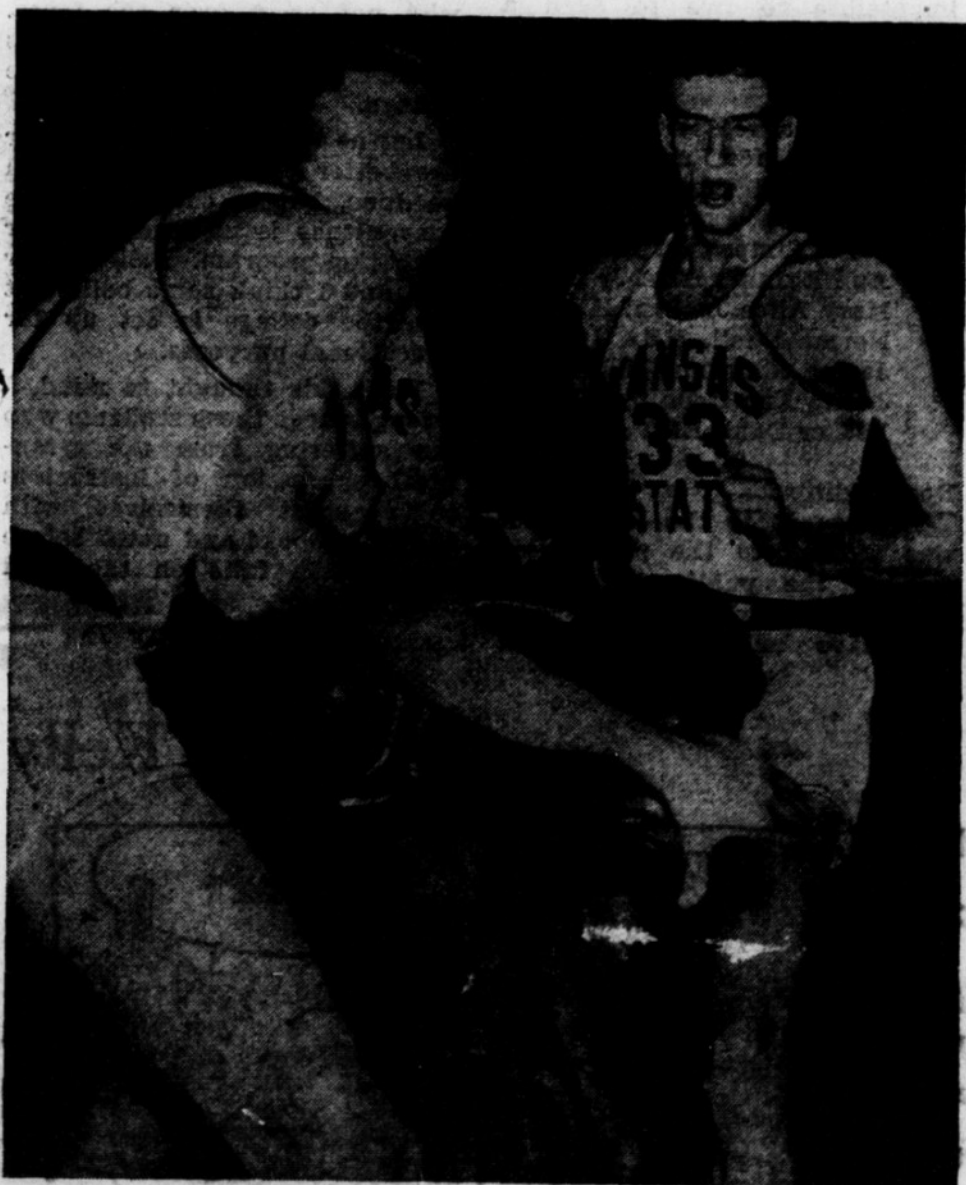

The annual spring football drills got underway with 62 reporting to head coach Bus Mertes.

Y-Orpheum was presented March 22 and 23 with Chi Omega and the Sig Alphas winning the first place trophies.

Seniors Can Get Invites At College Press Office

Twenty-five graduating seniors have not yet picked up their commencement invitations. They may be obtained in the College press office, K 101, according to George Eaton, press director.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST events of the semester was the KU-K-State game at Manhattan. KU's Wilt Chamberlain is surrounded by Roy DeWitz, Bob Booser, and Jack Parr.

Presley's Grip Finally Shaken, 'White Sport Coat' Now Tops

By Sharon Totten

"WHITE SPORT COAT," by Marty Robbins, a complete newcomer to the Manhattan record sales Top 10 list, pushed "All Shook Up," by Elvis Presley out of the No. 1 position this week.

"All Shook Up," which had held the top position in record sales for the past six weeks, is still tops on the jukeboxes, holding the position for the third consecutive week.

"White Sport Coat," which has never appeared on either of the Top 10 lists before, is No. 8 on the jukebox list.

"LITTLE DARLIN," by the Diamonds is still holding the No. 2 position on the jukebox list but has been dropped to No. 3 on the record sales list.

Another fast-moving disc on both lists this week is "School Day," by Chuck Berry. It moved from No. 7 on both lists to No. 4 on the record sales list and No. 3 on the jukebox list.

"I'M SORRY," by the Platters, is still moving up on the list of record sales, but is not showing at all on the jukebox list. It moved from No. 6 to No. 5 on the record sales Top 10 this week.

"I'm Stickin' with You," by Jimmy Bowen, dropped a notch to become No. 6 in record sales this week, while "Party Doll," by Buddy Knox dropped two notches to become No. 6 on the jukeboxes.

Gaining the Top 10 lists for the first time are "Rock A Billy," by Guy Mitchell, which is No. 7 on the jukebox list, and "Shish Kebab," by Ralph Marterie, which is No. 10 on the record sales list.

COLUMBIA NOW HAS something new for jazz lovers. The plan consists of a series of platters called "Jazz Impressions of the United States," of which one can be bought at the regular price and a second at a reduced price.

The series includes discs by such top jazz men as Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Dave Brubeck, and Les Elgart.

The mellow trumpet of Ray Anthony can be heard by way of his new album, "Star Dancing," in Manhattan record stores this week. The album consists of sentimental ballads, some of which are strictly instrumental and the rest vocalized by the Belvederes.

Included in the album are "Moon Over Miami," "Autumn In New York," "My Own True Love," "C'est Si Bon," "I'll Be Seeing You," "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," "Thanks for the Memory," and "Moonlight Dreams."

Los Angeles—Earl Livingston, 33, dashed in and out of a burning apartment house yesterday to aid in the rescue of two mothers and their 11 children.

When all had reached safety, Livingston said, one of the mothers asked him to go into the building once more to save her television set.

He declined.

Washington—The Department of Commerce reports that Americans consumed one billion dollars worth of candy in 1956—four per cent more than the year before.

Chicago—A bit of the past turned up unexpectedly yesterday while workmen were digging the foundation for a new plant.

They came across a high-topped woman's shoe—vintage 1870.

Tallahassee, Fla.—The Florida Legislature has received a bill that would recognize the government's plan to launch the earth satellite from Brevard county.

Rep. Richard Buldrew introduced the bill yesterday to create the city of Satellite Beach in the county.

Columbia, S.C.—Rep. William Dobbins introduced a resolution in the State Legislature to require legislators "having experience in the arts of judo, 'rassling,' boxing and fisticuffs" to insert such information in the legislative manual.

"It behooves the novice and lesser skilled members to have knowledge of such information for their protection," the resolution said.

The resolution, prompted by a fist-fight last week between two Senators, was given a quick one-two and counted out.

Richmond, Ind.—An engineless craft gave an example of "powerless" flying here.

Tom Riff, 16, member of a gliding club, escaped injury, but power was knocked out in thousands of homes when his craft became tangled in high tension wires.

Davenport, Iowa—Scott County Sheriff Peter Wildman has announced plans to paint the Davenport jail cells in delicate shades of pink, green, blue and lavender.

Wildman said it will make the jail more cheerful.

Washington—Dave Beck, possibly on the skids as President of the teamsters union, was recalled to the Senate Rackets committee today to face more than a dozen charges that he misused his power for personal profit.

The once high-riding teamster boss is being wallowed in relays by the committee, the Internal Revenue Service, the AFL-CIO and even his own union.

The committee also may take its first crack at elusive Norman Gessert, a cousin of Mrs. Beck.

Britain Fires H-Bomb

London — The explosion of Britain's first hydrogen bomb, believed bigger than the U.S. blast at the Pacific proving grounds, sparked a move by opposition socialists today to block the rest of the test series.

Atmospheric disturbances recorded by Japanese weathermen in Tokyo suggested the mid-Pacific ocean blast yesterday was bigger than any set off by the United States.

It touched off protests and demonstrations in atom-conscious Japan. Fears were expressed in Tokyo for the safety of Japanese fishermen reported to be in the Central Pacific.

For Seniors

Exhaustion of Intake As Graduation Nears

By JANICE GRAHAM

NOW THAT "SPRING HAS SPRUNG," commencement invitations are in the mail, and seniors are preparing for "final finals," spring graduates are excited, exhausted, and just plain relieved, according to a recent poll.

When asked how it felt to be graduating, the following seniors submitted an opinion.

JIM GRAVES, BA Sr—"I feel nothing, beyond the feeling of relief."

PHILIP PARKER, Agr Sr—"It feels pretty good to be graduating. I've been here four years and haven't gotten very far ahead of an education. I'm pretty anxious to get out and get started on the job."

VERNON BARTLETT, AE Sr—"It's relieving to finally be graduating after years of work. But it's definitely been worth it. It'll be nice to take a breathing spell and relax awhile. I had a wonderful time and wouldn't have missed it for the world."

MARILYN SMITH, Soc Sr—"I think I'm going to realize how fast four years of college have gone, and after graduating, how big and cold the wide world is."

MARVIN SWANSON, His Sr—"I feel pretty good and happy to get started on something else. Contacts with people and friends have been valuable, and I've been able to get a good job, so I feel like the education has paid off."

JAN FOLTZ, FN Sr—"It's a wonderful feeling after four years to be graduating. It's the final goal of a college education and what I've been waiting for. I'm also looking forward to working back east."

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Referring to the letter in Monday's Collegian by H. A. Bullard, Ronnie Erhart, and Calvin G. Weeks, in regard to the "Intake and Exhaust," we would like to say that we are in hearty agreement.

May we add we did not buy or otherwise procure a copy of said magazine, but were unable to remain unacquainted with its contents. Girls in the dorm in the "state of mind" which would predestine them to procure such reading material, bring it with them to lunch and proceed to read it aloud at the table.

Unless one is a hermit (which is hard in a crowded dorm dining hall) it is impossible to not have some idea as to the nature of the magazine, without ever actually reading it ourselves. To more sensitive people of higher standards than sensuality, it is quite embarrassing and even spoils the enjoyment of a good meal.

We do not believe it is necessary to be of "corrupt mind" to have an idea as to the nature of this magazine. It is difficult or impossible to live in such a vacuum or dream existence as to be ignorant of its nature and existence.

We also agree it is poor advertisement for an honorary fraternity and the school as a whole.

Dear Editor:

In regards to the letter that was written to the paper concerning the publication called "Intake and Exhaust."

I have only one comment about this letter and the three gentlemen who wrote it. No one forced them to buy a copy of the paper and I'm sure it was read of their own volition. If they thought the publication was nothing but trash all they would have had to do was refuse to read it. From the sound of their letter they read it.

M. S. Gottschalk, ME Soph

Dear Editor:

When are students going to find out the College is not a place to satisfy their whims.

If one's education is obtained from "boning up for tests," the week before finals, I'm afraid somebody has completely missed the boat and has been gaily chasing it down the stream, taking time to pick frilly flowers, holding hands in the moonlight, etc. only to suddenly become aware they are being left as the boat reaches its destination. They have jumped into a "life-boat" and are trying desperately to stay afloat so they can survive to that final hour.

If other pastures are greener, why not cross over the fence. There are no unbreakable bonds to tie a student to Kansas State college.

Let us change our college for the better only when such can be done, but to change for the convenience is undermining our education program. Believe it or not, and I think some believe it not, the college is set up for educational purposes.

With this thought in mind, I strongly urge those students who are suffering from the tyrannical oppression of instructors to acquaint themselves with their textbooks and notes before the curtain falls on the final act.

Twenty Cats Meet Big 7 Field at NU

A squad of 20 K-State trackmen will journey to the Big Seven track meet this Friday and Saturday at Lincoln, and will face some of the nation's best trackmen.

The feature races of the day will most likely be in the 120-yard high hurdles and 220-yard low hurdles where K-State's Gene O'Connor, Missouri's Charlie Batch and John McIntyre, and Nebraska's Keith Gardner will be fighting it out.

Two Gals' Tilts Won by Forfeit

Both women's intramural softball games were forfeited last night. Southeast hall forfeited to Alpha Chi Omega and Waltheim hall forfeited to Van Zile hall.

The games were forfeited because Southeast and Waltheim did not have enough players available to field teams.

Of this group, Batch has the best time in both races, with a 14.1 in the high hurdles and 23.3 in the low hurdles. O'Connor, too, has a 14.1 high hurdles clocking.

The only other Wildcat who holds a best seasonal mark in the conference is senior sprinter Dolan McDaniel who shares a 9.7 clocking in the 100-yard dash with Larry Chace of Colorado.

Broad jump—Ray Beikman, Ken Nesmith.

High jump—Wes Wilkison.

Pole vault—Karl Lindennuth.

Shot put—Ralph Willard, Ben Grosse.

100-yard dash—Dolan McDaniel.

220-yard dash—McDaniel, Dave Burton, Henry Renollet.

440-yard dash—Burton, Jim Vader, DeLoss Dodds, Renollet.

880-yard run—Tom Rodda, Jesse Unruh, Hubert Guest, Dodds, Lawrence Brady.

120-yard high hurdles—Gene O'Connor, Gary Douppnik.

220-yard low hurdles—O'Connor, Douppnik.

1-mile run—Rodda, Unruh, Guest.

Two-mile run—Arlan Stackley, Rolland Elliott, Terry Turner.

1-mile relay team—Vader, Dodds, Burton, O'Connor, McDaniel, Renollet (four of these).

West Stadium, Beta Sigs Take Intramural Crowns

West Stadium and Beta Sigma Psi wrapped up the independent and fraternity division championships in intramural softball action yesterday.

Beta Sigma Psi, "after trying five years," came up with the fraternity championship. To win it, they edged Pi Kappa Alpha, 4-3, in an extra-inning playoff.

The teams were tied at the end of the five-inning regulation playing distance, 3-3. LeRoy Bieber's extra-inning fly to right field brought DeLoyd Larson in from third with the winning run for the 4-3 Beta Sigma Psi win.

The PIKA's took a first-inning lead by scoring three runs. Bob Roelfsz, pitching for Pi Kappa Alpha, held the Beta Sigs down until the top of the third when they scored three tying runs.

Dick Froberg pitched his sixth winning game of the season without defeat in the contest.

West Stadium won over Jr.

AVMA, 6-2, taking the independent championship.

Dick (Ace) Allen pitched the win. He has hurled seven winning games in a row this season.

The game, played on the military drill field, was stopped when the ROTC band struck up the national anthem. The contest came to a standstill while the players stood at attention.

ROTC drill occupied half of military field while the ballgame took the other half. As one man from West Stadium said, "our right fielder was in ROTC formation most of the time."

Jim Wilson Whips Nats, Leads Sox

By UNITED PRESS

Jim Wilson, a strong, silent pipe-smoking type, wouldn't sit too well with Joe McCarthy, but the White Sox are sitting pretty in first place today because of his three shutouts and 1.04 earned run average, best among all pitchers in the majors.

McCarthy made no bones about his dislike for pipe-smokers. White Sox skipper Al Lopez, on the other hand, wouldn't care if the 35-year-old Wilson puffed on cornsilk as long as he pitches the way he did last night when he stopped the Senators on four hits, 5-0.

Kansas State's Spring Semester Swan Song Sung

IT HAPPENS EVERY SPRING—Among those activities on the campus this spring were the primary and general elections for Student Governing association positions. Students went to the polls to elect Neil Scott Student Body president.

The time has come for the spring Collegian staff to sing its swan song, and in doing so it concludes the review of spring activities that was begun in yesterday's edition.

Yesterday, activities for February and March were reviewed. Activities which have taken place since the beginning of last month are:

April

The K-State baseball team opened the season by defeating Memphis Naval Air Station 6-1 April 2.

The primary elections of the Student Governing association had a good turnout with Neil Scott, Soc. Jr., and Ray North, PrL Jr., coming out winners in their respective parties.

The football team had two days left for spring practice after it whipped the Alumni 26-13 in the annual Alumni-Varsity game April 6.

Larry Karlen, BA Jr., and Jack Hill, ARE Soph were chosen as co-head cheerleaders for next year at the tryouts held April 4.

Nell Scott, Soc. Jr., was chosen as the outstanding member of Student Council in the first recognition banquet given by the Student Governing association.

The general elections of the Student Governing association saw Neil Scott, Soc. Jr., defeat Ray North, PrL Jr., for student body president, the Integrity party elect 16 members to Student Council and the United States party elect six.

Chimes and Mortar Board, junior and senior women's honoraries, collected over $157 for the Endowment association development fund by a D-Day campaign held April 10.

The Home Economics department held its Hospitality Day on April 13 with approximately 1,200 girls attending the exhibits. The nursing exhibit won the first place award of the event.

Connie Morgan, HE Fr., was chosen to represent K-State at the Berkeley, Calif., 12th annual football festival next September at a tea given by the Association of Women Students April 14.

In the Home Economics election, Sylvia Gaddie, TxC Jr., was elected president; Janice Albers, HT Soph, vice-president; and Carrilee Shipps, HT Jr., secretary-treasurer.

The Easter assembly was presented by the K-State Players performing "Everyman."

Greek Week officially started April 24 and extended to the 27. Theta Xi was presented a trophy for having the most participation; Warren Keegan, Ec Sr, Sigma Chi, was first in the "Ugly Man" contest; and Pi Kappa Alpha won the first place trophy in the chariot relays to round out the week's activities.

Jim Bell, TJ Soph, and Hal Mitchell, BA Fr., were chosen as editor and business manager respectively for the summer Collegian.

Apportionment Board Gives Student Activities $209,850

A tentative appropriation of $209,850 was made to 23 student activities at a meeting of the 1957-58 Apportionment board in Anderson hall last night. The amount appropriated, $207,850, was based on an estimated fall enrollment of 6,800 students, but $2,000 was added from the Apportionment board reserve to the original balance.

Final appropriations will be made early in the fall.

While approaching the Athletics department's request for $69,000, a $26,000 increase over last year, the board cut the Student Union's regular 30.3 per cent to 27 per cent of the total apportioned, or $56,178. Of $63,000 given to athletics, $3,000 came from the Apportionment board reserve.

Over the last six years the Athletic department has operated at such a deficit, it was pointed out, that its reserve has dropped from $200,000 to $48,000. In those six years athletics has not received any increase from student activities fees, while other groups have.

Of the $33 activity fee paid in a year by each student ($16.50 each semester), an estimated $8.91 will go to Athletics and $8.91 to the Student Union. These figures are the same because a previous $2,000 addition to the board's beginning balance from its reserve, plus the $3,000 donated specifically to Athletics by the same source, was not included in the original apportionment to Athletics.

Tentative apportionment to the Collegian is $24,595, and to the Royal Purple, $38,990. Those amounts represent $3.73 and $6.17 from each student activity fee, respectively.

Other appropriations made by the board, and amounts taken from each $33 activity fees for them are: band and orchestra, $3,200, 50 cents; choral fund, $2,500, 40 cents; band trip, $500, 8 cents; Kansas State Players, $4,250, 67 cents; Engineer's Open House, $2,250, 36 cents; Hospitality Days, $1,000, 16 cents; debate and oratory, $4,250, 67 cents; judging teams, $5,050, 79 cents;

Student Governing association, $4,707, 75 cents; Religious Coordinating council, $560, 8 cents; Rifle team, $500, 8 cents; and radio and television, $625, 10 cents.

New groups receiving money from the Apportionment board are the Associated Women Students organization and the School of Veterinary Medicine, for a Veterinary Medicine Open House. AWS will receive $500 (8 cents from the student fee) and $365 was appropriated for the Veterinary Medicine Open House. Six cents will come from the $33 fees for the latter.

Bill Stolzer, BA Sr., has been named outstanding Air Force cadet for '57. This and other awards were presented yesterday afternoon at a special ceremony in the Military Science building.

Although the awards were scheduled to be presented as a part of the annual AFROTC review, the review was cancelled because of rain.

Rosemary Derks, Eng. Jr., received both a traveling and a permanent trophy for serving as honorary cadet colonel of Angel Flight, AFROTC honorary for women.

Gaylord Stunkel, CE Jr., was recognized for scholastic standing in engineering. He received a gold medal with a gold replica key from the Society of American Military Engineers.

Jerome Ewald, EE Sr., was recognized by the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics association for leadership, high moral character, and activities in electrical engineering. He received a gold medal.

Roland Turner, ME Soph, was recognized for constant devotion to duty and high academic standing. He received the ROTC medal of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Gold medals for scholarship went to Raymond Stratton, AgE Soph, and Larry Van-Pelt, ME Soph. Silver medals went to John Mock, EE Fr., and George Phipps, PrV Fr. These were given by the Chicago Tribune.

Harry Shank, Sp Sr., was recognized for distinguished service as cadet wing commander. Estel Schultis, AH Sr.; and Robert Quanz, AH Sr.; were recognized as group commanders.

Danny Burgess, AgE Sr., received a silver bracelet for the best presentation of an air power theme.

John Ricklefs, LDs Sr., and Gerald Smith, PrL Jr., respectively were recognized as AFROTC senior and junior with the highest grade average. They received models of F-101 airplanes.

Airplanes for straight A's in ROTC went to Burgess, Rockwell Greene, Ch Jr.; and Phillip Wright, GA Jr.

A model of a T-37 was given to Eldon Stout, BA Jr., for being the first cadet to complete flight training. John Poelma, AH Sr., was recognized as the first cadet to solo.

Members of the championship rifle team, Thomas Coblenz, Zoo Soph, and William Shilling, CE Fr., received the Air Force championship team medal and the Department of Defense championship medal. Coblenz was given an F-102 model as the outstanding cadet in Air Science II qualified for flight training.

Steel Ring Suspended

Steel Ring, honorary engineering fraternity, was suspended until the fall of 1958 by the Student Activities Board in a special meeting last night in the Student Union.

This means Steel Ring will lose all rights and privileges as a student organization during the coming school year. It cannot meet, elect officers, use Union facilities, or carry on outside activities, such as fund raising projects, publications, or the scheduling of any events.

OUTSTANDING AFROTC CADET—Cadet Colonel Leo W. Stolzer, right, holds the desk model of a Boeing B-52 bomber that was presented to him as outstanding AFROTC cadet by Major Poindexter yesterday afternoon in an award presentation in the military science building.

Next Greek Week To Be in October

Greek Week for next year will be from October 23 to 26, according to Pat Roberts, IFC publicity chairman.

It is being planned in conjunction with the "Favorite Man On Campus" contest and the Home Ec Snowball dance.

Spring Collegians End; Summer's Begin June 6

Today's issue of the Collegian is the last issue of the 1957 spring semester. The first summer issue of the Collegian will be June 6, according to C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications.

SMU Kappa Sig Quartet Find Hearse is Deadwood

By Shari Shellenberger

THE ASSOCIATED College Press reports that four Kappa Sigs at Southern Methodist university have a hearse for sale.

Last November they bought the 1948 black Cadillac hearse for $200 because they wanted a "different" mode of transportation. (They first thought about getting a fire engine, but found the prices too blazing high, according to the SMU Campus.)

Now in debt, the Kappa Sig quartet is willing to sell for $150. They say the hearse is in perfect condition and will carry 12 passengers.

Coeds have refused to ride in it, they said despite the tasteful midnight blue interior decorations.

FOR THE PRE-MED student comes this list of medical slang (for use when M.D.'s are attained), taken from the Oregon State College Daily Barometer:

CORPUSCLE—an officer in ROTC.
NASAL—pertaining to the Navy.
TONSIL—decoration used on Christmas trees.
DISEASED—dead.
CYST—abbreviation for sister.
SCAPEL—top of head.

A FLINT, MICHIGAN student recently noticed his home town was having an election for highway inspector. So on his ballot, the lad "upped and wrote" in his own name for the position.

Waking up the next morning, he found that he had won the election by one vote. Stiff competition!

NEWEST ORGANIZATION on the University of Oklahoma campus, according to the University of Oklahoma Daily Eavesdropper column, is MARTYR BORED.

Martyr Bored is especially designed for bored martyrs. The president will be elected weekly on the basis of a contest. The person who can tell the longest saddest story the most convincingly gets the office for the week.

The organization takes as its purpose the encouragement of most interesting sad stories.

A NEW TYPE OF DANCE and meal was introduced recently at the University of Colorado.

Called the Dawn-Yawn Dance and the Um-Yum Breakfast, the festivities called for students to "dress in pajamas, pull their dates out of bed before 6 a.m., dance and eat a hearty breakfast" in the Union ballroom.

And all this on a Friday morning with classes before and after!

FRATERNITIES AT THE University of Massachusetts have entitled their most recent flings "Clean-up Hops."

When coeds arrive at these hops, someone hands them a broom, apportioning them a messy floor, and they go to work.

The couple that collects the most dirt gets a prize. (Undoubtedly the prize would be a dustpan, comments the Daily Californian.)

THIS CONCLUDES "Over the Ivy Line" for this semester. Hope you've enjoyed the bits from other campuses. And best of luck on the finals!

An Editorial

Bell Will Ring June Sixth, For Hot Weather Collegian

AS THE SEMESTER DRAWS to an end, it is time to be initiating a new Collegian staff for the summer school paper.

The summer school paper is published weekly, on Thursdays and will be edited by Jim Bell, TJ Soph, who is presently sports editor of the Collegian.

Jim has been working for several weeks outlining a staff that will be in summer school and has come up with several students who have worked previously on the Collegian.

THEY ARE ALL ENTHUASTIC about their coming project and promise to put out a paper which will be of interest to the summer school students. The first edition will be June 6.

Dick Haines, TJ Jr, will be assistant editor in charge of the editorial page and Sandy Wilson, TJ Soph, will be assistant editor in charge of assignments. Sandy will also do an Ivy Line column for the editorial page. Sports editor will be Jay Workman, TJ Soph.

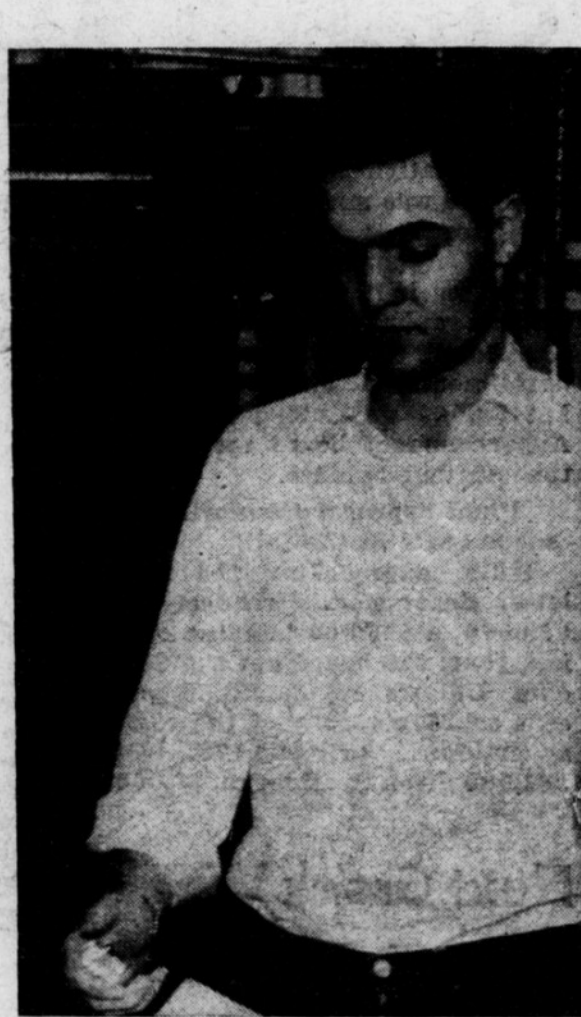

Lance Gilmore, TJ Jr, will be feature editor.

Jim hopes to include a lot of pictures and to feature a magazine page in every edition. He will include some world news but mostly stories and news about the campus.

Jim and his staff will make their office in the luxury of air conditioning, Kedzie 103B. They promise to put out a lively and interesting paper and we're sure they will.

"THOUGH PARTING CALLS us, fond memories remain; our love for K-State will always be the same." For many of us this may be our last week in a college classroom. It may be quite a change after 17 years or so of school.

We will have many pleasant memories of our days on the Hill and hope that many times in the coming years we may return, not only in memory, but in reality.

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to Bebe Lee, a truly great director of athletics. Though he has been at K-State only about a year, he has talked the apportionment board out of a 50 per cent increase for athletics.

Now K-State can go back East and hire even bigger and better football players so we can win at least half of our four home games. We can pour more and more student funds into the bottomless pit that supposedly produces big-time football and basketball. Perhaps there even will be a little money left over for baseball and track scholarships.

The amazing fact is that the Athletics department was able to plead lack of funds, and gain a large increase, without ever showing its other set of books—the set of books that contains payments to players by alumni.

Perhaps the car dealers and wheat farmers now won't be so heavily taxed to support K-State athletics, but what happens to the smaller activities?

This is the INTEGRITY party? Perhaps it needs a new name.

This is STUDENT government? Perhaps it needs a new name also.

Darrel Miller, TJ Sr

Dear Editor:

One can only hope that, in view of the fact that the Apportionment board last night increased the allocation of student funds to athletics by nearly 50 per cent, the Athletics department will show equally good faith with the students and reward them with more than 4 of 10 football games at home, fewer complaints about the use of student activity tickets, fewer plans to hamper students in attending important basketball games, fewer free seats for non-students in the student section, more than one home track meet, home baseball games closer than a mile from the campus, fewer athletic contests scheduled during student holidays, etc., etc., etc., and that the athletic department will wisely apply this extra student money to its one half-million dollar budget in defraying the cost of its 100-odd athletic scholarships, three cars, Orange Bowl safaris, and other miscellaneous expenses with the result that all students will be benefited more than they would have been had the money been given by the Apportionment board to other various and assorted campus groups requesting it.

Group Demands Action On Beck's Union Dismissal

Compiled from United Press
By KEITH KEMPER

Washington — Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets committee called today for "immediate action" by the teamsters union to decide on dumping Dave Beck as president.

McClellan, who angrily dismissed the portly teamster president from the witness chair yesterday with a blast at his "rascality," told newsmen he believes Beck has "flagrantly betrayed" the trust union members reposed in him.

The committee was through with Beck, at least for the time being, after charging he misused his position in 52 ways for personal profit and "took, not borrowed" more than $300,000 in union funds.

Beck, in refusing to answer the charges, ran his total of fifth amendment pleas before the committee to more than 200.

In tidying up the case the committee planned public questioning of Norman Gessert, possibly today. Gessert, a cousin of Mrs. Beck, was missing for weeks until a U.S. Marshal ran him down in an automobile chase in Ellenburg, Wash. He was hauled before the committee yesterday but was granted a reprieve to confer with the attorney he had just hired.

Farm Plan in Trouble

Washington—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's farm program today appeared to be in for further trouble in the House just as things began looking up in the Senate.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture committee said Congress will turn down Benson's request for authority to reduce price supports on basic crops.

Collegian SPORTS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

5—Friday, May 17, 1957

Roger Myers

At Our Discretion

Jim Bell

This issue wraps up the Spring semester's Collegian. However, it doesn't quite finish activities like finals and athletics.

Today and tomorrow K-State teams will be in action in the conference spring sports meet at Lincoln. That includes the Cat tennis, golf, and track teams.

In addition, Coach Ray Wautier's baseball squad will attempt to pull itself out of the Big Seven cellar when it meets Colorado in a three-game series here.

In Kedzie the other day, we became involved in a bull session (when we should have been studying for finals) that rehearsed the semester's athletics at K-State.

We remembered a few guys with a lot of guts who finished second in the Big Seven basketball race. After spotting the rest of the conference a no wins, two losses lead, the Cats almost pulled the greatest comeback in Big Seven history.

Kind of reminded us of the New York Giants pennant win in 1951. But then, that's the way the ball bounced—K-State didn't win a conference championship. Kansas did. Wilt Chamberlain and the Jayhawks followed their Big Seven title by whipping every opponent they faced in the NCAA tourney except that last big one, North Carolina.

And now Wilt's suspected of wanting to make money with his basketball talent. Can't blame the guy. If Wilt does turn pro, it will change the Big Seven basketball picture.

We won't regret seeing Wilt leave, but we'd be tempted to be a little bit sorry. We're from Kansas State, and we'd like a lot to beat Kansas WITH Wilt—a harder thing to do, if he leaves.

Anyway, it's nearly done now, but there'll be other times...

It's been a short semester for us, and we're really a little bit sorry to see it go. We've seen a lot happen—everything from 18-hit winning pitching in a girls' intramural softball contest to the running of trackmen like Tom Rodda and Gene O'Connor.

Anyway, it's nearly done now, but there'll be other times...

Sig Alphas, Jr. Vets Are Named As Intramural Champs for 1957

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Jr. AVMA have been officially declared intramural champions in the fraternity and independent divisions, respectively, of the 1956-57 school year, by Frank Myers, director of intramurals.

With all contests played but finals in handball and horseshoes in both divisions, each team leads its nearest rival by more than 100 points.

Present point totals for the top ten teams in the independent division are Jr. AVMA, 711; West Stadium, 576½; OK House, 503; Rho Alphas, temporary total of 448 until finals of horseshoes; House of Williams, 420; YMCA, 362; Newman Club, 347; House of Brec, 278; Wesley Foundation, 274; and Diciples Student Fellowship, 196.

The Sig Alphas have 800 points in the fraternity division. Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi are tied for second and third places with 704½ points apiece pending the outcome of the handball finals. Sigma Phi Epsilon is fourth with 689 points. Delta Tau Delta is fifth with a total of 650½ points.

Others in the top 10 are Pi Kappa Alpha with 649 points, Sigma Nu with 567, Beta Sigma Psi with 553, Kappa Sigma with 455, and Alpha Gamma Rho with 438.

Kaye Aye Leads Women Athletes

The K-State Women's Athletic association elected Kaye Aye as president for next year at a recent meeting.

Other officers are vice-president, Gayle Coppoc; secretary, Donna Geis; treasurer, Clareen Dodds; publicity chairman, Elsie Johnston; intramurals chairman, Kathy Horridge; assistant intramurals chairman, Ilene Rezek.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian classified.

Cat Golfers Invade Lincoln For Big Seven Meet Today

K-State may have a difficult time matching last season's third place conference finish when Wildcat golfers start firing in the Big Seven conference meet at Lincoln today and tomorrow.

The 54-hole tournament will begin with two 18-hole rounds Friday and finish with one round Saturday.

Although the Cats had an 8-5-1 record this season, they only managed a 2-3-1 reading against conference opponents. This is not as bad as it looks as two of the losses were to KU, one of the leagues strongest teams. K-State also lost to Iowa State. The Cats won from Missouri and won one meet and tied one in two contests with Nebraska.

Oklahoma won the title last year and will be a strong contender again along with KU.

Payment Begins

OMAHA, Neb. — (U.P.) — The Nebraska Sheet Metal Co. received a letter from the thief after the firm was burglarized. The letter contained 50 cents and read: "For tools taken." The company figures it will take the burglar some time to finish payment at that rate. The tools taken were valued at $200.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian want ad.

Betas, Rho Alphas Are Winners In Intramural Tennis Doubles

Beta Theta Pi and Rho Alphas are the intramural tennis doubles champs in their divisions after recent victories in the finals.

The Betas' George Phipps and Tim Grace defeated Sigma Nu's twosome of Larry Nafzinger and Leo Gray, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Richard Franz and Harold Reimer for the Rho Alphas beat William Bales and John Watt of Jr. AVMA in two sets, 6-4, 6-4.

All intramural contests are now completed except for the finals in both divisions in handball and horseshoes. They will be played in the near future.

In finals of fraternity handball are Dick Corbin and Sonny Ballard of Beta Theta Pi against Charles Sprinkle and Warren Bullock of Sigma Chi.

Richard Bair and John Watt of Jr. AVMA are scheduled to play Robert Cleveland and Richard Talbot of Jr. AVMA for the title in independent handball.

The independent horseshoe finals will pit William Hecht and Wayne Haesemeyer of Rho Alphas against Clarence Keim and Alvin Ballou of Phi Epsilon Kappa.

Allen Wiechert and Marlon Brack of Alpha Kappa Lambda will battle Raleigh Flanders and James Brown of Farm House for the fraternity horseshoes championship.

Netmen Take 10-4 Record To Lincoln

After finishing with a 10-4 record in dual competition, K-State's tennis team will be in Lincoln today and tomorrow for the Big Seven conference meet at Nebraska university.

K-State finished sixth in the meet last year but coach Carl Finney thinks the Cats should be better this year.

"We should finish near the top if we get good performances from the boys," he declared.

K-State had a 4-2 record against Big Seven opponents during the dual season.

Finney rates Oklahoma, which finished third in the Big Seven last year, as "the definite favorite." Oklahoma defeated defending champion Colorado, 6-1, during the dual season. The Sooners also have Barry Walraven, last year's conference singles champion.

K-State entries will be Dick Circle, Allen Chaplin, Jim Holwerda, Keith Andler, and Eddie Wallace.

loves to cut loose and cover the miles!

If you're looking for a real "escape artist," a car that loves to step out and get away from it all—well, it just happens that Chevy was born with that urge.

If there ever was a car that loved to cut loose and cover the miles, it's this one. Yet it's so easy to handle that it even makes city traffic seem a bit lighter and parking places a bit bigger.

Chevy's pretty easygoing out on the highway too. Not pokey. Far from it. You find, for example, there isn't a hill around that can make it breathe hard —not with Chevrolet's high-performance V8 on the pulling end. You've got up to 245* horsepower here for the biggest helping of driving pleasure found in the low-price field!

Chevy's new Positraction rear axle (optional at extra cost) adds still more pleasure. It delivers greater power to the wheel that grips, not the wheel that slips. You have surer control and better traction on any road surface.

All-Faith Chapel's Importance Has Expanded with Building

For the past year, the World War II All-Faith Memorial chapel, dedicated April 15, 1956, has come to mean more to students, faculty, and visitors than a just monument to the 5,000 K-Staters who served in World War II—and especially to the more than 200 who died in service.

This chapel adjoining Danforth chapel has come to be the center of all religious activities on campus. Dr. William C. Tremmel, assistant professor and director of student religious activities, says, "We hope to greatly expand the use of it in several ways."

Beginning this summer, the chapel will be used by religious foundations for a co-operative Sunday morning church school program.

For students in classes this summer, the chapel will be a meeting place where they can attend the Queller lectures on religion, a series of six lectures on the New Testament.

Dr. Samuel S. George, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Manhattan, will speak on "Selection of the Books of the New Testament" on June 12.

Dr. Walton S. Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church of Manhattan, will give the June 10 program on "The Synoptic Gospels: Mark, Matthew, Luke." On June 26, Dr. Emerson Abendroth, pastor to Presbyterian students at K-State and director of Westminster foundation, will speak on "The Letters of St. Paul."

On July 17, Dr. Leslie Kingsbury, pastor of the First Christian church of Manhattan, will discuss "Epistles and Homilies." On July 23, Dr. Tremmel will talk on "The Revelation of John of Patmos."

Seating 450 in colorful red auditorium-type chairs, the chapel serves as a multi-purpose building. Its clerestory windows and chancel, which is a simple area three steps above the low point of the auditorium, retains the characteristic of a religious structure.

The chapel makes provisions for many types of programs and activities which contribute to spiritual and cultural guidance. Weddings, installations, an ROTC ritual, the inter-denominational formal initiation with a religious meeting on Christian vocations, and the Miniwanca club Christmas vespers have given programs in the Memorial chapel.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower performed the groundbreaking ceremonies for the chapel in 1947, but in 1950 all civilian building was halted when the Korean war began. Now the building stands in its native limestone joined to the Danforth chapel with an entrance foyer.

Other than the services mentioned, the chapel houses the central office of the Religious Coordinating council, the office of the Director of Religious Activities, and a receptionist's office for the secretary. As soon as enough funds are raised, the chapel will have a new pipe organ.

DR. WILLIAM G. TREMMEL, director of religious student activities, stands in the altar area of the All-Faith Memorial chapel on the campus. The chapel has been completed only one year.

Enrollment Figure Tops Since Summer of 1949

Enrollment for the summer session, expected to reach more than 1,750, is the highest since a record

2,240 in 1949, according to E. M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar.

A Monday enrollment of 1,572 and a current figure of 1,640 after late enrollees, represents a 3 per cent increase over last summer's totals.

"We had thought we'd have slightly more than a year ago," Gerritz said. "This is about what we expected."

Final totals will not be known until about July 25, Gerritz said. By that date, figures from the three 3-week sessions which are included in the totals, will be in.

Monday evening figures forecast near a 3-1 ratio of men to women. There were 435 women and 1,137 men registered.

By schools, the largest gain was in engineering. The engineers showed a 10 per cent increase, while agriculture jumped 6 per cent and arts and sciences, 5 per cent.

Other than the graduate school which had 450 enrollees, the junior class was the largest with a total of 380.

Union To Offer Varied Slate For Hot Weather Relaxation

Summer school students with leisure time will find no lack of activity at the Student Union this summer.

Free movies, bridge classes, and informal dances will be featured during June and July for the students' entertainment, and jazz sessions and punch hours will occur frequently.

Students interested in taking bridge lessons are asked to register in the activities center of the Union. The fee for these lessons will be $2 per person, and classes will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday for seven weeks.

The first class will meet June 11 in the Walnut dining room. If enough students register for the class, the class may be divided into beginning and advanced sections. In this case the advanced class will meet on Thursday evenings at the same time.

A new cinemascope screen is being installed in the little theatre. The screen will be ready for the first free Union movie next Monday at 7:30 p.m. "A Star is Born" will be the feature and the short subject will be "Motor Mania."

In July, 10 movies will be shown. Popular movies which have been shown previously in Manhattan theaters will be presented on Monday evenings. On Wednesday evenings, pictures which are based on classics will be featured.

The first all-college mixer of the summer will be held Friday at 8 a.m. on the Union B deck. Music will be furnished by a group from the band music camp being conducted on campus. They will be led by Matt

More Money Approved For Housing KS Families

A $2,100,000 loan to finance the construction of additional married student housing at Kansas State college was given final approval yesterday, R. F. Gingrich, head of the physical plant, announced.

Gingrich said the loan is to be used to build married student housing for 264 student families. The project calls for 11 L-shaped two-story apartment buildings identical to the eight already occupied.

There will be 16 one-bedroom and 8 two-bedroom apartments in each building.

"Although the money is now available the final drawing of the loan agreement has to be signed by the government and by the Board of Regents," Gingrich said.

A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing, said that he should receive the loan agreement in a few days and that it will then be forwarded to the Board of Regents for approval.

Young Takes Position As Acting A&S Dean

Paul M. Young became acting dean of the School of Arts and Sciences June 1, according to Arthur D. Weber, acting president.

Young, associate dean of Arts and Sciences, is taking over from John C. Weaver, who has resigned to become dean of the University of Nebraska graduate school.

A member of the K-State staff since 1947, Young has taught in the mathematics department, served as acting dean of students for the 1953-54 school year, and since 1954 has been director of the K-State summer school.

Dean Young says, "We're always busy in my office; especially right now when we are concerned with summer school and also the School of Arts and Sciences." Some of Dean Young's daily activities include student problems, enrollment, faculty problems, and budget operations which concern faculty salaries and financing of various departments.

The position of Dean of Women left vacant by Dean Helen Moore is expected to be filled by early August. At the present time, Mrs. Mary Gibson, director of Van Zile hall, will carry out the duties of Dean of Women.

During the month of July Mrs. Virginia Smith, director of Northwest hall, will take over the position's duties.

Strah Twins To Reign Over 10-State Area Show

By DICK HAINES

Charlotte and Charlene Strah, K-State twin coeds, have been named Twin Queens to reign over the Rocky Mountain Oil show to be held in Casper, Wyoming in September.

Two other K-State sets of twins were chosen as finalists. They were Joyce and Janice Graham and Doris and Donna Geis.

Twins were selected from 42 sets entered in the contest from 10 states. Twins over 18 years of age in the states of Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming competed in the contest.

The contest judges were Paul and Jim Conrad, twin brothers and nationally-known artists. Paul is an editorial artist while Jim creates advertising art.

Announcement of the Twin Queen finalists was made by George Goodin, president of the Rocky Mountain Oil Show which is expected to attract more than 200 industry-wide exhibitors and 50,000 visitors.

The twins said they were certainly looking forward to the trip they will take to the ten capitals listed in the contest.

"It still doesn't seem possible we really won," Charlotte said. "We were so excited."

The Strah twins have dark hair and blue eyes. They each weigh 105 pounds and are five feet, two inches tall.

In announcing the Twin Contest, Goodin said, "While most contests offer only one title, we decided to have two queens since the Rocky Mountain Oil Show promises to be such a major attraction for both the general public and for hundreds of people associated with the oil industry throughout the country."

The co-queens, will serve as goodwill ambassadors to various Rocky Mountain states before the show in September. They will be outfitted in specially-designed wardrobes depicting the oil industry.

THE STRAH TWINS, Charlotte and Charlene, will reign over a 10-state area oil show. The K-State coeds were picked from 42 sets of twins competing for the dual queenship.

'Welcome, I Think,' Sez Collegian Editor

DID YOU EVER start to do something and then stop short, not sure how to attack your problem?

Well, that's my situation right now. This (I don't care what they say) is a welcome-to-Kansas State-from-the-Collegian editorial. The logical (and over-used) thing to say is, "Boy, are we glad to see all your smiling faces," or "We're anticipating a great summer session with all of you."

Greetings like these (and there are a million of them) are fine, but how can I be glad to see people I don't know, have never heard of, and have no reason to want to see? Or how can I anticipate a great summer session with people I know nothing about?

AT ANY RATE, the Collegian hopes you have a real fine summer all by yourself or with a company you pick. (That, we can justifiably say.)

And officially, welcome to K-State from the Collegian staff.

The Collegian will be available every Thursday morning during the summer session. We will try to keep you posted so far as campus news goes. In addition, we'll try to add spice in the form of feature and picture stories. We reserve the editorial page for opinions and views as well as "Ivy Line" and "Top Ten Tune" columns.

ALL OF YOU may not agree with us all the time (or even part of the time), or you may feel that we need to focus our attention on a pet gripe of yours.

If either is the case, come in and see us, or better yet, write us a letter-to-the-editor. We will generally follow a print-everything policy, although we reserve the right to edit letters to Collegian standards.

Letters must be signed and not more than 250 words long.

The Collegian office is in Kedzie, 103b (air-conditioned) so drop in anytime with letters, gripes, or whatever.

IF YOU HAVE an item that you feel should be in the paper, let us know. Club officers, weddings, pinnings, meetings—all pertinent, and we'd like to have them. Bring your item in or call extension 283.

Any student interested in reporting for the Collegian should contact a staff member today. Besides myself, Dick Haines, TJ Sr., Sandy Wilson, TJ Soph, Lance Gilmore, TJ Jr., and Jay Workman, TJ Soph, are staff members.

Dick and Sandy are assistant editors. Lance is feature editor, and Jay will keep an eye on the sports scene.

IF YOU'RE WONDERING what to do with yourself this summer don't ask me, 'cause I sure don't know. (My mother told me it was time I started studying.)

But we do have a Student Union of which all K-Staters must be proud. It has snack bar, cafeteria, television, hi fi music, cards, pool, ping-pong, bowling, chess, checkers, and lounges (to say nothing of the things I omitted).

Besides the Union, the College owns tennis courts, and the city owns a swimming pool, a park, and a zoo.

If you're still wondering what to do, you'll have to uncover something on your own. I'm about typed out.

Noticed some fine chuck holes in the Union parking lot the other day. Chuck holes are pretty much persistent—awful hard to get rid of. But, on the other hand, you have to admire all those efforts to get rid of them.

WITH MY LAST BREATH, my compliments to those of you who were in school during the semester just completed. You displayed enough smart to keep off most of the grass long enough for many of the cowpaths to disappear.

But there are still a few embarrassingly bare grass plots—notably, just north of Kedzie hall. For cripes sakes, children, keep off it!!—Jim Bell.

Oklahoma Coed Busts Out All Over After Hassle with Plate Glass Door

By Sandy Wilson

JUNE IS BUSTIN' OUT all over and so was one coed at the University of Oklahoma after an unfortunate hassle with a plate-glass door at her dormitory.

The coed had just returned from a Sunday night date and as her escort opened the outer door, a "June bug" flew into her face, frightening her and causing her to run into one of the closed inner doors. The coed was reported in good condition at a Norman hospital where she underwent blood transfusions and two hours' surgery for a slashed artery in her leg.

For you summer school students who are faced with the age-old problem of finding "something to do," a group of University of North Dakota collegiates have hit upon a solution that is both healthful and wholesome.

"MILK PICNICS" are the fad this season and just the thing to provide entertainment while on "excursions to the great out-of-doors."

Quite a change from the old college standby, it's been found that a milk picnic that everyone sings on key, the uke player doesn't miss a chord, every guy stays with the girl he came with, the fire's built neatly (and no one falls into it), and everyone goes home about ten." Sounds like fun. Anyone know where we can get a cow?

Campus cops at the University of Indiana were obliged to play host to a mysterious beauty recently after they confiscated her from an ardent IU freshman.

It seems the freshman and his pal, both red-blooded young college men of the old school, had acquired a manikin (let's not call her a dummy) from an Evansville department store and decided to have some fun with it—I mean her.

DRESSED ONLY IN A TOWEL, the lovely lady was escorted out to "Trees Center" where our young swain proceeded to make mad, passionate love to her on the lawn. Presently, two campus policemen rode by in a car and stopped when they spotted the man and his manikin running through the woods.

Sad to say, milady was unchivalrously abandoned to the cops and still awaits claiming at the campus safety division.

Acting President

'Dad' Weber Extends Greetings To KS Summer Session Students

It is a special pleasure for me to welcome students to Kansas State college for the summer session and the summer workshops.

I judge that a large percentage of our summer students are among those individuals who get a lot of joy from sheer learning. The concentrated nature of the summer school effort with its every-day class schedule and smaller class sections has definite advantages for that type student. But college at K-State, even during the summer, is not all work and no play. You will find that the college, with the community, provides well-rounded recreational, social, and religious programs especially for summer school students.

Likewise, we hope you will become acquainted with the many facets of Kansas State college. We think it is a truly quality institution in the arts, literature, and music as well as in the many sciences.

I should like to take this opportunity to congratulate the many persons in leading and other public service vocations who are using their vacations to improve themselves and the work they do for the public. Their sacrifices are appreciated I'm sure, both here on the campus and throughout the state.

We hope you will take advantage of the opportunities afforded you here this summer to enrich your lives through study, discussion with your instructors, and through contacts made in campus recreational and social activities.—Arthur D. Weber, acting President.

K-STATERS FILL OUT IBM cards during enrollment Monday. Of a total enrollment to date of 1,640 students, 1,572 enrolled and registered Monday. According to Registrar E. M. Geritz, enrollment is expected to exceed 1,750 when final figures are tabulated—the largest summer school enrollment at K-State since 1949.

Quelle Religious Lectures Begin Next Wednesday Night in Chapel

Next Wednesday K-State will present, as part of its summer program, the first in a series of Quelle Lectures in religion. The lectures will be each Monday evening, starting June 12, at 7 p.m. in the air-conditioned All-Faith Memorial chapel.

Sponsored by the Department of Student Religious activities, the Quelle Lectures will be concerned with the New Testament, and will deal with the origin and meaning of living religions. Guest lecturers from Manhattan churches and the College will conduct the programs.

The first lecture, on June 12, will be "The Selection of the Books of the New Testament" by Dr. Samuel George. Dr. George is pastor of Manhattan's First Presbyterian church.

June 19, Dr. Walton S. Cole will discuss "The Synoptic Gospels: Mark, Matthew and Luke." Dr. Cole is pastor of the First Methodist church of Manhattan, and is president of the Kansas Association for Mental Health. "The Gospel of St. John" will be the Rev. Roy Turner's lecture topic on June 26. The Reverend Turner is Episcopal Chaplain at Kansas State.

Dr. Emerson Abendroth will speak, on July 10, on "The Letters of St. Paul." Dr. Abendroth is director of Westminster foundation and pastor to Presbyterian students at K-State.

The lecturer on July 17 will be Dr. Leslie Kingsbury, and his topic is "The General Epistles and Homilies." Dr. Kingsbury is pastor of the First Christian church in Manhattan.

Doctorate Is Now Offered In Psychology at Kansas State

In action taken this week, the State Board of Regents authorized Kansas State College to offer a Ph.D. in psychology. The Ph.D. degree is now offered here in 16 areas.

Two professional specializations will be offered in work leading to the Ph.D. A. H. Brayfield, head of the Department of Psychology, said. These will be industrial psychology and its related field, counseling psychology.

The first year's work for the Ph.D. in psychology will be similar to that for the M.S., but second year work will consist of more advanced courses and seminars, and emphasis will be on theory and research methods and findings.

This extension of the graduate program should enable K-State to more adequately meet the ever-increasing demands of industry and government for research and consultation on manpower problems.

Men's Engagement Rings May Be in Style Soon

By SANDY WILSON
Girls, look before you leap. According to the nation's top jewelers, it may not be long before it will be customary for the bride-to-be to shell out for a diamond "acceptance ring" in return for her own rock.

The acceptance ring is worn on the third finger of the left hand until the trip to the altar—then it is switched to the right hand.

Henry Peterson, president of the Feature Ring company which inaugurated the idea several months ago, says the idea is catching on fast.

"A man loves a diamond ring; it inflates his ego—reflects his success," Peterson reports.

Regionally, the Westerners go for the more ornate rings while the Easterners stick with the familiar, conservative styles.

Up against a large segment of the male population better known as the playboy set—who don't like having their "style" cramped—the jewelers aren't worried. "If a man insists on cheating, the ring comes off easily," Peterson advises.

Summer Will See Changes As Buildings Go Up at KS

"There'll be some changes made" will be a fitting theme around the college this summer as new buildings are planned and completed, and old ones get face-liftings. According to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of the Physical Plant, appropriations to the Educational Building fund by the 1955 and 1957 legislatures are being put to use rapidly.

Three buildings are under construction at the present time and should be completed soon. The animal husbandry barn, replacing the barn which was destroyed by fire two years ago, should be completed by July 15, and the animal industries building is scheduled to be finished by August 1. The agricultural engineering addition to Seaton hall will be under construction until July, 1958.

Recreation Center in Anderson hall will disappear this summer and the Registrar's office will take its place. The south basement of Anderson will be remodeled for the Placement Bureau. These offices will be ready by September.

The partial remodeling of Thompson hall for the use of the Geology and Geography department will be finished in about 15 days. The building cannot be completely redone until the home economics classes which meet in Thompson can be moved to the new home economics building. The plans and specifications for the home economics building will go to the state architect by the end of this week.

Plans are being made for a bridge and walkway from the parking lot west of the Stadium over to the Union site. The bridge is being built with the hope of encouraging students to use the parking lot. It will be ready for use in September.

Final approval has been given by the Housing Home Finance agency on a $2,100,000 loan for the construction of 264 additional apartments for married students. Plans for the apartments are virtually complete and will go to the contractors by August 1.

A new men's residence hall is in the planning stage and should be ready for occupancy by September, 1959. The dormitory will house 600 men and will offer feeding facilities. Estimated cost of the building is over $2,000,000.

Preliminary plans for the new Student Health center are being drawn by Charles and John Shaver of Salina, and final test drillings are being made at the building site.

Programming for the addition to Kedzie hall will go to the state architect for assignment to an associate architect by the first of next week.

Appropriations were also made by the 1957 legislature for an addition to classrooms and office spaces to Eisenhower, for the completion of remodeling and the equipping of Vet Science hall, and for conversion of the meats laboratory into a hard winter wheat laboratory.

Evening Assemblies On Tap for Summer

Four evening assembly programs will be offered this summer in place of the 9:30 a.m. assemblies presented during the regular term.

The series includes the du-piano team of Stechler and Horowitz, which will be here Tuesday, June 18 at 8 p.m. in the Chapel; and the Irish Players, Dermot McNamara and Michael Conaree, who will offer selections from Wilde's, "The Importance of Being Earnest," and Shaw's "Pygmalion" along with two other selections. They will appear Tuesday, June 25, at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium.

A husband and wife team will offer selections for both voice and piano on July 1 at 8 p.m. in the Chapel. The team is composed of JoAnn Crossman, pianist, and Donald Steinberg, baritone. The pair has appeared together and singly on the stage, on radio, in movies, and on television.

The series of evening assemblies will close July 9 at 8 a.m. in the Auditorium with a performance by Rod Strong, an interpretive dancer who is currently being featured in the Broadway show, "New Faces of 1956."

His dancing ranges from esthetic to modern tap, with many of the routines accented by an adept use of pantomime. Mr. Strong will be accompanied by Dan Gordon at the piano.

'Always Something to Do' Keys City Rec Program

"Always something to do in Manhattan" is the theme of the Manhattan recreation commission as it launches its summer program.

The program will consist of softball, baseball, horseshoes, swimming, teenage dance classes, square dances, and Sunday trips. According to Frank Anneberg, director of recreation, a large number of participants are expected.

The summer baseball program includes a men's softball league, which has six teams, and opened its season June 3. The games will be played at the city softball diamond on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The softball season closes August 2.

Swimming classes for beginning, junior, and senior life saving will be conducted during the summer from 10 a.m. until noon, Monday through Saturday. Adult swimming lessons for women will begin June 14 at the Municipal pool.

Recreation instruction will include baton twirling for boys and girls, instructed by Joan VanValkenburgh. Beginning golf for boys and girls will be instructed by Charles Ballard and beginning tennis instructed by Pat Finney. Times and places will be announced later.

For the horseshoe fans there are eight free courts in the City park and two at Douglas playground. Shoes may be checked out at the recreation office.

The highlight of the summer program will be the annual "Water Carnival," July 23. Rhythm swimming, stunt diving, and techniques of swimming will be featured at the festivity. Also present will be the Municipal summer band. A horseshoe tournament will be sponsored on this day. Anneberg announced that the festivities will be free to the public. He expects approximately 4,000 persons to attend.

Cats Place 5th in Late Track Meet

K-State trackmen took fifth in the Central Collegiate Conference meet Saturday June 1 with wins by Gene O'Conner in the high hurdles and Ralph Willard in the javelin leading the way.

The Wildcat mile relay team grabbed second behind Kansas. After O'Conner had won the 120-yard high hurdles it was discovered that the first line of hurdles was set about three yards too close to the starting line. The judges, by a vote of 4-2, decided not to re-run the race.

Willard won the javelin with a throw of 190-7 1/2.

The only record set was a 1:50.9 half mile turned in by KU's Lowell Janzen to break the mark of 1:51.7 set by Iowa State's Ted Wheeler in 1952.

KU was first with 51 points, Notre Dame had 37 1/2, Marquette had 24, Western Michigan had 19, K-State had 18, Missouri had 14, Wisconsin had 11 1/2 and Minnesota had 10. 30 teams competed.

Ward Haylett Earns Berth In Helms Hall of Fame

Ward Haylett, K-State track coach, has been named to a Track and Field Hall of Fame by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Haylett was one of nine mentors to receive the award. He was cited for his 29 years of coaching at K-State, coaching the 1948 Olympic team, and heading numerous American track tours in foreign countries.

Haylett has developed an impressive string of track stars since joining the K-State staff in 1928, Helms officials pointed out.

Named along with Haylett for Hall of Fame honors was a second Big Seven coach, John Jacobs of Oklahoma.

Are You Itchin'? Could Be Campus Poison Ivy

KATHY NEWMAN, HDA Sr, wonders whether or not she is really susceptible to poison ivy. Would you recognize it? This small patch was found south of the girls dorm.

By GENE ASKEN
Poison ivy? Yeah, we got it. And right on the K-State campus.

Asst. prof. Lloyd C. Hulbert of the botany department identified a patch of the poisonous weed just northwest of Danforth chapel.

The Sertoma club of Manhattan has made a project of marking all known poison ivy patches with red flags as a warning for people to steer clear of them.

According to a Kansas State Board of Health circular, the plant has the following characteristics: "Leaves are grouped in threes. Two of the leaves are on short stems, and the center one is on a longer stem."

"The leaves are dark green in color and usually are notched along the edges. Sometimes, however, the edges are plain. The plant may appear as a low shrub, a vine hanging over fences or trees, or in a heavy thicket."

Dr. Benjamin W. Lafene of Student Health warns, "People highly susceptible to poison ivy should take immunization shots. "Anybody exposed to the plant should take immediate steps to wash himself. Any good brand of soap is particularly effective in combatting the poison. The usual outbreak of poison ivy is itching and water blisters."

Geologists To Leave 'Maze' For Roomy Thompson Hall

By PAT CORBIN

K-State's 200 geology majors will no longer pick their way among cluttered rocks as they leave lecture and laboratory rooms in Fairchild and wind their way down the corridors.

Thompson hall, newly decorated in chartreuse and gray, is to be the new home of the Geology department by the end of June.

At the present time, the geologists have eight classrooms and six offices in Fairchild and four offices and a graduate study room in Anderson where they do drafting and mapping.

Five classrooms, a departmental office, and three other offices will be available to the geologists in Thompson. The department will still be six offices and three classrooms short in its new habitat, so these will remain in Fairchild. As soon as the Institutional Management department of the School of Home Economics moves into its new building, the whole of Thompson hall will go to geology and the department's space problem will be solved.

K-State's geologists will do their geo-chemistry work in one of the three new research rooms in downstairs Thompson. Rooms will be used for mechanical analysis of rocks and for the cutting and polishing of thin rock sections for microscopic studies.

Graduates will desert Anderson and move to a new map and drafting room in the basement of Thompson. The old bakery in the basement will be turned into two professors' offices.

The main floor at the West exit will be the secretaries' office and a conference room. The central part of the cafeteria will become a recitation and laboratory that will seat forty students — the largest laboratory the geologists have ever had. Eventually there will be a lecture room that will seat 150 students.

The large dining room upstairs has been partitioned into two rooms. One side is a lecture room that seats about 60 students. A sliding blackboard raised and lowered on pulleys will be installed in this room. The other half of the dining room is a lecture and laboratory room that seats 24. Slate blackboards in each room will be set against a background of grey.

Danforth chapel can be seen from the Northeast laboratory. The basement storeroom for minerals contains a dumb waiter which will bring rocks up from the basement into the mineralogy room on the second floor. A $1,400 goniometer for measuring crystals will be put into operation.

A second dumb waiter, which was used to carry dirty dishes to the basement, will be used to bring specimens to the main floor for a museum which is to be located in the hallway on the first floor.

Eventually a staff of nine geology professors, five geography professors, three graduate assistants, and a secretary will have offices in Thompson.

Play Tryouts This Evening

Tryouts for parts in "Joan of Lorraine," the first all-College play of the summer session, will be from 7 to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Auditorium.

According to Prof. John Robson, who will direct the production, there are 23 roles to be filled. The play by Maxwell Anderson is based on the life of Joan of Arc. Everyone who is interested is invited to try out.

"Joan of Lorraine" will be presented one night only, July 18, in the College auditorium. Admission to the play will be by activity ticket.

Dairy Bar Gives Students Snack Chance

By DONNA SNODGRASS

New students on the K-State campus, as well as some old ones, will be glad to discover that having all or most of their classes at the north end of the campus does not mean they must give up the pleasures of in-between and after-class snacks.

When the Student Union is just too far away to make it in a few minutes, a refresher can still be found—in Waters Hall, way down in the basement, in the northwest corner of the building.

The Kansas State College Standard dairy there operates the unsung "Dairy Bar." Not meant to be a money-making business, the Bar exists for the purpose of giving dairy students experience in making and handling dairy products.

Available in the Dairy Bar, which was redecorated last August, are ice cream cones, malts, milk shakes, brownies, fudgcicles, orange drinks, and cheese and crackers. Prices range from five cents to twenty-five cents. Regular flavors in ice cream are chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry.

The dairy students make the ice cream and cheese themselves, from milk produced by the K-State dairy herd. The ice cream product is like regular commercial ice cream, not the quick-frozen kind.

While the dairy students handle the actual making of the ice cream, two waitresses keep the Dairy Bar going. Sherry Siegle and Elizabeth Schenck double as part-time secretary-bookkeepers, and part-time waitresses.

According to Sherry and Elizabeth, business is good, despite the fact that many K-Staters don't know the Dairy Bar exists. Though they don't sell coffee, they have no trouble drawing a crowd on winter afternoons — their busiest time.

The Dairy Bar is open Monday through Friday from 8:50 to 11:50 a.m. and 1:00 to 4:50 p.m. Saturday morning hours are 9:00 to 12:00.

The Dairy Bar operates under the department of Dairy Husbandry, and is supervised by Prof. W. H. Martin.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian want ad.

ELIZABETH SCHENCK is scooping ice cream while Sherry Siegle mixes a soft summer drink. Both girls are employees in the Dairy Bar in the basement of West Ag. The College Dairy makes all the ice cream, pasteurizes the milk, and supplies the cheese. The Dairy Bar affords students in the area a chance for refreshments and relaxation.

Freshmen Drivers May Be Banned

Although the motor vehicle parking and operation regulations are the same this summer as they have been for the past year, students may expect some changes for the coming fall semester.

The Traffic Control board has constructed some proposed revisions to the present regulations. Among the proposed revisions, the ones that will effect the students most are the new parking programs and the system of monetary penalties placed on violators.

1. Proposed revisions concerning parking:

Students are required to have parking permits to park in any campus lots. Parking permits for those eligible may be purchased for $2. No permits are needed for the summer session. Parking permits will not be sold to students classified as freshman by the registrar nor students living in Hilltop courts, Van Zile, Northwest or Southeast halls.

2. Enforcement and penalties: Failure to register or to place the identification decal on the vehicle, as required before, will be subject to a penalty of $5.

Obtaining faculty-staff identification decals or student parking permits illegally or under false pretenses will be subject to a penalty of $25.

Driving violations are violations of state and county laws and will be prosecuted in court and regular fines and penalties assessed.

First ticket, $1.
Second ticket, $2.
Third ticket, $4.

Fourth ticket, $6—plus notification of student's parent or guardian.

Fifth ticket, $6 and the student's transcript will be marked "five or more parking violations during the year."

Sixth ticket, $6 and the violator will be referred to the President of the College for disciplinary action.

"This is only a mild step toward the solution of our traffic problem. Much more is needed to be done to compensate for the increasing number of vehicles," said E. S. Bagley, chairman of the Traffic Control board.

Grads' Invitations Available June 24

Seniors graduating at the end of summer school may purchase graduation invitations from June 24 to 29 at Kedzie hall, room 101. No checks will be accepted for invitations, according to George Eaton, superintendent of the College press.

K-State Players Aim at July 18 Presentation

Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" is the K-State Players production scheduled for July 18.

Cast as a faded Southern belle is Carol Mast, Sp. Warren Bennett, Eng Soph, will play her son who is tied by economic necessity to a job he hates, and Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr, will play the crippled daughter, Laura who lives in a dream world of fragile, tinted glass in her "Glass Menagerie." Fred Rogers, Sp Gr, will be Laura's gentleman caller.

"The Glass Menagerie" was Williams' first success as a playwright and is a sensitive study of conflicting personalities caught up in a web of circumstance.

The play will be directed by John Robson, associate professor of speech.

GEORGIA RUNDLE and Kent Smith, playing the leads in tonight's operetta, get in practice time for the production, to be presented at 8 in the College Auditorium. The operetta, "Kittiwake Island" will be directed by William R. Fischer of the Music department. Admission is free.

Miss Kansas Has Lead In KS Musical Comedy

Miss Kansas of 1957, Georgiana Rundle, EE4 Jr, will have a featured role in the summer session musical comedy which is being presented tonight at 8.

Georgia will be Lydia Sparrow in the K-State production of "Kittiwake Island" scored by Alec Wilder, noted composer of popular jazz music. William R. Fischer of the Music department is directing the operetta. Admission is free.

Others in the cast are Kent Smith, EE Jr; Betsy Thomason Newlin, Sp Sr; Kay Henning, EE4 Fr; Pat Noll, MGS Sr; Dorothy Hemphill, Mus Soph; Don Wilbur, BPM Jr; Ken McCormick, MGS Fr; Meredith Brink, MGS Jr; Clayton Buck, PrV Soph; Eldon Zollars, Eng Gr; and Al Unruh, MGS Jr. Piano accompaniment will be by Nancy Leavengood and Nancy Irvine, MEI Soph.

Union To Be Cooled Soon

July 15 is the target date for an air-conditioned Student Union, according to R. F. Gingrich, superintendent of the Physical Plant.

This date is not definite, however, because part of the electrical equipment has not yet arrived, and after the equipment is installed it must be tested to see that it is functioning properly.

Air-conditioning has been planned for the Union since it was first designed in the early 1940's, and the air handling devices were installed when the building was constructed. The entire Union, with the exception of the unfinished third floor, will be kept at a temperature of around 75 degrees. The cost of air conditioning the building is $150,000.

There are 16 units of coils at the Union over which cold water is piped. A compressor at the College's power plant chills the water to 45 degrees and it is then pumped through a 10-inch pipe in an underground tunnel to the Union.

During the process of cooling the Union, the temperature of the water increases only 8 degrees, so it is returned to the Power Plant by way of another pipe and re-chilled for re-use. The water which is removed from the air drains off into the sewers.

The Union requires a cooling capacity of around 405 tons and the 400-horsepower unit will develop a little more than 476 tons at full capacity.

'Irish Players' Here Following Piano Duo

With perfectly coordinated timing, the duo-piano team of Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz played music that charmed a Danforth chapel audience Tuesday night.

The concert pianists initiated the first summer session College assembly with a rendition of the Bach-Mednikoff "Organ Fugue in G minor (The Little)." After completing the beating rhythms of Brahms' "Variations on a Theme by Haydn," they portrayed the poetical genius of Chopin's "Rondo in C Major, Opus 73."

An appreciative audience listened attentively as the Spanish melodies of Infante's "Ritmo" and Gracia El Vito came alive under the able fingers of Stecher and Horowitz. The duo team completed its concert with Rachmaninoff's "Waltz (Suite No. 2) Op. 17," four pieces from Bartok's "Mikrokosmos," and Liszt's "Liebestraum No. 3, A flat Major" and "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2."

On Tuesday, June 25th, at 8 p.m., the Irish Players will be in the College auditorium for the second College assembly. Two versatile young people, Dermot McNamara and Miss Michael Conaree, will present key excerpts from four great dramas: Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," P. V. Carroll's "Shadow and Substance," George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," and John Millington Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

A professional since his teens, McNamara is a former member of the Dublin Players and a veteran of the Abbey and Gate theaters in Dublin. He has also filled many television roles, notably on "Studio One," "Kraft Theater," and "Omnibus."

Miss Conaree, still in her early 20's, likewise has displayed her talents on both the American stage and television screen. She has a master's degree in fine arts from Boston university, and she has played nearly 40 leading roles in American productions.

U. Stiff Competition College Man Finds

A FRIEND OF MINE from one of those big Eastern schools (KU, I think it was), used to really give me a bad time because I was attending a mere state college.

Well, the truth of the matter is, I'm still attending a state college. I don't know, I guess I was always a little bitter about the whole thing, but it sure used to disgust me when he'd talk about the university (!) as though it were really the rightful pride of all human kind-om.

Anyway, I've always had full faith and credit in Kansas State college—always been real proud of my school, too. I used to tell this friend of mine that my school was every bit as good as his university, even if it was a college.

WELL, HE KNEW IT, and I knew it, but did everyone else? No, ma'am, they did not.

The other summer, I went to look for a summer job—and my friend from the university went with me (we were real peachy-pook buddies). We went to one place that was hiring for jobs with Mexican high-loaders or something like that (I don't remember for sure what they did call the things).

Anyway, one of the requirements for the job was that you had to have at least three semesters of higher-than-high-school education. We were in competition with lots of real sharp college men, but the competition (and it was cut-throat!) finally narrowed to my U. buddy and me.

THE HIRING-MAN CALLED US both into his office (it was one of those plush offices like you read about and sometimes see in the movies), and asked us if we'd like to sit down.

We sat, and he offered us cigars. Then he brought out our job applications, complete with college transcripts and all. Well, he took about one quick look through the cigar smoke, then he said, "You from a U., buddy?" to my friend.

"Yeah, sir," my friend replied in his halting English.

Then the hirer turned to my records—one quick glance through the cigar smoke, and he turned to me. "You from a college, buddy?"

"YES, SIR," I SAID, not trying to coin any phrases.

"OK," the hirer said. "That's all, I'll let you know about the job tomorrow. OK?"

"OK," we agreed, in perfect harmony. We left.

I never heard from the guy. My buddy did. He confided to me afterwards that being from a U. had made all the difference.

My buddy got in nine or 10 days work, as I recall, that summer. He told me he liked Mexican high-loading fine—pretty easy job for a real collegiate.

WELL, THAT JUST GOES to show you, how important yer schooling can be. I thought about transferring (but never seriously) to the U. for a while—but there's something about our little old college that has always seemed to fascinate me. I'm sentimental, I guess.

My friend (the one from the U.) and I used to get into some awful arguments about the merits of our respective alma maters-to-be. He used to bring up the silliest arguments about my school being kind of limited, because it was a college, and everybody knew that colleges were smaller, offered not nearly so much in the way of fields of study as a university, and were even parts of universities, sometimes.

Well, that really got my dandruff up. I unwound in high fashion, and told in him in no uncertain terms that my school was in reality a university, if not in name.

He gave me one of those sneering, you-poor-slob smiles, and said gleefully, "Lots of places in Europe, a college is just like one of our high schools here."

THAT MADE ME KIND OF MAD, so I challenged him—"prove it," I said.

He said he didn't have to.

Well, it went on like that for awhile, and pretty soon we almost came to blows. But he was a lot littler than I am, and he backed down saying, "OK, buddy, do you give?"

"Yes, I give," I said. (I really faced him down, though I know it doesn't sound like it—I'm pretty tough.)

Well, that ended that particular episode, but it was only one of many. Another time, my friend and I really did come to blows. It was pretty tiring though, and we haven't tried it since.

Boy we really used to argue! I don't know—neither of us really convinced the other, either. But I lost my friend. He really got to disliking me. Oh well, c'est la vie!

If only we hadn't gotten into that argument. I guess what we needed was for his U. to be a C., or visa versa.—Jim Bell

HOW MANY TIMES have you walked past this statue and asked yourself "who is that man who so watchfully keeps his eyes peeled on our fair campus?" Actually, he is William Alexander Harris, a soldier and a statesman. But even statesmen get tired standing out in the rain. (It's a wonder Dr. Harbaugh didn't ask who he was on that Biology final.)

Drippy Weather Drives Statue Under Raincoat

MY WHITE SUMMER sneakers were soaked. Clumps and clods of clay had begun to slow my morning walk. I glanced up and noticed the sun darting behind a cloud.

But that wasn't all I noticed. A statue had donned its rain coat. It made me shudder. I know exactly the way that statue felt. Lately, I've been cold and chilly, too.

I came to summer school prepared to face the heat. Sunglasses. Salt tablets. And tinted notebook paper.

Frankly, what I really needed was rain goggles, hot cocoa, and a fur-lined notebook.

I saw some girls standing in front of Eisenhower, laughing and admiring each others' sun spotted rain tans.

IF WE GET MUCH more rain the ivy will probably start snarling traffic in front of Anderson. Grass cutters will have to put chains on their mowers. In fact it kinda reminds me of the do-in-yourself funeral kit. You buy a plot of ground and just sink in.

I wish the sun would flood the campus with glorious summer sunshine.

I wish the sun would blister the skies.

I wish the sun would . . . puff . . . puff.

I wish the sun
Gad. It's hot.—Dick Haines

Sick MU Students Have Wee Hours Ward Ball

By Sandy Wilson

THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI Maneater reports "disciplinary action" is in store for eight patients of the student hospital who recently staged an all-out production of midnight mischief and mayhem.

The clinic cut-ups are charged with a "lack of good citizenship" after a late-night dancing party in one of the hospital wards.

According to the director of the student health service, "one patient called a nurse a big, fat slob . . . and other things which weren't so nice." Another disturber crushed a water pitcher in his bare hands.

The hospital is faced with the threat of resignation from staff members whose bedside manner was blasted by the merry makers.

THE STAFF OF THE OREGON STATE Barometer has developed a formidable set of newspaper "standards" dedicated to the art of making enemies. Of course, we're just beginners but we find the following pointers especially appealing:

1. Never place copies of the paper in an easily accessible place and never allow them to appear at a definite time.
2. Print only news which has happened to people on the staff or to their friends.
3. Always omit some vital information from news stories.
4. Don't identify people correctly in the pictures printed.
5. Always attack something in editorials which the readers know nothing about.
6. Never give staff members definite assignments, and bawl them out anyway when they don't get them.

How're we doin'?

"OK, OK, MENLEY—OTHER STUDENTS HAVE HAD TO FACE REQUIRED COURSES, YA KNOW?"

Union Bowling League To Begin Next Week

A five-week summer bowling league is being organized by the Student Union according to Loren Kottner, Union director. Students and faculty members are invited to participate in the league which will bowl every Tuesday night, starting next week and running through July 23.

Letters have been sent to all College departments informing the faculty of this league; interested students should register at the Union games desk or in the activities center.

Tuesday night at 7 the teams will be organized at the bowling alleys. There will be room for eight teams in the league and the cost will be $5.25 a person. At the end of the five weeks, trophies will be awarded to the league winners.

The Union will also sponsor several one-night novelty tournaments during the summer session. Contests in blindfold bowling and low-man scoring will be included in these tournaments. If interest is shown by the students, a weekly instruction night will be set up in the game area for bowling, billiards, and table tennis.

An acoustical tile ceiling is being installed in the bowling alleys and should be completed this week. The area has been freshly painted light green.

Summer Students Operate K-State's FM Radio Station

By GENE ASKEN

The students voice of Kansas State college, radio station KSDB-FM, got its summer schedule underway last Thursday with the program, "Showcase of Music."

KSDB-FM is a College owned, student operated station. "The station is one of the very few that is completely programmed, announced, and operated by students with a minimum of faculty supervision," said General Manager Ted McCoy, Sp Jr.

"The function of KSDB-FM," McCoy said, "is to give the public what it can't get on any other station. We will feature quantities of quality music—classical, old favorites, show type, all varieties of jazz—and up-to-the-minute news. Broadcasting time will be from 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday."

Although most of the participating students receive course credit for their work, other interested students can work on the station as an extra-curricular activity. "Anybody interested in auditioning for the station can do so by contacting me at KSDB-FM between 6 and 10 p.m.," McCoy said.

Located in the west wing of Nichol's gymnasium, the station uses most of the top floor space. Completely designed by students, student-installed equipment, the station is composed of three broadcasting studios and three offices for engineering, traffic and continuity, and music. "Visitors are welcomed at any time during the broadcasting hours," McCoy said.

Other members of the summer staff include Sid Hutchins, Sp Jr, program director; Nancy Paulsen, HEA Soph, traffic and continuity; and Norman Moore, IT Sr, chief engineer. Speech Instructor Robert L. Snyder is the faculty adviser.

Spring Grads Get Top Jobs

Job hunting? The Placement Bureau is the right place to go. According to Chester Peters, director, job opportunities are good.

Peters and his new assistant, Roland Swaim, spend most of their time with phone in hand giving students' names to people who are hiring.

Both Peters and Swaim said they liked students to drop in for friendly chats even if they aren't looking for a job. When the time does come to help a student get a job, it always helps to know his or her personality, according to Peters.

According to Peters, spring graduates received choice jobs and high salaries. The demand for business, engineering, and agriculture graduates is high. Business graduates are a little harder to place than engineers because of military obligation. Engineers are being hired regardless of whether they have been in the service or not.

Engineers are averaging a starting salary of $373 to $630 a month. Accountants averaged about $450 a month and geologists averaged $400 to $490 a month.

There is a strong demand for women graduates in home economics. There are many home economics graduates, but most of the young women marry and don't accept employment.

Last year 480 companies conducted interviews on K-State's campus. About 500 firms are expected to interview 1958 graduates.

Profs Write Many Articles For National Publications

Have you ever thought how exciting it would be to know an author? Well, chances are you know several and just aren't aware of it, for many of the professors in the K-State English department have written books, poems, and critical material. That proof of yours may well be an author in disguise.

Assoc. Prof. Philip Young's book, "Ernest Hemingway," was published by Rinehart and Company in 1953 and has been almost unanimously accepted by the critics.

Copies of the book may now be obtained in five foreign languages. Professor Young is also a regular contributor to the Library of Congress U.S. Quarterly Book Review as an authority on books about American writers.

"Readings for Opinion," an English textbook, was written by Prof. Earle Davis, head of the Department of English, and Prof. William Hummel. The book was used in the Kansas State English department for several years and at one time was adopted for use by 250 universities and colleges. The two men are now writing an introduction to literature textbook.

During World War II, Professor Davis wrote a narrative war poem entitled "An American in Sicily." He wrote the introduction to Rinehart's 1948 edition of "Great Expectations" by Charles Dickens, and in 1950, "Masquerade," a book of his poetry, was printed by the College press.

Professor Hummel collaborated with Keith Huntress, a professor of English at Iowa State, to write "The Analysis of Propaganda," which was published in 1949. The book is intended to serve as a three or four week introduction to a course on propaganda analysis or as a teaching aid.

The Antioch Review, published at Yellow Springs, Ohio, and the Sewanee Review, put out by the University of the South, have printed poems by Prof. W. R. Moses.

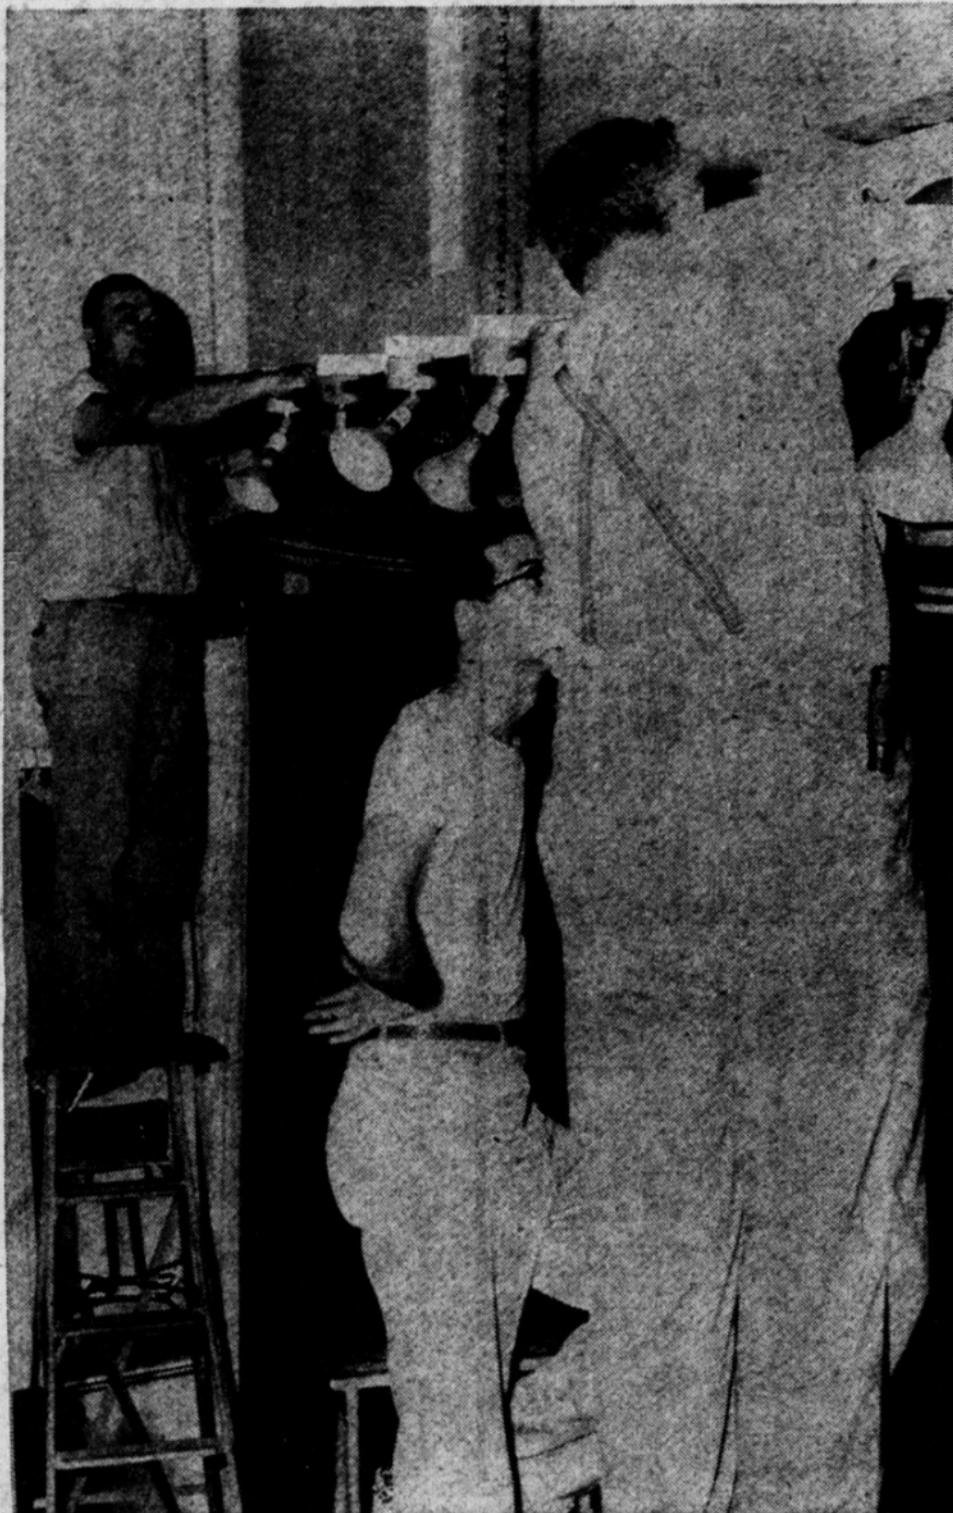

Prof. James L. Rosenberg has had poetry published in The Saturday Review of Literature, Foothills, The University of Kansas City Review, The Atlantic Monthly, and others. In 1952, Professor Rosenberg was the winner of the Rose Benet Memorial award given by the Poetry Society of America.

Asst. Prof. Paul Schmidt wrote an article called "The Deadpan on Simon Wheeler," which appeared in the Southwest Review in 1956. He is doing a critical work on Mark Twain at the present time.

A book by Asst. Prof. Alwyn Berland on Henry James has been accepted for publication. Works by Professor Berland have appeared in The Western Review, Accent, The Cambridge Journal, and Perspectives.

Scholarly and critical articles by other members of the English department are published frequently, according to Professor Davis.

FROM LEFT, JACK BERRY, Bruce Wilson, and T. F. Logsdon make final adjustments on the new cinemascope screen which has been installed in the little theater in the Student Union. The screen costs $350. The cinemascope adapters and lenses cost $150. "The Robe" will be the next movie.

Cat Hurdler Enters AAU Tomorrow

Gene O'Connor, K-State's outstanding hurdler, will travel to the national AAU track meet in Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow and Saturday to compete in the 400 meter hurdles and the 220 yard low hurdles.

"O'Connor has a good chance to place high in the 400 meter race," said Wildcat coach Ward Haylett.

O'Connor and javelin thrower Ralph Willard entered the NCAA meet in Austin, Texas, last weekend but failed to place.

Quelle Lectures Continue

Dr. S. Walton Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church, presented the second in the series of Quelle lectures last night at 7 in the All-Faith chapel, on "The Synoptic Gospels: Mark, Matthew, and Luke."

The gospels of Mark, Matthew, and Luke are grouped together and given the heading "synoptic" because they "look alike," as Dr. Cole explained. "The fourth gospel, John, is quite different in content, origin, and interpretation from these three and so stands alone and apart from the others.

that Matthew and Luke both used Mark as a basis and background for their own writings, though neither knew of the other's endeavors, Dr. Cole explained. "It is probable," he continued, "that the Gospel of Mark was written around 75-80 A.D." the Gospel of Matthew and the Gospel of Luke about 85-90 A.D.; and the Gospel of John not until at least 95 A.D. or after the turn of the century."

Hot Weather Brings Shorts, Swimming

Jamaica Shorts Accepted While Other Types Aren't

By DONNA SNODGRASS

A shirt and Jamaica shorts "can take you lots of places a bare top and short shorts won't," as a recent issue of Glamour magazine puts it. The local reaction to this statement seems to be "Thank goodness," since one of those places is to class on the K-State campus.

Following the strict rules of fashion etiquette has never been the practice in the Middle West, and with a "taste of hot summer weather already under our belts," we are not about to begin now. No information has been received concerning the summer apparel on other campuses in this area, but it is likely to be similar unless college rules forbid.

The currently popular Jamaica shorts are longer than short shorts and shorter than Bermudas, which are usually just above the knee. Any trousers longer than Bermudas seem to be taboo, however.

Nearly every fabric that is suitable for sports clothes has been used for Jamaica and Bermuda shorts. The most popular ones are cotton baby cord, cotton poplin, knitted cotton, dacron and cotton blends, indigohead, linen, and sharkskin.

Most of the shorts are in plain colors, with black, khaki, and turquoise seen most frequently, but several coeds have been seen sporting gay striped or figured patterns.

Many types of tops lend themselves to the Bermuda or Jamaica shorts. Knitted cotton shirts, with either slit, V-shaped, or collared necks are easiest to care for. The cotton knits are usually striped, but some plain colors form very striking combinations with striped or figured shorts.

Even more popular are the classic-styled sleeveless shirts, and sleeveless or short-sleeved blouses with novelty necklines, collars, and other decorations. These may be in matching, harmonizing, or contrasting colors to the shorts.

Hot weather seems to have practically eliminated the knee-socks, which are so popular with Bermuda shorts in other seasons. White anklets and saddle oxfords, loafers, or sneakers complete the costume.

A strange situation would exist if the fair gents of the campus allowed the ladies to outdo them. Accordingly, several of the stronger sex have been "caught" in Bermudas lately.

Though many men wouldn't be "caught" in them, because of lack of leg beauty, they might change their minds if they examined more closely the structure of some feminine knees.

K-Staters Migrate to Swimming Pools As Water Bug, Weather Bite Manhattan

By PAT CORBIN

The swimming bug is biting K-State students and the nice weather is enforcing the bite. In the afternoon the Manhattan pool is lined with male and female K-Staters soaking up sunshine.

The diving boards are getting a real work-out. The high dive is about the busiest place at the pool. Some of the braver people are brushing up on jack-knives, swan dives, and one-and-a-half flips.

A steady eye in the direction of the feminine population at the pool will reveal that the latest fad in swim suits tends toward checkered knit suits. Pillsbury crossing, southeast of Manhattan, is a favorite spot for washing cars and soaking up sun on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Until we had so much rain, the clear water was running about four inches deep over a solid rock bottom.

If a person isn't too interested in swimming, Pillsbury is a nice place to go to get slightly wet and lay on the bank for a good suntan. A portable radio, a swim suit, a few books, and abundant sunshine are about all the equipment needed for a day of fun in the sun.

Elder Keeps Kedzie, Calvin Dirt Down on Odd-Hour Job

By ROD ROSS

It's 4 p.m. and most students are through with their classes and returning home. The buildings have been left in shambles, with cigarette butts, paper, and sometimes mud strewn in the halls and in the classrooms.

The next morning as the student arrives, he does not notice that the paper has been picked up, the waste paper baskets are empty, and the classrooms are spic and span. This work is done by the less familiar men of KSC, the custodians.

Such a man is Raymond B. Elder, 63, custodian of both Kedzie and Calvin halls. Elder, an 8-year veteran at K-State, begins his job at 4 p.m. and ends it at 1 a.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 p.m. until 6 a.m. on Saturday. During the fall and spring semesters, a student is hired to help; however, during the summer session the load is entirely on Elder's shoulders.

Prior to coming to K-State, Elder was a jack of many trades. He attended college two years—one year at Kansas university and one year at Nebraska university. Uncle Sam called and consequently he spent one year in the Navy during World War I.

After the Navy, he held several different jobs. Included were jobs as an insurance salesman at Salina for 12 years, salesman for Kansas Power & Light for two years, and a service station operator for two years. He also taught school two years during World War II.

In 1949, Elder came to Kansas State where he worked at the dairy barn for four years. He worked in Anderson hall for two years, and for the past two years he has been custodian at Kedzie and Calvin halls.

When asked if the students co-operated in keeping the school clean he said, "Even in Kedzie, where there is much activity and it's hard to keep clean, the students are very co-operative and do their best to make my job easier."

"In my eight years here, I have seen at least ten new buildings added and an increasing enrollment each year. Each year the students seem to take more pride in their school and are trying to keep it at its best.

"I enjoy this work more than any job I have ever done," said

Elder. "It keeps me young. If you work around young folks, you stay young. I would grow old working with old folks and I don't want to do that."

R. M. Elder

Vet Enrollees Down from '56

In a compilation of veteran enrollment statistics for this summer session, Wendell R. Kerr, veterans' service director, noted that 533 veterans are enrolled under the Korean G.I. Bill.

Nineteen disabled veterans and one World War II enrollee make a total of 553. The total enrollment for last summer was 557.

The largest summer veteran enrollment total was 1,772 in 1948. The smallest was 273 in the summer of 1952.

K-State Buys Lefty Desks For 2 Campus Buildings

O.K., southpaws, you've got no excuse now. If you have been blaming your low grades on the uncomfortable position of writing, you will have to think up a new story next fall.

Left-hand tablet arm desks, 150 of them, have been received to accommodate our left-handed students, R. F. Gingrich, head of the Physical Plant, said. The desks will be distributed to classrooms for the fall semester.

"We have ordered 850 right-hand desks of which approximately half have arrived," he said. The rest should arrive within two weeks. The desks will be used in Thompson hall and in the new animal industry building.

Electronic Analog Engineers' Brain

By GENE ASKEN

Having trouble with your mathematic computations? Well, don't be disheartened. In the deep recesses of Seaton hall (the basement to be exact), there lies a modern day miracle to alleviate your distress—an electronic analog computer, more commonly known as an electronic "brain."

Well, you are saying, what's this got to do with solving that algebraic problem that old Professor Jones assigned. The answer is simple enough; the electronic computer can add, multiply, and divide—all by electrical voltages.

According to Isaac Wakabayashi, electrical engineering instructor, the computer works on the principle of making electrical analogs of physical and mathematical problems.

There is only one drawback facing the enterprising math-solving student. Although the machine gives the answers in relatively simple terms, either in the form of a graph or read directly in whole numbers from the digital voltmeter, it is quite another thing to get the computer to go through its paces.

Each problem that is put through the machine must first be scaled. This entails reducing the problem to fractions less than one, and then matching voltages to each number. Once this has been accomplished the next step is to plug a few of the hundreds of wires into a board which contains hundreds of holes.

Parking Lots To Be Pitted Until August

The parking lots cannot be re-surfaced until we have the money, according to R. F. Gingrich, head of the Physical Plant.

The fiscal year ends July 1, he said. "We will have enough money at that time to apply an asphalt coating."

However, this will not be done until August. Gingrich explained that when the re-surfacing project begins the parking lots are completely blocked off and no one is allowed to park.

"I don't believe the students in summer session would appreciate this. We are doing our best with the money we have."

June Takes Toll As Staters Wed

Helen Moon, SED Sr, became the bride of Otis Post, VM Sr, June 2. The wedding took place at the First Methodist church, Junction City.

Helen is from Junction City and Otis is from Independence, Kan. After a summer spent in Florida where Otis will intern, they will return to K-State for the fall semester.

Virginia Haas, BS '56 of Wamego, and Roger Reitz, BS '55 from Manhattan, were married June 9 in the First Methodist church of Manhattan.

Roger is a member of Beta Theta Pi and is now a junior at the Kansas University Medical center in Kansas City. His bride is a Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The couple will be at home at 211 North Juliette for the summer.

Kathleen Burns and Albert Kaine, 1955 graduates of K-State, were married in a double-ring ceremony at St. John's Catholic church, El Dorado, June 8. Kathy is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma from El Dorado. Al is a PIKA from Wamego and is an engineer with Remington Rand-Univac at St. Paul, Minn.

Sara Schrenk, BS '56 of Manhattan, was married to Wayne Busse of Shickley, Neb., June 9. The marriage ceremony was performed at the First Methodist church of Manhattan.

Sara has been teaching at the Schickley high school during the past year. Her bridegroom is employed by the Agriculture Stabilization commission in Schickley.

Dorinda Mears, BS '57, Alpha Xi Delta, was married to Keith Shamburg in Beloit last week. Dorinda will teach physical education in Denver next fall while her bridegroom finishes his schooling at the University of Colorado.

Mary Lee Durland, BMT Jr, and Bob Kind, DVM '57, will be married Sunday in the First Presbyterian church, Manhattan. Bob is from Herington and Mary Lee is from Manhattan.

Activities

Faculty and Students Travel To Annual National Meetings

Members of the faculty and students in the School of Home Economics will attend the 48th annual meeting of the American Home Economics association at St. Louis, Mo., June 24-28.

Sylvia Gaddie, president of the local Margaret Justin Home Economics club, will be installed as first vice-president of the college clubs section of AHEA for 1957-58.

Carrilee Shipps, secretary of the Home Ec club, will attend as a delegate representing it.

Faculty members attending the 48th annual meeting are Dean Doretta Hoffman, Dr. Martha Kramer, Miss Margaret Raffington, Miss Dorothy Barfoot, Miss Esther Cormany, Dr. Richard L. D. Morse, Miss Janet Wilson, Miss Marea Bordt, Dr. Grayce Goertz, Miss Nina Browning, Miss Ruby Franklin, Mrs. Martine Ferguson, Mrs. Roesmary Vissar, and Mrs. Marilyn Bunyan.

As part of the United Christian campus summer program, Sunday school will be from 10:10 to 10:50 in the All-Faith chapel. The lesson will be on the Gospel of John.

Youth fellowship will be from 5 to 8 p.m. at Disciples Student fellowship, 1633 Anderson. There will be a program on "The Church in Industry."

Ass't Dean R. C. Potter and five engineering professors will represent K-State at the 65th annual meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education at Cornell university.

The professors attending: Prof. R. M. Kerchner; Prof. Linn Helander; Prof. R. F. Morse; Prof. F. A. Smutz; Prof. R. G. Nevins. "Problems of operating an engineering school and education patterns along with curriculum changes will be discussed at the meeting," M. A. Durland, dean of engineering, said.

Prof. George Larson, Prof. J. W. Funk, and Prof. G. E. Fairbanks will leave Saturday to attend the 50th annual meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. The meeting will be in East Lansing, Mich. It will begin June 23 and end June 26.

Plovon Gets Pan-Am Grant

The Pan American Petroleum Foundation fellowship in chemistry was awarded Steven Plovon, Ch Gr, for the 1957-58 school year.

Plovon, selected by the College, receives a fellowship which carries a stipend of $1,500 for the year and covers all costs of tuition and fees.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Plovon of Detroit, Mich., Plovon received a BS in chemistry at Wayne university in 1954, and is now studying for a PhD in organic chemistry. He plans a career in industrial research.

Janet Elliott, EEd Fr, is the first recipient of the newly established annual $100 Northwest Hall scholarship at Kansas State.

Miss Elliott, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Lewis E. Elliott of Wil-mot, won the award for her contribution to group living in the areas of leadership, co-operation, and service in the residence hall. While keeping a high scholastic average, she participated in Whi-Purs, women's pep club; Integrity Party; and Collegiate 4-H club.

Alvin A. Lidolph, VM Soph, and Elson F. Seitz, TA Jr, are winners of $500 Fribourg Foundation scholarships for the 1957-58 school year at Kansas State.

Lidolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Lidolph of Roca, Neb., and Seitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli R. Seitz, won the scholarships on the basis of academic achievement and need of financial assistance.

After receiving his BS at Nebraska, Lindolph is now working toward a doctorate in veterinary medicine. He is a member of the Jr. AVMA and president of his Sunday school class.

The holder of a Sears Roebuck scholarship his freshman year, Seitz was Who's Who county page editor, treasurer of Klod and Kernel, treasurer of Farm House fraternity, and a member of the Collegiate 4-H.

Student Health Operating Part-Time During Summer

Students who develop any aches or pains during the summer session should keep in mind student health's new part-time schedule.

Three doctors are on duty at student health this month and four will be on duty in July. The clinic is open from 8 to 11:50 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 to 11:50 a.m. on Saturdays.

Students who require hospitalization will be taken to one of the city hospitals and billed on the regular student health basis. This includes one free hospitalization and a $3 a day charge for 10 days thereafter.

Lists of doctors on call are posted on the emergency room and front clinic doors at night and on weekends. Anyone coming to student health with an emergency should call the doctor on duty at the time. Copies of this emergency list have been placed in the women's residence hall and city hospitals.

The sleek new Corvette—and Chevrolet Bel Air Convertible

Every Chevy is a Corvette at heart!

... because every Chevrolet shares Corvette's sports car steering, its quicksilver responsiveness, its ready-for-anything roadability:

In plain fact, a Chevy does give you an unseen bonus you don't get in other cars. It's the built-in stability, the accurate handling, the geared-to-the-road security that derive from our experience building America's only true sports car.

Take this away and Chevy would still be ahead of the field in ultra-efficient engine design, in velvet ride and solidity of construction. But you can't separate that Corvette feeling from any Chevrolet—it's built in. Try one and see!

NUMBER 149

Week's Fare at Union Includes Dance, Bridge

If you like to swing your partner and promenade, the Union is the place for you tomorrow at 9 p.m.

Summer school students and faculty members are invited to attend the free square dance on the Union B deck. Loren Kottner, Union director, will call the dances, and Russell Sprague and his band will provide the music. Free refreshments will be served during the evening.

Over 40 students signed for weekly bridge lessons instead of the estimated 16 enrollees. Due to the large number of students, the class has been divided. The beginners' section met Tuesday evening for the first time, and the intermediate players will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the walnut dining room. Since the summer school sign-up met with such success, Union bridge classes will probably be offered next fall.

"Garden of Evil" will be the feature attraction at the free Union movie Monday at 7:30 p.m., in the little theater. The film stars Gary Cooper, Susan Hayward, and Richard Widmark and is in true cinémascope. The short subject for the evening will be "How to Swim."

The second punch hour of the season will be in the main lounge, Tuesday at 4 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend this casual get-together, and free refreshments will be served.

Piano Duo To Play At First Assembly

K-Staters will have an opportunity to hear the duo-piano team of Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz, Tuesday, June 18, at 8 p.m. in the Kansas State College Memorial chapel. The performance will mark the beginning of the assembly program for the summer session.

Both Stecher and Horowitz were born and educated in New York City. They pursued separate classical careers as soloists before forming a duo-piano team in June of 1951.

Since that time they have appeared throughout the United States and Canada, and they have completed two trans-continental tours.

Because of their versatility, they were featured in a stage presentation at Radio City Music hall. The duo completed 84 performances there.

While on tour, Stecher and Horowitz travel with their own nine-foot grand pianos.

Starlight Trip To Kansas City To Be July 13

A trip to the Starlight theater on July 13, sponsored by the K-State Union and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, will offer an opportunity for students to see a Broadway musical.

The Starlight theater will present "High Button Shoes," starring Paul Gilbert and Hal LeRoy.

The price is $6 per person which includes the bus ticket both ways, transportation in Kansas City, Mo., and the theater ticket. The last day to sign for the trip is June 28. Signing up or inquiring may be done at the activities center on the second floor of the Union.

The group will leave the Union at 3:30 p.m. on the 13th. The performance will be over at 11 p.m., at which time the group will return to Manhattan.

Union Buys New Screen

A $350 cinémascope screen has been ordered for the Student Union little theater and should arrive in time for next Monday's free Union movie. Cinémascope adapters and lenses costing $150 have been ordered for the projectors.

Union movies for the rest of the season will be in true cinémascope, with the exception of the classic films on Wednesday nights in July.

Although 95 per cent of the 16 millimeter films which are released are not in cinémascope, the Union will obtain as many cinémascope films as possible for the greater enjoyment of the students.

Miss Georgia Is Miss Kansas

By PAT CORBIN

Miss Kansas of 1957, Georgiana Rundle, is a brown-eyed Kansas State coed. Georgiana was named Miss Kansas at the climax of a Miss Kansas scholarship pageant sponsored by the Pratt Junior Chamber of Commerce, June 7.

Georgiana was granted a birthday wish when she was named Miss Kansas. She called the honor "the most wonderful birthday present I could receive." A senior in elementary education and music at Kansas State next fall, Georgiana is 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds. Her measurements are 35-24-36.

Winning the title means she'll represent the Sunflower state in the annual Miss America scholarship pageant at Atlantic City, N.J., in September. She also received a $100 scholarship, a trophy, and three formals for wear at the Miss America contest.

Finalists were judged on beauty, poise, personality, and talent. Georgiana won another trophy and a $50 scholarship for being named Miss Talent. She sang a selection from the opera "Carmen" and "Getting to Know You" from "The King and I." She is a member of the A Cappella choir and the K-State Singers.

Georgiana was selected for the Miss Kansas pageant in a contest at K-State sponsored by the Associated Women Students and was sponsored at Pratt by the K-State Student Governing association.

She and the other contestants for the Miss Kansas title plan to return to Pratt next year for a reunion and to boost next year's candidates.

A busy summer is in store for Georgia with summer school work, personal appearances, and practice for the Miss America contest.

English Pro Enrollees Must Sign for Exam

Students who are enrolled in English Proficiency should sign up for the exam in their individual dean's office Monday, June 24 through Wednesday, June 26. The test will be given on Thursday, June 27, from 7 to 10 p.m. in Eisenhower.

Directory for Summer Lists More Than 1700

By GENE ASKEN

Looking for a Farmer, Doctor, or Carpenter? If so, you are sure to find them in the summer session Student Directory, which you will find published in this issue of the Collegian. We've even got a few Bakers as well as a Butler, Hunter, and Messenger.

In addition to the occupational descriptive names, there are listed such contrasting elements as Aye and Nay, and Fry and Cool. Colors are represented in such shades as Gray, Green, White, and Brown. There is also one person in the process of "Browning."

Representative of famous people are such names as Dempsey, Hoover, Washington, and Dickens; three Kings and one Major have been put in for good measure.

In case you're looking for some people to associate with, we've got one Bachelor, in the form of a girl, a Merryman, and a Whistler. If you're a rug-cutter, we've got two Young people, and if you're intellectual, we've got one Wise person.

Every group has its quota of Smiths and we're no exception. The Smiths dominate the directory with a total of 16, but the Johnsons are a close second with a total of 15. Tongue-twister honors go to Postlethwaite, while the award for uniqueness goes to the Ramsbottoms.

We are also reminded not to Moon over Money, nor to Chase in Circles. If you've an inclination to Fish, go ahead, but don't forget, school is not Bunk and you've got to be on the Ball if you're going to do Justice to your studies.

Cat Trackmen Enter NCAA

One of K-State's most successful track and field seasons of recent years will end when two K-Staters perform in the National Collegiate meet tomorrow and Saturday at Austin, Texas.

Competing in the NCAA meet will be Gene O'Connor, junior hurdler, and Ralph Willard, junior javelin thrower.

O'Connor, who will run in both the 220-yard low hurdles and the 120-yard highs, holds the Big Seven low hurdle crown for the second year in a row. His 14.1 at Houston's Meet of Champions last week was a new varsity mark for K-State.

Willard reached 203-2 for second at the Big Seven meet and posted a win in the Central Collegiate meet at Milwaukee.

UW SAE's Put Hex On 'Sororitus Hamus'

By Sandy Wilson

SIG ALPHS at the University of Washington have given themselves over to hog-calling and verbal mudpies according to the Washington Daily, campus newspaper.

Most of the fun is being poked at a breed of porkers they term "Sororitus Hamus"—the sorority girl. The Alphs, spokesmen report, felt the girls at UW were "getting pretty bad and needed shaping up."

The SAE's have decorated the walls of their brick house with caricatures of campus women, and hidden loud-speakers blare forth with insults and "honest evaluations."

AND THROUGH ALL THE HOGWASH and hullabaloo, Betty Coed, a 250-pound sow, lounges nonchalantly in her slat house on the SAE lawn. The Alphs say she is shaping up and will soon "conform like all the rest of the sorority girls on the campus."

The University of Texas Summer Texan is concerned about the price of progress.

Until 1955, the women's dorms were known as the Tri-Dorms. With the addition of the fourth dorm, the community became known as the Quad-Dorms. Now the completion of a fifth dorm across the street will make the prospect of the Quint-Dorms a reality.

WITH THE INEVITABLE SIXTH dorm looming in the future, continuance of the Latin tradition would be somewhat embarrassing and even a switch to the Greek wouldn't help.

"After all," ask the Texans, "What young lady would want to give her address as either the 'Sex Dorms' or the 'Hex-Dorms'?"

It looks as though the new crop of college professors may be susceptible to the same occupational hazard which plagued earlier generations.

A young University of Oklahoma graduate assistant is still searching for the grade book containing his only record of the spring semester's grades for two English sections.

SAYS THE PROF: "This is ridiculous, I always know where my grade book is—even if I don't know where my car is." And he adds, "I think I would rather lose my car than my grade book."

Daft definitions from the San Jose State Lyke:

Brain: An organ as strong as its weakest think.

Cash: They call it cold, because like ice, it melts in your hands.

Chivalry: The inclination of a man to protect a woman from everyone but himself.

Corpuscles: Lovers in vein.

Denial: A river in Egypt.

Harp: A nude piano.

Education: A process which enables you to get into more expensive trouble.

Union Parking Lot Chuck Holes Crack KS Speedster's Gold Tooth

A FRIEND OF MINE (who drives a car) drove into the union parking lot the other day—he was going pretty fast—and he cracked a tooth.

This might not sound so bad, but it was a gold tooth. It takes some jar to crack a gold tooth. As I commented, he was going pretty fast, though (about 8, I'd say).

But then, you kind of expect to bust a gold tooth once in a while in a lot like ours (and we are proud of our lot!). We have some of the finest gold-tooth-bustin' chuck holes in these parts!! I hear they wanted to make our chuck holes a point of interest in Manhattan at a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting. Those boys (and they're pretty sharp) thought our chuck holes would be quite a tourist attraction.

MY FRIEND (his name was Damon) got pretty mad about the whole thing. He was going to see someone or something and raise a lot of real honest-to-goodness hell about the whole thing.

I don't know how he came out—I haven't seen him since then, but you can bet that when ole Damon sets out to raise some honest-to-goodness hell, he's going too!!!

A roommate of mine (I possess two) claims those chuck holes shook all the A's out of him. I don't know, though, he's not too bright. (I never was sure whether he was talking about grades or Lou Boudreau.)

TO SHOW YOU how paradoxical just living can be, another friend of mine really enjoys those chuck holes, especially in rainy weather. But then, he likes mud baths—figures it's good for the peachy-cream color of his skin, or something.

K-State's fiscal year ends in a little less than three weeks. I should think the chuck holes' end shouldn't be too long after.

Speaking of rain, I'll bet all we've been getting lately will help out the grass in the bare spots on the campus. (Long as something unforeseen doesn't come along and kill it.)

I never could understand what makes Kansas State operate like it does. Take, for instance, the name of the institution.

It's Kansas State college of Agriculture and Applied Science. Why isn't the name brought up to date with the rest of the institution?

I'M PERSONALLY IN FAVOR of graduating from a university. It seems to me the advantages of a name change far outweigh the disadvantages.

Tradition? So far as I'm concerned, that's no grounds for leaving it "college" when the university tag only waits for approval.

Oklahoma A&M (now Oklahoma State university) was the latest institution to change its name. Land grant schools such as Oklahoma State, Penn State, and Michigan State, have set the precedent—why should the students of Kansas State be made to continue with a name that connotes small school, when all the qualifications exist for the university title?

Now let's all set back, drink a Coke—and forget the whole thing.—Jim Bell.

Dear Editor:

Would you please tell me who is in charge of supervising maintenance of the Union parking lot?

Whoever it is, must surely be asleep at his job or else he has not recently tried to drive through the Union parking lot.

Whoever is in charge of parking lot maintenance can add one more star to the chart on which he keeps track of how many cars have been disabled by or have disappeared into the chuck holes of the Union parking lot.

Having been at K-State for two years, I can remember when the only things a student or faculty member parking his car had to fight were mud and dust. He could protect himself from the dust by wearing a gas mask, and he could beat the mud by wearing overshoes or cowboy boots; but would somebody please tell me how to avoid the beautifully staggered chuck holes in the surface of the Union parking lot?

Could be the answer is not to resurface the lot but to post a zig-zag route whereby the potential parker could get to a parking stall without first having his car drop into the seemingly bottomless pit of a 4-inch chuck hole.

With sincere hopes for a better lot for drivers at K-State,

Don Marker, TJ Senior.

Boone's 'Love Letters' Convince Disc Buyers

"LOVE LETTERS IN THE SAND" by Pat Boone tops Manhattan record sales this week for the first time, forcing last week's first "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins to third position. A newcomer to the top ten is "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm, making its way to the No. 2 slot.

Other newcomers to the top ten are "Freight Train" by Rusty Draper and "Teen-age Romance" by Ricky Nelson. Unseen last week, "Four Walls" by Jim Lowe, has moved up to the seventh spot. Guy Mitchell's disc, "Rock-A-Billy," moved from eighth to sixth position.

THE TOP TEN RECORDS by sales in Manhattan:

1. "Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone
2. "Dark Moon," by Gale Storm
3. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
4. "Freight Train" by Rusty Draper
5. "Teen-age Romance" by Ricky Nelson
6. "Rock-A-Billy" by Guy Mitchell
7. "Four Walls" by Jim Lowe
8. "Valley of Tears" by Fats Domino
9. "School Day" by Chuck Berry
10. "Young Blood" by the Coasters

The Diamonds' platter, "Little Darlin'," slipped into the top position on Manhattan's jukeboxes. "All Shook Up" by Elvis Presley dropped into second after being in the first position for five weeks.

"School Day" by Chuck Berry dropped to fourth and "Gone" by Ferlin Husky dropped from fifth to ninth spot. Two Pat Boone favorites made their first appearance in the top ten on jukeboxes this week. They are "Love Letters in the Sand," occupying the fifth slot, and "Bernadine" in tenth.

THE TOP TEN on Manhattan's jukeboxes:

1. "Little Darlin'" by the Diamonds
2. "All Shook Up" by Elvis Presley
3. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
4. "School Day" by Chuck Berry
5. "Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone
6. "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm
7. "So Rare" by Jimmy Dorsey
8. "Four Walls" by Jim Reeves
9. "Gone" by Ferlin Husky
10. "Bernadine" by Pat Boone

According to the local music stores, several newcomers will soon be challenging the top ten. They are "Girl with the Golden Braids" by Perry Como, "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo, and "Fabulous" by Charley Gracie.

Patty Fobes, BS '57, Beloit, and Robert Doremus, ME Jr, Patterson, N.J., exchanged marriage vows in the First Methodist church, Beloit, Saturday. Patty is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. The couple will reside at 1631 Humboldt.

Kathy Dodd, Alpha Xi from Great Bend, and Lt. Robert Jewell, Phi Delt, were married in the Methodist church at Great Bend. Kathy and Bob will make their home in Manhattan until he is discharged from the army.

Virginia Herzog, HEA Sr, is wearing the Farm House pin of Dick Fankhauser, AH Sr. Virginia is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and is from Ellsworth. Dick is from Madison.

Celia Dixon, EEd Sr, and Bob Quanz, BS '57, announced their pinning last weekend. Celia is an Alpha Xi from Partridge. Bob is from Glade and is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

The First Methodist church of Garden City was the setting for the wedding of Eveanna Clutter, EEd Sr from Holcomb, and Donald Jarchow, VM Sr, from Oshkosh, Neb., June 1.

After a summer in Wisconsin, where the bridegroom is working, the couple will return to Manhattan for the fall semester.

Mary Frances Overfield, Mth Gr, and Kermit Reister, instructor of electrical engineering, were married May 28 in the Emporia Methodist church.

Mr. Reister is a native of Reno, Nev., and his bride is from Emporia.

After a wedding trip, they will live at 412 Ehler road.

Marilyn Pence, BS '57 of Topeka, and Nelson Dale Galle, AEd Sr of Moundridge, were married in the North Topeka Baptist church Saturday evening.

Marilyn is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and Nelson is an Alpha Gamma Rho.

The couple will reside at 611 Sunset following a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks. Nelson is employed by the State 4-H department this summer. His bride will teach near Manhattan next fall.

Bruce Champlin, VM Jr from Manhattan, married Natalia Johnson of Jamestown in the Jamestown Methodist church May 26.

Following a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the newlyweds will be at home at the Blue Valley Trailer court. Mrs. Champlin will teach in a rural school near here next fall.

Dr. George Explains Choice Of Books in New Testament

"Selection of the Books of the New Testament" was the topic of the first Quelle lecture, presented last night by Dr. Samuel S. George in the All-Faith Memorial chapel. Dr. George is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Manhattan.

"The Bible contains the essence of the Christian religion which it is the responsibility of the Christian church to proclaim," Dr. George said. This makes the method for choosing the books of The New Testament pertinent to the religion of all Christians.

The subject matter of Dr. George's talk concerned the books which were chosen to be part of the New Testament.

Next week's lecture will be "The Synoptic Gospels: Mark, Matthew and Luke," by Dr. S. Walton Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church in Manhattan.

Collegian Will Sponsor 'Miss KS Coed' Contest

The Collegian will sponsor a third annual "Miss K-State Coed" queen contest in conjunction with Manhattan's annual Water show July 23 at the Municipal pool.

Any coed attending K-State is eligible to enter. Coeds wishing to enter the contest must fill out an entry blank in room 103a, Kedzie hall.

"Miss K-State Coed" will be judged by the following qualifications: personality, grace, beauty, charm, and figure. In addition, each contestant must submit a short written essay to be entitled, "What I Intend to Do with My College Degree."

The queen will be honored by prizes which will be donated by Collegian advertisers. A complete list of prizes will be published in a later issue.

Judging the contest will be Prof. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications; M. A. Durland, dean of engineering; and Dr. A. D. Weber, acting-president at K-State.

The Water show, highlight of Manhattan's recreation program, will feature rhythm swimming, stunt diving, and techniques of swimming, according to Frank Anneberg, superintendent of the Manhattan Recreation commission. The Municipal summer band will play at the festivity. The crowning of "Miss K-State Coed" will highlight the evening's program.

NUMBER 151

The Rev. Roy Turner To Discuss 'Gospel of St. John' Wednesday

An unexpected change in the order of the Quelle lectures puts the Rev. Roy Turner, lecturing on "The Gospel of St. John," on the program for next Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. in the All-Faith Memorial chapel.

He was originally scheduled to speak last night. The lecturer last night was Dr. Emerson Abendroth speaking on "The Letters of St. Paul."

"The Gospel of St. John" lecture next week will be a consideration of the relationship of the Gospel to the wider Greco-Roman philosophy of early Christian times, and the consideration of the special religious significance of this Gospel in Christian thinking.

Dr. Abendroth, last night, discussed the problems instrumental in the production of the Pauline corpus, and investigated the theological implications of these documents.

"Any time and any place an effort is made to set forth an interpretation of the meaning of the Gospel," Dr. Abendroth stated, "Paul stands in the direct line of fire. This would logically be, since he was the first great interpreter in the church."

"However," he continued, "it would seem that Paul challenges the two great attempts of man to feel that he has a way of saving himself—that is, by his wisdom or by some system of legalism by which he justifies himself." This, according to Dr. Abendroth, seems to be the major significance of Paul today.

"Paul's faith as a Christian, by his own testimony, stems from the experience on the road to Damascus. This, the faith of the man who wrote these letters, must be understood as a reflection upon this experience," he said.

Dr. William C. Tremmel, Director of Student Religious Activities, reports a good turnout for the lectures in the past three weeks. Each lecture has had about 200 in attendance. "We certainly hope to see an increasing attendance throughout the rest of the series," Dr. Tremmel said.

Conaree and McNamara Oft Changing Characters

Changing characters four times during the College assembly Tuesday night, The Irish Players, Miss Michael Conaree and Dermot McNamara, portrayed scenes from four famous plays.

From the highly genteel Professor Higgins of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," Mc-

Namara turned in a well received performance of the exaggerating Pegeen in John Millington Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

Miss Conaree, likewise, was well received by the audience with her portrayals of the female characters in each of the play excerpts.

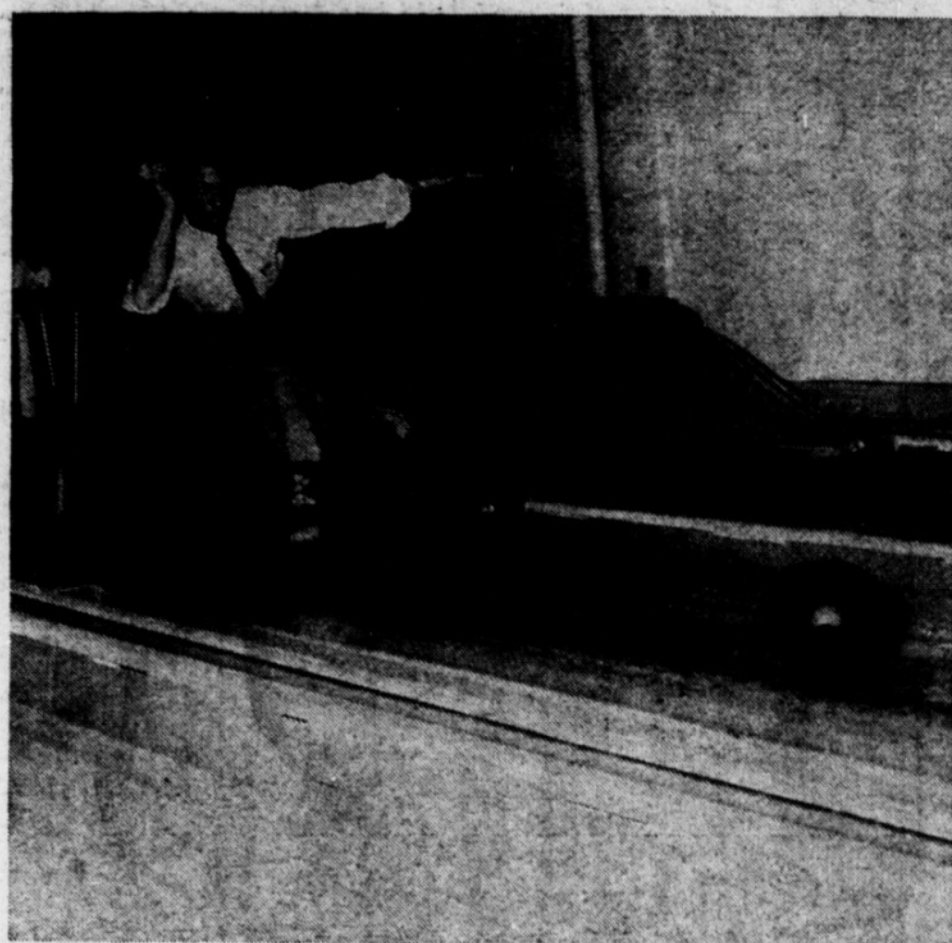

A young American duo-recital team, Miss JoAnn Crossman, pianist, and Donald Stenberg, baritone, will be heard in Memorial chapel at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the next assembly program.

Tomorrow Is Last Chance For KC Trip

Tomorrow at 5 p.m. is the deadline for students to register for the trip to the Starlight theater, which presents "High Button Shoes," starring Paul Gilbert and Hal LeRoy.

The required number of 20 students is necessary to make the trip possible. As of last Tuesday only 20 students had registered; 11 more can be taken. Registering may be done at the activities center in the Union.

The group plans to leave the Union at 3 p.m. on July 13. The return trip will start immediately after the performance.

UNION GAMES DIRECTOR Andy Anderson celebrates the re-opening of the Union's bowling alleys by—of all things—bowling. The alleys were first used Tuesday evening when teams of the new faculty-student league bowled. They have been closed for the addition of a new ceiling.

Next Month's Slate Full One for Union

July will be ushered in at the Union next week with a wide range of activities including two movies, a book review, and a 4th of July dance.

"Love is a Many Splendored Thing" will be shown in the little theatre Monday night at 7:30. In the cinemascope film, Jennifer Jones plays the part of Han Suyin, a Eurasian girl, and William Holden portrays Mark Elliot, the American correspondent who falls in love with her. The short subject for the evening will be "Fish Tales."

The first classic film of the season will be "Lost Boundaries" Wednesday night at 7:30 in the little theatre. Both the classic film and Monday night's popular movie will be free to students.

The intermediate bridge class which usually meets on Thursday evenings will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the walnut dining room next week because of the 4th of July holiday on Thursday.

William Faulkner fans will have a chance to hear a review of the author's latest novel, "The Town," next Tuesday at 11 a.m. Prof. Earle Davis, head of the English department, will give the review in the browsing library, and refreshments will be served. The gallery talk and punch hour which were scheduled for Tuesday at 4 p.m. have been canceled.

Matt Betton and his orchestra will provide the music for a 4th of July dance, in name only, which will take place on the 3rd of July from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. on the Union B deck. Refreshments will be served at the dance, and dress for the affair will be casual.

The Union's summer bowling league was organized Tuesday night and there were enough students and faculty members to make a full league of eight teams. The league will bowl every Tuesday night through July 23 and trophies will be given to the winners.

The Claude Williams combo from Kansas City has been signed to play for the Summer Prom July 19. The prom will be the big dance of the summer session and will be in the main ballroom from 9 to 12 p.m.

Married students and faculty members with children should keep in mind the special children's movie, "Dumbo," which is scheduled for July 9. The feature will be shown at 2 p.m. in the little theatre and admission will be free.

Three More Days To Get Invitations

Seniors graduating at the end of summer school may purchase graduation invitations today, tomorrow, and Saturday, at Kedzie hall, room 101. Checks will not be accepted for invitations, according to George Eaton, superintendent of the College press.

A BRIDGE CLASS in the Union learns, an' learns, an' learns—all about bidding, trumping, and the more hidden facets of the card game. M. Cook (in the background), instructor of the class, supervises operations. A beginning class meets Tuesday evenings, and an advanced section meets Thursday evenings.

CU Students Peeved Over 'Resort' Catalog

By Sandy Wilson

STUDENTS AT THE UNIVERSITY of Colorado are up in arms about the university's summer school catalog which has been likened to a deluxe travel bureau folder. The pamphlets, critics say, read like resort hotel bally-hoo.

Recreational advertising expounds upon "broad programs of campus and mountain activity, weekend campouts, steak fries, climbs with experienced guides, square dancing, tennis and other organized activities."

Seems the Boulder-ites fear magnification of their school's recreational and scenic delights may cast a shadow over the educational aspects of the institution. Sad, isn't it?

WE DO, HOWEVER, doubt that CU's academic standards are in any real danger since they boast three (not one, not two, but THREE) new junior honoraries.

The honoraries—Nails, Tongs, and Sickles—have set up strict membership requirements. Nails says all applicants must be Independents; Tongs excludes all but Greeks; and Sickles will be formed exclusively of lefthanders.

The three new honoraries were organized to fulfill duties not presently handled by the other honoraries. Nails will take care of curry-combing the buffalo (CU's mascot) before every home game; Tongs will brush his teeth so his offensive breath won't keep legislators from appropriating funds for their school; the Sickles will investigate the market for left-handed beer steins.

Now hear this—"Rumors are circulating around campus that a new girls honorary, the Hodcarriers, will soon rise to challenge Mortar Board."

TIRED OF THE SAME, DULL old courses? Baylor university recently included among its new courses one on the "American Tumor."

We understand the catalog has since undergone a "literary operation," however, the students will now enroll for a course in "American Humor." Shucks!

THE COLORADO COLLEGE TIGER offers the following hints on the use of tact:

Dean to student—

"I want to compliment you on your active participation in 10 committees here on campus. Not to change the subject, your grades . . ."

History professor to student—

"You did very well on the first essay question on the test. Now, your answer for the second question indicates . . ."

Students recommending course to another student—

"I wouldn't say the class is boring. As for finding an uncrowded class . . ."

Student to English professor—

"I know you are a very fair-minded person, but my grade . . ."

Father to student—

"I am so glad you are doing well in your studies, but that increase in your allowance . . ."

WE AREN'T MENTIONING ANY NAMES, but one student at North Texas State college, might well investigate the advantages of using the gentle art of tact. The Campus Chat tells his sad story this way:

"The man in the meadow watched the bird," the instructor said, "until it was directly overhead. Then he was blinded by the sun." The instructor paused for effect then asked, "Now what time of day is it?"

Awakening from a daze a student on the back row volunteered, "I have 12 minutes until the bell."

K-Stater Finds England Differs From America

(Marcia Boyd, TJ Soph and next year's Royal Purple editor, left shortly after the spring semester was finished to visit her sister, Pat Boyd Hiss, a 1954 K-State graduate living with her husband, Lieutenant William Hiss, in England. In true Kedzie spirit, Marcia consented to drop the Collegian a line once in a while to let K-Staters know what it was like to travel in Europe. This is our first correspondence.—Ed.)

England has been so much different than I expected. I was told that it would be raining, or at least be foggy, when we docked at Liverpool. But it was quite the opposite—we seemed to bring with us a Kansas heat wave which hasn't yet disappeared. The English people have been too warm for comfort, but I've found the weather just pleasant.

The English crew asked where I was going in England, and when I answered "Warrington," they always frowned and said, "You don't think you'll like it, do you?" proceeding to tell me what a dirty, rainy place it was. Evidently Lancashire, where Warrington is, is the last place a person would want to spend a holiday, but I haven't found it so bad.

The first thing you notice about the country is the left-hand drive and how large American cars look. Driving still looks awfully dangerous, if for no other reason because of the bicycles and pedestrians. I haven't found the courage to either cycle or drive in England yet. The streets and highways are awfully narrow, having been built before cars, and especially before American-type vehicles.

Everyone rides bicycles here, but I still haven't become used to seeing women dressed up in heels and hats peddling down the street, or a workman riding to work early in the morning with his tea pot dangling from the handlebars.

English houses look monotonous because block after block will be identical, except for a different colored door or shutters, maybe. However, each yard has many colorful flowers and green lawns which help to give variety. Gardening seems to be a national hobby.

The number of homes that are duplexes is surprising. There's a perfectly good reason for this, though, one wall serves two houses, and it makes them easier to heat.

But one of the little things that seems strangest to me is that few outside doors have doorknobs. They just have an automatic nightlock which looks the door every time it's closed, and you always have to carry your key.

Actually, the United States and England are basically the same; it's the little customs that make things different—such as taking time out for tea, living at a more leisurely pace, taking walks in the evening instead of driving about in cars.

London is a wonderful city. We spent only four days there—which isn't nearly enough time—and I hope to return later in the summer for a longer visit.

Even the train ride was an unusual experience. Six people ride in a compartment together with an aisle down just one side of the train. One of the men in our compartment turned out to be Michael Dennis, a famous English actor. . . . Since we weren't familiar with such personages, the lady next to us told us who he was when he went out for lunch. Obviously, she was thrilled to be riding with such a celebrity. (He was very nice, helped us with our luggage, loaned us his newspaper, but I imagine we hurt his ego when we seemingly didn't recognize him.)

(We had a startling experience when we got off the train in London. A ghoulish-looking porter grabbed our bags and tried to find us a taxi. He had us wandering all over the hack stands and still he couldn't find us a taxi. Finally we told him to set the bags on the sidewalk and we'd find our own taxi, and he slunk back to his cadaver slab. What a creep!)

We went to the London Zoological Gardens—the zoo—in Regent's park first. The park was

ONE OF THE COLLEGIAN PHOTOGRAPHERS was wondering yesterday—and Collegian reporter Rod Ross was, too—how come nobody bothered to drag off, burn, bury, or carve the tree limb blown down by that storm a week or so back. We guess maybe K-Staters will have to ostracize the darn thing (but we guess, on the other hand, that that won't rid our campus of it, either). It sure is unsightly!—Ed.

Houn' Dawg Presley Sports Teddy Bear

AFTER A LONG ABSENCE from the top position, Elvis Presley again proves to be tops. His recently released disc, "Teddy Bear," has moved all the way to No. 1 in record sales in Manhattan. This is its first appearance on the Top 10.

Last week's first, "Love Letters in the Sand," by Pat Boone, dropped to third while "Young Blood," by the Coasters, coming from ninth spot, now occupies second. Newcomers to the Top 10 are "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo and "Fabulous" by Charley Gracie.

THE TOP 10 RECORDS BY SALE in Manhattan:

1. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley
2. "Young Blood" by the Coasters
3. "Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone
4. "So Rare" by Jimmy Dorsey
5. "I Like Your Kind of Love" by Andy Williams
6. "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis
7. "Fabulous" by Charley Gracie
8. "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo
9. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
10. "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm

The Top 10 in jukebox plays remain fairly stable this week as Pat Boone again captures top honors with his record, "Love Letters in the Sand." "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo moved from 10th to No. five.

Perry Como breaks the Top 10 barrier this week as his platter, "Girl with the Golden Braids," slips into 10th position.

THE TOP 10 ON MANHATTAN'S jukeboxes:

1. "Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone
2. "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm
3. "So Rare" by Jimmy Dorsey
4. "All Shook Up" by Elvis Presley
5. "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo
6. "Bye Bye Love" by Webb Pierce
7. "Four Walls" by Jim Reeves
8. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
9. "Little Darlin'" by the Diamonds
10. "Girl With the Golden Braids" by Perry Como

The battle for the top position on the Top 10 is largely between Boone and Presley. When Elvis first became popular, approximately a year and a half ago, many people said he was a fad and would soon pass. I wonder.

Van Horn Wins Scholarship

Harold H. Van Horn, Ag Jr, is the recipient of the annual Ralston-Purina company's special $500 scholarship.

The award is made available to a senior in agriculture who has a record of high academic achievement, leadership, good character and citizenship, and is in need of financial assistance.

Van Horn is a member of Alpha Zeta, national honorary scholastic fraternity in agriculture; member of the Agricultural Council and Religious Coordinating council, Student Council representative from the School of Agriculture, program chairman of the Dairy club, and president of the Collegiate 4-H club.

Boeing Airplane company's

$2,400 scholarship program at Kansas State this coming year will be shared by 12 K-State students, eight in engineering and four in business administration.

Receiving $200 engineering scholarships will be Royce D. Kopf, EE Jr; Roy W. Dody, EE Jr; Thomas L. Alley, ME Jr; Glen D. Bullock, ME Jr; Gary L. Ogle, EE Jr; Archie J. Cornelius, ME Jr; Alex Jones, EE Soph; and Harold W. Pack, EE Soph.

Dennis Blossom, BAA Soph; Arnold Plank, BA Soph; and two entering freshmen, Merton Stoneking and George Lesovsky, will receive the $200 business administration scholarships.

The annual awards, going to male students only, are based on high scholastic achievement, personal qualifications, good character, and financial need.

KS Student Hit by Ball

Cal Adams, PsP Jr, was injured recently while coaching for a teen-age baseball team in Concordia. Adams was struck in the left eye by a line drive hit by one of the players.

He is confined to St. Joseph's hospital in Concordia at the present time with both eyes bandaged. The accident was reported to be similar to that which recently injured major league pitcher Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians.

Ornate Dry-Land Turtles Seek Escape from Floods

By JOHN RODRIGUEZ

A number of turtles have been observed visiting the campus this summer.

"The majority of these are probably ornate box turtles," declared Dr. E. H. Herrick of the Department of Zoology. This kind is one of the 13 species of turtles found in Kansas and one of the four most commonly found in Riley county.

It is dark brown with narrow yellow lines or spots. Its rear feet are stumpy, a characteristic which makes walking on land easy. This, plus the fact it is not aquatic, helps explain why this species is usually found in dry, open areas on flat or hilly terrain and why it has appeared on the campus.

One reason why the turtle is on campus could be that it was trying to escape the recent floods. It was reported at Hays, a recent flood area, that hundreds of turtles were headed for higher ground to escape the flood and that many were killed crossing the highways.

The mating of the ornate box turtle occurs in May. By the time the summer school session is over the box turtle will be nursing future K-State visitors.

Hibernation prevents the ornate box turtle from visiting the campus during the fall and spring semesters. It begins hibernating in September. The severity of the winter determines how far it burrows into the ground.

Food, a costly problem to students, is no problem to the box turtle. Its food consists mostly of insects and may include plant material.

SGA Activities Consume Time Says Student Body President

"Student government is a year around job, says Neil Scott, student body president, as he feverishly works in preparation for the fall semester. Many things have to be accomplished before fall, and it is keeping myself and the student body members that are here quite busy."

The student government files are being rearranged and brought up to date, and the SGA (student government association) office is being moved from Anderson hall to its new location in the Union. Scott and his committee hope to be moved by fall.

An orientation hour is being outlined for the fall semester. This hour, for the new students, will provide explanations and familiarize the new students with our government.

Ordinarily the municipal swimming pool closes in the first week in September. "We are working toward a delayed closing date and hope that the pool will remain open before and during rush-week," Scott said.

Pre-Enrollment Starts July 1st

Fifteen hundred new freshman and transfer students are expected to pre-enroll this summer between July 1 and August 2.

Students wishing to pre-enroll must submit an application for admission to the registrar's office no later than July 25. The registrar, upon receiving the application, will notify the student when to come to the campus for the two-day registration session.

Pre-enrollment gives a student the opportunity for individual counseling and advisement and to schedule classes in advance of the regular registration period.

All pre-enrollees must report to the College on September 8 to take part in other orientation activities and to fill out cards and pay fees.

June Is Worst Tornado Month And the Rain Breeds 'em, Too

By DORIS FLAGG

Thirty to 40 per cent of all tornadoes occur in June, a month we usually associate with more peaceful activity.

These funnel-shaped formations are the most violent, least extensive, and most sharply defined of all storms. The widest path of ruin ever caused by a tornado was only 1.8 miles at Woodward, Okla., in 1947.

Professor Huber Self of the Department of Geology and Geography says tornadoes are found in the same middle latitudes which experience cyclonic storms. In the United States, they occur from the Rocky Mountains eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

Asked about the frequency of tornadoes in 1957, Professor Self said there have been more because of the increased amount of rainfall—they were numerous in 1914 and 1951—both wet years.

He also suggested that there are more people observing weather conditions now than there were 15 to 20 years ago. Now, more funnels are being observed that might possibly have gone undetected in earlier years.

According to Self, most tornadoes are caused by a mass of warm and very moist air colliding with a mass of cold, dry air at a high altitude. The cold air generally moves from a westerly direction, shearing off the top of the warm air mass and causing the warm air to rise rapidly.

The converging currents cause a counter-clockwise whirl, since the southerly current is nearly always the faster of the two.

Ninety per cent of all tornadoes travel from southwest to northeast. The best refuge is underground; the southwest corner of a basement is usually safe.

Opening the windows will keep a house from exploding. The advisable thing to do if you are caught in the open is to lie down, preferably in a low place.

If you should be caught in a business district, the safest place is probably against an inside wall of a substantial building, well away from the windows, on a lower floor.

Tornadoes travel from 30 to 40 miles an hour, so if you should happen to be in a car, you would probably stand a good chance of outrunning one.

Property damage from tornadoes is greater in seven other states than in Kansas. Loss of life is worse in 15 other states.

Average loss of life is low in Kansas—about 2 per cent of the national casualty rate. If you live in Kansas 70 years, you have less than one chance in 5,000 of losing your life as a result of a tornado.

Haylett Leads Thinclads on Tour Abroad

Ward H. Haylett, track coach, will take an 11-man squad of American athletes to Italy July 3 to compete in three Italian track meets.

The team has been invited to visit five other countries later in July. The group going to Italy is one of five American squads chosen by the A.A.U. to make the trip abroad.

Grammar Defunct Sez

K-State English Proficiency Is Really No Sweat

HELEN LUTZ, Eng Soph, took time out last night to bone up for tonight's English pro exam. Logically enough, Helen picked a dictionary for study. Worried? Not her (you see, she knows).

By GENE ASKEN

"Psst! Psst!" came the call as Grammar Defunct strolled through the Union pool room. Grammar turned sharply and let his eyes wander over the prostrate form that was lining the cue stick with the cue ball and the three ball.

"Were you calling me?" Grammar asked the Form.

"Yeah," came the answer as the cue ball recoiled under the impact of the cue stick. Watching the three ball fall into the corner pocket, the Form breathed, "wanta buy a hot English pro exam?"

Grammar Defunct suddenly became conscious of the immediate peril of the English proficiency examination. Beads of perspiration formed on Grammar's forehead as he visualized himself taking his seat at 7 p.m. in Eisenhower hall this evening. His hands became clammy as he thought of writing a minimum of 500 words about a subject to be selected from a list of 25 the proctor will hand him.

"Is it a bona fide, guaranteed-not-to-flunk copy that you're selling?" Grammar asked the Form. A bloodshot eye, visible behind the Form's pink sun glasses, momentarily glanced from the five ball to Grammar's inquisitive face.

A hurt expression was apparent as the Form glanced back to the five ball. "I poisonally lifted this one myself," the Form said as the five ball rebounded into the middle pocket.

"Yes," Grammar thought to himself, "if I buy this test I won't have to worry about studying my grammar book. I won't have to stay up all night trying to think up an opinion on such topics as 'A Typical American Family,' or 'The Future of the Human Race.'"

The words of English Asst. Prof. John P. Noonan came to Grammar's mind as these thoughts raced dizzily through his head. "Two or three students did not graduate last semester because they failed the English proficiency examination."

An impatient rapping of the cue stick on the pool table gave Grammar a start. Turning to the Form he asked, "How much do you want for the test?"

The Form pushed his French beret closer to his eyes as he took sight on the seven ball. "For you buddy, it's a special reduced price, 10 bucks."

After taking a three-cornered rebound, the seven ball lazily fell into the near corner pocket. Grammar, whose eyes had been following the seven ball, mentally pictured the moth-eaten $10 bill that he had placed in his shoe for a rainy day.

The words of Professor Noonan again echoed through the chambers of Grammar's cranium. "Every theme is graded twice and all care is taken to make sure that the grades are fair. Since there are no names on the paper, the grader cannot be partial in his grading."

The thumping noise of the nine ball striking the table cushion reminded Grammar of the noise that the English proficiency rule book made when Noonan laid it on the table. He remembered how Noonan thumbed through the book and pointed out that the paper would be graded for fundamental grammar, ideas, organization of material, and spelling.

He remembered Noonan saying, "Most students run into trouble by making their outline after they finish writing. Some students try to make an impression with over voluminous words and formal phrases, which is a detriment to the paper."

As the Form lined up the eight ball, Grammar remembered Noonan saying, "Be natural, do not write as you speak, and do the best you can. It's an easy test, as verified by the fact that most students do pass it."

All at once, Grammar realized that he had been worrying over nothing. And as Grammar Defunct leisurely walked from the pool room into the late morning sun, he glanced back; the motionless Form was slouched behind the eight ball.

Try K-State Formal Gardens For Moonlit, Romantic Walk

By DIXIE GOOD

Looking for a place to take a romantic stroll by moonlight? Well, the formal gardens north of the President's home and east of Dickens hall provide the perfect atmosphere for a walk of this kind.

The June roses are in full bloom and there's a small pool which adds to the charm of the setting.

The gardens, which have been a part of the campus since 1922, are divided into five "rooms" by a cedar hedge. The two end rooms are the largest and they contain mixtures of plants, many of them native to Kansas.

The two inside rooms are more specialized. One of these is called the rose garden. Hybrid tea roses are planted along the borders; florabundas make up the inside beds, and there is a sun dial in the center.

The bulb garden is planted with tulips, narcissi, hyacinths, and crocuses. A pool, complete with goldfish and water lilies, is the focal point of the small center room. Sawed rock walks wind throughout the gardens, and stone benches are placed along these walks.

A minimum of $2,000, which comes from the campus maintenance budget, is required annually to maintain the formal gardens. They are cared for by Bill Simmons, a member of the ground crew. He works full time in the gardens from March until frost and always finds plenty to do.

In the north garden, Mr. Simmons carries on experimental work with roses. Each year the National Rose Growers' association chooses an All-American rose.

This rose, along with several other new varieties, is sent to Mr. Simmons and other gardeners for a year of experimental growth before it is placed on the market. Mr. Simmons records the progress made by the roses and sends this information to the companies which developed them.

Three varieties were chosen All-American for 1958 and are now being tested in the north garden. They are Gold Cup, Fusilier, and White Knight.

The formal gardens were often the scene of student weddings before Danforth chapel was built.

Polio Prevention Up to You—Lafene

By PAT CORBIN

Why not join with the American Medical association in its active support of the polio prevention campaign? According to Dr. B. W. Lafene, a veteran contacted polio last summer and a senior contacted polio in September; anyone is in danger of being attacked.

"We would be proud if we could say next fall that there were no paralytic cases for the first time in history," Lafene said. A little discomfort of a small needle compared to a case of paralytic polio is nothing."

Complete vaccination consists of three injections, the second two to six weeks after the first, and the third no less than seven months after the second.

Salk vaccine is developed from polio virus grown on animal tissue cultures and treated to destroy immunizing properties. It is perfectly safe and there is no danger of an active case of polio developing.

In 1955, one manufacturer had difficulties with live virus in the vaccine. The problem was investigated and solved.

Polio strikes in the winter as well as in summer. According to Dr. Lafene, a good precaution is wholesome food (and drinking water).

During the second semester of 1956-57, student health doctors and nurses gave 4,194 polio injections, part of a year-round national project of immunization against polio.

Dr. Lafene expressed forcefully, "If students and faculty in summer school haven't had polio shots, we would like to have them start the series of three shots immediately for effective protection."

"It's the duty of college students and faculty members to immunize themselves against the dreaded polio," he added.

Five Plays Will Be In Auditorium Tonight

The presentation of five one-act plays tonight at 8 o'clock in the College auditorium will climax the three-week session of the first annual Kansas high school speech institute at Kansas State college for high school students participating in the dramatics division.

Students taking part in the radio-television and public speaking and forensics divisions also plan to climax their sessions with special events.

The sessions, which started June 9, will end Saturday.

Methodist married students and their families will take part in a pot-luck lawn supper at Wesley foundation tomorrow at 6 p.m. Families participating should bring a covered dish—and their children. Planned recreation will follow the supper.

United Sunday Church school will be at 10:10 a.m. at Memorial chapel.

United Christian Youth fellowship will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Disciples Student Fellowship house. The topic for discussion will be "The Church in Higher Education."

You'll be pleased with a Collegian classified.

Men's Dorms Started in Fall One of Two, To House 600

By ROD ROSS

"Elliot Courts will soon be the site of the new men's dormitory," said A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing. The construction of the dormitory, which will house 600, is expected to start in the fall.

A separate building with a dining hall will be constructed south of the dormitory. An enclosed walkway is proposed to connect the two buildings. Later, a second dormitory will be built, also with a walkway. The three buildings will form a triangle.

Another project which will begin in the fall is the addition of apartment dormitories for married students. The project calls for 11 L-shaped two-story apartment buildings identical to the eight already occupied. There will be 16 one-bedroom and 8 two-bedroom apartments in each building. The new buildings will make an additional 264 apartments.

Both projects have been approved by the Board of Regents and the loans have been approved by the Federal Housing and Home Finance agency.

Edwards, Dean of Students Herbert Wunderlich, and physical plant director R. F. Gingrich went to Topeka last Tuesday to confer with the state architect concerning the plans for the men's dormitory.

The housing program now includes one men's dormitory under Memorial stadium, which houses 176 students; four dormitories for women, which house 670; 212 converted barracks apartments; 192 new permanent apartments; and 82 space lots for trailers.

As the women's dormitories are now overcrowded, the College is considering adding another women's dormitory.

"Even the addition of 264 apartments will not be enough to accommodate the number of married students enrolled. There were approximately 1,500 married men students enrolled in the spring semester of '57," Edwards said.

One English Difference Is Food—Boyd

lovely, and the zoo had a lot of nice animals. But we had more fun just watching the people feeding the monkeys and elephants.

We ate at a 1½-acre roof garden on top of a five-floor department store, the largest roof garden of its type in the world. It was really pretty with little streams and waterfalls and ducks swimming in them, so high in the air. It was unusual, but the food was typically English—and that's not good by our standards.

All they seem to serve for lunch is things like cold pork pie, salads, and strange-tasting foods which are unfamiliar to Americans. The milk or beer is rarely very cold, and coffee is always served with cream during the day. It's almost impossible to find a cup of black coffee or American-type cold carbonated drinks. They've never heard of iced tea, either.

We found Madame Toussaud's wax museum, although a "tourist trap," well worth the time and money. We spent two hours there mingling with "famous people"—kings, actors, criminals, American presidents, athletes, etc. The figures looked so real, and from a distance, it seemed as though you could actually see them breathe. The way they were arranged in tableaux—such as the murder of Guy Fawkes—made it much more interesting. The famous "Chamber of Horrors," after winding your way down two flights of dungeon-like stairs and seeing tortures and murders, was enough to give anyone nightmares.

We found two very interesting cafes with "atmosphere" on the back streets of London, "The Three Vikings," Danish, and "The Tyrol," Austrian. Both were old-looking with paintings and carvings of their respective countries on the walls. They served special native foods. "The Tyrol" had zither music during dinner, but we arrived too early for this specialty. The English people don't seem to eat dinner until 7 or 8 p.m. They'll feed their children early and put them to bed so the parents can enjoy their meal in peace.

I saw my first ballet, "The Prince of Pagodas," by the Royal Ballet, and loved it. The costumes and scenery were something in themselves to see, even if you didn't like the dancing.

Shopping and traveling in metropolitan London is quite easy by bus or tube (subway). Huge maps at the stations for ignorant tourists like us make it quite simple. However, we didn't see any Americans on buses or tubes.

Our last morning in London, we took an organized tour of the historical spots of the city. The changing of the guard was quite spectacular with all the colorful red-and-black uniforms and beautifully matched horses. The Tower of London, with its Crown Jewels, is chock-full of history. We also saw St. Paul's Cathedral, the Bank of England, the London Bridge, and other historical places.

On the train ride back to Warrington, we talked four hours to an American airman and an English civil engineer. In spite of all the pictures of the solemn, proper Englishman, we found them friendly and helpful, and perhaps more so, than our people in American cities.

Collegian Sets July 15th As 'KS Coed' Deadline

The "Miss K-State Coed" queen contest, sponsored by the Collegian, will close on Monday, July 15. Entries will not be accepted after that date.

Any coed attending K-State is eligible to enter. Coeds wishing to enter the contest must fill out an entry blank in room 103a, Kedzie hall.

A written essay to be entitled, "What I intend to do with my college degree" must be submitted by entrants in Kedzie 103a by Tuesday, July 16. The essay is to be short (150-200 words) and should be type-written, double-spaced, or clearly written in ink.

A queen and two attendants will be named by the judges at the annual Manhattan Water show at the Municipal pool, Tuesday, July 23. Starting time for the evening's activities is 8. The queen will be crowned at 9.

The judges for the event are Prof. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications; M. A. Durland, dean of the engineering school; and Dr. A. D. Weber, acting-president at K-State.

The queen will be presented prizes to be donated by Collegian advertisers. A complete list of prizes will be published in a later issue of the Collegian.

Interested coeds may inquire in Kedzie 103b, the Collegian office, should they have questions about the contest.

VOLUME LXIII. NUMBER 152

Union Holiday Hop Tonight Starts July 4th Celebrating

K-Staters will celebrate the Fourth of July a day early at the free Union dance tonight at 8:30. Matt Betton and his band will play on the Union B deck and refreshments will be served to the dancers during the evening. Dress is casual.

For those who prefer to celebrate the holiday by seeing a movie, "Lost Boundaries," starring Beatrice Pearson, Mel Ferrer, and Susan Douglas, will be shown in the little theatre at 7:30 p.m.

Next week will be movie week at the Union with two films for the students and one feature just for the kiddies. Marilyn Monroe will star in the Union's popular movie Monday night at 7:30 in the little theatre. "River of No Return," starring Miss Monroe and Robert Mitchum will be the feature, and the short will be "An Evening Alone."

Children of married students and faculty members will be entertained at the Union next Tuesday with a special children's movie, "Dumbo." The film will start at 2 p.m. and a short featurette, "The Elephant," will be shown.

If your French needs brush-ing up, the second classic film, a week from tonight at 7:30 in the little theatre, will be good practice for you. The dialogue of "A Nous La Liberte" is in French, but there are English subtitles to help the viewer along if he gets stuck.

Students who want to improve their skill in bowling, billiards, or ping pong may take advantage of free lessons in the games area any evening until 9 p.m. Andy Anderson, Union games director, will arrange for the lessons and there will be no charge except the regular fee for playing in the games area.

Thirty-Nine Staters To Go On Journey To Starlight

The trip to the Starlight theater in Kansas City on July 13 sponsored by the K-State Union and the local Chamber of Commerce will go off as scheduled.

The 29 students needed to make the trip possible have signed plus 10 more, making 39 who have registered to make the trip.

The group will leave the Union at 3 p.m. on July 13. That evening they will attend the Starlight theater, which presents "High Button Shoes," starring Paul Gilbert and Hal LeRoy.

One student who had signed has withdrawn her name from the list. This gives someone else a chance to make the trip. Anyone interested should inquire at the activities center in the Union.

READY, AIM, FIRE. A pre-enrollee grits his teeth as Mrs. Evelyn Lowell, registered nurse, at student health gives him a tuberculin skin test, a requirement for all enrollees.

Pre-Enrollment Begins With 139 on Campus

New students in the process of pre-enrolling totaled 139 yesterday, according to Robert Anderson, assistant-director of admissions and registrar. Pre-enrollment will continue until August 2.

Enrollees start at Memorial chapel for aptitude and English tests. Next they go to Student Health for a physical examination and then to general sessions in their respective schools.

K-State began a pre-enrollment program four years ago that has been met with enthusiasm by new students. The two-day program provides a chance for new students to see K-State college life as it really is.

According to Ellsworth M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar, pre-enrollment helps students in making the transition from high school to college. It gives them an idea of what it will be like to establish new ties and friendships and become more directly responsible for time, energy, and money.

Tap Dancer Will Appear Here July 9th

Tuesday's 8 p.m. assembly will feature Rod Strong, whose tap dancing and ballet leaps have carried him to 16 countries as a professional supper club and theater entertainer.

Strong's dancing ranges from esthetic to comedy pantomime tap.

Air-Conditioning Out for Union Until Next Fall

Did you ever dream of cutting class and leisurely drinking a coke in an air-conditioned Union this summer? Sad news came from R. F. Gingrich, head of the Physical Plant, Monday when he said "There will be no air-conditioning for the Union this summer."

Work, Sweat To Make Play—Robson

THREE OF THE FOUR members of the cast of "The Glass Menagerie" rehearse for the July 18 production. From left: Fred Rogers, Sp Gr; Carol Mast, Sp; and Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr. The three are cast as son, mother, and daughter in one of Tennessee Williams' successes.

"Work and sweat have the play 'The Glass Menagerie,' well on the road to a successful production July 18," said John Robson, associate professor of speech and director of the play.

"We picked 'Glass Menagerie' for our production because it is a challenging play for a small cast of four actors. It is a mood play backed by unrealistic lighting," Robson said.

Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr, seen in "Years Ago" in the summer of 1955, will portray Laura, a crippled girl.

Carol Mast, Sp, plays Amanda, a once popular Southern belle. Carol was seen in the production 'Fresh Fields' last summer.

Warren Bennett, Eng Soph, will play the part of Amanda's son, who has a desire to become a writer.

Fred Rogers, Sp Gr, will play the part of Laura's gentleman caller.

The play takes place in a setting of the late 30's. A once popular mother whose husband has deserted her, a son with a strange desire to write, and a crippled, beautiful daughter, strive to make life a success in a small house off an alleyway in St. Louis.

Laura is shy and unpopular and sits day after day, amusing herself with her "Glass Menagerie" of small animals.

"YEAH— WELL YOU SHOULD'VE SMELLED THIS LOCKER ROOM BEFORE THAT."

Enrollment Increases May Cause Crisis

By DICK HAINES

A Crisis is developing in American colleges.

Enrollment is zooming. And the worst is yet to come. A huge wave of students will hit college in the years ahead.

A period of vast expansion lies ahead for American colleges. This expansion, if carried out, is going to cost a lot of money . . . perhaps a billion dollars a year. This would mean higher taxes.

The University of California, with 40,000 students now, foresees 96,000 by 1970.

The University of Michigan, now educating 22,000, expects a minimum of 40,000 within 10 years.

The fall enrollment for Kansas State college is more than 6,500. President McCain expects this figure to double in 10 years.

President McCain is in favor of raising entrance requirements. "Perhaps terminal vocational courses for high-school graduates not qualified to earn college degrees could be instituted," he said in a speech last fall.

It used to be that only a comparatively few men and women went to college. One out of 25 in 1900 and only 1 out of 12 as late as 1930.

As a result, college enrollment has grown from about 250,000 in 1900 to a total of 3.2 million today . . . and this enrollment is expected to double by 1967. It may triple by 1975. These figures were taken from U.S. News and World Report.

The year 1975 may sound pretty far out of your reach. But I figured the other day that when I become old enough to retire (65) the year will be 2000 A.D. And that does sound strange.

Should we keep colleges open the year around, instead of nine months? How about the quarter or three-semester system? Night and Saturday classes may be proposed.

What kind of sweeping changes do you have in mind? Or do you particularly care? It won't be too many years until you have children who will be caught in the predicament of perhaps not being able to attend college.

Oh well, sit back and enjoy your stay in summer school. It's nice just to be here.

Indiana Students Eagerly Rushing Russian Brainwashing Workshop

By Sandy Wilson

TWENTY-FOUR STUDENTS AT Indiana university are undergoing an intensified program of "rushin' your Russian," according to the Indiana Daily Student.

The 24 have sworn to use the Russian language exclusively during their five-week stay at I.U. Indiana's workshop and the one at Middlebury Conn., college, are the only two of this kind in the United States.

Awakening to an alarm clock which tingles to the "Song of the Volga Boatman," the students look forward to four hours of classes a day supplemented by supervised study periods in both the afternoon and evening.

In addition to these "brainwashings," workshop officials thoughtfully provide a faculty member to be present at each meal. According to reports, the unfortunate who misplaces an accent during the course of a meal may well have to go with his coffee left unsweetened.

Evenings are spent listening to Russian records or lectures on Russia, learning Ukrainian folk songs, or watching Russian movies.

Men and women participants in the workshop are housed in adjacent dormitories which make it possible for them to shout their Russian "sleep tights" across the way.

INDIANA'S WORKSHOP may sound somewhat restricting to many students, but it stacks up not at all alongside the rigors devised by Bulgaria's Red school-masters.

Coeds who cross their legs in public can be expelled from Bulgarian universities for "Bourgeois behavior," according to reports from the Crusade for Freedom. The weight of this offense is doubled if she happens to be smoking or drinking a glass of wine in this unseemly position.

Also on the list of offenses are dancing western dances, which are labeled "incompatible with socialistic efforts;" and cutting Party meetings and demonstrations.

The Bulgarian cut system requires a student who misses more than two classes in one subject to repeat the entire year—or two full semesters.

The behavior of Bulgarian university students is watched over by a professor called the "Responsible," who is appointed by the faculty rector to superintend a group of students. Students inform on each other by reporting to the "Responsible," and it is his duty to check attendance at lectures and exercises and to turn in periodic reports.

To make the "system" unbreakable, the "Responsible" appoints one student as a "Watcher," and the "Watcher" may announce the "Responsible" if he feels he isn't getting the job done. Confusing, isn't it?

THE COLORADO COLLEGE TIGER brings to light some arbitrary regulations for college students right here in the U.S.

Here are a few labeled "Rules Regulating the Conduct of Students during their Freshman Year at Colorado College:"

1. "No Freshman shall be allowed to carry a cane or wear a silk hat until his class shall have inflicted some decisive defeat upon the sophomore class.

2. "No freshman may stay up after 10:30 p.m.

3. "No freshman shall be permitted to be out on the street after 8 p.m.

4. "No freshman may be allowed to flunk in any course oftener than once a month.

5. "No freshman shall be permitted to wear a dress suit at any social function at C.C.

6. "Freshmen shall not be permitted call upon their lady friends after 9 p.m.

7. "Freshmen shall not strive to obtain higher rank in their classes than upper classmen taking the same course."

The above rules were published in the Tiger with a warning that any violations would be dealt with by a "committee of sophomores who, as their natural enemies, will inflict the most horrible tortures on the luckless offenders."

KS Cadets Attend ROTC Summer Camp

By JAY WORKMAN

More than 70 K-State advanced ROTC students moved into Fort Riley Saturday for a six-week summer camp in field training.

Over 1,800 cadets are attending the camp, representing 41 universities and colleges situated in 14 states.

Kansas State cadets will receive training to supplement the material covered during the academic year at K-State. The emphasis in this part of training is on practical work in the field, use of various infantry weapons, development of leadership potential and familiarization with military life.

One of the high points of the instruction will be a study of the new "pentomic" organization and tactics, which is being offered for the first time. Highlighting this phase of the training will be work with a battle group of the 1st Infantry division, one of the first units to reorganize under the pentomic concept.

The cadets will be assigned a variety of duties which will test their initiative and resourcefulness, and they will be rated on their ability to solve field problems in the role of unit leaders. The schedule is rigorous and physical conditioning is stressed.

An extensive athletic program has been set up for after-duty hours. Practically all of the more popular summer sports are available and competitive team sports are regularly scheduled.

PX's (post exchanges) are operated in the area to provide incidentals, and movies are shown nightly in the amphitheater.

Training is conducted by 260 carefully selected officers assembled from ROTC duty at schools within the Fifth Army area.

Officers and men at Ft. Riley support the training session by conducting demonstrations in the use of the latest weapons, equipment, and techniques.

Cadets are living in new permanent barracks, located in the Custer Hill area of a 56,000-acre Ft. Riley tract.

Colonel William W. Harvey, professor of military science and tactics at K-State and deputy camp commander, welcomed the cadets to the camp by saying,

"We will send you to your homes in August, professionally trained, physically fit, militarily skilled and imbued with the ideals of integrity, loyalty and purpose—the attributes of an officer in the United States Army Reserve."

Women Get Their Men In Last June Weddings

Kathlyn King, SED Sr from Horton, and Dale Knepper, B Arch '57, of Kansas City, Mo., were married June 15 in the First Christian church, Horton.

Dale is with the U.S. Army stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash. His bride will join him there following his graduation from K-State in August.

Wanda Facklam, EEd Jr from Junction City, became the bride of Ron Sowell, JE Fr from Manhattan, in a ceremony at St. John's church, Alida, June 21.

After a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will be at home in Manhattan. Both will return to school in the fall.

Dan Farrell, BS '57 from Manhattan, married Eva Miller of Granville, Ohio, in a ceremony at the Church of St. Edward, Granville, which was an event of early summer.

Dan was a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity at K-State. His bride is a graduate of Otterbein college. Following the ceremony the couple left for Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, where Dan is employed as station manager with the park service.

Constance Tyler, BS '56, and Eldon Stout, BA Sr, were married June 8 in the Caney Presbyterian church. Connie is from Caney and Eldon is from Studley.

They are at home at I-7 Jardine terrace.

Susan Young, EEd Fr from Clay Center, and John Callan Christlieb were married June 16 at Clay Center. They will make their home in Topeka.

Engagements

The engagement of Nancy Rasher, BS '57, and Howard L. Sparks, BS '50, has been announced. Both are from Abilene.

Nancy was a member of Kappa Delta at K-State; she will teach in the Augusta junior high school next year. Howard is managing editor of the Abilene Reflector-Chronicle.

George Mathews, BS '57, and Rita Transmeier of Lawrence, are engaged to be married. George is from Lecompton and is working as a landscape architect for the State Highway department at Topeka. His fiancée is employed at the K.U. police department.

The wedding will be August 3.

The engagement of Gavona Michaels, BS '57, and Walt Martin, AH Sr, has been announced by her parents. Gavona is from Michigan Valley and will teach home economics at Herington this fall.

Walt is from Opolis and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Student Loans Help K-Staters in Financial Binds

By DONNA SNODGRASS

Remember the days when a guy approached his buddy with embarrassment for a touch till payday? "How about loaning me five bucks 'til I get paid?"

Those were the good old days. Most people were a little ashamed at running out of money and hated even more taking the chance of alienating a friend by borrowing from him.

As in every other realm, times have changed. In general, borrowing is not looked upon as cause for embarrassment; in fact, it may be the accepted thing. Certainly our society is geared to take care of this problem in many ways.

An estimated 300 K-Staters have made use of the Alumni loan fund during the period from August, 1956, to June, 1957. The average amount of loans from this fund are $200-$250. Approximately the same number of students have borrowed from the Student or Emergency loan fund, which handles smaller amounts.

The Alumni loan fund is set up from life membership money, gifts, and bequests. The Alumni office accepts applications. The student usually must have a C average and must provide a co-signer, preferably a parent or guardian.

Five references from his home community and five faculty recommendations must be submitted. The normal amount of time required is ten days, but it can be done quicker. Very few applications are turned down, perhaps because past records of repayment have been excellent.

The Alumni fund handles long-term loans which draw interest. The interest rate is 3 per cent per year up 'til the due date—usually one year after graduation. After the due date, interest is charged at 6 per cent per year. The usual amount loaned is under $500, but occasionally may go up to $1,000.

The other loan fund described as "emergency" is just that. Short term loans requiring no endorser, drawing no interest, and for smaller amounts come from this fund.

Kenney L. Ford, executive alumni secretary, says he thinks the loan committee is very reasonable and liberal concerning the use of money loaned out, though they naturally discourage borrowing for anything but necessities. "You might be surprised what comes under that heading, though," Mr. Ford mused. "Tuition, of course, cars, sorority or fraternity house bills — even babies!"

K-State Allotted Building Funds

Appropriations for continued and additional building on the K-State campus total almost three-quarters of a million dollars for the 1957-58 fiscal year, according to R. F. Gingrich, head of the Physical Plant.

The money comes from the Educational Building fund. A three-fourths mill state levy goes to this fund. The appropriations vary as to the amount of building being done on each campus during a particular year.

Appropriations received by K-State:

A walkway and bridge from the parking lot west of the Stadium extending to the walks south of the Field house. The bridge will go over the chute on the track. This project, to be completed by fall, received an appropriation of $6,000.

An appropriation of $65,000 is to be used for equipping the laboratories in the Animal Industries building.

For remodeling and equipping the old veterinary hospital and completing the stable wing, $53,000 has been allotted. Remodeling the first floor and basement of Anderson hall warranted a $35,000 appropriation. The Registrar's office will be moved to the basement.

The meats laboratory now in Waters hall will be moved to the Animal Industries building. A wheat quality testing laboratory will replace the meats laboratory in Waters. This project received an appropriation of $35,000.

An additional $50,000 was appropriated to finish the Agricultural Engineering wing. For the planning of the new $1.2 million Dairy plant and Poultry building, $25,000 will be received.

An appropriation of $250,000 is available for tearing down the old barracks and constructing a new Student Health building. Another $200,000 will be appropriated next year for the completion. Preliminary planning started the first of the year.

An appropriation of $100,000 was received for an addition to Eisenhower. Additional funds for this project will be appropriated next year. For the addition to Kedzie, $100,000 has been appropriated and $275,000 will be forthcoming in 1958-59.

IT WAS STANDING ROOM ONLY outside the little theatre in the Union just before the Union movie, "River of No Return," Monday evening.

Setting of Poetic Realism To Be in Play—Hermes

"Poetic realism will be the setting of the 'Glass Menagerie,'" Don Hermes, assistant professor of speech and stage manager of the play, said.

"The set is about finished and will be ready at production time, July 18. The living room and dining room are decorated with drab furniture to fit a run-down neighborhood.

The play opens with Tom, played by Warren Bennett, Eng Soph, walking down the alley on a summer evening.

He thinks about Amanda, his mother, played by Carol Mast, Sp, and her desire to find a husband for her daughter, Laura, portrayed by Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr, who is a shy, crippled girl and passes her time with her menagerie of glass animals.

Tom finally brings home a "gentleman caller" for Laura, played by Fred Rogers, Sp Gr. At one point during the play, a love scene takes place in the dark alley between Laura and her gentleman caller while colored lights flash through the alley from a dance hall across the street.

Summer Rush Gets Started For Kansas State Sororities

Summer rushing by sororities will be in full swing in the major Kansas cities between July 12 and August 12, according to Janell Farrell, president of Panhellenic council at K-State.

Nine of the 10 sororities have planned parties for get-acquainted periods before the fall rush week, September 1-6, when girls are selected to join the different sororities. Summer party attendance is by invitation only.

Staters See TV Stars At Starlight

By ROD ROSS

The Starlight theater, an open-air theater in Kansas City, Mo., will be the objective of a 39-member K-State contingent this weekend. The group will leave from in front of the Union at 3 p.m. Saturday, and will return after the presentation.

"High Button Shoes," starring Paul Gilbert and Hal LeRoy, is featured at the theater. Comic Gilbert, in charge of the mad happenings, and dancer Hal LeRoy and television stars Denise Lor and Jill Corey will enliven the proceedings.

The wit Gilbert displays in his television routines and club engagements are put to good use in his portrayal of a con man who sells water-logged real estate in New Jersey.

Miss Lor, singing star of the daily "Gary Moore Show," is making her first Starlight appearance. She joins with LeRoy as Mama and Papa Longstreet, unsuspecting dupes in the land-selling schemes of two crooks. This is LeRoy's fourth appearance at the Starlight.

Miss Corey, brunette recording star, becomes romantically involved not only with the con man but also with big, handsome football player Ralph Lowe.

One of the most valuable properties ever to be shown on the Starlight stage is a feature of the show. It is a 1911 Ford "Torpedo Roadster," sports car of the "Brass Era" is motoring.

Kingsbury To Speak In Next Quelle Talk

Dr. Leslie Kingsbury will lecture next Wednesday evening at 7, in the All-Faith Memorial chapel, on "The General Epistles and Homilies."

Included in the topic are the writings called Timothy, Titus, Hebrews, James, Peter, John, and Jude. The final Quelle lecture will be July 24, "The Revelation of St. John," by Dr. William C. Tremmel.

Last night's lecturer, the Rev. Roy Turner, spoke on "The Gospel of St. John." This lecture had previously been announced for Wednesday of last week through an error.

The Rev. Mr. Turner discussed the relationship of this Gospel to the wider Greco-Roman philosophy of early Christian times, and the special religious significance of this Gospel in Christian thinking.

Dividing his lecture into three parts, the Rev. Mr. Turner pointed out the definite mystery concerning the authorship of this Gospel, the equally elusive date of the writing, and the background and purpose of it.

Live Jazz Concert Tonight

Matt Betton and a hand-picked combo with members from Manhattan, Junction City, Topeka, and Kansas City will entertain K-Staters with a live jazz concert tonight at 7:30 on the Union B deck.

The concert, for listening only, will be free and refreshments will be served. Tables and chairs will be set up on the deck for the comfort of the listeners. During the evening Mr. Betton will give a commentary on the history and development of jazz, and he will also explain the differences between the various types of jazz.

Six well known motion picture stars are featured in next Monday night's free popular movie, "Three Coins in the Fountain." Jean Peters, Dorothy McGuire, Maggie McNamara, Clifton Webb, Louis Jourdan, and Rosano Brazzi play leading roles in the film which starts at 7:30 in the little theater. The short subject for the evening will be "Rough Riding."

The punch hour scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the main lounge has been canceled, and the one which was scheduled for Tuesday, July 30, has also been canceled.

"Crime and Punishment" will be the free classic film shown next Wednesday night. Henry Baur and Pierre Blanchard star in this movie, based on Dos-toevsky's novel of the same name. Starting time will be 7:30 and the place will be the little theater.

A Summer Prom, the highlight of the Union's program of summer activities, will take place in the main ballroom a week from Friday night from 9 to 12. Claude Williams and his combo from Kansas City will play for the dance and an admission of 50 cents per couple will be charged. Dress for the prom will be cotton dresses for women and slacks and dress shirts for men.

Because the special kiddies' movie, "Dumbo," which was shown Tuesday afternoon, was a success, another movie especially for children of married students and faculty members will be offered early next fall. About 310 children attended the free picture Tuesday in the little theater.

Staters Strong on Strong At All-College Assembly

The last of the All-College assemblies for the current summer session was presented in the College auditorium Tuesday night when tap dancer Rod Strong performed before an appreciative audience.

Strong explained the tap and ballet movements of each dance in accordance with his interpretation of the music. "Dancing is basically a design to music by movement of the body," he said.

With piano accompaniment by Rolf Barnes, Strong gave his impression of a trip to a circus. Dancing to the music of Paganini's "Caprice No. 9,"

Strong portrayed the strong man, the tight rope walker, and the juggler.

In another selection, Strong gave forth with the emphatic tap beats characteristic of the Spanish dance. Using the music of Albeniz's "Leyenda," he portrayed a gaucho spending the night in town, having fun with the senoritas, and finally riding home.

Also enjoyed by the audience were Strong's interpretive dances to the music of Kreisler's "Liebestreu," Gershwin's "Concerto in E," Youmans' "Tea for Two," and Anderson's "Fiddle Faddle."

High IQ Study Doesn't Necessarily Mean 'A'

By SANDY WILSON

AN ILLINOIS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY researcher has confirmed what many college students secretly like to believe is true—that a high IQ and long hours of study do not necessarily guarantee good grades in college.

So if you are spending more than the average amount of time studying (1.5 hours per hour of class) you might just as well be putting that time to better use.

The researcher, William D. Diemer, Illinois Tech mechanics instructor, says his survey also indicates that "grades may not bear a close relation to the amount learned."

Diemer feels personality characteristics, which have so far proved immeasurable, may be more important in determining a student's grades than either ability or the amount of study time.

Diemer's "Survey on the Use of Student Time" involved over a hundred students representing a cross-section of the student body and showed an average of 25.9 study hours per week for students with high, medium, and low grade-point averages.

FRESHMEN PARTICIPATING in the survey spent an average of 20 hours a week studying, sophomores 30 hours, and juniors 29 hours, while seniors dropped sharply to only 24 hours.

For those who spent more than an average amount of time with the books, the grade-points ranged from a perfect 4 (A) to a low 1.38 (D plus). For the shirkers spending less than one hour per hour of credit, the average ranged from 3.88 (A minus) to 1.28 (D plus).

Diemer's next study will be an analysis of the student's use of leisure time.

The University of Texas Summer Texan swears the business of symmetry in modern-day architecture has at last been carried too far. On the first floor of a campus building one finds three doors.

The door on the left is labeled "Women" and the identical door on the right is labeled "Men." What's in the middle?

Another door marked "Balance Room."

MEASURED AGAINST THE AVERAGE male freshman, male student leaders at the University of Minnesota all show a higher social and intellectual cultivation and hysteria symptoms, according to results of a Minnesota multiphasic personality inventory.

Young Democrat-Farmer-Laborites and radicals are the most unusual of group leaders, however. Results indicate "They are more abnormal in their concern over bodily functions and show a greater lack of deep emotional response. Their feelings of suspicion, oversensitivity, and persuction are more marked, and they are more inclined to excessive seclusion, shyness, bizarre thoughts and behavior."

The Minnesota Daily reports "Student personalities differ depending on membership in particular organizations. Fraternity men scored higher for hysteria symptoms, social and intellectual cultivation, and overproductivity in thought and action.

"Staff members of the Minnesota Daily have shallower emotional responses than staff members on other publications, and their feelings of suspicion, oversensitivity, and persecution are marked.

"Young Republican leaders have less hysteria symptoms, a deeper emotional response and less social and intellectual cultivation than the Young Democrat-Farmer-Laborites."

WHILE MINNESOTA FINDS HYSTERIA and bizarre behavior running rampant on campus, the Colorado Daily attacks the college male for his utter dullness.

The only complex prevalent on the University of Colorado campus, it appears, is in actuality no complex at all since the Daily's idea of the average male is that he is truly inferior.

According to a Daily editorial, the typical college male thrives on dull studies, dull parties, and dull women.

"He will get pinned, engaged, and married to a sexless, glamorous girl in an affair equally devoid of passion and common sense," says the editor.

"His hopes for a job are equally uninspired—he will typically dream of an entirely possible goal, comprised of a job as a technician-engineer at $10,000 a year with a five-day week, suburban home, TV set, and a dismal family existence punctuated by the boredom of weekends."

The situation sounds bad—must be the altitude.

Name Change Pops Its Head Up Again

DURING THE SCHOOL YEAR completed in May, a Student Council committee reputedly investigated the possibility of changing the name of Kansas State college to Kansas State university.

At least we think they investigated it. The committee started out strong—there was lots of interest among the student body in the fall—but things managed to die down considerably by the end of the school year. The idea of a name change would have probably been hailed as a new, original idea, had somebody plopped down a soapbox on the steps of Anderson, and begun an argument either for or against the proposition in May.

Well, we hope the Student Council will see fit to follow up the groundwork laid (we hope) last year, and at least take some kind of stand in regard to the name change proposition.

To our way of thinking, K-State is way behind the times on the matter. The precedent has been set by such schools as Michigan State, Ohio State, Pennsylvania State, Florida State, and most recently Oklahoma State. All of these schools are land-grant colleges that have become universities. And, incidentally, in each of the states in which these schools are located, another institution exists which bears the state's name plus the university tag.

IN OTHER WORDS, each of those schools has already undergone a change that is similar to the one Kansas State will make, if the name is changed.

By the generally accepted definition, a college is an institution offering a four-year course of study leading to a bachelor's degree in arts and sciences with no advanced degree offered, nor a graduate school.

University, on the other hand, usually is comprised of an undergraduate college of liberal arts and sciences, other undergraduate colleges and professional schools, and a graduate school with programs leading to master's and doctor's degrees.

K-State, of course, is a university in fact, if not in name. Changing the name would require action by both the Board of Regents and the Kansas legislature.

THE PROPER CHANNELS for the name change, seem to be a favorable recommendation from the Student Governing association to President McCain, and his recommendation to the Board of Regents.

Michigan State underwent its name change recently, and in a pamphlet published by the school's alumni and students just before the change, five advantages to the switch were enumerated.

First, there is a definite difference between a college and a university in the minds of the American public. Alumni from a college, that is in reality a university, may be hindered when competing for jobs. In some foreign countries, college carries the same connotation that "high school" carries in this country.

SECOND, IN MANY CASES distinguished scholars prefer to be associated with a university rather than a college, making it more difficult to attract them to a college faculty, despite the quality of the school.

Third, the old MSC graduate school found it difficult to attract outstanding graduates of other universities to undertake research and work for advanced degrees. There is a certain amount of prestige attached to the name university, that is not associated with the name, college.

Fourth, there have been instances when accrediting agencies have rated a college or its schools down because it was named college and not university.

Fifth, some foundations which are willing to contribute financial assistance to worthwhile projects follow a "grants-to-universities-only" policy.

IN ADDITION TO THESE FIVE ADVANTAGES, the pamphlet said that the change would automatically classify MSU in its proper category in educational rosters, thus eliminating much needless explanation.

Also, the name change would impress on the public the breadth and depth of courses offered at the school, the pamphlet said.

Precedent points toward a name-change for K-State. Why the change hasn't been made already, we can't understand. We hope that student sentiment and initiative will necessitate a change soon.—Jim Bell.

Blood Bumps 'T-Bear'; Elvis Has Slipped Disc

"Young Blood" by the Coasters tops record sales in Manhattan this week forcing Elvis Presley's platter, "Teddy Bear," to second. The top 10 undergoes quite a change as five tunes make their first appearance. These newcomers are "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo, "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm, "Talkin to the Blues" by Jim Lowe, "Jenny Jenny" by Little Richard, and "Can't Wait For Summer" by Steve Lawrence.

THE TOP 10 RECORDS by sales in Manhattan:

1. "Young Blood" by the Coasters
2. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley
3. "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo
4. "Dark Moon" by Gale Storm
5. "Talkin to the Blues" by Jim Lowe
6. "Jenny Jenny" by Little Richard
7. "Four Walls" by Jim Reeves
8. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
9. "I Like Your Kind of Love" by Andy Williams
10. "Can't Wait for Summer" by Steve Lawrence

Pat Boone again wears the gold crown for the fourth consecutive week as his record, "Love Letters in the Sand," is at the top of the list in jukebox plays. "Bye Bye Love" by Webb Pierce remains in the second position while "So Rare" by Jimmy Dorsey moved up to the third spot. "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis moved up to fifth spot and Andy Williams' disc, "I Like Your Kind of Love" now occupies seventh position. This is Andy's second week on the top ten.

"I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams makes its first appearance on the top 10 as it slips into ninth position.

THE TOP 10 on Manhattan's jukeboxes:

Most K-Staters Polled Want Change In Name to Kansas State University

By DIXIE GOOD

Although the question has already been hashed and rehashed many times over, K-Staters still don't seem to agree on the matter of changing the name of Kansas State college to Kansas State university.

However, a group interview taken at random among K-State summer students indicated that the majority of them were for the change in name. The following answers were given to the question, "Do you think a change in the name of Kansas State college to Kansas State university would be beneficial?"

PAT FARROW, BA Soph—"Very definitely. It would help in more ways than one. University would add more than just the name itself. It would attract more students to the school and it might make a difference in the jobs students get after they graduate."

ANN McCracken, BA Fr—"Yes, I think it would be beneficial. I think Kansas State university sounds much more up-and-coming than Kansas State college."

BILL JOHNS, EE Soph—"You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear. I feel that an institution is known by what it does and not by its name. For instance, M.I.T. isn't a university but it's still one of the finest schools of engineering in the country."

STEVE PLOVAN, Chem Grad—"I think it is important to have the prestige that the name university lends to a school for purposes of employment."

PAT CLARY, TJ Sr—"I really don't think it would be very beneficial. I would hate to have our school confused with KU."

BILLIE SCOTT, BA Sr—"There are Kansas State colleges at Pittsburg and Ft. Hays. I think we should be classified as one of the top two schools in Kansas instead of being thought of along with the smaller schools. It would be a big honor to graduate from a university."

N. J. LINENBERGER, BA Sr—"Yes, I think it should be changed. For one thing, it would add to the prestige of K-State. Also, as a university we would probably attract more students who are working on advanced degrees, and that would be to the good."

GENE LUTZ, Chm Grad—"I am in favor of it. Actually, if a place is a university, college is a misnomer. A university should be called a university."

SANDY RUGGELS, Med Jr—"I'm impartial. As far as I'm concerned I don't think it will affect me, but I have heard that it makes a difference with some people when it comes to getting a job."

KAREN MARTIN, SED Soph—"I don't see why they don't change it because actually, K-State is a university. The name university would give a truer picture of the school."

ARDUS WELLER, EED Soph—"University sounds better to me. I like the idea of changing the name."

K-State's 'Hall of Ivy,' Admin Once 'Main College J

OVER ALL, flies the American flag—beneath it, stands K-State's administration building, Anderson hall. Both are proud, and both have many reasons to be proud.

By DONNA SNODGRASS

"THOSE HALLOWED HALLS OF IVY," as described in a well known song, might well be K-State's Anderson hall. One of the most striking features of the campus is the three-winged limestone building with its ivy cloak. The building itself was completed in 1884, and the ivy was evidently planted soon after as the rest of the campus buildings already had ivy.

Historical records show that in 1879 Prof. H. E. VanDeman, with one of his classes in botany or horticulture, collected some 400 plants of Virginia climber from the woods and planted them around all buildings except the barn (which was then the main administration and class building). Pres. John A. Anderson had recommended this during his regime.

The three-storied structure, with a basement, was built in three wings between the years 1878 and 1884. The walls were solid limestone, but the interior was of wood construction. The building was named for former president Anderson in 1902. It had previously been called Main College hall.

President Anderson had served from September 1, 1873, to September 1, 1879. He was a Presbyterian pastor in Junction City before becoming K-State's president. (Records show his annual salary during those six years was $2,500.) He was the second president of the college.

LONG A SOURCE OF STUDENT and visitor interest, the old bell in the tower of Anderson has quite a history. It was bought by money from Joseph Ingalls, Swampscott, Mass., on the solicitation of I. T. Goodnow, and the inscription on the bell bears Mr. Ingalls' name. The bell was placed on top of the old Bluemont Central College building in December, 1861. This building was given to the state in June, 1863. Not until college work was transferred from the Bluemont building, a half mile northwest of the present campus, to the transformed barn (now Farm Machinery hall), did the bell arrive on the campus.

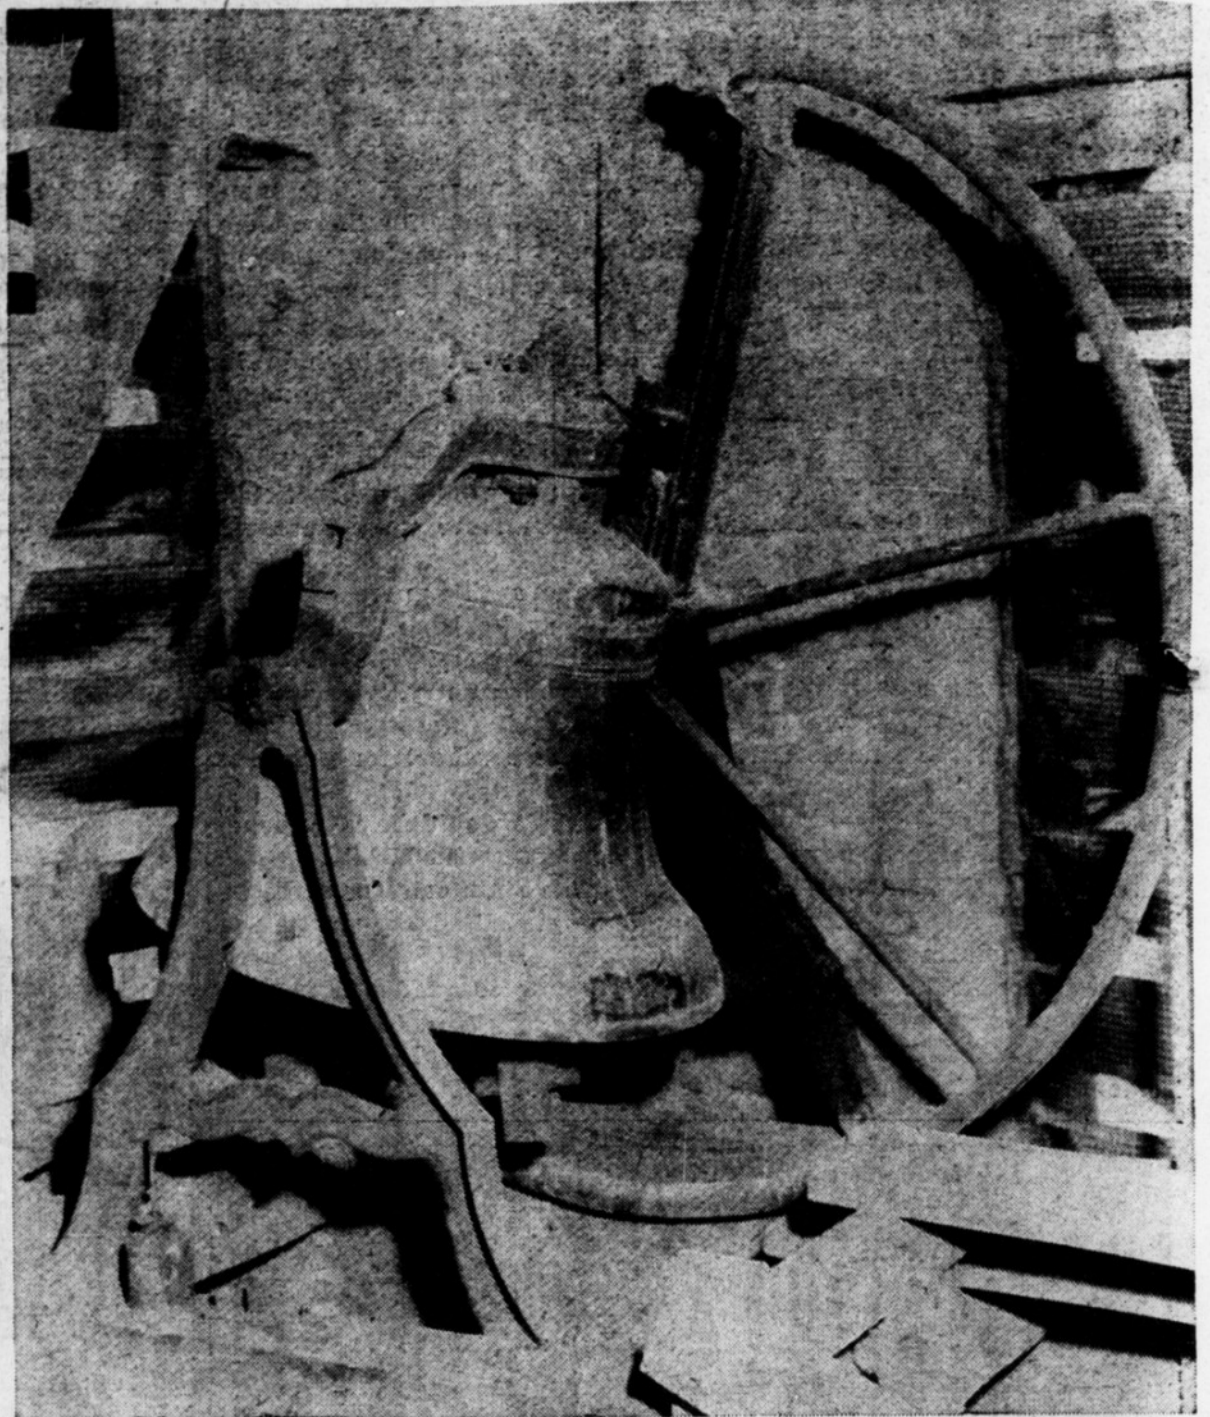

On September 5, 1882, it was raised to the top of the barn. There it remained until Anderson hall was completed and it was settled in its permanent resting place in the tower. Evidently the incident when students playfully stole the bell's clapper, about 50 years ago, is the only such mishap.

It is not known whether the tower was built specifically for the bell, or if it was just a part of the architectural styling. The bell formerly was used to signal the beginning and the end of each class period, but electric bells have since been installed and its main use now is to warn of the approaching hours of 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. In previous years it was rung on radio programs celebrating K-State's birthday.

THE ONLY EXTERIOR CHANGE to Anderson hall, since its construction, took place in 1946 when the wooden porches that originally fronted the building on the east between the two end wings were closed in and are now a part of the president's office on the south, and the registrar's office on the north. This was during Pres. Milton Eisenhower's administration. He was the seventh president to have his offices in Anderson.

Several interior changes have been made over the years. What is now recreation center, and will soon be the registrar's suit of offices, was originally the college chapel. Its sloping floor started lower than the first floor level, and the area was two floors high.

THE TOLLING of this bell brings students to class each morning. A janitor below pulls the rope manually while he leans back in his chair and watches students scurrying to class. The inscription on the bell reads: Bluemont College, Manhattan, Kansas . . . 1861. That was the year Kansas became a state.

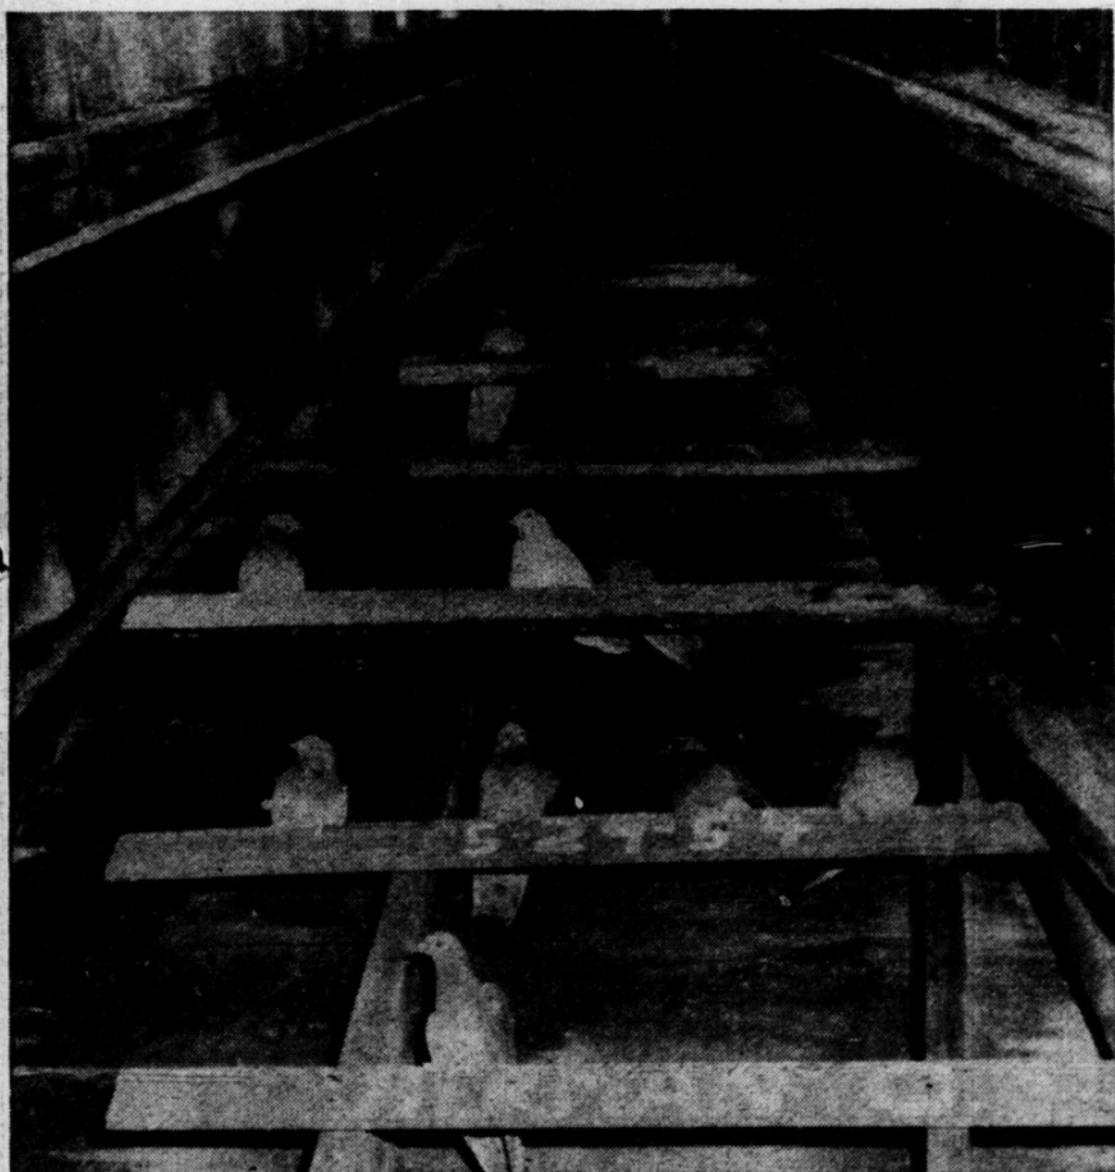

THE MAIN TOWER of Anderson hall has almost become a personification of Kansas State college through the years. Though it has been repaired and rebuilt, it has never been destroyed nor replaced. Now, it serves as a haven for pigeons and a resting place for the bell that warns K-Staters of the approaching hours of 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

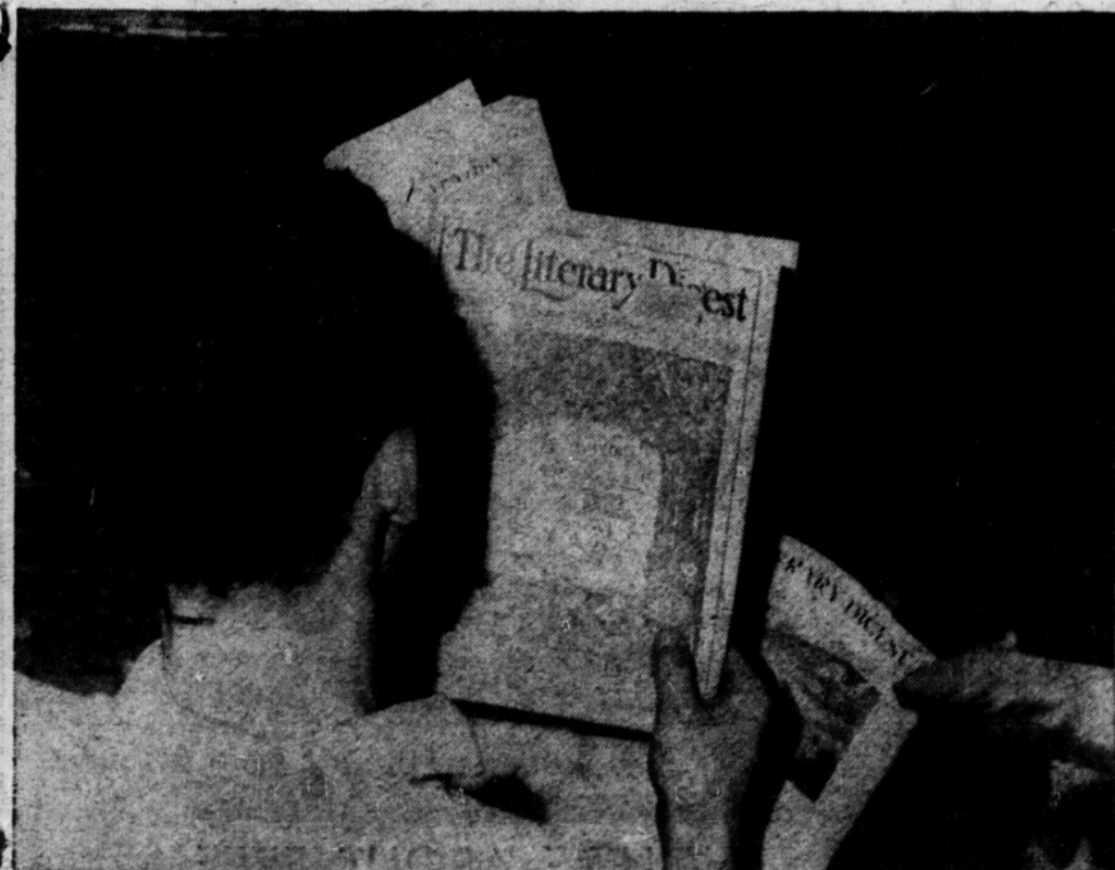

Administration Building Anderson Hall, a Landmark Since 1884; Hall, the Structure Has Housed Everything from Ag to Home Ec

THE STAIRWAY TO THE TOP of the Anderson main tower has become somewhat rickety, as the Collegian photographer discovered. Despite the hazards of the trip (fluttering pigeons, swinging steps, and nervousness), the trip was made in safety.

AT FIRST WE THOUGHT these were bats in the Anderson belfry. We soon discovered that they (starting at the top) were Fantail, Homer, Jacobin, Pouter, Trumpeter, Tumbler, Turbit, Passenger, and Herman, all members of the pigeon family.

GOING THROUGH THE ATTIC we came across a few issues of "The Literary Digest." This one was dated July 8, 1916—41 years old. The sunlight streaming through the ivy covered windows gave the place a green, eerie effect.

*Photos by Dick Haines
and

Devotional exercises were held there every morning. All secular assemblies were also held there.

It is understood that this chapel used to be the scene of much cavorting by rival classes. It seems that a high rounded arch with lights bordered the stage front. The space in the center at the top was the favorite place to display the class year—'98, '99, etc.

Around 1905 the auditorium was completed and for ten or twelve years this space was unused. Then it became a sort of substitute student union and existed as such until the temporary union was erected in 1947. From that time on, it has existed as rec center.

ANDERSON WAS THE FIFTH CAMPUS BUILDING to be constructed. The old barn was at first the only college building. Part of the shops were next. What is now Mathematics hall, and was then used for chemistry, was the third building. Horticulture occupied the fourth building, the present Illustrations hall. The completion of Anderson meant the transfer of all administrative offices and practically all classes to it. Almost every department in K-State has been housed at one time or another in Anderson, but it is becoming increasingly administrative.

There were originally, besides many normal-sized classrooms, several large lecture rooms, which have been partitioned in recent years and now hold suites of offices. Agriculture, mathematics, physics, home economics, journalism, and the sciences have all been in Anderson. Geology has just been moved from the basement of Anderson to Thompson hall, and the art department will have a new home when Justin hall is built.

Printing classes also convened at one time in Anderson's basement. Before Kedzie hall was erected, two newspapers were published in those quarters. A college newspaper, "The Industrialist," was started there in the days of Pres. Anderson's administration. The first student newspaper, "The Student Herald," was also published there for a time.

THE JANITOR'S SUPPLY ROOM has been in the basement of Anderson, too. The IBM room and the Placement bureau are present occupants of the underground floor.

Nearly every year or two, various offices are shifted around, making room for more or expanding other office facilities. The current plan for partitioning rec center involves several office moves.

While Anderson is not the scene for many practical jokes nowadays, students of years gone by like to laugh at antics of their classmates. One Halloween prank even resulted in the president's horse ending up on the roof of Anderson.

But even if modern students are not so frivolous, many fond memories are centered around Anderson and its "hallowed halls of ivy."

IN AN ATTIC in the southern end of Anderson, we discovered a small, vine-covered window—we looked out, and this is what we saw. That's Fairchild hall in the background.

Beginning Actors Face Many Problems

By DORIS FLAGG

The biggest problem facing the beginning actor is overcoming inhibitions in showing emotions, according to John L. Robson, assoc. prof. of speech, who directs the College plays, says students find it hard "to let go and forget themselves. Voice and diction are also a problem to the beginner."

With experience the actor is able to relax and concentrate on the character to be expressed. "Inhibitions are overcome and his own emotions and intuitions are allowed to come through as an interpretive instrument," Robson explained.

Asked about stage fright, he said, "Everybody is somewhat awkward and uneasy during the early rehearsals because movements have to be blocked in. Scenery has to be visualized and substitute furniture is used.

Later, the actors can concentrate better on their parts and it turns out that the actual performance isn't too different from a rehearsal.

However, a little stage fright should actually improve the part because it serves as a stimulus. A great deal, of course, would result in panic. Generally, after your first line or two you relax and go on and do a good job."

Robson lists as the only faults that can't be overcome, unwillingness to work and unreliability.

An actor has to develop a sense of responsibility. He has to be responsive to coaching and criticism. A director normally plans to increase the complexity of a performer's role as he gains experience, sometimes taking a couple of years to give him a lead. "This gives him something to work for," says Professor Robson.

If you like to act but are not in the Speech department, you can still be one of the K-State Players. Many act for a recreation and more people are encouraged to make this an extracurricular activity.

The Players, student acting group, are supported by part of the activity fee. Professor Robson said "that the big problem has been to get students to use what they have already paid for. "Maybe they don't realize that these plays are free."

"The Glass Menagerie" is being presented by the Players at the College auditorium on July 18.

Coeds Must Hurry To Meet Deadline

Entries for the "Miss K-State Coed" queen contest will not be accepted after Monday, July 15. The contest, sponsored by the Collegian, is in conjunction with Manhattan's annual Water show July 23.

The queen will be presented prizes to be donated by Collegian advertisers. A complete list of prizes will be published in the next issue of the Collegian.

Excavation Underway On Gamma Phi Lot

Excavation was started last week for Gamma Phi Beta's new chapter house at the corner of Todd and Denison.

Members of K-State's newest sorority, which was installed last March, should be able to move into the modern stone structure by next January, according to Mrs. Robert Allen, a member of the Manhattan alumnae group. In the meantime, sorority members will be living in the completely redecorated house previously occupied by Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity.

Danforth Has Been the Scene of Many Weddings

By DONNA SNODGRASS

Ah, yes, June—the traditional wedding month—hath arrived (and passed). And when the young man's fancy turns, it comes to rest on the perfect setting for such an occasion—Danforth Memorial chapel.

Not so long ago—Christmas Eve, 1955—a well-known philanthropist passed away. He was William H. Danforth, president of Purina Feed company of St. Louis, who with his wife had given millions of dollars to higher education in several forms.

The most tangible forms that his generosity took were small chapels, such as the one here. While the Danforths did not donate all the money for the chapel, their part was substantial enough to put the chapel into the mold of other Danforth chapels.

These were characterized by Mr. Danforth's three stipulations: the chapel must bear his name, must have the inscription he designated inside, and must exhibit his favorite picture of Jesus praying on the mount. The inscription invites the worshipper "to aspire nobly, adventure daringly, and serve humbly."

Another part of his program was helping to establish new departments of religion in colleges and universities. Under this plan K-State has received a $15,000 grant for a period of three years.

The Chapel, a small, quiet place for meditation, is the structure at the west end of the new All-Faith Memorial chapel. In direct contrast to the new chapel it is traditional in mood and style.

It has only an altar, twelve pews, and an organ. Its most outstanding feature by far is the stained glass window treatment. Made by a Wisconsin company, the windows display much more brilliant colors than most stained windows, with blue and red predominating.

Even more striking are the figures within the windows—Pasteur, George Washington Carver, St. Luke, Galileo, Jane Addams, Moses, Clara Barton, David—to name a few.

June Weddings Unite K-Staters

Paula Beason, HEJ Soph from Smith Center, became the bride of Jerald Gibson June 23 in a double-ring ceremony at the First Methodist church, Smith Center.

Paula is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Her bridegroom attended Washburn university where he was a member of Phi Alpha Delta fraternity.

The couple will be at home in Wichita where Jerald is being employed by Boeing Aircraft.

John Casterline, ME Jr from White City, married Bonnie West, also of White City, June 23 in the Zion Lutheran church of Latimer.

The bride is employed by the Farm Bureau Mutual Life Insurance company, Manhattan.

Sharon Davis, BA Fr from Highland, was married to Joseph Holman of Jefferson City, Mo., at the First Presbyterian church in Highland.

Sharon was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta at K-State. Her bridegroom graduated from the University of Missouri and the University of Illinois. He is employed with the DuPont company in Louisville, Ky., as a chemical engineer.

The couple will make their home in Louisville, Ky.

Four K-State Coeds Vie for Title

The winner of the Collegian sponsored "Miss K-State Coed" contest will be chosen next Tuesday evening at Manhattan's Annual Water show at the municipal pool.

Finalists for the contest are Sharon Skupa, Soc Soph; Evie Warner, Ar 04; Annette Maxwell, Gvt Fr; and Charlene Cox, Hum Fr. Although Miss Cox is in high school, she is currently enrolled in four hours making her eligible for the title.

The winner will be the recipient of prizes awarded by Collegian advertisers. "Miss K-State Coed" will receive a 21-inch weekend travel case from Sears, and from Stevensons' she will receive a Jantzen swim suit of her choice.

If the queen likes jewelry she will be pleased to learn that Paul Dooley will award the queen a gold I. D. bracelet; Rickard's clothing store will give jewelry, and neckware will be presented the queen by R. D. Jewelry.

"Miss K-State Coed" will also receive a stuffed wildcat doll from the College book store and a travel cosmetic kit from Ward M. Keller.

Other gifts to be awarded to the queen are a Parker pen and pencil set from the Campus book store; four free show passes from the Wareham theater; a compact from Reed and Elliott Jewellers; a gift certificate from Cathryn's Gift shop; and a gift from the Smart shop. If the queen has a car she will like the free car lubrication job to be given by Farrell's Sinclair service station.

A queen and three attendants will be named by the judges, Prof. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications; Dr. M. A. Durland, dean of the engineering school; and Dr. Arthur Weber, acting-president at K-State.

The Water show, highlight of Manhattan's recreation program, will feature rhythm swimming, stunt diving, and techniques of swimming, according to Frank Anneberg, superintendent of the Manhattan Recreation commission.

The Municipal band will play at intervals during the evening's activities. Starting time for the program is 8 p.m. The queen will be crowned at 9 p.m.

Summer Prom Begins at 9 p.m. Tomorrow on B Deck of Union

K-Staters will dance to the music of Claude Williams and his combo from Kansas City at the Summer Prom tomorrow night at 9 in the Student Union.

Hot July weather has caused a slight change in plans for the prom. Instead of being held in the main ballroom, as was previously announced, the prom will take place on the Union B deck.

The dance is for couples only, and the admission will be 50 cents per couple. Dress for the prom will be semi-casual—cotton dresses for the women and slacks and dress shirts for the men.

"A Man Called Peter," starring Richard Todd and Jean Peters, will be the free popular movie shown next Monday night. The cinemascope film will start at 7:30 p.m. in the little theatre. The accompanying short subject will be "How to Ride a Horse."

Wednesday night's free classic movie, "Passion for Life," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the little theatre. According to Marianne Ptacek, Union program director, Wednesday night movie crowds have only been about half the size of the Monday night crowds.

Jazz fans should keep in mind the last recorded jazz session of the summer season next Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Union music room. Bob Snyder, KSAC, will narrate the session.

Glass Menagerie Polished For Performance Tonight

Scenery, stage props, and lighting have been polished for the student-enacted presentation of Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" tonight at 8 in the College auditorium.

The play, directed by John Robson, associate professor of speech, tells the story of Laura, a crippled girl who lives in a world of her own—brightened only by her "Glass Menagerie."

Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr, portrays the pathetic Laura.

A "borrowed" gentleman caller is played by Fred Rogers, Sp Gr. We say "borrowed" since he already has a girl of his own.

Tom, Laura's brother, played by Warren Bennett, Eng Soph, might feel a guilt pang at this point since he is the one who brought the two together earlier in the play.

LOWELL BRANDNER, K-State's agricultural publications editor, has been awarded $500 cash and a certificate citing him as the outstanding agricultural editor in the United States.

KS Editor Judged Best In Ag Work

A national award amounting to an inscribed certificate and $500 cash was presented to Lowell Brandner, agricultural editor at Kansas State, last night for outstanding work in agricultural journalism.

The national award for 1957, provided by the National Plant Food Institute, was presented at the conference of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors in Fort Collins, Colorado.

Judges for the award said they were "particularly impressed with Brandner's growth in competence and the excellent way he contributed to the improvement of work of others in a relatively short time, and the way he broadened the influence of research work done at Kansas State far beyond normal reporting through college publications."

Brandner, who became agricultural editor here four years ago after having been director of the News bureau, is presently on leave from K-State. He is working toward a Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Last Quelle Lecture Is Wednesday

Dr. William C. Tremmel will present the last lecture in the Quelle series next Wednesday evening at 7, when he speaks on "The Revelation of St. John" in the All-Faith Memorial chapel. He will discuss the authorship and socio-environmental setting from which this vision literature developed.

Last night's lecture was "The General Epistles and Homilies," by Dr. Leslie Kingsbury. "This body of literature, the general epistles and homilies, which is a consideration of the books called Timothy, Titus, Hebrews, James, Peter, John, and Jude, is concerned with the situations which the church confronted in the post-apostolic age."

Union Misses Gallery Art

Three original drawings have been stolen from the Hallmark display in the Union art gallery. The drawings, valuable originals of contemporary greeting cards, were torn from their backing sheets sometime between Saturday and Monday noon.

Magazines, ping pong balls, and paddles, playing cards, salt and pepper shakers, and books from the browsing library have also been disappearing from the Union.

Over a year's worth of books are stolen each year, according to Marianne Ptacek, Union program director. The money for replacement of the stolen articles will be taken from the student activity fee.

Staters Enjoy Starlight Trip

An air-conditioned bus, bound for the Starlight theater in Kansas City, Mo., left the Union last Saturday at 3 p.m. with 38 K-State students aboard. The group attended the Starlight theater which presented "High Button Shoes" starring Paul Gilbert and Hal LeRoy.

After arriving in Kansas City, the group ate at Putch's cafeteria in the Plaza. Following a short sight-seeing trip through Swope park, the group went to the theater.

The bus left for Manhattan via turnpike immediately following the performance. The group, making only one stop for cokes and sandwiches, arrived in Manhattan at 2 a.m.

Because of the closeness of final exams, the Union will not sponsor another trip this summer; however, trips are planned at regular intervals next summer according to Marianne Ptacek, program advisor of the Union.

Rock 'n Roll Banned In Egypt as Menace

By Sandy Wilson

WITH THE NEWS that Egypt has banned rock 'n' roll music on the grounds that it is a menace to public morals, the Colorado Daily expresses the opinion that "severe political repercussions" may result.

The Daily says we can expect within the very near future to hear that President Eisenhower and Elvis Presley have issued a joint statement to Egypt's President Nasser—inscribed with the world-shaking maxim, "Don't Knock the Rock."

Adds the editor, "Probably Congress will soon reciprocate by banning the Egyptian belly dance."

STUDENTS OF ANATOMY can sympathize with one conscience-stricken Yale Man who was moved to literary achievement by a traumatic experience. From the Yale Record, an "Ode to a Toad:"

Little frog, once full of life,
Must I probe thee with a knife
And your flesh with scissors snip.
Yes, I must—so in I rip.

The first incision has been made;
Not a good one, I'm afraid.
On my shirt a crimson stain
Indicates a punctured vein.

Oh damn! another vein I'll wager.
(Perhaps I ought to change my major).
The more I probe and cut and look
The less you look like yourself in the book.

Your lungs with air are clearly swollen.
(Since when are lungs beneath the colon?)
You're such a mess, I don't know whether You'll ever pull yourself together.

Little frog, it well might be
That you bear resent towards me.
Sublimate your fierce defiance;
Think of what you've done for science.

In the weeks that are to follow
Other frogs I'll have to hollow,
And to each write similar odes.
What a dreadful waste of toads!

SOME WOMEN may talk too much, but the University of Texas Summer Texan admits one coed didn't even have the chance.

Picking up the receiver to her dormitory room phone, the coed tried for an outside line.

When she was met with only a deadly silence, she impatiently flashed the operator and again waited in vain.

Finally, after another try, came a piercing response from the indignant operator . . .

"Limit your call, please!"

K-Stater Finds Life in Paree Gay and Free

(This is our second letter from Marcia Boyd, next year's Royal Purple editor. Marcia, TJ Soph, went to England to visit her sister, Pat Boyd Hiss—and naturally enough she wanted to tour the continent. Also—and we are glad—she consented before her departure to drop us a line once in a while to let K-State know what and how she was doing.—Ed.)

Paris is the lovely city the songs and stories say it is. Perhaps its most striking quality is that of the old world cities, Paris has retained its quaintness.

A law forbids stores to put on new modern fronts, and buildings can't be rebuilt until they're falling down—and then they must look like the other old-fashioned stores. Window displays are unusually attractive and the numerous sidewalk cafes add color to all streets.

Marcia Boyd, however, it took me five days to like Paris—it is the strangest feeling to be in a country where you are the foreigner, speaking a foreign language. And it takes a while to become accustomed to new surroundings. But Paris' charm is irresistible, even to the shyest tourist.

Carmen Culbertson, who graduated from Colorado university last year and is a friend of mine from home, was my guide and interpreter. Carmen has lived in Paris a year now, studying the language and taking care of two little French girls during the afternoons and some evenings.

In Paris, only the wealthiest can afford to live out of the city in houses. Everyone lives in huge apartment houses, which is hard on the children as they have only parks to play in. Many girls like Carmen are hired just to take the children to the park each day so they can get at least a little fresh air and sunshine.

I stayed in a hotel just off the Champs d'Elysees, the "main street" of Paris, which Carmen found for me. It was called "Pavillon Montaigne," a small place, but comfortable and clean. And it was quite inexpensive for Paris—$2.70 a day. Paris has (Continued on page 7)

Reader's Corner

I was surprised, then astonished to read on page 5 of your July 11 issue that one of my best ol' college buddies, Chauncey McTavish Blueblood Twitterpater Flipflap III, a pigeon, was incorrectly identified as "Fantail."

Indeed! My attorneys are at present drawing up necessary papers, and you will be scuttled, sir, scuttled, in a slander suit. Or would you prefer blue tweed?

Chauncey McTavish Blueblood Twitterpater Flipflap III, (a pigeon) is know in short, as "Flip" by his close friends. He dropped all the other name when he was in the Army as a carrier pigeon during World War II, carrying messages and the bubonic plague. He had to drop the name because his dogtags with his name in full weighed so much he lost altitude in enemy zone. Several crashes behind enemy lines and an encounter with some cute pigeon shortened his name, and, along with it, his life expectancy, but that's another story.

His keeper, one James Ringading, was a jolly old fellow whom I always presumed to be one of the most jovial and active men in the Army. Every once in a while he would climb up on his desk, flap his arms, and cry "Keyowie!" "Look at me . . . I'm a bobolink!" and then begin a long deluge of bird calls. Or he would take off suddenly and leap from desk to desk. I didn't find out for a long time why this guy was so carefree and sprightly during wartime.

He took dope.
So, you cad, leave "Flip" alone.
He has friends.

Young Blood' on Top Again in Record Poll

By ROD ROSS

"YOUNG BLOOD" BY THE COASTERS is again tops in record sales in Manhattan this week. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley is trailing in close second while Pat Boone's platter, "Love Letters in the Sand," moves to third position.

"A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins moves up to the fourth slot and "Teenage Romance" by Ricky Nelson jumps to No. 5 in its first appearance on the top ten. Another tune making its first appearance is "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams.

THE TOP TEN RECORDS BY SALES in Manhattan:

2. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley
3. "Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone
4. "A White Sport Coat" by Marty Robbins
5. "Teenagers Romance" by Ricky Nelson
6. "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams
7. "Jenny Jenny" by Little Richard
8. "Can't Wait for Summer" by Steve Lawrence
9. "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis
10. "Start Movin'" by Sal Mineo

Pat Boone seems to have a monopoly on jukebox sales with "Love Letters in the Sand," remains on the top for the fifth consecutive week. Still remaining in second position is "Bye Bye Love" by Webb Pierce. "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams moved up to fifth from ninth position and last week's fifth, "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis, moved up to occupy third spot.

Newcomers to the top ten are "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley, and "Searchin'" by the Coasters.

Grades Are Related To Success—It Sez

By DICK HAINES

What do college grades predict?

After studying what happened to the men of Dartmouth '26, a psychologist offered corporation recruiters this hard-boiled advice. "Don't play the long shots."

Dr. Richard Husband's idea was to take his own class of Dartmouth, 1926, and attempt to correlate their 1956 status with their grades and extracurricular activities when they were in college.

Those having a D average made from $10,625 to $15,625 as a median income. Those having a C had a range from $14,375 to $15,000. The B students went from $16,250 up to $20,000 and over.

A comparison of income with the men's major at college revealed that as a group those who chose business or economics have the highest median income, $16,800. Social-science majors are next; many of the business men specialized within that area. Third were men in basic science, chiefly the premedics. Cultural majors (English, languages, art, philosophy) ranked lowest; their present income is nearly $1,500 below the class median.

Extracurricular activities showed importance, too. The more activities, the higher the present income.

Fraternity membership was another factor. Non-fraternity men now earn $11,250; fraternity men, $15,235.

Fiction is full of stories of the All-American grade man who turns out to be a complete bum. How about this?

Four K-State Coeds Enter Collegian Sponsored Contest

SHARON SKUPA pauses for a second to let the photographer snap her picture. She is one of four candidates vying for Miss K-State Coed, who will be chosen July 23.

ANNETTE MAXWELL usually carries her swimming suite to work with her so she can immediately take a cool dip in the water after working all afternoon at the college.

By ROD ROSS

Four pretty coeds will compete for the title of "Miss K-State Coed" next Thursday evening at the Municipal pool. The Collegian-sponsored contest is in conjunction with Manhattan's annual Water show. The evening's activities will begin at 8 p.m., and the crowning of the queen is scheduled for 9 p.m.

The queen will be judged on personality, grace, charm, beauty, and figure. A submitted essay entitled "What I Intend To Do With My College Education" will also be taken into consideration.

Heading the list of "Miss K-State Coed" entrants is Sharon Skupa. Sharon is an 18-year-old sophomore majoring in sociology. She has blue eyes, blond hair, and stands 5 feet 6 1/2 inches tall. She weighs 117 pounds and her measurements are 35-24-36. Sharon is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Whi Purs, business staff of the RP, dorm homecoming committee, and is active in the Glee club. Her home town is Haddam.

The next entry is Yvonne "Evie" Warner, Kansas City, Kansas, who starts her fourth year in architecture this fall. Evie is a 20-year-old, has brown hair and green eyes. She is 5 feet and 8 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. Her measurements are 34-25-37. She lives at Van Zille hall.

Evie has been feature editor of the K-State Engineer, a member of the American Institute of Architects, and is a member of the Purple pepsters.

Political science freshman Annette Maxwell, is the third entry. Annette is 18 years old, weighs 115 pounds, has grayish eyes and brown hair. She stands 5 feet and 4 inches tall and tips the scales at 115 pounds. Her measurements are 36-24-36.

Annette, a Manhattan girl, was a member of the Robe choir and active in the Y-teen pep club.

The latest addition to the entry list is also a Manhattan girl. She is Charlene Cox, majoring in humanities and art. Charlene, a brunette, stands 5 feet and 1 1/2 inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, and has green eyes. Her measurements are 34-24-36.

She is an active member of the Y-Teens and pep club. Last year she was Art club president and also a member of the student council. Sixteen-year-old Charlene is in high school; however, she is enrolled in four hours in the summer session at K-State.

Superintendent of the Manhattan Recreation commission, Frank Anneberg, will be the master of ceremonies. A 15-minute concert by the Municipal band will start the show. The band will also play during the swimming performances. The program features rhythm swimming, fancy baton twirling by advanced students, and a demonstration of "survival swimming" by the lifesaving class. The class was taught by Mary Ann Van Meter, of the women's physical education department at K-State.

A "fire dive" will conclude the evening's performance. TV pictures will also be taken of the Water show by station WIBW of Topeka.

LOOKING THROUGH the branches of this cedar tree is pert Evie Warner. Miss Warner is majoring in architecture and plans to go into the sales field.

"PAINTING THE K-STATE UNION is fun to do on a bright sunny morning in July," according to Miss Charlene Cox. Miss Cox, a Manhattanite, has just enrolled at K-State for the summer.

KS Coaches Are Busiest During Summer

By JOHN RODRIGUEZ

Three K-State coaches, Bus Mertes, Tex Winter, and Ray Wauthier, and Athletic Director Bebe Lee, are just as busy or busier this summer than they were the past school year.

"The busiest period for a coach is the summer months," said Lee, former Colorado university basketball coach. "During the regular season, a coach has a set pattern to follow, whereas in the summer his program varies from studying motion pictures of opponents and own team, teaching, and making plans for the coming season to recruiting prospective athletics, coaching clinics, and filling speaking engagements."

Coaches sacrifice a lot of their own time, taken from their families, in order to do a good job, Lee pointed out.

Lee's summer will be busier than usual, he said. "The Athletic department has taken over the concessions and Fritz Knorr, wrestling coach, and I, having little knowledge of the concession business are spending most of our time on this operation. Wauthier, baseball coach, is to take over as concessions manager in the fall." Besides attending alumni engagements, Wildcat club meetings, and playing an occasional game of golf, he plans a vacation to California.

Lee will close his summer at the summer conference of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Estes Park, Colorado, August 18-23. He will be accompanied by Andy Stewart, varsity football player, Tom Rodda, varsity track distance runner, Jack Parr, all-Big Seven basketball player, and three other cagers, Jim Holwerda, Steve Douglas, and Sonny Ballard.

"If a coach doesn't feel a good recruiting program is necessary, he won't be in the coaching business long," Bus Mertes, football mentor, declared. Mertes said most of his summer will be spent recruiting football prospects and attending three coaching clinics.

Presently, he is on a recruiting trip that will take him to Boston after stops in the Chicago area and Ohio.

Mertes will participate in clinics at Fort Riley, July 25-27; Wichita, August 21-23; and Topeka, in the early part of August.

Studying films and charting plays of opponents, planning fall practice, and keeping in touch with the varsity members will keep Mertes busy the rest of the summer.

summer will be similar to Mertes'. Recruiting will play a big part in summer plans, too. After a vacation Winter plans to study last year's basketball films and personnel and to outline the coming practice sessions. He will attend a coaching clinic at Spirit Lake, Iowa, August 19-22.

Teaching four classes, supervising three master's reports, and playing golf most of the evenings is keeping Wauthier busy. During some of the evenings and weekends, he is out looking for baseball prospects. After summer school is over Wauthier is planning a vacation in Pennsylvania.

Ward Haylett, track coach, is in Europe coaching a track team sponsored by the AAU.

Smith Hits 3-Point For Top Grades

Proficiency in sports is only one of the characteristics of K-State athletes as shown by the 1956-57 grade averages released recently.

Golfer Jerry Smith, number one Cat linksman majoring in the rugged pre-law curriculum, is well under par with a three-point grade average during the past school year. He carried a class load of 20 hours during the fall semester and 18 during the spring semester.

Tackle Bob Krizan and quarterback Dick Corbin led the Wildcat football squad to a 1.3 overall average by turning in 2.80 and 2.44 averages respectively.

Not to be outdone by the grid-ders, the 10 returning basketball lettermen netted a 1.58 average with all-American center Jack Parr paving the way with his 2.0

average. None of the 10 dropped below 1.0.

Other top classroom performers include Terry Turner, distance runner in track, who had a 2.93 average for the past two semesters; Bob Boyd, baseball outfielder, who had a 2.33 average; Wally Carlson, football and baseball regular, who averaged 2.32; Glen Brandon, wrestler, who averaged 1.73; Don Wainscott, tennis player, who had a 2.0 average; and Tom Coblentz, swimmer, with a 2.87 average.

SONNY BALLARD AND STEVE DOUGLAS discuss plans with Bebe Lee, athletic director, regarding the Christian Athletics conference to be held in Estes Park, Colo., in August.

KS Christian Athletes To Visit Conference

H. B. "Bebe" Lee, K-State athletic director, and six Cat athletes will attend the second annual summer conference of The Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Estes Park, Colo., August 18 through 23.

The six athletes attending: Andy Stewart, VM Soph; Tom Rodda, Psy Soph; Jack Parr, BPM Jr; Jim Holwerda, PEM Soph; Steve Douglas, Gvt Fr; and Sonny Ballard, EE Fr. Parr is the only one who attended the conference last year.

The whole idea of the organization was summed up when Don McClanen, founder, said "It occurred to me that nearly everybody was capitalizing on the well-known social phenomenon of hero worship. I knew that if guys like Otto Graham or Bob Feller told kids to eat a certain kind of cereal, the kids ate that kind of cereal. I wondered why, if sports stars could endorse breakfast foods, cigarettes or sportswear, they couldn't endorse Christianity."

"Two talks, followed by discussion, takes up our mornings," All-American center Parr said. "In the afternoons we work out under coaches like Phog Allen. Although we really have a wonderful time the conference is not all inspiration—some of it is perspiration."

Outstanding athletes that will be attending are Doak Walker, Robin Roberts, Bob Richards, Otto Graham, Alvin Dark, Tom Harmon, Carl Erskine, and many others.

'The Breaks' Helped Varied Career Of Wildcat Golf Coach Mickey Evans

By MIKE SCANLAND

Mickey Evans, head of the Physical Education department and golf coach, thinks "the breaks" have played a major role in determining the course of his life.

He related how during his undergraduate days, circumstances first cost him his place on K-State's baseball team and landed him back in a starting position.

"I started the first game and didn't hit, so the coach benched me for the second game. But after the second game this other player got injured and I got to play again. I got five hits out of six times at bat and I never had to sit on the bench after that.

Evans played first string quarterback for three years on K-State's football team and a series of breaks were important here also.

By the time he finished his football career at K-State, Evans weighed 142 pounds.

"I made up for it with speed cation instructor at Oklahoma A&M.

And "making up for it with speed" was nothing new for Evans. Weighing in at 91 pounds his sophomore year in high school, he played first string end at Grove, Kans.

He was a back his last two years in high school.

At Gove, Evans earned three football letters in football, four in basketball, four in track, and two in tennis as well as playing town team baseball from the time he was 13.

When Evans graduated from K-State in 1930 with a degree in physical education, the element of chance again entered the picture.

He had graduated from high school wanting to make a career in his favorite sport, baseball.

From January of 1946 to January of 1947 he was a physical edu-

Evans was at Drake as an assistant professor of physical education until the fall of 1948 when he came back to K-State again.

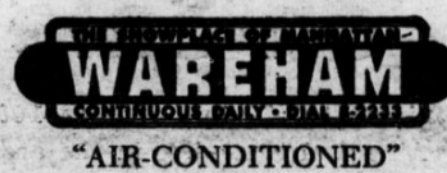

He was an assistant professor of Physical Education here until 1951 when he was made a professor and put in charge of the physical education department. The Physical Education department and the Athletic department were separated at that time with Moon Mullins taking over as athletic director following the death of Mike Ahearn.

Evans took over as golf coach in 1948.

"I had played golf for about four or five years before that but I wasn't very good. I was mostly a manager at first. I learned golf after I started coaching it.

Animal Industries Costs More Than Fieldhouse

AHEARN FIELD HOUSE may have been expensive, but consider the Animal Industries building. The structure itself cost $1,350,000. Add to that $65,000 for equipment, and you have a house that lots of jack built!

By DONNA SNODGRASS
Ahearn field house may have been expensive, but there's a new building on campus that cost even more. In nice round numbers, it cost $1,350,000. Then add to that the $65,000 appropriated this year for equipment and you get—yes siree, quite a tidy sum of money!

Is it an indoor hockey field? Is it an air-conditioned hot-house? It is a co-educational dormitory? Now, really, didn't you recognize it as the new Animal Industries building at the northeast corner of the campus?

The L-shaped structure is essentially finished, although not officially approved yet, and will be used starting this fall. Designed by state architect Vincent J. Cool, the building is a composite of many modern architectural principles and designs.

Most outstanding in the exterior design are the vari-colored aluminium panels on the upper portion of the walls. The lower parts of the walls are native and Bedford limestone and of reinforced construction.

An oval-shaped stock judging pavilion, 150 x 266 feet, will have bleachers seating about 3,500 persons. Animal pens will be under the bleachers.

The Little American Royal, which has previously been held in Ahearn field house, will have a permanent home in this pavilion.

A 48 x 300 foot wing has 19 offices, two conference rooms, five classrooms, and 12 laboratories. The lecture auditorium will seat 250.

An outstanding feature of the plan is the miniature packing plant, where students can learn all phases of the packing industry.

Meat investigation, metabolism, animal, wool, and genetics laboratories will be included. Some will be for class use and some will be used for research.

IFC Publishes Rush Booklet, 'Look at K-State Fraternities'

"Look at K-State Fraternities," an informative rush booklet recently published by K-State's Interfraternity council, is being prepared for mailing to all male applicants who have been accepted for admission to the College, according to Dean of Students Herbert J. Wunderlich.

By photographs and explanation, the booklet emphasizes its theme: "K-State fraternities are more than greek organizations; they represent a way of life."

Pat Roberts, editor of the booklet and IFC president, explains in the booklet that fraternities are made up of three important concepts: brotherhood, scholarship, and faith in God.

The booklet clarifies a fraternity's part in school affairs with explanations of scholarship, athletics, social life, brotherhood, and extra-curricular activities. From this point the booklet goes on to give advice and tips to the rushee, an answer to the question, "What is a pledge," and a run-down on the 23 social fraternities at K-State.

Pre-Enrollment Up In Spite of Harvest

Pre-enrollment of new freshmen and transfer students to date totals 783, according to Ellsworth M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar.

Late harvest has delayed many prospective students, who have informed the registrar via long distance telephone of their intentions to enroll. Gerritz expects from 1,400 to 1,500 to enroll before August 2.

Students consider the program well worth the two-day summer trip to the campus, Gerritz said. The first day includes orientation, aptitude and placement testing, and a physical examination. It closes with a social evening in the Union. The second day includes scheduling of classes.

Praises for the campus and the pre-enrollment program were expressed by future K-Staters. Bob Lewis from Kansas City, Mo., expressed his appreciation of the friendliness displayed on the campus. He is eager to start his curriculum in animal husbandry.

Dale Lavender, an animal husbandry major from Altamont, believes K-State is the best college for him.

Virginia Bergstrom, Salina, is following in her sister's footsteps by enrolling in home economics at K-State. She appreciates having "more time to enroll."

Riley Boasts Poison Center

By ROD ROSS

Poisoning control, available on a 24-hour basis for a rapid and accurate treatment to all potentially poisoned persons, has been established at Riley County hospital, according to W. R. Kirk, administrator.

The hospital, to serve as a poison control center for its radius of influence, responded to a request for participation in a state plan prepared by the Kansas State Medical society.

Kirk pointed out that in all poisoning cases it is advisable to get the patient to a doctor as quickly as possible. Information available, which includes first-aid directions, was intended primarily for the professional doctor's use for complete management of poisoning cases.

Specific objectives of a poison control center have been stated as: improving first-aid treatment in accuracy, effectiveness, and speed; and improving long-term medical treatment by making facts available as to the type and virulence of poisons, the content of household products, and effective treatment of these toxic products.

In addition to the scientific information regarding poisons, Kirk indicated that a complete list of emergency drugs and medications as well as emergency equipment has been available in the emergency room to round out the poison control program.

"Statistically there have been only six cases of acute poisoning treated at Riley County hospital in the past 12 months, the hospital administrator said. He indicated that with the increased use of pesticides and weed killers, as well as many other household chemicals, the medical profession must remain constantly alert for treatment of poisoning resulting from contact with such products."

Wrong Dennie

PIERRE, S. D.—(U.P.)—Robert Lee, administrative assistant to Republican Gov. Joe Foss, phoned the St. Charles Hotel here and asked for "Denny," meaning F. N. Cosgrove, state Republican chairman. He was connected with Dennis Jensen, executive secretary of the Democrats in the state. Both Cosgrove and Jensen have offices in the hotel.

Life in Paris Is Gay and Free

the reputation of being the most expensive city on the Continent, and I well believe it!

It was quite an experience trying to make myself understood at the hotel because only the manager spoke a little English. Over the weekend, the management changed hands, and the new man didn't speak any at all! My Berlitz phrase book for travelers was invaluable!

French drivers are really something—again, it's just getting used to a new country, but I about got run over by a bus the first time I ventured out into the street. You see, cars have the right-of-way when turning into a pedestrian crossing, or at least they seem to!

Life in gay Paris is always exciting, even on Sunday. When people have nothing better to do, they immensely enjoy sitting at sidewalk cafes, watching life go by—we found this almost as interesting as anything else. The main streets are always bustling with people, either at the cafes or walking down the streets. (Both people and cars travel down many of the streets.)

We saw many beautiful and interesting attractions in this famous city. My first "tour" included the Cathedral of Notre Dame which was most impressive. The outside was as the tour book called "a masterpiece of French art" and the huge stained-glass windows were lovely. However, I found the Sainte-Chappelle and Basilica of the Sacre-Coeur, two smaller churches, just as pretty and having warmer atmospheres.

The Sorbonne, a world renowned university founded in 1253, is as different from an American college campus as you can get. To the average tourist—like me—no doubt you'd be disappointed because the main part of the university is located in one huge building. Its fame definitely doesn't come from the appearance of the building, but from its excellent staff. The day we visited, the grades had just been posted, and students were milling around expressing various emotions.

The flea market was perhaps one of the most fascinating places we visited. Contrary to its name, articles from fine antiques to wooden African masks to down-right junk are sold there. Objects are displayed in rough wooden sheds or tents—rows upon rows of them line the streets. Many wealthy Paris families go there to buy beautiful furniture. Everything imaginable is for sale someplace in the market if you can find it.

We visited the Eiffel tower—all 984 feet of it—the Arc of Triumph, and took a coach tour to the Palace of Versailles. The Louvre, which houses such art treasures as the Venus de Milo and Mona Lisa, was interesting because after years of hearing about such things, I finally saw them. But to me, the paintings and sculpture work on the walls and ceilings of the rooms were more pleasing than broken Roman statues.

One evening we took a boat trip down the Seine river. They served dinner, and we ate while watching lovers stroll down the darkened river banks. Shining spotlights on unsuspecting people was a favorite pastime of the boat crew.

The "Left Bank" and "Latin Quarter" was one of the more interesting sections of the city. Students and bearded artists frequent this section of town. Walking down the Left Bank, rows on rows of paintings are displayed in boxes for tourists to see and buy. The river banks are the home of some of the most pathetic old characters you've ever seen. They have no place to go so they sleep, eat, and live there. They have no jobs and are usually alcoholics—sort of like the American boweries.

Paris is quite a city, and even if you don't like being in a foreign country, you can't help but be fascinated by its charm and old-fashionedness.

Many K-State Students Get Scholarships

The K-State School of Engineering and Architecture is awarding three $200 and ten $100 General Electric corporate alumnus scholarships to 13 young Kansans who graduated from high schools this spring and who plan to major in engineering at K-State, according to M. A. Durland, dean of the school.

The $200 awards go to Obed M. Fricke, Cimarron; Donald Lee Kerstein, Kansas City; and James Clinton Stone, Albert.

The $100 scholarships were won by Carl J. Austermiller, Great Bend; Elton E. Beougher, Gove; Merrill Edward Bishop, Mulvane; Loren W. Conrad, Salina; Fred Albert Franz, Soldier; Robert L. Kile, Ottawa; Carolyn Sue Kingsbury, Carlton; Larry D. McLean, Lewis; John Edward Miller, Cherryvale; and David A. North, Coffeyville.

Scholarship recipients were selected on the basis of their high school records, performance on achievement tests, and need.

Jimmy L. Beauchamp, TA Soph, has been awarded the $200 Blue

Key scholarship for the coming school year.

Financed through proceeds from the annual Homecoming ball, the award, which is based on academic achievement, leadership, and need, is awarded annually to a student entering his junior year. It is sponsored by Blue Key, honorary society for senior men.

Beauchamp, president of Farm House fraternity, has been secretary of Klod and Kernel Klub and has participated on K-State crops judging teams. He is a member of Block and Bridle, Collegiate 4-H, and Alpha Zeta, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Continental Oil company scholarships, varying from $160 to $180, have been awarded Ralph Scott, ME Jr; Karl K. Stevens, ME Fr; and Dale E. Chambers, ME Fr.

Academic achievement, character, extracurricular activities, and financial need determine the scholarship winners.

Gordon Eugene Carlson, EE Sr, from McPherson will be the first holder of the $200 Muchnic Foundation scholarship at K-State. He is a transfer student from McPherson college and has almost a 3.0 grade average at K-State.

First holder of the new $125 L. E. Conrad scholarship in civil engineering at K-State will be Charles William Molle, CE Soph, of Topeka. Holle was a 1956 graduate of Topeka high school and has maintained a 2.0 average for his first year of work at K-State. He has worked the past two summers as a rodman and engineer's aide.

The first Magnolia Petroleum company scholarship in civil engineering will go to Stanley Lee Rieb, CE Sr. The scholarship is worth $608 this year.

The scholarship is to encourage, assist, and recognize a civil engineering student. Recipients are selected on the basis of scholastic record, leadership, character, and sincerity of purpose. It is to be awarded annually to a K-State junior in civil engineering for his senior year.

Rieb, a graduate from St. Francis high school, held a track scholarship at K-State his freshman year. He has maintained a better than 2.0 average through three years of college work.

Kansas Contractors Association scholarships of $500 have been awarded to K-State students Henry Charles Renollet, CE Soph, and Doney James Geist, an entering freshman. Scholarship recipients are expected to take summer employment either with the State Highway department or with a member of the association.

Renollet, graduate of Sterling high school, maintained a 2.235 grade point average for his freshman year. He is married and has one child.

Geist, a 1957 graduate of Morganville high school, was one of the top students in his class.

A $2,000 Continental Oil company scholarship was awarded to Thoman E. Cyphert, a 1957 graduate of Geneseo high school. Cyphert, who will enroll in the fall, is one of 17 winners who were among several hundred applicants from 13 states. He was the only winner from Kansas.

Winners were selected on the basis of high school records, character, leadership and seriousness of purpose.

Charlene Cox Crowned Queen

Charlene Cox was crowned "Miss K-State Coed" Tuesday night during the annual Manhattan Water show program at the municipal pool.

Queen Charlene, a humanities and art major, stands 5 feet and 1½ inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes. Her measurements are 34-24-36. Her attendants were Yvonne "Evie" Warner, Ar 04 from Kansas City, Sharon Skupa, Soc Soph from Haddam, and Annette Maxwell, Gvt Fr from Manhattan.

Before the final selection of the queen, the four finalists paraded around the pool and stopped in front of judges Prof. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of Student Publications; M. A. Durland, dean of the School of Engineering and Architecture; and Dr. Arthur D. Weber, acting-president at K-State.

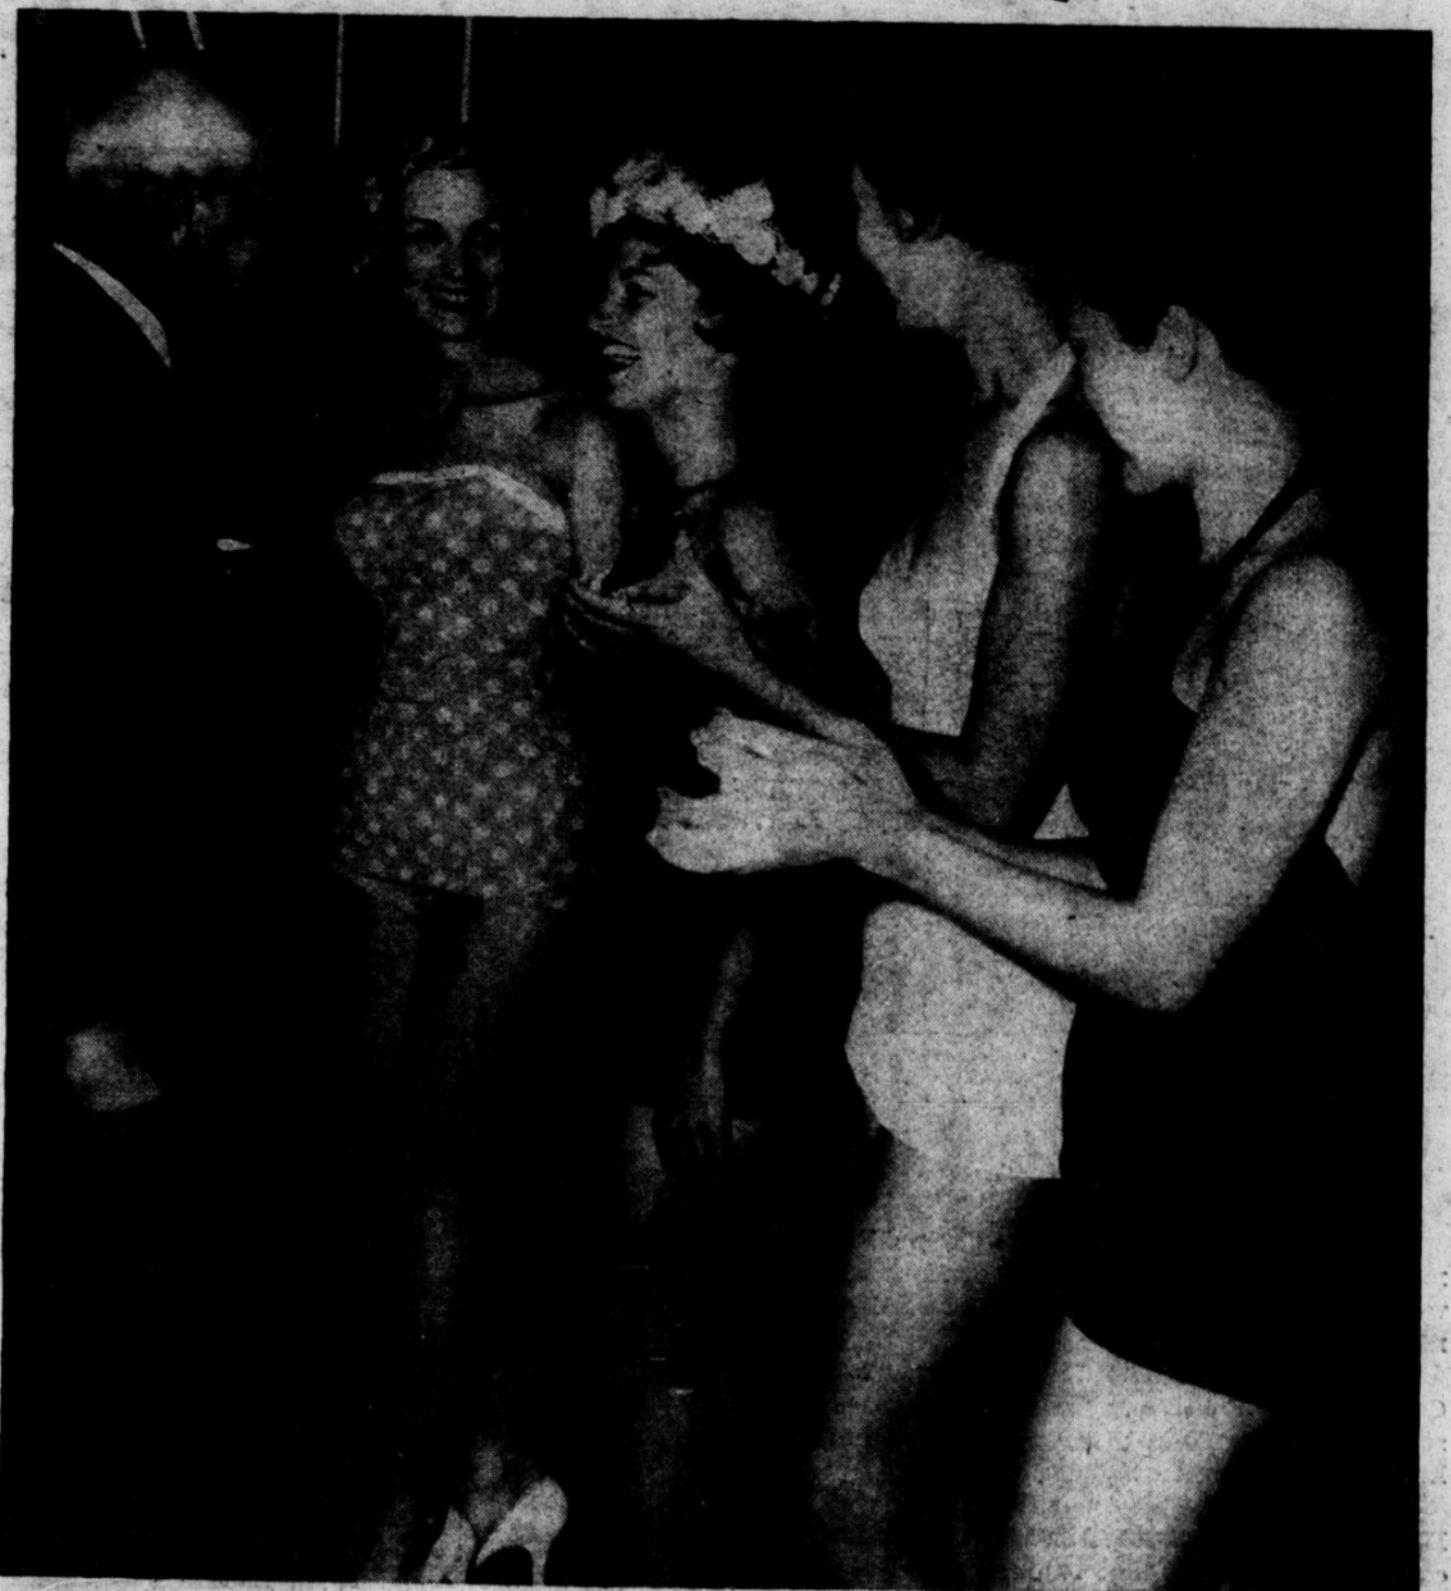

Queen Charlene and her attendants are the recipients of prizes donated by Collegian advertisers. Charlene received a Jantzen swim suit, stuffed wild-cat doll, free show passes, compact, Parker pen and pencil set, gold I. D. bracelet, and 21-inch weekend travel case.

Attendant Annette Maxwell received neckwear and a free car lubrication job. Attendant Evie Warner received jewelry and a gift certificate. Attendant Sharon Skupa received a travel cosmetic kit and also a gift certificate.

The Water show, highlight of Manhattan's recreation program, featured rhythm swimming, stunt diving, survival swimming, fancy swimming, and high divers. The Manhattan municipal band started the activities with a 15-minute concert. The band also played at intervals during the program.

Toward the end of the evening the audience participated in a matchlight. "The Star Spangled Banner" played by the band concluded the evening's program.

MISS K-STATE CO-ED OF 1957, Charlene Cox, thanks A. D. Weber after he has placed the crown on her head. Congratulating the Queen are her attendants, from left, Sharon Skupa, Evie Warner, and Annette Maxwell. All finalists got prizes, and Charlene's included a swimming suit and a 21-inch traveling case. The Manhattan water show included rhythm swimming and fancy diving, as well as the queen contest.

A three-story structure of native limestone, 181 by 300 feet, with 102,044 square feet of floor space, will house the K-State School of Home Economics when its construction is completed in about two years.

A sum of $1,900,000 for construction has been appropriated by the Kansas legislature. Bids have been called for July 30, and work is to start within 30 days after the awarding of the contract.

Home Ec Dept. Has New Head

An associate professor in home economics at Ohio State university has been appointed head of the Department of Family and Child Development at Kansas State. She is Ruth Hoeflin, 39.

Mrs. Dendell Hoffman, dean of the K-State school of Home Economics announced the appointment and said that Miss Hoeflin would assume her duties September 1.

Before teaching at Ohio state in 1947, Miss Hoeflin directed nursery schools at Bloomfield Hill, Highland Park, and Detroit, Mich., and directed recreation for delinquents at the Children's Village in Detroit. She was on the Oklahoma A. and M. staff for the 1946-1947 school year, supervising teachers in the nursery school and teaching child development courses.

The new home economics hall, to be built just across the street from the President's home, will be named Margaret Justin hall in honor of the woman who headed home economics at K-State from 1923 to 1954. It will be the first instructional building at K-State to be air-conditioned.

Included in the facilities will be 28 teaching laboratories, 23 research laboratories, 8 classrooms, faculty and student work rooms, seminar and conference rooms, faculty and student working 248, a reading room, and staff offices.

When the new building is completed, it will be possible for the K-State School of Home Economics to be housed under one roof for the first time in many years. At present, home economics work is carried on in Anderson and Thompson halls, and a World War II barracks, besides Calvin hall.

Quelle Series To Be Continued Next Fall

The Quelle lecture series presented this summer has been so successful that it probably will be repeated during the coming school year, and will be a regular summer feature, according to Dr. William C. Tremmel, director of religious activities.

Each lecture has had a good attendance, with an average of 200 nightly, Dr. Tremmel said. Random observation indicated that the lectures were equally popular with men and women, and that about 20% of those attending were faculty personnel, he added. He thought a typical cross-section of students was represented.

Another result of the popularity of the lectures and the speakers is that the lectures will probably be published. "A most commendable aspect, it seems to me, is that regardless of the immense variation of denominational and educational backgrounds of the speakers," Dr. Tremmel noted, "each man approached his topic from the angle of modern Biblical criticism."

In Dr. Tremmel's lecture last night on "The Revelation of St. John," he pointed out that his interpretation of the Book of Revelation is not the only one. While he discussed its historical meaning, other viewpoints emphasize its mystic or futuristic value.

Jazz Session Slated Tonight

Bob Snyder, K-State speech instructor, will narrate a recorded jazz session tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Union music room. Students may request selections to be played by calling Snyder ahead of time so he will be able to bring the records to the session.

"Desiree," starring Marlon Brando and Jean Simmons, will be the free popular movie shown next Monday night at 7:30 in the little theater. Wednesday night's classic film will be "Ereica."

Members of the Union's summer bowling league bowled their last game Tuesday night and novelty trophies were given to Asst. Prof. Gus Fairbanks for high game; Larry McDonald, PrL Soph, for high average; and the Vet Medicine team for high team.

All Veterans Enrolled Must Sign for Pay

All students attending school under Public Law 550 or Public Law 634 should sign the July veterans' payroll after taking your last final examination.

Betas, Pi Phis Tops in Spring Grades

When it comes to brawn, men best women, but when it comes to brains, the women outdistance the men as evidenced by the grade averages reported by the registrar's office for the second semester of the 1956-57 school year.

K-State's women, with their all-women's average of 1.642, hold a .312 edge over the all-men's average of 1.330, and a .33 edge over the all school average of 1.309.

In other grade average comparisons, the sororities have an over-all average of 1.909 while the fraternities have a 1.389 over-all average.

Beta Theta Pi outclassed all other K-State fraternities with an all-house average of 1.817. Farm House was a close second with its 1.769.

First in the sorority division is Pi Beta Phi with a 1.989 house average, followed by Kappa Kappa Gamma with a 1.984 average.

All-house averages and rankings of other K-State fraternities: 3. Alpha Gamma Rho, 1.556; 4. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 1.532; 5. Kappa Sigma, 1.507; 6. Acacia, 1.467; 7. Sigma Chi, 1.449; 8. Beta Sigma Psi, 1.402; 9. Phi Delta Theta, 1.280; 17. Alpha Kappa Lambda, 1.232; 18. Lambda Chi Alpha, 1.213; 19. Phi Kappa, 1.187; 20. Delta Sigma Phi, 1.152; 21. Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1.151; 22. Sigma Nu, 1.124; 23. Theta Xi, 1.106.

Other sorority standings: 3. Delta Delta Delta, 1.887; 4. Clovia, 1.814; 5. Chi Omega, 1.788; 6. Alpha Delta Pi, 1.774; 7. Alpha Chi Omega, 1.742; 8. Alpha Xi Delta, 1.697; 9. Kappa Delta, 1.663; 10. Gamma Phi Beta, 1.578.

Over the Ivy Line

Students Spread in All Directions,
Cap and Gown Industry Reports

By Sandy Wilson

NOBODY LIKES TO BE ACCUSED of having a swelled head, but nevertheless, college graduates' heads are getting bigger, according to representatives of the nation's cap and gown industry as quoted in the Colorado State university student newspaper.

H. B. Rudnick, vice-president of a 120-year-old cap and gown firm, reports "A Cap size of 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 used to be a rarity . . . now both are commonplace."

Graduates are also taller on the average and one cap and gown manufacturer went so far as to say "We find graduates are spreading both ways."

Graduating seniors heartened at the news commencement will be held in the cool, cool, cool of the evening this summer may be interested to know they may actually be returning traditional caps and gowns to their original function.

The Oklahoma Daily says the wearing of long gowns in fourteenth century English universities was prescribed to combat the damp chill of unheated buildings frequently by the scholars. "Hoods too may have been used for warmth, covering the shaven heads of the scholars," the Daily reports.

INCIDENTALLY, THAT SHEEPSKIN some of you will be receiving August 2 is worth quite a bit more than its weight in gold, according to the Oregon Daily Emerald.

The director of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Standards and past president of the Oregon Federation of Labor says a college diploma is worth about $1000,000 in an average person's lifetime. A high school graduate can expect to earn about $165,000 in his lifetime, while a college graduate should be able to rake in about $268,000, he reports.

But, seniors, there exist some who are not blinded to your little quirks by your monetary potentialities.

The North Dakota Spectrum states sarcastically, "Seniors are merely fourth year freshmen. Seniors are people who have spent a required amount of hours in class, attended the proper number of quarters in college, paid all specified dues, tuition and fees. Seniors are no good to anybody." And this from one of your own—a graduating senior.

EXAM STUDY TIPS FROM THE OREGON DAILY EMERALD:

"PE major method—stack all books in piles, then move books from pile to pile as many times as possible. If books are heavy, plenty of exercise will result, and you can soon pass any PE course (This method only works for PE majors who actually have books.)

"Alcohol method—take books to the local tap-room and place on bar stool. Sit on books and see how much you can absorb.

"No-Doze method—only for people who didn't go to class. Take triple dosage every day final week. By the end of the week you'll be so tired you won't care anyway.

"Beach study method—for groups only. Take all books to coast. Each hides own books in sand. Then on signal everyone tries to find books. Student who finds most books gets to take everyone's finals. Develops virtues of competition, fair play, etc."

ONLY ONE MORE WEEK left to perfect your "professor control" as outlined by the Iowa State Daily.

First phase of the devious plot to wangle a passing grade from a perservering professor is to "appear conspicuously busy and appreciative in class" . . . ask pertinent questions, impertinent questions, silly questions, asinine questions, and questions in general to give the impression you're interested.

Second phase of the plan is called "Answer Collecting." Breaking this down into basic form, one either uses reproduction (copying), partnerships, or ponies (riding through on someone else.)

The only drawback to "ponies" is that subsidized athletes have tended to misuse it.

After writing the necessary information on his clothing, one poor soul answered a math problem with the answer "42 Reg." We have it from reliable sources that he doesn't play football anymore either—kept getting his plays mixed up with numbers like "42 jersey, 35 pant."

An Editorial

Congrats, Charlene;
Oh Those Judges!

WELL, THIS ISSUE winds up our publication for the 1957 summer session. It's been both lots of fun and lots of work—we hope we've been of some help to you at one time or another during the nine-week period.

Our congratulations to Charlene Cox, winner of the "Miss K-State Coed" crown. We think she's a real peach—and the competition was stiff, too. We are only glad we didn't have to make the choice (we'd have probably never quite decided).

Besides being the most imminent judges we could find, Dr. Weber, Dean Durland, and Professor Medlin were about the baldest trio we could assemble. Not that baldness is an aid in judging beauty, but it must be of some value.

Anyway, we'd challenge anyone to come up with a balder set of beauty judges. (We'd win, too.)

WE'VE BEEN WONDERING for quite some time why all you people come to summer school. Why not stay home in nice, cool comfort? Manhattan can get so doggone hot.

Course, on the other hand, it might be just as hot or hotter at home. Ah well, life's like that—hit a few, miss 75 or 80.

Well, congratulations from all of us to all of you who will pull down A's for the summer session. We don't anticipate any such luck.

Have fun in August, September, October, etc., and if you're coming back to school in the fall, remember: the college student is (or should be) the epitome of injustice, pity, and remorse. (If you're not coming back for the fall semester, please forget the whole thing.)—Jim Bell.

Summer School OK, But Hot
Kansas State Students Believe

By JOHN RODRIGUEZ

What do you like best in summer school? What do you like the least? What kinds of improvements do you think the summer session could stand?

When asked the latter two questions, the majority of the students interviewed were dissatisfied with the heat—nobody thought it was too cool. One student remarked that he didn't like the idea of having chickens across the hall from a classroom.

To the first question, answers were of more variety. Students responded with answers such as "You get more attention from the smaller classes" to "Students seem more mature."

Boone's 'Love Letters' Back on Top;
'Young Blood' Backs Down To Two

"LOVE LETTERS IN THE SAND" BY PAT BOONE again returns to the choice spot in record sales after being in third position for two weeks. Last week's first, "Young Blood" by the Coasters, held top position for two weeks only to have Pat Boone make a come back and force the Coasters to second. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley dropped from second to third while "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis moved up to seventh from ninth. "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams is neither gaining or losing, but remains in sixth position.

Newcomers to the top ten are "Tammy" by the Ames Brothers, "Bye Bye Love" by Webb Pierce, "I Like Your Kind of Love" by Andy Williams, "Wonderful Wonderful" by Johnny Mathis, and "Short Fat Fannie" by Larry Williams.

10. "Short Fat Fannie" by Larry Williams

"Love Letters in the Sand" by Pat Boone is forced to second in jukebox plays by Webb Pierce's platter, "Bye Bye Love," after holding the top position for five consecutive weeks. "Teddy Bear" by Elvis Presley moved up to third from seventh and "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" by Billy Williams moved up one notch to settle on No. 4. "It's Not for Me to Say" by Johnny Mathis and "So Rare" by Jimmy Dorsey each slipped down two notches from last week.

Gale Storm's record, "Dark Moon," dropped to No. 9 while "Searchin'" by the Coasters lowered to tenth on the popularity poll. "Old Cape Cod" by Patti Page is the only newcomer to the top ten.

It was a very poised young miss of 16 who was crowned "Miss K-State Coed" Tuesday night at the Water show. When Charlene Cox was crowned, with orchid asters and white pom-pom chrysanthemums, she was "thrilled and pleased" but she never lost her poise.

Charlene, who will be a junior in Manhattan high school this fall, was described by Collegian editor Jim Bell, master of ceremonies for the queen contest, as "as pretty a queen as K-State could hope to have." No one challenged this, as they admired the 5'1½" brunette. Her brown eyes sparkled as she accepted the crown and thanked everyone, especially the Collegian, for promoting the contest and show and the work they had done.

Criteria for judging were personality, grace, charm, beauty, and figure (plus an essay on "What I Intend To Do With My College Education"), and as judges C. J. Medlin, acting president Arthur D. Weber, and Dean M. A. Durland, said, "She had them all."

Although Charlene is still in high school, she was eligible for the contest because she is taking four hours in summer school. The names of those courses reveal the leading interest in her life—creative drawing, and painting. According to her own calculations she spends more time on art, in one way or another, than any other thing.

Charlene is planning, at present, to attend K-State after high school graduation and work for a degree in the humanities and art. She enthusiastically described her desire to be a commercial artist, but added seriously, "that's a long way off."

A pointed question about her romantic status at present brought the cautious comment that she is "free-lancing" right now. This is easily understood when her pert and gay, yet poised and sensible, personality is considered.

August will probably be spent, Charlene thought, just "doing things I have to do." During the school year she takes active part in student council, Y-Teens, and Art club, and she thinks "stage crews are loads of fun!"

Concerning her hobbies, Charlene readily admitted her interests were many and varied, but said she spent most of her free time sketching. She plays the piano, but otherwise says she is not musically inclined. Cooking is another leisure-time love of Charlene's.

From her comments, it may be surmised that a good deal of August will be spent swimming and playing golf, since these are also two favorite pastimes. Charlene commented that she "wished she could have been in the pool with them," as she watched swimmers at the annual Manhattan water show, sponsored by the Recreation commission.

After several minutes of suspense while the judges reached a decision, acting president Weber walked over to the four contestants, Miss Cox, Sharon Skupa, Evie Warner, and Annette Maxwell, and placed the crown on a beaming Charlene.

She wore a black swim suit trimmed with white ruffles, but she said the Jantzen suit she chooses, as one of the prizes, may be her favorite color—royal blue.

The warm smile and sincere thanks Charlene had for congratulating friends after the crowning, indicated her liking for people and her ability to get along with others.

Her pet "loves" are dancing, especially jitterbugging, and shrimp—a strange combination, she acknowledges.

Charlene's family includes herself, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cox, and her sister Sara, 14; they live at 2020 Scheu drive.

She thinks she will try to take more hours in summer school again next year, and doesn't mind combining hot weather and school work. Hmmm—unusual girl, this "Miss K-State Coed."

fields. The only squawk I have is that due to the increase of summer school students the union facilities aren't adequate.

ARLEN FREUND, ME Fr—Provides a good opportunity to make up a few hours you may need in the regular semesters. Too many hours are put in on one course and it may get boring. Put some of the longer labs in the mornings.

OYNTHIA JOHNSON, Ed Gr—Being a teacher, I like the association with other students. Aside from the weather I'm satisfied.

JANVER KREHBIEL, DH Jr—I like the small classes and informalities but don't like the hot weather. They should try to hold classes in rooms where air is more enjoyable.

RICHARD LUNDLUM, Gop Soph—Classes are smaller and you have more time for discussion. I think the instructors are covering the material too fast.

LU ANN BURNETTE, Soc Soph—Good way to get in some extra hours, don't like the heat, but I'm satisfied with the summer session.

KLAUS KAECKEL, IE Soph—There are fewer people in the classes and you get more attention. Classrooms are too hot and the parking lot ought to be fixed.

LYNNE JOINES, BMT Jr—I have a lot of extra time, don't like my 7:30 classes, but think the summer session is well-organized.

JOHN DAHL, EE Soph—It's easier and less of a load. Aside from having hot classrooms and chickens across the hall from one of my classes, I'm satisfied.

ANN WIEGERS, HT Soph—I like the idea of going to school in the mornings and am satisfied with everything else except that the hi-fi set in the Union music room ought to change its selections.

SISTER MARGARET MARY, PhS Gr—The library service is outstanding. The state room could use a little improvement.

JAMES COADY, Bac Jr—You get more personal attention, I don't like the present arrangement of certain classes, and think the parking restrictions around Anderson hall should be removed during the summer.

Part-Time Jobs Are Vital To Many K-State Students

By DORIS FLAGG

Part-time jobs play an important role in the lives of many K-Staters. Assisting men and women students in locating work, both part-time and "odd jobs," is the job of part-time employment section of the College Placement center.

Chester Peters, in charge of Placement, says, "Almost any student who desires work can find some kind of part-time job to help him through school. He may not get exactly what he wants—he can't be too particular—but work is available."

Approximately 50 per cent of the students earn some part of their expenses. The College employs over 1,000 during the regular school year. They assist in the research projects of the agriculture and engineering experiment stations; some work as custodians or electricians in the physical plant, or others work in different sections of the School.

Women are employed in the Union, in the dorms, and in department offices. Off-campus jobs are available in service stations, restaurants, private homes, businesses and many other places.

Ellen Winchell, SED Sr, has been doing general office work concerned with teacher and business and industrial placement since February. According to her, "This work is very interesting because I learn what qualifications businesses are looking for in their employees."

She works from 12 to 15 hours a week. Asked how this affected her grades, she said: "It's not holding them down. When you work you know you have to study and have less time to do it in, so you really study."

Hsiang-Hsin Chin, EE Soph, claims, that "working and going to school keep me busy. The combination hurts my grades sometimes, though that depends a lot on the course." He works 26 hours a week in the continuation department of Farrell library.

"I've done better because I budget my time" is the opinion of Joan Smith, ChW Gr, who is working in Kedzie hall. Working the press room has "a lot of variety and I've learned a lot."

Lots of Federal Openings Says Placement Bureau

Federal civil servants in the Midwest are earning salaries from $3,670 to $7,570 annually these days, according to Chester E. Peters, director of K-State's Placement Bureau.

And there are plenty of jobs open in the federal civil service throughout Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas, he reports.

The field is practically unlimited, but Peters says opportunities for traffic and transportation specialists are especially good.

Eligibility for civil service employment is gained by passing the appropriate Civil service exam. Additional information on federal civil service can be found at the Placement bureau in the basement of Anderson.

Lookin' Back at 9-Week Session . . .

Weather, Union, Pre-Enrolling Highlight Summer

By GENE ASKEN

School is not all work and suffering. There's plenty of time for relaxation and enjoyment, and a look at the more notable happenings during the past summer session seems to verify this.

The one thing that summer students seemed to appreciate the most was the weather. It wasn't as cool as a wintry day, but neither was it characteristically hot. Most of the time, the weather was conducive to studying, that is, if the student was willing.

A varied slate of Union activities got into full swing during the first week with a college get-acquainted dance featuring Matt Betton and his orchestra. From then on, the Union featured bridge classes, square dancing, social get-togethers, and movies. Some of the movies shown were: "Garden of Evil," "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," and "A Man Called Peter."

Culturally minded students enjoyed the artists series that was presented for the College assemblies. The versatile duo-piano team of Melvin Stecher and Norman Horowitz was the first to be heard. Following them in successive order were: The Irish Players, a husband and wife team composed of Jo-Ann Crossman, pianist, and Donald Steinberg, baritone, and interpretative dancer Rod Strong.

After a July 4th dance at the Union and a one-day Independence Day holiday, students bounced back with energy and started slugging away at the last half of the summer session. One of the things they did was to take a trip to Kansas City, Mo., for a night's entertainment watching the Starlight theater's production of "High Button Shoes."

K-State theater-goers also enjoyed the Speech department's production of the "Glass Menagerie," featuring Warren Bennett, Carol Mast, and Virginia Eaton.

College students weren't the only ones roaming the campus this session. Pre-enrollees, with their white name tags, were seen rushing to and fro from physical examinations, counseling, and registration. Latest figures show that 1,016 people have pre-enrolled. The first annual Kansas high school speech institute at Kansas State college also brought a number of high school students to the College.

One of the bigger let downs this semester was the postponement of the July 18 target date for the installation of the Union air-conditioning system. There were several unbearably hot days when the air-conditioning would have been appreciated, but understanding K-Staters gritted their teeth and took it as best they could.

Now, with final examinations next week, K-Staters are dusting off their books and looking forward to an August vacation.

K-State Players Rate Four Curtain Calls

Applause from an audience of 300 brought the cast of "Glass Menagerie" back on stage for four curtain calls last Thursday evening at the K-State Players' summer presentation in the College auditorium.

Warren Bennett, Eng Soph, was rewarded with a hearty response for his efforts in a scene in which he tipsily told his sister Laura how a magician turned water into wine—then beer—then whiskey. (He's sure it was the real thing, too, because he volunteered to taste the drinks himself each time.)

Though the part of Laura had fewer speaking lines than the other parts, Virginia Eaton, Sp Jr, conveyed the essence of Laura with sensitive emotion.

The play's climax was reached when Tom walked out on his mother, played by Carol Mast, SP, and Laura. Laura retreats to her menagerie of glass animals after being deserted both by her brother and by her "gentleman caller," Fred Rogers, Sp Gr, who already belongs to another girl.

"The ending of the play was a real tear-jerker and we played to a responsive audience," assistant director of the play Sally Geistfeld said.

Staters Hitched; Some Engaged

Virginia Ballard, BS '56, from Manhattan, and Phil Weaver, ChE Sr. from Salina, were married Sunday in Danforth chapel.

Virginia is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and Phil is a member of Beta Theta Pi.

The engagement of Pat Hibbs, BS '56 from Wichita, and Kurtz Paulson, CE Sr from Topeka, has been announced. Pat was an Alpha Delta Pi at K-State.

The wedding will be September 7 in the Westwood Presbyterian church, Wichita.

Pat White, BA Soph, and Gene Steinhauer, EE Soph, are engaged. Pat is an Alpha Xi Delta from El Dorado. Gene is also from El Dorado.

Sue McDowell from Manhattan and Robert Baron, of Fargo, N. D., will be married Sunday, August 4, in St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Orange Bowl Pact Is Void After '58

The Orange Bowl committee voted Monday to dissolve its current football contract with the Big Eight and the Atlantic Coast conferences after 1958.

They did agree to use a Big Eight team in 1959, 1960, and 1961.

This means that during the three years after 1958 the Big Eight representative could be the same team, instead of following the present ruling that no team can go two years consecutively.

Committee president Joe H. Adams said Florida universities will be eligible for the annual New Year day game "when they have outstanding teams."

The present arrangement does not permit Florida schools to play in the bowl game. The new plan also would make it possible for Southeastern conference teams to get Orange Bowl bids.

The current contract between the committee and the Big Eight and Atlantic Coast conference will end its five-year existence with the 1958 Orange Bowl game.

Big-8 Lunch Is August 23

The second annual Big Eight football-alumni luncheon will be held in Kansas City, Mo., August 23, to kick-off the conference grid season.

The luncheon is held in connection with the annual press-radio conclave of the conference. All coaches and publicity men will be available to the press, radio and TV men of the conference area at that time.

At the luncheon the coaches of each of the conference schools will speak for five minutes.

In addition to the press, radio, coaching and publicity group, the presidents, faculty representatives, athletic directors and the governors of the six states in the Big Eight territory have all been invited to the luncheon. Last year about 400 alumni of the Big Seven schools attended the gathering.

Underground Passageways Heat All Campus Buildings

By DORIS FLAGG

This may come as a surprise to a lot of K-Staters, but there are numerous tunnels beneath the well-trodden paths of our campus—and man-sized ones, but they aren't being used for hide-aways.

According to Case Bonebrake of the physical plant, "These tunnels run to all buildings from the power plant and are used for heating, process steam used in the labs, and water heating all over the campus."

There are two main tunnels; one goes east to Farrell library where it branches to Waters hall and Willard, the dorms and greenhouses and to Thompson.

The other main tunnel branches west at the physical plant. A south branch goes to the Field house, men's gym, Union, and the Stadium. A north branch goes to Military Science and Animal Husbandry.

"The tunnels are kept locked," said Bonebrake. "Access is denied to the casual observer. Too, we never allow anyone to work alone in the tunnels. This is a safety precaution. There's someone to carry word in case of an accident."

The same footage as a 5-room house is heated much cheaper at the College (about $25 a year) than a home owner can do it because of the central heating plant.

Better Work— Final Exams Are Next Week

If you can't understand why your professors have been wearing fiendish smiles lately then look at the calendar—final examinations are next week.

According to Ellsworth M. Gertz, director of admissions and registrar, finals for the summer session will be given during a regularly scheduled class period.

In case you are one of those unfortunates with more than three tests on the same day, you can appeal to your dean for a rescheduling of a test period.

Want to know how to out-fox your professors? Well, here are some study suggestions offered by Sumner Morris, director of the student counseling center:

1. Make a systematic plan on paper for your available time, and then budget it accordingly.
2. Make a survey of the entire course. One of the better ways to do this is the self-recitation method. Skim the material and then look away and repeat to yourself verbally the main points of what you've read.
3. Once you have completed your review, and if you have some spare time, try writing and answering sample test questions.
4. When studying for essay type questions, be more concerned with general principles and tying things together, such as causes and effects.

It's the Anechoic Chamber

If You Want Peace and Quiet, See the KS EE's

By DIXIE GOOD

Does the hustle and bustle of college life ever make you long for a few moments of peace and quiet? Do you ever feel as if you just have to get away from it all?

Well, cheer up! The Electrical Engineering department's anechoic chamber may be just the place for you. "What good would it do me?" you ask. Actually, it's simple. An anechoic chamber minimizes refractions of sound originating from within; if you are locked in the chamber—away from the hubbub of the world—you will be able to attain that peace and quiet that you have been dreaming about.

K-State engineering students have another use for the $5,000 chamber built in late 1953. They carry on experimental work in the chamber with audio devices such as speakers, microphones, amplifiers, and hi-fi equipment. Students also use the room when they want to determine how much sound an electrical device is putting out when it is operating.

The 6 x 8 x 10 foot chamber is constructed of fiberglass wedges made by the K-State Physical Plant. These wedges are faced with hail screen and are used to cover all surfaces of the room. The door, which is about 2 feet thick, had to be specially hung to keep out the sound. Hinges could not be used on the door because of its width.

Students often refer to the chamber as a soundproof room, but this is not correct, according to Prof. Leo A. Wirtz, instructor of electrical engineering. Professor Wirtz stated that no attempt was made to construct a completely soundproof room. The whole idea of the chamber is simply to cut down on sounds which originate from within.

K-State's anechoic chamber is the only one of its kind in this general vicinity, and many organizations take advantage of it for testing purposes. Among others, the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City arranged with the Electrical Engineering department to carry on experimental work in the room. There is also a good assortment of audio testing equipment available for use in the chamber.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian classified.

Grads Don't Advance If Alum Office Jilted

Many qualified alumni of K-State lose chances for better jobs throughout the years because they fail to keep the Alumni office notified of their addresses, says Ernie Barrett, assistant alumni secretary.

This summer, as graduation nears for many, the Alumni office is sending letters to seniors asking them to return a form containing the name, degree received, marital status, name and address of parent or guardian, and the names of two persons who can always furnish the graduate's address. Additional space is provided for filling in college activities, organizations, etc.

The form, according to Barrett, is sent to all graduating seniors each semester, and is simple to fill out and return, in view of the aid it might someday be to the student.

The Alumni office is continually receiving requests for information or suggestions on graduates which it cannot supply because of lack of up-to-date addresses. It is very important, Barrett urged, to "keep your Alumni office advised at all times regarding changes in address."

Various Films Totaling 16 Set for Fall

The English department, the Modern Languages department, and the K-State Union will be co-operating to bring a program of 16 distinguished films to K-State next semester.

Admission to the films will be on a subscription basis only, and subscriptions will be sold early next fall in the activities center of the Union. The price of the subscriptions will be based on the cost of the movies, which will be shown on a non-profit basis.

Seven movies will be sponsored by the English department, five by the Modern Languages department, and four by the Union. A tentative schedule has been set for the Thursday evening programs, the first of which will be October 3.

The Union will sponsor such films as "The Red Shoes," "The Titan," and "My Six Convicts." "Holiday for Henrietta," a French film, and "Wonderful Times," a German movie, will be shown by the modern languages department. These films will have English subtitles.

The English department will sponsor a Shakespearean series which will include "Romeo and Juliet," and "Julius Caesar," and a series of films based on the novels of Charles Dickens, two of which will be "David Copperfield," and "Great Expectations."

Final Enrollment Hits 1,769

Summer school enrollment has reached a total of 1,769. Of that total men far outnumber the women 1,246 to 550.

Enrollment is slightly above last summer's enrollment of 1,732 students. Over a 10-year period, the largest summer school session was 2,859 in 1946 and the smallest, 1,032 in 1953.

There are 572 graduate students and 1,235 undergraduates. Eleven seniors are staying busy by taking both graduate and undergraduate work.

Juniors belong to the largest class with 267 men and 136 women. Elementary education is in the departmental lead with 199 students. The business department follows with 138 students, and electrical engineering has 125 students.

Of the five schools, Arts and Sciences leads with 687; Engineering and Architecture has 368; Agriculture has 114; Home Economics has 69; and Veterinary Medicine has six.

According to Ellsworth M. Gerritz, director of admissions and registrar, summer grades will be sent out in late August. Gerritz said besides regular college students, K-State has five or six high school students enrolled this summer who are taking courses with permission of their high school principals and department heads.

Brother Act

BURLINGTON, Conn.—(U.P.)—Two brothers opposed each other in an election and both won. George J. Pavlik, a Democrat, and Frank P. Pavlik, a Republican, each gained a seat on the Board of Selectmen.

Music Department Has Recital Tonight

Jean Hedlund and Clyde Jusila of the summer school music faculty will present students in a recital of instrumental ensemble music, at 8 p.m. tonight in the Chapel auditorium.

Personnel for the ensembles will be Pat McShane, flute; Hedlund, oboe; Jean Harper, clarinet; Robert DeCou, french horn; Jusila, bassoon and viola; Carol Block, violin.
